25 Receive Diplomas In Summer

Graduates from the summer session of Hinds Junior College received their diplomas on Friday, August 14, 1959.

According to Miss Mildred Herring, Hinds' registrar, there were seventeen in the high school graduating class and eight in the junior college graduating class.

High School—Francis Joel Stephenson, Walter J. Burdet, Gary Louis Clement, William Austin Birdsong, Una Kaye Wardell, Anite Carol Renfroe, Richard Kingston Robbinson, Myrtle Kathryn Sharpe, Elton Purvis, Dale Buchanan, Joy McCabe, William Bates, Bettye Yarborough, Patricia Faye Mitchell, Charles Evans Catchings, Edith Ann Thompson, and Donna Findley.

Junior College—Thomas French Jones, James Ancil Kitchen, Jr., Gail Elaine Harvey, Ralph Francis Adcock, Janie Lois Finger, Beth Terrel, Henry Ward, and Thad Talley.

A reception honoring these graduating students was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. McLendon at 6:45 p.m. on the evening of August 13.

Byrd Set To Head Refrigeration Club On Local Campus

Dorsey Boyd, Hinds vocational student, was elected president of the Refrigeration Department at Hinds Junior College last week for 1959-60 school year, according to refrigeration instructor A. G. Liss.

Other officers elected were Marion Mizell, vice-president; Freddie Wilson, secretary; Chuck Wilkinson, treasurer; and Harvey Stacy, tool room manager.

Duties of the refrigeration class are to maintain all air conditioners and refrigerators on the Hinds campus and to maintain refrigeration at Hinds Junior College Cold Storage Plant.

The refrigeration class installed the air conditioner units in the Raymond Methodist Church and the new science building.

"We have put out some top notch refrigeration men in the past, but this year we have a much harder program. The demand for refrigeration men gets greater and we are going to put out only the best," says Mr. Liss.

Freshmen Elect 2 Cheerleaders For 1959 Grid Season

Last Wednesday, the freshman class elected their new cheerleaders for this season.

THE McLENDONS — President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon have been a part of Hinds Junior College for the past twenty-two years. The McLendon's are posed after last Tuesday night's reception honoring new faculty members in the president's home.

PRESIDENT'S GREETINGS

By G. M. McLENDON
Hinds Junior College, President

I am glad to have this opportunity to welcome each of you to the campus of Hinds Junior College. My sincere desire is that you will profit from your experience here, and that your presence will be an inspiration to those with whom you will be associated.

You are joining with the faculty, school officials, and members of the student body in sustaining and promoting the cultural, economic, and spiritual influences of our world today. It is a great task, and you, personally, have a definite part to play in this task.

Your college life can help to equip you for this. Make the most of your opportunities.

Believing that the primary aim of a college should be education, I urge each of you to make your studies your main consideration while here.

Hinds Junior College has a reputation for friendliness. Many of you are in strange surroundings, but there are friends all around you. Do not hesitate to call on any of us for help when you need to. You, in the future will return that service to others in new and strange surroundings.

We have a great year before us. May we make the most of it.

Faculty Club Sponsors Reception For New Members In President's Home

Honoring new faculty members at Hinds Junior College, the faculty club headed by Miss Lula Mae Fowler, president, sponsored a reception Tuesday evening in the campus home of President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon.

Mrs. Margaret Kimball received at the door and presented guests to Mr. and Mrs. McLendon. Mrs. Neva Spraberry, club secretary, presided at the guest register. The guests of the evening were members of the college staff and faculty, and the board of trustees.

Arrangements of fall flowers and yellow candles throughout the long livingroom, the dining room, and the den were made by Mrs. M. F. Herring, Mrs. T. T. Beemon, and Miss Marjorie McCord.

Refreshments of punch, party sandwiches, cookies, and mints were served by Mrs. Wallace Wall, Mrs. Juanita Canterbury, Miss Hilda Ree Davis, and Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee.

Assisting with arrangements for the reception were Mr. Wallace Wall, vice president of the faculty club, and Mr. L. K. Clark, treasurer.

Hinds Junior College has set a new fall registration record with 1119 students enrolled.

Hinds' total enrollment for the year, including the summer session, is expected to be upward 200 students.

The freshman class enrolled the greatest number of students with 512 attending classes. The sophomore class reported 343. Seven special students are registered.

The night classes are serving 55 students, while the night and day classes in vocational-technica trades accomodate 202.

In addition to the students the school was unable to accept at all, an estimated 50 students seeking dormitory quarters are having to commute. Approximately 70 more students were placed in the dormitories this year than were housed last year.

Hinds' complete enrollment last year was 1885.

Extensive renovation on the campus have been completed during the summer, several buildings have been painted, and two new dormitories are under construction.

The physical education building for girls has been completed this summer.

Dramatic Group To Elect Officer Slate Thursday

Election of officers for the Lendon Players' coming season is scheduled for tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the second meeting for the group this school year. At the last meeting which was held on Thursday, September 10, officers were nominated. These include:

President: David Ethridge, Jerry Horack, and Lynn Watts.

Vice-President: David Ethridge, Jerry Horack, and Francis Nelson.

Secretary-Treasurer: Gail Rushing, Betty Smythe, Kay Sumrall, and Lynn Watts.

Publicity Director: David Ethridge, Frank Powers, and Bill Matthews.

Approximately 39 students have signed up for the club this year. The Lendon Players meet in the Speech Studio, above the auditorium, every two weeks with the exception of test weeks. The group produces two plays during the school year—one in the fall and one in the spring.

Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the Hinds' speech department, is sponsor of the Lendon Players. According to Mr. Brooks, all students who are interested and have not yet signed up are invited to attend the next meeting.

Technical Group To Register New Students Monday

It affords students who are interested in either full-time vocational trades training or part time work an opportunity to learn a trade.

Any Hinds student who is taking academy work and would like to enroll in vocational-technical training has until next Monday to register.

According to Mr. Walter Gibbes, vocational coordinator, the following courses are now being offered by the vocational-technical department: radio and television repair and code; barbering; automotive mechanics; body and fender repair; woodworking; mechanical drawing; engineering drafting; machine shop; refrigeration and air-conditioning; electric motor repair; general electricity and wiring; office machines repair; airplane engine mechanics; automotve machinist; and furniture upholstery.

The department is rapidly expanding to meet the demand for this type training.

Courses are planned so as to prepare students for employment as advanced apprentices in the fields of their choice and to give preparatory training for salesman, managers, or clerks in the vocational-technical fields.

Attend Church At College

The right to worship wherever and whenever you please is a basic concept of our democratic society. Unfortunately, however, that freedom is, in many instances, completely taken for granted.

Perhaps such indifference is the product of a luxurious, fast-movingage. Regardless of the cause, the fact remains: We often take our religious rights too lightly. As a stimulation to religious growth, Hinds Junior College has four outstanding organizations available to meet the devotional needs of each student on the campus.

These organizations are the Baptist Student Union, the Catholic Youth Organization, the Wesley Foundation, and the Westminster Fellowship. Each group meets at regularly designated times. As a student of Hinds Junior College each of us has the perrogative of worship.

This is a privilege and a responsibility. If the basic freedoms we enjoy are to last, we must sieze every opportunity to exercise them — especially our fredoms of worship.

Mead Marks Second Honor

Linda Lee Mead, Miss Mississippi, who went on to Atlantic City to capture the title of Miss America for 1960 is to be congratulated. As last year, Mississippians have someone in whom they can well be proud.

Those who said it could not be done twice in a row, need only to be reminded of the shining example of the mustard seed of last year's Miss America, Mary Ann Mobley.

To those who boast, "Now Mississippi has showed them what we really have," we ask: s it not true that every state, every individual, has a great deal to be proud of, not only in our new Miss America, but in their own God-given abilities and attributes?

What is the one universal secret of it all? There is no secret. It is the truth of faith, knowledge of one's own abilities and perseverance. Whether we are in college or in a contest competition, if we know our abilities, have faith and perseverance, we cannot fail.

Circle K Important Group

Taking their cue from Hinds Junior College Circle K Clubs of past years, this year's local service organization has already begun work with a new list of projects and a Hinds student register which will include the names of all students.

Circle K is spsonsored by Kiwanis International of Jackcampus, held its first meeting Thursday, September 17. Billy McLain, president succeeding Russ Harris of California, called the meeting attended by all Circle K officers, to order, and began the discussion of the local club projects for the school year '59-'60.

Candidates for membership in the local club were nominated and voted on. Those who accept the invitation for membership are urged to be present at next Thursday's meeting when they will be officially recognized as club members. All candidates are required to have at least a C average or better, good moral character and leadership qualities.

Circle & is sponsored by Kiwanis International of Jackson. It is an honor to be considered for membership in this worthwhile organization.

Welcome To Hinds Junior

This week marks the third full week of the 1959-60 session of Hinds Junior College. Enrollment has hit an all-time high, and is still increasing. This should indicate that every student at the college has made dozens of new acquaintances and friends.

The Hindsonian staff welcomes each of you into its acquaintance. For the remainder of the school year, we will be serving you and the faculty. We feel that with your cooperation, it will be a pleasant relationship.

THE HINDSONIAN

POETIC TIDINGS

A flower here, a flower there, a flower set apart,
But lively flowers cannot grow in darkness—and my heart.

I dropped a seed there yesterday,
And hoped to see it grow;
I tried to help it on its way,
That long life it could know;
I nourished it, protected it,
I showered it with care;
Inside a bower I nestled it,
And gave it refuge there.

A flower here, a flower there, a flower set apart,
But lovely flowers cannot grow in darkness—and my heart.

It was a lesson hard to learn:
My flower wouldn't bloom;
I tried to make it, for I yearned,
For normalcy's sweet womb;
I'll try again—and lose again,
Yet hope someday to claim,
The thoughts and works of normal men,
From whom I doubtless came.

A flower here, a flower there, a flower set apart,
But lovely flowers cannot grow in darkness—and my heart.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Brandon's Billy McLain Enjoys Top Spot In Hindsonian's Weekly Honor

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Starting the school year off "on the right foot" is usually considered the best procedure to obtain the most from the forth-coming months of study.

If the same holds true for newspaper work we can be sure that this column is well on its way to a successful season, for this week's sophomore is one of Hinds' best—Billy McLain.

Last year Billy chose Hinds as a starting point for his college education and in that year he gave much to Hinds. He was president of the freshman class, first semester band member, president of the Wesley Foundation, member of the annual staff, and president of the Circle K club.

We've also found out that he did well at representing Hinds Junior College off the campus, and on one occasion attended a senior high school assembly to inform the students of the advantages which Hinds offers.

This year Billy will retain presidency in Wesley and the Circle K club, and later this season he will attend the Mississippi Youth Congress, composed of delegates from high schools, junior colleges, and senior colleges of the state.

Many Fine Students

Billy says since he has come to Hinds Junior College he has learned to appreciate the many fine students and teachers on the campus. Friendship means much to him and he has found many friends here.

He has no preference in foods, but likes all which are well prepared. He feels that there is a place for music of all types and says he appreciates all of it. Personal preference for an evening's listening usually runs to Dixieland, classical, and choral music. (He was choir director at his home church—Greenfield Methodist). As his favorite sport he chooses football as a spectator and tennis as a player.

Billy was an active member of the Barnett for Governor campaign this past summer and said he enjoyed learning of his native state and its people.

To Attend MC

He plans to attend Mississippi College next fall. He has no long range future plans at the moment.

When asked of his philosophy of life, Billy said, "My main purpose in life is to live in a way pleasing to God. I want to be able to say when I am old that I have been an asset to my people above what is expected of me. I want to live close to my fellow man, and be a friend. With God's help, I will fulfill these hopes."

With an attitude like this, Billy, you can't fail. Best of luck!

NEWS BRIEFS

Mr. K Remains In Top News

By NANCY CHAPMAN

Two Moscow papers have ventured statements concerning the cool reception awarded Khrushchev in some parts of the U. S. The Literarurnaya Gaze (Literary Gazette) suggested to the Russian readers that Premier Khrushchev had been encountering some stiff questioning and isolated picketing. According to the cultural paper, "Mr. K." has been doing his best to "cure" the "serious illness" of American politicians and business men who oppose him. The paper said that American newspapers seemed to be afraid that the Red boss would convert American capitalists.

The eleven week old steel strike is causing increasing idleness and hardships. According to some Pennsylvania steel executives, at least twenty-seven plans in their state have completely stopped operation because of the halting workers. The steel talks recessed last weekend; but plans were to resume talks early this week.

Sen. Stuart Symington, Dem. of Missouri, issued a statement this week concerning the United States' chances of landing a rocket on the moon. It will probably be seven to ten years before we can make a successful lunar probe according to reports from a Congressional committee headed by the Missouri senator. He further stated that the recent Russian success on the moon proves that the U.S. is behind in the space contest.

A former assistant Secretary of State, Walter Robertson, has lashed out at Khrushchev's suggestion that Communist China be admitted to the United Nations. Robertson stated early this week that the Chinese Communists have done nothing but inflict terror and mass murder on thousands of people; and their record is too evil to be considered for membership in the U.N. His fiery statements were in reply to Khrushchev's Friday night proposal to release Nationalist China from the U.N. and to admit Communist China.

Famous French singer Genevieve, star of the new Cole Porter musical, "Can Can", fell this week and broke her right leg. The pixie-like miss was walking from her dressing room when she tripped over a stage rope and fell. Doctors say that it will possibly be a year before she can walk again. Meanwhile, "Can Can" has folded. Genevieve is a recent hit from the Jack Paar television show.

BULLETIN

All members of the Hndsonian staff and prospective members are invited to a staff meeting Friday morning at 10:20, 2A period, at the Public Relations Office in the Administration Building.

PARADE OF OPINION

Advice For Easy-Going Student

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

The WILD CAT of Meridian High School and Jr. College gives this piece of info to the easy-going student: "There is only one endeavor in which you can start at the top . . . digging a hole."

THE TATTLER of the new H. V. Cooper High School in Vicksburg sends a bit of consolation our way . . . "Don't worry if your job is small, and your rewards are few. Remember that that the mighty oak was once a nut like you."

I feel the present status of the undergraduate college is unfortunate. With graduate school comes a serious recognition of the terms "individuality," "maturity," and "accomplishment." With graduate school comes the end of a thousand-and-one "outside" activities — committees, boards and the like. So the college remains as either a finishing institution for hgh school or a preparatory institution for graduate school . . .

Confuscious say: One doesn't find life worth living; he must make it that way. (from Belhaven's CLAN-CALL).

Sophomore Class To Start Meeting On Politics Friday

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

The "political ax" is once again beginning its annual grind on the Hinds campus.

Mr. R. C. Benton, Hinds' recreational director, has been appointed by Preside nGt .M. McLendon to serve as sponsor for the sophomore class and "get things started".

Mr. Benton has called a special meeting for all sophomores in the auditorium, Monday, September 28 during activity period. During this special meeting officers for the coming year will be nominated. These officers will include: president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. A second faculty sponsor to assist Mr. Benton will also be nominated.

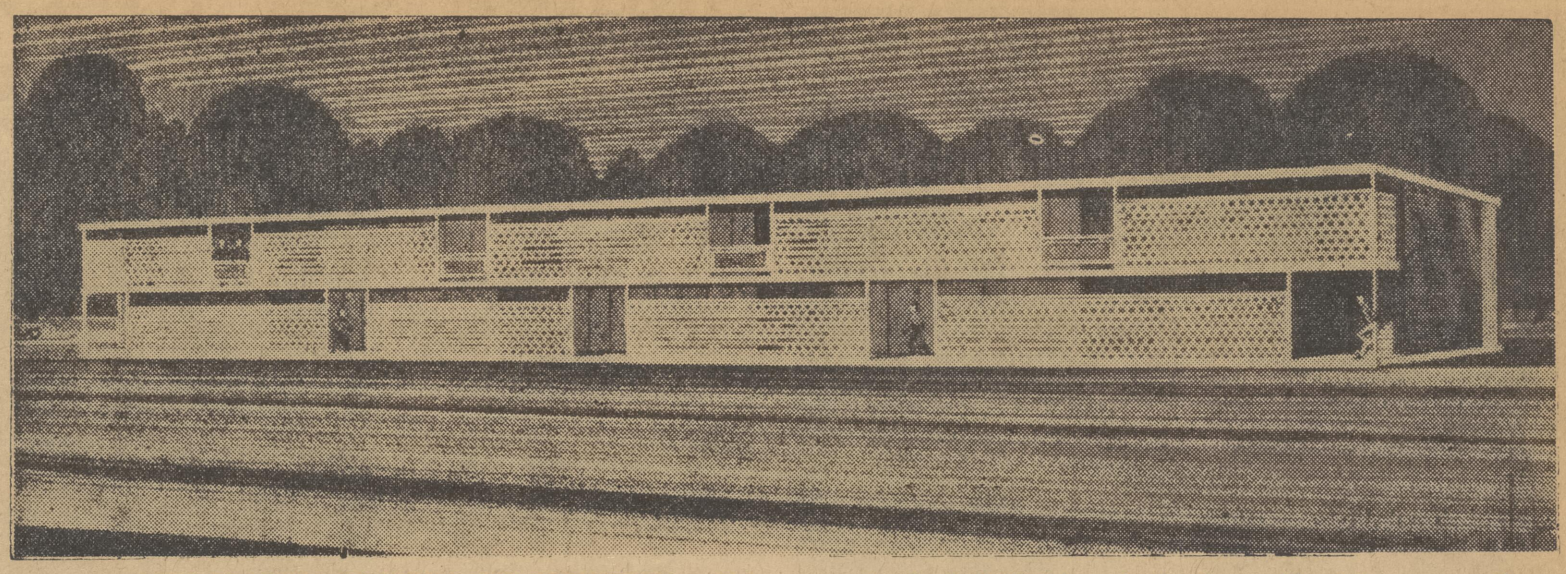
It's anybody's guess as to how the nominations and elections will finally turn out. If we may be allowed to speculate, there are two candidates whom you'll be hearing a great deal about in the coming weeks.

Billy McLain, from Brandon, returning freshman class president, will once again attempt to win his way into office.

Tommy Thompson, a newcomer to the political scene but not to the campus, who played on the Hinds' basketball team last year, will try his luck for the chief executive office.

There will doubtless be other candidates, but as of yet there has been no rumor of whom these nominees will be.

Now is the time to begin thinking of whom to nomnate and elect as the officers of your class, sophomores.



ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF NEW BOYS' DORMITORY — This is an Architect's drawing of the new boys' dormitory being constructed on the campus. It will house 65 students. Hinds Junior College president G. M. McLendon reports that the structure will be opened by Christmas holidays or maybe by Thanksgiving. Located on the practice football fifefld on the Southeast side of the campus, the new building will be modern in every respect. One of the modern features include an outside outlet from each room. The structure will house primarily athletes and sophomores.

Honorary Society Makes Plans For Year's Activities

Returning members of Gamma Lambda chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society for junior colleges, met Friday to plan initiation of new members, and to outline plans for activities of the fall semester.

New members to be initiated at an early date are those students who completed qualifications for membership during their last semester.

The chapter made plans to present a speaker at an assembly program to spak to the student body on some phase of scholarship.

HOW NEW GIRLS' DORMITORY WILL LOOK — This is how new girls' dormitory will look at completion between Thanksgiving and Christmas. The structure for girls will house 58 students and cost about $100,000. The dormitory for girls is being built with state appropriations and the boys' dormitory is being financed from "current funds." The completion of the two dormitories will complete the first stage of Hinds Junior College's major two stage building program. The quarter million dollar new science building was dedicated in May 1958. The girls' physical education building was completed this summer.

3-Way Race For JC Grid Title

By TOMMY NANCE

From the looks of things now it seems as if the Mississippi Junior College football champion will either be Pearl River, Jones, or Copiah-Lincoln. All have a perfect record with Pearl River and Jones holding three wins and Co-Lin with two.

* * *

The Wildcats of Pearl River go against Co-Lin this week and should come up with a win. Jones will be the only idle club and will be waiting for their showdown with Hinds the following week. Others that should be coming out with wins this week are East Central over Holmes, Hinds over Northwest by a slim margin, Sunflower over Southwest, East Mississippi over Itawamba, and Kilgore over Perkinston.

* * *

Mississippi Jr. College Standings

Holmes	2	1	0
East Mississippi	2	1	0
Sunflower	2	1	0
Perkinston	1	2	0
Ihawamba	0	3	0
HINDS	0	3	0
Southwest	0	3	0
Northwest	0	3	0

The Hinds Eagles, beginning one of the worst football seasons in their history, lost their third straight game to the Perkinston Bulldogs last Saturday night to the tune of 18-12.

Getting away from junior college sports let's take a look at two of the leading teams in the Southeastern Conference, Ole Miss and Louisiana State University. Last week-end both came out victorious as the Rebels came back into the second half to score two touchdowns and go on to defeat the highly regarded Houston Cougars, 16-0. After a 3-0 Rice lead at halftime,

* * *

Ole Miss invades Kentucky this Saturday in their first conference tilt. Kentucky loss to Georgia Tech last week by a slim 14-12 margin and should be rough for the Rebels but Ole Miss should come out on top. L.S.U. and T.C.U. tangle in Tiger Stadium Saturday and should be a close match with L.S.U. coming out on top by two touchdowns.

* * *

The White Sox and Braves are our pick to come out on top in the American and National leagues respectively. Chicago, even though is on a losing streak, should have a big enough lead to protect their first place from the Indians.

* * *

In the National League a much more closer race has developed between Milwaukee, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. With a much easier schedule ahead and more games to play than the others, the Braves could win their third straight pennant.

Eagles Go to Senatobia Seek First Win Saturday

Northwest Hopes To Register 1st Gridiron Victory

The Hinds Junior College Eagles travel up to Senatobia Saturday to meet the winless Northwest Rangers.

Both teams will be looking for their first win since both have lost their starting three games.

The Eagles have lost to Pearl River, 42-0; Kilgore, Texas, 26-2; and to Perkinston, 18-12, while Northwest has lost to Sunflower, 12-6; East Mississippi, 25-18; and to East Central, 22-16.

Quoting Coach Joe Renfroe on the starting lineup for the Northwest game, he said "I'm unsure of any starting position after last week's game because I don't know who can run".

Both of these teams have little experience with only 6 returning lettermen for the Rangers of Northwest and only 1 showing real promise. Coach Renfroe has had only three lettermen to work with this year.

Other games in the junior college conference this week will stack up Pearl River at Copiah-Lincoln, Holmes at East Central, Sunflower at Southwest, Itawamba at East Mississippi, and Kilgore, Texas vs. Perkinston at Gulfport.

Men's Recreation Group Stages 1st Meet On Campus

The Men's Recreation Association, a new club on the Hinds' campus, held its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, September 22, at 7:30 p.m.

At this first meeting, the group elected officers. They are: president — Larry Dowdy, vice-president — James Burnham, secretary and treasurer—Donald Oakes, reporter —Johnny Carter.

There were approximately thirty-seven members present for the election. According to Mr. R. C. Benton, sponsor of the group, all male students who are interested in the organization are eligible for membership. This membership will be opened in the near future.

Perkinston Bulldogs Hand Hinds Crew Third Straight Setback In 18-12 Show

Perkinston, winning their forst game of the season, was led by Freddie Frederickren, who tallied the first touchdown with a five-yard jaunt in the first quarter. Other touchdowns for the Bulldogs were made by Phil Scott, who plunged over for the second tally from the one yard line to give the Bulldogs a 12-0 halftime advantage, and Brooks Hill, who raced across from the one in the early fourth quarter.

Hinds' two tallies were made in the third and fourth period when a blocked punt set up the first touchdown. Several plays later Ken Hudson charged over from the one to make the score 12-6. After perkinston's third score guard Tom Hudson intercepted a pass and Ken Hudson scored on the next play with only 20 seconds left in the game.

Saturday night the Hinds Eagles journey up state to Senatobia where they will meet the Northwest Rangers and Perkinston takes on Kilgore, Texas.

Sophomore Class To Hold Officer Election In Thursday's Balloting

Members of the sophomore class will elect officers for the 1959-60 school year tomorrow in the first class election of the campus this fall.

The administration has appointed Mr. R. C. Benton, recreational director, as one of the two sophomore sponsors. The other sponsor is elected by the members of the sophomore class.

A total of 14 candidates will appear on Thursday's ballot. The 14 include four for president, two for vice president, four for secretary and treasurer, and four for class sponsor.

Candidates for class officies in the order they will be on the ballot are as follows:

Prsident: Jimmy Bloodworth, Billy McLain, Steve Montgomery, and Tommy Thompson.

Vice President: Roy Breeden and Albert Richardson.

Secretary and Treasurer: Nancy Ruth Chapman, Lottie Jo Leach, Betty Smythe, and Martha Warnock.

Sponsor: Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Mrs. J. R. Harris, Miss Jean Packard, and Miss Genevieve Williams.

The polls will open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m. Balloting will be held in the hall of the Administration Building.

In case a second primary is necessary, the highest two candidates will appear on the second primary ballot. The second primary will be held next Tuesday during the same hours.

Faculty Members Participate In College Meeting

President G. M. McLendon, Miss Mildred Herren, Miss Gertrude Davis, and Mr. A. L. Denton returned to the campus yesterday afternoon from M.S.C.W. where they participated in the annual meeting of the Mississippi Junior-Senior College Conference.

The theme of the two-day conference was "The Pursuit of Excellence".

The four major addresses at the general meetings were given by Dr. P. K. McCarter, vice-president the University of Oklahoma, Dr. Henry K. Stanford, president of Birmingham-Southern College, Editor George McLain of the Tupelo Daily Journal, and Dr. Charles P. Hogarth, M.S.C.W. president.

Dr. Ellis Finger, president of Millsaps College, presided at the general meetings.

Group meetings attended by Hinds representatives included a presidents' meeting, registrars and academic deans' meeting, deans of students and directors of guidance meeting, a breakfast meeting for deans of women and counselors.

Phi Beta Lambda Starts Activities In Business Work

Hinds' chapter of Phi Beta Lambda held its regular meeting Friday, September 25, at 10 a.m. in Room 2, Academic Building.

Phi Beta Lambda is the collegiate division of Future Business Leaders of America, a national organization for business education students. Jerry Horack, president, explained the meaning of Phi Beta Lambda, its purposes and objectives to the prospective new members present at the meeting.

Those present were John Wilda, Fred Wilda, Richard Baxter, Frank Andrews, Rudy Holcomb, Charlotte Berry, Jay Nicholson, Anthony Costas, Robert Williams, Rachel Saulter, Johnnie Mae Daley, Irene Wallace, Jessie M. Cowan, De Ann Bartee, Louise Phillips, Jerry Horack, and Ken Scott.

New members will be initiated at the end of the first nine weeks. They will be selected on the basis of regularity of attendance at meetings and other functions of the chapter, performance of duties, participation in activities, and scholarship.

A "Get Acquainted" party has been planned for Wednesday, September 30, from 5:00 until 6:30 at Raymond Lake. Fred Wilda was appointed temporary social chairman. John Wilda and Rudy Holcomb will work with Fred as a committee in making arrangements for the party.

Phi Beta Lambda will meet each Friday at 10 a.m. in Room 2, Academic Building. Officers will be nominated and elected at the next meeting on October 1. Anyone interested in joining may attend the meeting Friday and be considered for membership.

Phi Theta Kappa Chapter To Initiate New Members

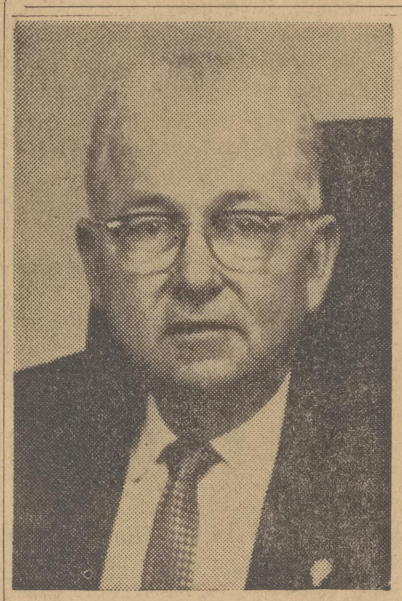
Nine invitations to membership in Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society for junior colleges, were issued this week by the local chapter.

Those receiving invitations on the basis of two semesters of work, and recommendations of character and citizenship, are the following sophomores: Glenda Barlow, Nancy Ruth Chapman, Gary Hathorn, Beebe Hilton, Ben Jones, Robert Loyd, Genie McBride, Oreadus McDonald, and Martha Pharr.

Members and pledges will meet Friday at 2A period to make arrangements for the fall initiation ceremony.

Phi Theta Kappa, non-secret national scholastic society for junior colleges, is composed of those students whose grades rank in the upper ten per cent of the college enrollment and who receive the unqualified nomination of the faculty committee appointed to study their records in character and citizenship and of the active members.

Each year groups of students attend the National Convention of this organization.



PARTICIPANTS IN CONFERENCE — Four Hinds Junior College representatives attended the Mississippi Junior-Senior College Conference at Mississippi State College for Women Monday and Tuesday. Attending the confab were President G. M. McLendon, Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, and Mr. A. L. Denton, guidance director. Not pictured is Miss Gertrude Davis, dean of women.

REGISTRAR'S RELEASES

50 Mississippi Counties, 14 States, 3 Foreign Countries Represented

According to Miss Mildred Herren, registrar, Hinds Junior College has an all-time high enrollment, including students from 50 Mississippi counties, 14 states, and three foreign countries.

Hinds County leads the list with a total of 411 students. Warren County boasts second place with 95 students. Rankin has 83; Yazoo 41; and Madison, 30.

Five students come from foreign countries, including Iran, Venezuela, and Japan. Out-of-state students, totaling 51, represent Georgia, New York, Wisconsin, Missouri, Florida, Ohio, Louisiana, Alabama, Texas, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, and South Carolina.

Baird To Preach At Religious Week On Hinds Campus

Rev. James Baird, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Clinton, has been engaged as speaker for Religious Emphasis Week, according to Rev. Clay Lee, chairman of the college faculty advisory committee for religious activities.

Dates for the campus services are Nov. 9-12.

Miss Betty Jane Frew, secretary of the advisory committee, states that student committees and plans for the special services will be published soon.

Good Citizens Will Go To The Polls & Vote Thursday

Be Sure To Vote Thursday

Campus election week has finally arrived with much color and clamor over top-office spots on the sophomore list of candidates. Through the combined efforts of candidates, their campaign and publicity directors, the present race for class leadership seems to be the tightest and most exciting in recent years.

Banners, posters and clip sheets bearing candidate's opinions distributed among students are shown for the efforts put forth by the race-runners as election day, Thursday, approaches.

Lottie Leach, Nancy Ruth Chapman, Martha Warnock and Betty Smythe hold down the third place show spot for class secretary and treasurer, going great guns with lots of feminine persuasison.

Enjoy Spiritual Growth

We have many good organizations here at Hinds fitted to suit the individual needs of the college student whether he be freshman, sophomore or vocational. Among these very fine organizations are Wesley, BSU, CYO and others which are exclusively for the purpose of bringing the student into closer contact with God and others on the campus, for the purpose of giving him that spiritual growth so badly needed in the world today.

It is our privilege and our duty to bring more light into our campus lives by joining one of these fine religious organizations. No one is holding our hands. We are in college for our own betterment.

Therefore, the college student owes this to himself. It is up to him to make it better for himself by linking himself to one of these fine religious organizations on the campus now — and profit!

Help Keep Campus Clean

Our campus is open to the public. People from all walks of life constantly visit it. They judge us, the student body, by the appearance of our campus. A dirty, cluttered campus reveals careless students; a neat, orderly campus reflects the pride of a wide-awake student body.

That one piece of paper that you pick up may not seem to greatly help the appearance, but the combined efforts of every student are soon quite apparent.

Hinds Junior College boasts one of the most beautiful campuses in Mississippi. Let's keep it that way!

Men's Group Fills Need

The Men's Recreational Association held its first meeting on Tuesday night of last week.

Judging from the response to this new student organization, it looks as though Hinds is well on its way toward adding still another group to its long list of fine clubs.

Already the group boasts of about 37 charter members and the executive committee is planning a constitution.

The organization is under the sponsorship of Mr. R. C. Benton, Hinds' recreational director. Mr. Benton has said that the purpose of the association is to reach all of the students of Hinds Junior College by broadening outside activities.

The Hindsonian welcomes this new organization to the Hinds' campus and wishes it the best for the coming year. We know that you'll do your part toward making Hinds Junior College a better place for us all.

Destroy Filthy Magazines

Someone once said, "Tell me what you read and I'll tell you what you are." How true! The type of literature we read reveals what we really are.

Many minds are shattered by the influence of FILTHY magazines. Yet "trash" remains, bold-faced, on America's top newsstands. Magazine covers are "dressed up" to appeal to the unwholesome thoughts of America's youth.

AWAY WITH PUBLISHERS OF SUCH MAGAZINES AS "CONFIDENTIAL" and "TRUE STORY." What we need to read is the Good Book.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Byram's Carolyn 'Red' Horton Claims Newspaper's Weekly 1st Place Salute

"Red" is a very versatile word. It can mean danger, Khrushchev, Christmas, or a brand of measles. However, our main concern lies not with the Russians or communicable diseases. The "Red" we're interested in is the one who's familiar to everyone on the campus; it's Carolyn "Red" Horton, today's sophomore of the week.

Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Horton of Byram, Miss., and is a graduate of Byram High School. She was very active in school affairs during her high school career, and was one of the outstanding students of her school. For three years, the red-haired Miss Horton served as cheerleader. In the Who's Who contests, she was elected "Campus Favorite," "Biggest Flirt," and "Wittiest Girl." For four years straight, Carolyn lettered in basketball and track.

After graduation from high school, Carolyn began making plans for her entry into Hinds Junior College. She entered Hinds last fall and has been busy with school affairs ever since.

In her freshman year, "Red" was elected vice president of the Baptist Student Union, treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association, and "Wittiest Girl" in Who's Who. This session she is serving as social chairman of the Baptist Student Union, and treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association.

Hobby-wise, Carolyn enjoys swimming, basketball, track, tennis, and just about any of the sports. Probably this has a lot to do with her decision to major in physical education.

After graduation next May, Carolyn plans to attend MSCW and work on her physical education degree. The Hindsonian wishes luck and success to a "Red" who richly deserves it!

POETIC TIDINGS

THE VOICE OF TIME

By CHARLES UPTON

Where the rain fell once and broke the still
Of darkness under summer skies
The sun now burns upon the earth
Upon the sky where the eagle flies.

The parched earth brown as autumn leaves
Where no one ever dares to tread
The still dark age of molten steel
That marks the place of quick and dead.

Then let us talk of times gone by
Speak gently of them lest they pass
From memories like sand in sea
Like path of eagle in the sky.

The talk of wars has passed from here,
We speak no more of strife and steel
So let us turn from things of fear
And rend our hearts that we may kneel
Upon the earth where sinners tread
Among the mighty and the dead
That we may hear the voice of Him
Who shaped the shell and shaped the sea. —

Probably one of the first places a new student finds on this wonderful campus in the Grill, better known as the Eagle's Nest. Where you can find anything from a needle to jackets, soft drinks, and most of all the juke box.

Everyone from the Speech instructor to the vocational student can be found, filling spare time talking about interesting things that have happened. Sitting around drinking soft drinks, talking, and listening to the juke box fill many a student's hour each day between classes. Yes, the Eagle's Nest is one of the most popular spots on the campus.

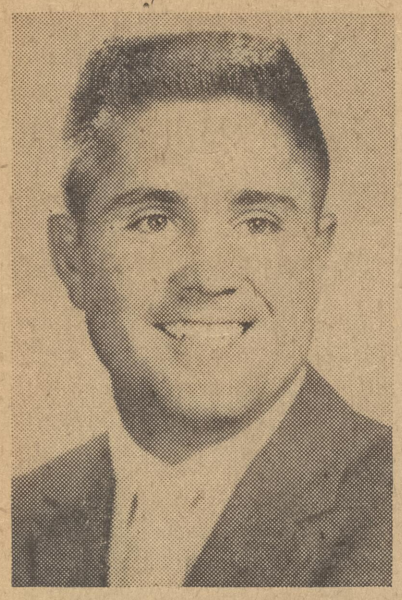
Rogers, Adams Join List Of Growing Faculty Members In Recreation, Music



HINDS STAFFER—Eddie Rogers of Purvis has recently been named the new assistant in health and recreation at Hinds Junior College. Rogers is a graduate of Pearl River Junior College and McNeese State College, Lake Charles, La., where he played varsity football. He is continuing graduate study at Mississippi College. At Hinds he will supervise one of the dormitories for boys.

John P. Adams of Houma, Louisiana, has been added to the music staff of Hinds Junior College for the coming year.

Mr. Adams received his B.M. degree with a double major in piano and organ, and his Master's degree in piano from Louisiana State University. He has completed his course work for his Doctorate in piano at the Indiana University School of Music.

He studied piano with Christian Jordan, Ozan Marsh, and Bela Boszormenye-Nagy; piano repertoire with Menahem Pressler, and Sidney Foster; and organ with Frank Collins, Mattie Lee Pate, and Frank Cranford Page.

Mr. Adams has had teaching experience in a private conservatory in Baton Rouge, and as graduate assistant in the Indiana University School of Music.

He has served the following churches as organist; First Presbyterian, Baton Rouge; First Methodist, Alexandria, Louisiana; and the University Lutheran, Bloomington, Indiana.

At Hinds, Mr. Adams will teach theory, organ and piano.

REVEALING IMPRESSIONS

Student Describes Hinds As 'Mad House'

By BELINDA HILL

A first impression, like a glance in a mirror, may not be lasting, but certainly, it is revealing.

When asked about her first impression Emily Crews of Canton responded, "My first impression of Hinds Junior College was a very confusing one. It seemed to me that everyone was running around like crazy and did not seem to know what was going on, as a matter of fact, I was confused too, and, I still am. I don't believe that I will ever learn my schedule. If you see someone running around with a schedule in hand constantly, then you will know that it's just a confused freshman at H. J. C."

Dorothy Gatlin of Madison said, "The friendly atmosphere and the unusual academic program of Hinds were among the first things which impressed me. Both faculty and students are friendly and helpful. I know no other Mississippi Junior College that has a first-rate educational program at such a reasonable cost."

Carolyn Gill of Johns said, "When I first came to Hinds, I hardly knew what to think about it. Everything was like a madhouse. I wondered many times if I would ever get straightened out enough to know what I was doing. But I love it very much now and did even from the beginning."

Delores Robinson of Brandon said, "The two days that I spent at H.J.C. for orientation, I actually hated the very thought of having to spend two years here. Well, I have certainly changed my mind. I'm looking forward to every day that I will be spending here and only regret that they go by so quickly."

High school days fade into the past for over 500 Hinds Junior College students. And suddenly college looms as a new way of life.

NEWS BRIEFS

Gracie Lashes East Coast

By NANCY CHAPMAN

The seventh tropical storm of the season, Gracie, has lashed the East Coast with winds up to 125-miles-an-hour. Early this week the leading edge of the hurricane sliced into Charleston, S. C., bringing with it torrents of blinding rain and high winds.

While Gracie is ripping the Georgia-Carolina coast, her sister, Hannah is churning the Atlantic somewhere off the Florida coast. However, Weather Bureau said that the hurricane winds in Hannah would cover a very small area.

Less than 24 hours after Premier Kruschchev returned to Moscow, the House Committee on Un-Americaan Activities made public the first part of a four-part transcript of testimony entitled "The Crimes of Khrushchev." In the transcript he is pictured as a bloody tyrant guilty of mass murder and terror. For the next several weeks, sections of the transcript will be released.

The first part of the testimony came from Eugene Lyons, a senior editor of the Reader's Digest. Yyons served as a correspondent in Moscow for a six-year period ending in 1925. He testified that Khrushchev, despite his home-spun exterior, is one of the bloodiest tyrants extant. He has come to power over mountains of corpses."

Mary Ann Mobley, one of Mississippi's most famous daughters, has decided to give up her college education for a while and study dramatics and voice in New York City.

The last year's "Miss America" says she is thrilled at being accepted as a student of Lee Strasberg of the Actor's Studio. Mr. Strasberg has been the trainer for dozens of top stars.

Baptist Members Map Program For '59-60 School Year

Monday night at 6:15 the Baptist Student Union held its regular meeting, followed by a council meeting.

At the general session, members were reminded of the initial Young Women's Associational meeting to be held later that week. Then the program chairman, Dot Brock, presented a recording entitled "The Football Game of Life." After the program, the group was dismissed.

In the council meeting which followed, it was decided that the greater Council meetings would be held on the last Mondays of each month. After committee reports and business, the meeting was adjourned.

Sir Isaac Newton is struck by another great idea!

As sure as little apples, Newton knew that what goes up must come down.

But when it comes down to a really pleasurable filter cigarette, it's what goes up—in front of the filter, that is—that makes the difference!

And there's where Winston had an inspired idea – Filter-Blend! Winston specially selects choice, mild tobaccos, then specially processes them for filter smoking. The result: Filter-Blend up front of a modern filter. That's what makes Winston a complete filter cigarette.

Filter-Blend also makes Winston America's best-selling, best-tasting filter cigarette. Take it from Sir Isaac:

"You don't have to be hit on the head to know that Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!"

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Wildcats, Jones Lead JC Grid

By TOMMY NANCE

With the 1959 football season about half over, the only two undefeated teams left in the Mississippi Junior College Conference are Pearl River and Jones. Pearl River, supporting a 4-0 record, and Jones with a 3-0 record will battle East Mississippi while Jones takes on the Eagles of Hinds.

Pearl River holds wins over Hinds, Southwest, Itawamba, and Copiah-Lincoln; Jones has defeated the Perkinston Bulldogs, Sunflwer, and East Mississippi.

Mississippi Junior College Standings

East Mississippi	3	1	0
Copiah-Lincoln	2	1	0
Northwest	1	3	0
Itawamba	0	4	0
HINDS	0	4	0

* * *

In the first edition of The Hindsonian, we made several predictions on the outcome of this past week's games, all but one was right and that, of course, was the Hinds-Northwest tilt.

We predicted that Pearl River would edge Co-Lin and that they did, 6-0; other choices that were made were East Central over Holmes, the outcome of that game was the closest of them all, 14-12; Sunflower over Southwest, East Mississippi over Itawamba, and Kilgore over Perkinston.

* * *

This week's predictions are as follows: Pearl River over East Mississippi by tow touchdowns; Sunflower over East Central by at least one touchdown; Jones over Hinds for Jones will stay undefeated; Holmes over Northwest, but it could go either way; Harding, Ark., over winless Itawamba; Perkinston over Southwest; and here is another one that could go either way, for my Ole Miss prediction, we pick Ole Miss-24, Memphis State-7.

* * *

This past week was a week of upsets as far as Auburn and Oklahoma are concerned. Auburn, voted in the top five by U.P.I. and A.P. writers, was upset by Tennessee 3-0 last Saturday while Oklahoma fell against Northwestern to the tune of 45-13. The losses of these two teams will help Ole Miss and L.S.U. in the poll voting this week since both came up with victories over Kentucky, 16-0 and T.C.U. 10-0 respectively.

Those of us who aren't big or rough enough for basketball or football and who love sports can still enjoy many activities on the Hinds campus. In the afternoon one can check out such games as ping-pong, badminton, horseshoes; and golf clubs are available to those of you who are interested in golf. There are several good tennis courts on the campus for those who like to play tennis; and those who are interested in basketball or softball, if enough boys or girls get together, may check this equipment out, too.

Jones Rides High With Undefeated Record In JC Loop

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, still looking for their first win of the season, journeyed down to Ellisville Saturday where they will meet the undefeated Jones Bobcats.

Through the years the Eagles have managed a 14-11-3 record with the Bobcats with Jones taking the last three out of four games. This series began back in 1929 when Hinds took the first contest 12-6.

Jones, the only team undefeated except Pearl River, had last week off while Hinds lost to Northwest 20-0. Jones is looking for the football title this year with only Pearl River in the way. The showdown game between Jones and Pearl River, which will probably determine the Junior College Football Championship, is set for October 24 at Ellisville.

Coach A. B Howard and his assistants will be working with seven lettermen while Hinds has only three.

Other games in the circuit this week will be East Mississippi at Pearl River; East Central at Sunflower; Northwest at Holmes; Itawamba at Hardin, Searcy, Arkansas; Southwest at Perkinston; and Copiah-Lincoln, suffering from their loss to Pearl River last week, will have on open date.

Northwest Hands Eagles 4th Straight Setback 20-0 In Senatobia Rain Storm

The Northwest Junior College Rangers of Senatobia tallied their first win of the season over the winless Hinds Eagles with an easy 20-0 victory last Saturday night.

Scoring early in the first period, Clyde McCollough tore through the Eagle line and scampered 14 yards for the first touchdown. Not satisfied with the one point punt after the touchdown, Billy Joe Williams took a pass in the end zone to give the home team a quick 8-0 lead.

After a beautiful long run off left tackle made by Donald Pomroy, Joe Moore scored from the one for the second tally of the night. With the rest of the game being played in mud and water and each team being forced to punt most of the time, the only real action was when in the final period Billy Joe Williams received a pitchout from Jim McCutchins and galloped 41 yards for the final score.

This game, making the first time that a Northwest team has beaten Hinds since 1929, was the fourth straight loss for the Eagles.

Other conference games saw the Pearl River Wildcats knock Copiah-Lincoln out of the ranks of the undefeated to the tune of 6-0, East Mississippi trouncing the Itawamba Indians 41-12, East Central edging out Holmes 14-12, Sunflower topping Southwest 22-8, and Kilgore, Texas, winning over Perkinston 20-18.

BENTON DIRECTS

If you are going to be on the campus over the weekend check out the equipment you will need Friday between 3:30 p.m. and 4:00 p.m.

Mr. Benton is in charge of the equipment that is issued from the equipment room.

Equipment can be used on the field across from the Main Dormitory. The tennis equipment can be used on the tennis courts behind the boys' gym.

Women's Athletic Association Initiates New Members With Overnight Party

Initiation of the new members of the Women's Athletic Association was climaxed Friday night by an overnight party at the Raymond Lodge.

This party was the highlight of a week of sophomore-rules-freshman, whereby every sophomore girl's wish was a freshman's command.

Fun was the theme of the night, as approximately 40 girls, along with Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education director, participated in singing, playing games, and eating.

The Women's Athletic Association, primarily to encourage sportsmanship among girls, sponsors various activities throughout the year, among them a series of intramural sports.

Officers of the club this year are Mrs. Peggy Swett, sponsor; Martha Pharr, president; Betty Jean Robbins, vice-president; Orlane Huff, secretary; Carolyn Horton, treasurer; Janet Davis, historian; and Lottie Leach, sophomore representative.

BULLETIN

Hindsonian staff members will meet Friday morning at 10:05 in the publis relations office.

All staff members and prospective staff members are urged to attend.

The Hindsonian staff is looking for several students to fill key positions on the staff.

Homecoming, Dedication Set For October 24

Students Vote For Queen, Maids Next Tuesday

Plans for the 1959 Hinds Junior College Homecoming are underway with the election of the queen and other royalty scheduled for Tuesday, October 13.

Candidates for the homecoming court will be nominated by petition which must be signed by 20 names, and turned in to Mr. R. C. Benton, sophomore class sponsor, by 6:00 p.m., October 12.

Sophomore voters will be allowed to sign five petitions; freshmen may sign four. The sophomore girl receiving the largest number of votes will be named queen. The polls will open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m. Run-off elections will be held Thursday, October 15.

Lendon Players Install Officers Tomorrow Night

The Hinds Lendon Players will hold their installation of officers for the coming year tomorrow at 7:30 p.m., in the speech studio.

At the second meeting, held two weeks ago, the following students were elected to office:

President, David Ethridge; vice-president, Jerry Horack; secretary-treasurer, Betty Smythe; and publicity director, Bill Matthews.

At this Thursday's meeting, Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the Hinds' speech department and sponsor of the group, will give a demonstration in the art of "stage make-up."

The Lendon Players sponsor two plays a year, one in the spring and another in the fall. Mr. Brooks has said that rehearsals for the first play of the season will be held in the speech studio on Monday, October 12.

The fall production will be staged the latter part of November.

Lion's Group Hears Hinds Junior Quint

President G. M. McLendon, two faculty members, and two student representatives presented the program for the Jackson Central Lions Club last Friday at the King Edward Hotel in Jackson.

After brief introductions by President McLendon, Miss Jean Packard, Hinds voice instructor, sang musical selections from "Porgy and Bess," and "South Pacific." Miss Packard was accompanied by Mr. John Adams, piano and organ instructor.

Then short talks concerning opportunities in the science and English departments at Hinds were given by two student representatives, Steve Montgomery and Nancy Chapman.

The Lions Club was celebrating its thirty-fourth anniversary.

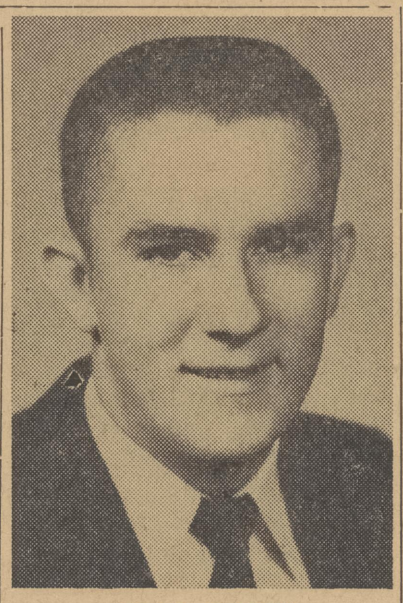
Hinds Sophomore Set To Head Choir

Martin Bittick, of Jackson has been elected president of the Hinds Junior College choir for the 1959-60 school session.

Others elected to serve are: Tommy Guilbert, Vicksburg, vice-president; and Genie McBride, Byram, secretary.

During the year the choir will sponsor several different projects. Alice Boyd of Utica and Key Traylor of Jackson will serve as council members.

Mr. Leslie Reeves, director of the choir, says that several special programs have been planned for the 1959-60 concert season.



BILLY McLAIN

Sophomores Elect Billy McLain New Class President

Billy McLain, Brandon, was elected president of the Hinds Junior College sophomore class in a second primary election held last Tuesday.

Also, in this election, Mrs. Emma F. Beemon, Hinds mathematics instructor, was elected class sponsor by the group.

In the first primary election, the "field" was narrowed from 16 to four candidates for the second primary.

Approximately 243, which is two-thirds of the eligible sophomore votes, cast their ballot in the first primary. Nearly as many voters returned to the polls for the second election, despite heavy rains.

On Thursday of the previous week other officers were elected in the first primary. These include vice-president: Albert "Perk" Richardson, Delta City; secretary: Martha Warnock, Satartia; treasurer: Nancy Ruth Chapman, Raymond.

Highlight Of Occasion To Be Physical Education Building Opening Ceremony

Homecoming for 1959 at Hinds Junior College has been sceduled for October 24.

A highlight for this occasion will be the ceremony of dedication of the new physical education building for girls now in use for its first season.

The list of faculty chairmen and committees appointed this week for heading up the annual Homecoming activities appears below. Student assistants and special participants will be named later.

Miss Lurline Stewart is overall chairman of Homecoming, and Mrs. Alon Bee and Mrs. Peggy Swett are co-chairmen of the dedication arrangements.

Faculty Committees

The following are the faculty comittees appointed: dedication ceremonies: Mr. G. M. McLendon, Mrs. Peggy Swett, Mrs. Alon Bee, Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Mrs. Nell Pickett, and Miss Bell Lindsey; publicity: Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, Miss Gertrude Davis, Mr. Pat Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Riggs.

Jerry Horack To Direct Business Group On Campus

Phi Beta Lambda, formerly the Future Business Leaders of America, held their nomination and election of officers last Friday for the coming season.

Jerry Horack retained the presidency of the club from last year. Other officers elected at this meeting include: vice-president, John Wilda; secretary, Charlotte Berry; treasurer, Fred Wilda; corresponding secretary, Irene Wallace; social chairman, Di Ann Bartee; program chairman, Louise Phillips; parliamentarian, Charles Bobo.

Prior to the election, the club sponsored a "get acquainted" party at the Raymond Lake Lodge on September 30.

The group meets every Friday during activity period, 10:05 a.m., in room 2 of the academic building. The sponsor of this group is Mrs. Maybelle Furness, business education instructor on the Hinds' campus.

According to Mrs. Furness, this is the first year the Hinds' organization has had affiliation with the national chapter of Phi Beta Lambda. She invites all students who are interested to attend the next regular business meeting.

Governor Barnett Tells Legislative Clinic Hopes, Dreams

By NANCY CHAPMAN

Gov.-Elect Ross Barnett told a legislative clinic at Mississippi State University early this week that he hoped to see state income taxes reduced at least one per cent a year for the next three years beginning in 1960.

Barnett said that a new tax structure was the basic solution for the state's bid for industry. The clinic was sponsored by the Mississippi Press Association and the Mississippi Economic Council and was the second of a current series.

Television quiz shows are under fire again. The House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee has begun an investigation of those television programs which are reportedly "rigged".

Films of the "Twenty One" series were the first ones slated for investigation. Jack Barry, former emcee of "Twenty One" and co-producer of the series, and Dan Enright, the other producer have been subpoenaed.

Four Negroes have petitioned to the Harrison County Board of Supervisors a plea that they be given the "unrestrained" use of the 26-mile sand beach between Biloxi and Henderson Point. They charged that "certain citizens" have been denied use of the beach "by intimidation, molestations and frustrations by some of the police of the municipalities located in Harrison County."

The board accepted the petition but gave no indication when it would begin action.

The steel negotiations still seem to be getting nowhere. Earlier this week the talks came to an abrupt halt with no indications of when the bargaining would resume. David McDonald, president of the USW, stormed from the conference room of a hotel in Pittsburgh and angrily told reporters that the talks had "'broken off."

In a statement on a local television broadcast, McDonald told the viewers that "The American steel industry abruptly insulted the American Steelworkers."

The National Broadcasting Company has released plans to televise the October 15th homecoming of Lynda Lee Mead, Miss America of 1960. There will be two eight minute films of the homecoming program presented on the Dave Garroway show.

In addition, three major newsreel companies are sending units to film the Natchez homecoming of Miss America.

Mississippi will be home of the "West Point of the South", if present plans succeed. The 47-year-old Gulf Coast Military Academy has been purchased by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Corporation and plans for renovation are underway. A board of trustees is being formed, and a program of expansion in the academic and physical program is underway.

The 20-acre school grounds are located between Gulfport and Biloxi.

Thomas Stricklin Joins College Staff In Growing Social Science Department

Mr. Thomas E. Stricklin of Eden, Mississippi, is a new addition to the social science department this year.

Mr. Stricklin, who is a graduate of Mississippi College, received his Master's degree at the University of Alabama.

While in the United States Army, he taught at the University of Georgia Center in Augusta.

"I am very well pleased with the ability of the students at Hinds," he said. Stricklin continued, "The faculty has treated me really wonderful and has been very helpful to me in getting settled."

Mr. Stricklin's favorite hobbies are tennis, movies, and watching basketball.

Parasitism, A Bad Habit

When reading the headline to this editorial, you probably said what in the world is that word, "parasitism." Parasitism, as described by Webster, is the state or behavior of a parasite. Well you say to yourself, of course, I'm no parasite so why should I practice parasitism. Giving you another definition to your knowledge, parasite means one who frequents the table of a rich man and gains his favor by flattery.

Now thinking back over the past few days, what have I taken from someone else to better myself? Paper, pencils, or sometimes money and you really never intended to give it back even though you just borrowed it.

That girl in typing from whom you always borrow paper, maybe can afford to give it away but don't you think she might get tired of you always asking for something. That boy in algebra from whom you always borrow graph paper or a pencil, he might some day classify you as a parasite. How would you like that?

Borrowing is sometimes necessary, but for your own good, pay back what you borrowed as soon as you can so that you won't be classified as a parasite.

Allow Time For Activities

Apparently one of the greatest problems of all Hinds' freshmen is adjusting their time in order to have sufficient opportunity to participate in sports, social, religious, and other desirable activities available at Hinds, and also to have enough time for studies.

The life of college students is so completely different from that of high school that frequently freshmen find difficulty in adjusting properly to the freedoms, opportunities, and responsibilities presented by college. They no longer have some one at hand to tell them what to study, when to study, and how to fill their free time. These things each student must face and decide for himself. Education should stand first in the student's daily life. He should begin to schedule his day in order that he will have ample time to study all assignments and then have time for outside activity.

A well-rounded college life must consist of some type of extra-curricular activity. It is then up to every student to choose a club, organization, or publication for which his interests are suited, and can be broadened and benefited.

Homework For Students

Are you one who tries to study and get up your homework with a Coke in one hand and a sandwich in the other, while the radio or television is blaring in the background?

Homework, you say, is so boring; but it is for your benefit not your teacher. You should always do your best on everything so that the teacher may see what you know and what she needs to teach you. Your homework plays a very important role in your grades, and you should devote all the time possible to it.

Improvement in your homework can be made if you follow some of the following set rules. Arrange a definite period of time and place so that you may get the most out of the time spent working. Study your hardest subject first, while your mind is still clear and fresh. Take rest periods between study periods and study some every night instead of having to cram in the last minute before a test.

Help Support The Eagles

In examining the facts we see that a team such as this does not represent only itself. On the contrary, they represent every individual who is a part of the school.

If they fail, then the school loses along with them. If we, the students of Hinds, support our team they will have the confidence. They will put forth their best efforts to score, at least a personal victory.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Versatile Nancy Ruth Chapman Reigns As Hindsonian's Top Weekly Honoree

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

From down Raymond way comes a lass familiar to everybody at Hinds. She's none other than Nancy Ruth Chapman, a tall, blue-eyed brunette.

Nancy is a five-year veteran of Hinds, having attended high school here for three years. Outstanding years they were, too, for while in high school Nancy received many honors, including that of being named Miss Hinds High.

NANCY RUTH CHAPMAN

Upon graduation from high school, she immediately enrolled in college.

As a freshman last year, she was a member of the choir, the band, the Lendon Players, the Girls' Ensemble, the Hinds all-star basketball team, and she was news editor of the Hindsonian.

This year she is filling those same capacities, besides being a Phi Theta Kappa pledge. And just recently she was elected sophomore class treasurer.

Nancy, who lists her favorite pastimes as music and dancing, is an English major and plans to work toward a degree in English from Ole Miss after completing her courses here at Hinds.

Nancy's quite a girl! And we're sure all her fondest dreams will come true. We hope so. She deserves it.

POETIC TIDINGS

LAMENT

By CHARLES UPTON

Long summer nights and hot summer days
I wait for my love to return
On the road through the hills in the valley of night
And I sit watching my candle burn.

Arise! In the morning go out to the fields
Work under the sun and burn.
On the road through the hills in the valley of night
Your love shall not return.

She drinks cool wine in the city north
While you work 'neath the sun and burn.
On the road through the hills in the valley of night
Your love shall not return.

Then I shall go away from here
And I shall not return
On the road through the hills in the valley of night
And my candle shall not burn.

Sunflower Petals Prints Advice For Studying Freshman

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

The Sunflower Petals, bi-weekly publication of Sunflower Junior College sends these thoughts along to those who are having trouble studying:

"The more you study, the more you know, the more you know, the more you forget, the more you forget the less you know, the less you know, the worse off you are, so—why bother?

* * *

John C. Sullivan, of Millsaps College, makes this suggestion:

"Now we never conjured much to a fellow who is always "knocking" and yet never offers anything constructive. We therefore propose the following:

What the South needs is a school for Statesmen. A school for a new breed of leaders called Liberal-Conservatives. Liberal enough to suggest new ideas and Conservative enough to safeguard personal liberties.

If the South is on the verge of a great industrial boom—as many business leaders predict—then there is sure to be an increase in her population. The greater the population, the greater the number of electors, and if this is to be, the greater the need for trained leaders. If there is to be action, let it be now.—Purple and White, Millsaps College.

"In the Twentieth Century war will be dead, the scaffold will be dead, hatred will be dead, dogmas will be dead; man will live. He will possess something higher than all these—a great country, the whole earth, and a great hope, the whole heaven."

So wrote Victor Hugo (1802-1885). Isn't it nice that he did not have to live to read a 1959 newspaper after making such a statement.—(From the Clan-Call, Belhaven College.)

MASS INTEGRATION IS DESTRUCTIVE TO AMERICANS

Integration is a destructive issue. It is destructive to the government and to the people. America is becoming involved in much turmoil and conflict. Why? Because the Federal Courts and such organizations as the N.A.A.C.P. appear to proceed with trying to throw the masses of white children into classrooms with Negro children, who are behind scholastically, and whose behavior is often vicious and anti-social.

In consideration of the problem of integration and the conflict it has caused, why could it not be settled with separate but equal schools? If the welfare of Negro children should be of genuine concern, the Federal Courts and such organizations as the N.A.A.C.P. would not want to throw masses of white and Negroes together to be educated. They would see the violence that it causes among everyone involved and try to avoid it.—(By Hedda An Williams, The Tom-Tom, East Central Junior College).

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION HOME

Hi-Steppers Display New Gym Equipment

By GEORGE WHITTINGTON

It's hi-steppin' time at Hinds Junior College here, and that means readin' and writin' have been joined by rhythm for a four-four beat in the new girls' gymnasium.

Or, to hit the right note somewhere between Bach and Brubeck, it's that time of year when the Hinds Hi-Steppers are getting into shape (word used advisedly) for the big events of the school year ahead. And if anybody doubts that the Hi-Steppers are the greatest thing that's happened to Hinds since it opened its now-hallowed halls in 1923, they have only to take a peek into the new gym.

Not that this new hall would be termed "hallowed"—at least by grandpop's standard. But then, even gramps couldn't gripe at these latter-day goings-on, since they feature the peachiest package of pulchritude since Flo Zieg field discovered the drawing power of a chorus line.

What's more, they're doing more to make Hinds famous than anything since the college's Eagles screamed their way into the Little Rose Bowl in 1954. In fact, they might have had something to do with that invitation, since the Steppers were right there steppin' high when the Eagles won.

Shadow Grows

This year's crop is no different—except that each year, the shadow they cast grows taller, at least in the influence they have, and except, of course, for their new dream gym.

It's strictly the greatest, as any girl on the campus—Hi-Stepper or not—will tell you. In fact, it's the livin' most, if you're inclined to believe what the eyesight shows you.

Of course, the new gym isn't the exclusive property of the Hi-Steppers—it's the headquarters and center of operations for Mrs. Peggy Swett, director of girls' physical education, and all girls use it.

But that it was designed with Hi-Steppers much in mind, and that their growing fame helped to bring many of its modernistic features into being are obvious to the visitor.

For it's here, or at least in one end of the big, new building, that they develop that form which gets them invitations from national conventions, big post-season football "bowls" and other such events.

New Routines

It's here, too, that the current crop of cuties not only are "breaking in" their new routines, but literally "breaking in" new equipment and facilities.

And if gramps dared disapprove, granny probably would shut him up with a backhand to the kisser after eyeing some of these fixtures.

In the main gym room itself, for instance, there's one wall that is a solid mirror, stretching from one side to the other. Mrs. Anna Bee, Hi-Stepper director and choreographer, explains that this is so the girls can watch themselves as they work out routines.

"It's wonderful," Mrs. Bee enthuses.

But that's just the start of "wonderful" things in this strictly modern gym. Along the wall at the end of the mirror, there's a practice bar that could accommodate a dozen ballerinas—or as many Hi-Steppers. For, as Mrs. Bee points out, "Hi-Steppers don't just specialize in one type of dancing—they're confined to neither ballet nor modern types of dances.

Well-Rounded Performer

"We aim at producing the well-rounded performer, who'll be at home on stage, dance floor or on a football field. Our overall aim is even greater than this—we aim at turning out a polished girl, one equal in poise and grace to the finest product of the best finishing school."

Mrs. Bee admits, too, that along the way, there's plenty of hard work. And while some of the accommodations of the new gym are making things better for the girls—such as a swank, mirror lined and perfectly equipped dressing room—some of the others make nothing easier.

Correction Room

There's the "correction room" for instance—a room equipped with a rowing device, stationary bike, a spring board, exercise bars and all other equipment for helping the girl to develop co-ordination—as well as to maybe take off some of those extra lumps added by too much meat and potatoes.

"They work hard," Mrs. Bee explains. "Being a Hi-Stepper demands hard work, but when a girl comes to you with huge blisters on her feet from marching, to tell you how wonderful it was performing for maybe a half-hour, you get a lump in your throat."

Mrs. Bee's and Mrs. Swett's lounge-type offices are strictly modern, featuring the latest lounge decor. Mrs. Swett's is furnished strictly as a lounge for the girls—with items including bookshelves—while Mrs. Bee's is so furnished that she can use it as a counseling room.

Bulging With Costumes

Off her office is the "prop" room, bulging with costumes and props, since the girls do many types of "'interpretive" dances.

Mrs. Bee, a former Jackson dance instructor who became Hi-Stepper director eight years ago—just two years after the group came into being—is justly proud of her girls and their accomplishments.

"The girls work hard, in summer as well as during the school term, and they're doing a great job not only for themselves and their school, but for all of Mississippi," she declares.

She points to appearances at the Junior Rose Bowl, the Gator Bowl, national Junior Chamber of Commerce conventions in both Colorado Springs and Buffalo, N. Y., the National American Legion convention and other such events since 1952 as proof of the pudding.—State Times.

Wildcats, Jones Remain Atop League

By TOMMY NANCE

Still remaining undefeated in Junior College circuit are the Pearl River Wildcats, who defeated East Mississippi, and Jones, who tallied 36 points to win over the winless Hinds Eagles, 36-21.

With half of the season over for the Wildcats, they still have to face Perkinston, Sunflower, Jones, Northwest, and East Central. The Pearl River-Jones tilt will most likely decide the Mississippi Junior College football championship.

Jones, having played only four games, will have to run across Holmes, Northwest, Pearl River, Southwest, Copiah-Lincoln, and East Central to finish their ten game schedule.

* * *

It looks as though we're in a rut. Last week all of our predictions came true but the Hinds-Northwest game and this week all were true to form but the Itawamba-Harding, Arkansas game. When we predicted the Eagles over Northwest, we thought surely Hinds would win their first game but we were wrong. This past week we predicted that Itawamba would be defeated again and would lose their fifth straight game but that they didn't and they broke into the win column at last.

Predictions that were made that came true and their scores are: Sunflower over East Central, 20-6; Pearl River over East Mississippi, 42-0; Jones over the Eagles, 36-21; Holmes over Northwest, 32-0; and Perkinston over Southwest, 29-6.

Mississippi Jr. College Standings

Sunflower	4	1	0
Holmes	3	2	0
East Mississippi	3	2	0
Perkinston	2	3	0
Northwest	1	4	0
Itawamba	1	4	0
Southwest	0	5	0

* * *

Hoping to erase our error in this week's predictions, we predict Copiah-Lincoln over East Mississippi; East Central over Hinds, but we hope this one is wrong; Jones will go undefeated through this week by winning over Holmes, Sunflower over Itawamba; Northwest over Southwest; and Pearl River defeating Perkinston.

Ole Miss should go undefeated again this week while Mississippi State breaks into the win column with a victory over Arkansas State.

* * *

The Southeastern Conference is rolling along as usual with the big guns still winning. This past weekend the Auburn Tigers broke into the win column again after an upset loss to Tennessee the week before, with a 35-12 win over Hardin-Simmons; Florida came up with a win over Virginia, 55-10; Georgia bowed to South Carolina, 30-14. L.S.U. came up with another win over Baylor, 22-0; Tennessee toppled Mississippi State, 22-6; and, Georgia Tech edged Clemson, 16-6.

Eagles Return To Local Campus This Week To Play East Central

Recreation Group To Sponsor Dance Thursday Evening

The Men's Recreation Association, a new group on the Hinds' campus, is sponsoring an informal dance Thursday, October 8, in the recreation hall.

This dance will feature the "Red Counts." Admission will be 25c for stag or couple.

The dance is to be held in connection with the membership drive of the club which is now underway. According to Skip Burnham, vice-president of the group, any prospective member, in good academic standing and having a good citizenship record, may contact him at the recreation center between the hours of 3:30 and 5:00 p.m. for membership.

Football players, managers, and cheerleaders will be honored at a pep rally during this dance.

The group will sponsor many projects during the coming year. At the present time a rifle range is in the process of being built near the site of Raymond Lake.

Hinds Gridders Plan To Get Revenge From Last Season's 36-18 Slaughter

Coming home for the rest of the season, the Hinds Eagles will be facing the Warriors of East Central Saturday night.

Hinds, still looking for their first win of the season, will face the 2-2 record of the Warriors.

Losing last year to East Central by a 36-18 margin, Hinds will be trying to improve their record of 14-10-3 against the Warriors since the beginning of the series in 1930.

Although East Central has won only two games in the past nine years against Hinds, both games were in the past four years.

Bringing 10 returning lettermen into Eagle Stadium this week, Coach Bobby J. Oswalt and his assistant, Tommy Cheney, are concentrating on upping their win column to three games for this year and to 11 games over the Eagles.

The individual scores of each game since 1930 in the Eagle-Warrior series are as follows: 1930—Hinds 7, E.C. 7; 1931—Hinds 6, E.C. 0; 1932—Hinds 6, E.C. 0; 1933—Hinds 7, E.C. 6; 1934—Hinds 13, E.C. 22; 1935—Hinds 6, E.C. 6; 1936—Hinds 7, E.C. 14; 1937—Hinds 6, E.C. 20; 1938—Hinds 0, E.C. 67; 1939—Hinds 0, E.C. 20; 1940—Hinds 0, E.C. 0; 1947—Hinds 7, E.C. 13; 1942—Hinds 12, E.C. 0.

Phi Theta Kappa Initiates 9 New Members Tuesday

The Hinds Junior College chapter of Phi Theta Kappa held an initiation service for new members Tuesday night in the college auditorium.

The following students were initiated: Glenda Barlow, Robert Loyd, Ben Jones, Martha Pharr, Nancy Ruth Chapman, Eugenia McBride, Gary Hathorn, Beebe Hilton, and Oreadus McDonald. These students achieved honors in their freshman work. To make honors a student must have a quality point average of 2.2.

The initiation service was led by the active members including: Ouida Henderson, Dorothy Brock, Linda Herrington, Gary McLain, and Minna Farrar. A reception honoring the new members, their families, friends, and teachers was held immediately after the service.

Becky Dawson played the organ for the service, and Mrs. Clyde Benton, a phi Theta Kappa Alumna, sang the Phi Theta Kappa song as a closing prayer.

Bobcats Plaster Eagles For Hinds' 5th Straight Loss In 36-21 Offensive Show

Hinds Junior College Eagles were dealt their fifth straight loss at the hands of the undefeated Jones Bobcats last Saturday night to the tune of 36-21.

Jones, scoring in every period, led all the way through the game.

Fullback Bobby Blanton led the Bobcats with three touchdowns and three conversions. Blanton, scoring from the two, five, and the eight, and Jack Forehand, halfback, scoring the other two touchdowns for Jones, dominated the offensive team of the Bobcats.

Leading the way for Hinds in their biggest offensive show of the year was Johnny Daher, who scored twice and converted once; and quarterback Jerry Streva from Morgan City, La., passing to Donny Ross for a 10 yard gain and the final Eagle score. Daher is a new comer to the Hinds roster and should see plenty of action during the rest of the year and all of next year.

On tap for the Eagles this week will be the East Central Warriors at Raymond while Jones travels to Goodman where they will meet Holmes Junior College.

Sophomore-Freshmen Voters Elect; Five Win Homecoming Maid Honors

Martha Warnock, Satartia, sophomore, or Kareemie Ellis, Port Gibson, will be elected Hinds Junior College's 1959 Homecoming Queen in a student body election run-off Tuesday.

Freshman maids elected are Jackie Melshiemer, Vicksburg; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill; and Jewel McNair, Clinton.

In Tuesday's run-off are Melany Clements, Raymond; and Delores Robinson, Brandon; to compete for the fourth freshman maid honors.

The Homecoming festivities will include the football game between the Hinds Eagles and the Holmes Bulldogs, and the dance following the game in the college recreational hall.

Ouida Henderson To Head College Phi Theta Kappa

Other officers elected were vice-president — Dot Brock, Learned; secretary—Lenda Herrington, Raymond; treasurer—Gray McLain, Jackson; social chairman—Beebe Hilton, Jackson; and reporter — Nancy Chapman, Raymond.

Miss Mildred Herrin, sponsor of the group, announced that the national convention would be held in San Antonio, Texas, next spring. During the year, the group will sponsor various projects to raise money for the trip to the convention.

Nine members were recently initiated into the organization, bringing the total membership to 15. To become a member of the Phi Theta Kappa, students must maintain a 2.2 average each semester.

Reynolds Tobacco Presents College With Megaphones

The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, of Winston-Salem N. C., recently presented Hinds Junior College with 400 miniature megaphones for the cheering section of the pep squad.

The presentation was made last week to Mr. R. C. Benton, recreational director of Hinds Junior College, by Mr. H. T. Gober, assistant manager of the Jackson division of the R. J. Reynolds Company.

Included in the presentation were 12 decks of cards for the recreational center.

Steering Members Set Meeting For Religious Week

A student steering committee, responsible for the administration of this year's Religious Emphasis Week, will meet Friday morning, October 16th, during Activity period in the BSU Office.

Representatives from the BSU, Wesley Foundation, Westminister, Canterbury, and C.Y.O. groups will formulate plans for the various committees and elect an overall student chairman to head the work for this special week.

College President Attends Meeting Of Administrators

President G. M. McLendon recently attended the Mississippi Education Association of School Administrators' 1959 meeting at Jackson.

This year's theme was "Better Schools For A Better Tomorrow."

The Mississippi Association of School Administrators held three general sessions and one sectional meeting. The topic for panel discussion was "The National Education Defense Act."

Mr. McLendon said he was particularly interested in the sectional meeting which concerned all agricultural high schools and junior colleges. Here educators discussed such topics as "Quality Education Through the National Education Defense Act" and "Federal Support To Schools."

4 Newspaper Students To Attend 2-Day State Junior College Press Meeting

Four students will represent Hinds Junior College at the State Junior College Press Association Conference to be held at East Central Junior College this weekend.

Members of the Hindsonian staff who will attend are David Ethridge, Vicksburg; Charles Upton, Walnut Grove; Johnny Sumrall, Jackson; and Richard Belding, Crystal Springs.

Registration will begin Friday afternoon at East Central Junior College. After registration, there will be an afternoon tea with musical entertainment.

Later that evening, President W. A. Vincent, of East Central will welcome students to the press conference banquet. The response will be delivered by Rachel Todd, Jones Junior College, who is the association's president.

The guest speaker for the banquet will be Mr. Kenneth Toler, head of the Mississippi news bureau for the Commercial Appeal.

The second day of conference activities will consist of workshops and panel discussions.

The first workshop will be in reporting and news writing, editorial writing, and photography. The second will consist of suggestions in editing, headlines, makeup, sports writing, feature writing, and advertising.

The topic for panel discussion is "Values In Junior College Journalism and How To Increase Them." The panel will be composed of former editors of East Central's student newspaper, The Tom Tom.

The final address of the conference will be by Dr. S. E. Talbert, head of the department of journalism of the University of Mississippi.

Rid Hinds Of Apathy

It is high time we were getting rid of some of this student apathy here on the campus of Hinds Junior College. Many of us don't realize that we are going to a top flight junior college that is fully accredited and fully equipped to give every opportunity to any student wishing to better himself in an educational institution.

We should give some thought to things other than just the social things like "shooting the bull" in the grill or "watching Hi-Steppers practice in the afternoons."

Things like these are good but they are not the very "meat of college life." They are not the things which will make us grow and develop into useful citizens with desirable qualities. All these things that put the icing on the cake of college life are the things which will pass away with time, leaving us holding the thin end of good fortune.

Rise up, o ye students of Hinds, from your fatness of apathy, lest we fall into a deeper pit of misfortune than those indifferent citizens of past fallen generations. Show yourself that you have the courage of your convictions. Stand steadfast in your beliefs. Fight for all your worth for a college education, one that will see you through the maze of life.

You are a Hinds Junior College student. You took a pledge when you entered. Now stand behind it. Show yourself and others that you as a student and a citizen are worthy to be called a member of the House of Hinds.

Watch Your Manners

It is taken for granted that the desire of every young lady and gentleman entering this college will be to act in good taste wherever they may be. It is especially urged that students should watch their behavior in places set aside for activities such as the grill and the recreation hall.

The ladies who are in charge of these places have a special interest in the students and faculty members. They urge that it be brought to the attention of the students who prop their feet on tables, throw trash on the floor, and sail paper missiles across the room that a sad lack of taste is evidenced.

College students should consider themselves as adults with adult tastes and responsibilities.

The people who are prone to misbehave in any manner might well check themselves in the future as childish and irresponsible. Let's grow, fellow students, and let's watch our manners. Wise up to the things which really count in life and profit in the future. It may hurt now to change our actions but it might save some pain and heartache later on.

Benefit By Your Library

If you are not taking advantage of the library at present, then you are missing a great opportunity for uninterrupted study. This is the one place on the campus where you have the peace and quiet required for studying.

The library provides a refuge for the dormitory students who have roommates who just have to listen to the radio, have a gab session, or think they are great singers and feel that they should practice their 'talent' during study hours.

The library is also a great gift to day students. It is the perfect place to spend the greatest part of one's free periods.

The library has a wide selection of books, magazines, and newspapers which are available to each student.

The library is for your benefit; benefit by it.

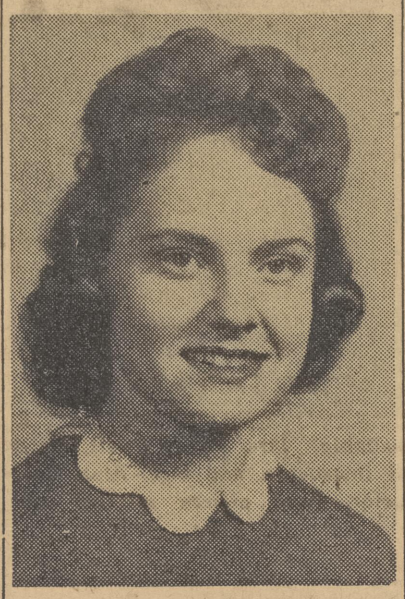
SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Former 'Miss Central High' Sparkles On Campus As Cute, Dainty Stepper

By NANCY CHAPMAN

This week the Hindsonian honors as its Sophomore of the Week a dainty doll of the Hilton fame. Though she's no relation to Conrad, her honors and titles, if linked together, would probably be as long as Mr. Hilton's famous chain of hotels. She's everybody's favorite, Beebe Hilton, "our gal Friday".



BEEBE HILTON

Beebe is a native of Jackson and attended Central High School before coming to Hinds. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hilton of Jackson.

Few people find the time to smile and radiate like Beebe. She's always been willing to help in any stressful situation. Probably the honors she received in high school will prove that fact.

While attending Central, the versatile blue-eyed blonde was elected Miss Central High School and Best All-Round Senior Girl; but those are only a few of the list of honors awarded Beebe.

She served as cheerleader, editor of the annual, treasurer of the student council at Central, treasurer of the Mississippi Association of Student Councils, assistant editor of the school literary magazine, and Golden Lady of the Teens Against Polio court. At one time Miss Hilton was selected as Pilot Girl of the Month. These are only a portion of the many "wonders" of a "wonderful" girl.

Now if you think Beebe took a vacation from the winner's column during her college career at Hinds, you're wrong. She has been a leading Hi-Stepper for two years, and was just elected to serve as sophomore maid in the homecoming court.

During her freshman year, Beebe was a member of the Wesley Foundation and the Women's House Council. She was nominated for class officer and Penny Fair maid.

With all the activities Beebe participates in, one would be inclined to think that she would not have enough time to concentrate on studying, but this is not true, for she was recently initiated into Phi Theta Kappa, the school's scholastic organization; and was elected social chairman of the group.

Beebe is a secretarial science major and just to get practice for her future occupation, she serves as "our gal Friday" for the Public Relations Department here on the campus. During her spare time, Beebe can be found pounding the typewriter in the publicity office.

The Hindsonian staff takes great pleasure in honoring her as its Sophomore of the Week, and wishes the world's best to the best in the world, Beebe Hilton.

FRESHMAN DAY—

Survey Reveals College Expenses

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

THE SECRET? PLANNING!

(ACP)—How much have you spent this year at college? A survey of a family economics class at Kansas State University revealed the average student spent $685.09 a semester.

But the class professor was quick to point out "this average is a worthless number because of the many variables which enter into each student's life."

Prof. Richard Morse told the Kansas State Collegian some students get by on $300 a semester, others spend up to $1,300.

Most interesting survey discovery: The student who pre-sets a certain amount to spend in a given period will usually spend less than estimated. It worked out that way for 31 of the 40 students.

(Note: While it is true that the secret of saving is planning, many Hinds students may be surprised by the exorbitant prices of a senior college education. Where else can you find the educational opportunities and small cost of Hinds' schooling?)

Scientists show us how to sail under the North Pole and fly over the moon, but you're still on your own when you cross the street. — Harold Coffin (The Clan-Call, Belhaven College).

(ACP)—How big does the class have to be before the students can be reasonably comfortable coming to class unprepared?

—Dean George Wagoner, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. (From University of Kansas Daily Kansan).

From the Sunflower Petals:

"Daddy," asked the boy, "what's a sweater girl?"

"Why-er-ah," fumbled the father, "a sweater girl is a girl who works in a sweater factory." (After a moment's pause) "Where in the world did you get that question?"

"Where in the world," demanded sonny, "did you get that answer?"

The TJC Pow Wow of Tyler Junior College in Tyler, Texas, tells an old story that may sound familiar to some of us at the end of this year.

Father: "How is that?"

Sophomore: "You won't have to buy new books for me next semester. I am taking last year's work over again."

Farm Provides Food For Cafeteria And Laboratory

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

One of the most interesting of the facilities which Hinds Junior College operates is its farm.

The farm is used to provide food for the junior college and to serve as a laboratory for agricultural students to observe practical demonstrations in modern production methods. The farm, itself, covers over 1000 acres and extends from near the site of the campus to the John Bell Williams Memorial Airport.

Near the airport is situated a small experimental plot for vegetables, which is maintained for experimental purposes and for the production of fresh vegetables for the college cafeteria. In season, such practical vegetables as tomatoes, sweet corn, okra, and squash are grown.

Farm Purpose

Nevertheless, this is not the chief purpose of the farm, for on the majority of the land which the operation includes, cattle, hogs, and chickens are raised. A herd of registered Jersey and Holstein cows provides all the milk consumed in the college cafeteria.

This milk is produced on the farm near the campus and is processed for student use by personnel of the Agriculture Department. A grade "A" dairy barn and milk pasteurizing and bottling unit make this part of the farm most modern.

About half of the beef used in the cafeteria is also produced by this unit.

A modern poultry unit of 4000 broilers and 1200 hens produces the broilers and eggs used in the school cafeteria. Here, students have an opportunity to observe each step in poultry production. A swine unit provides between 150 and 175 market hogs each year, which are sold for such products as pork, pork chops, and sausage. These units follow up-to-date practices on care at farrowing, disease control, sanitation, and feeding.

Brood Stock

An excellent brood stock for farmers of this area and for beef purposes is maintained by a breeding herd of 50 registered Hereford cows. These cattle provide excellent material for instructional purposes in judging, fitting, and showing beef cattle.

Test plots of farming size for winter grazing beef cattle, hogs and dairy cattle are some of the main features of the college farm. Approximately 5,000 bales of hay, 2,000 bushels of corn, 250 pounds of silage, and 2,000 bushels of oats are produced as a part of the farm operations. All this corn, hay, oats and silage is needed by the livestock.

Last year Hinds' farm worked with another such group for experimental purposes. A co-operative program was set up between Hinds Junior College's farm and the animal husbandry division of Mississippi State University.

Working together, in this manner, provides each college with a knowledge of the other's successes and failures in experimentation and thus, brings about a quicker end result.

THE COLLEGE FARM located on the campus of Hinds Junior Collefe provides the student body with an abundance of fine foods. As shown above, all phases of the farming scene are amply covered by the farm, offering not only quality foodstuffs but ample training for agriculture majors as well. Within the area of the farm are found facilities for chickens, cattle, and vegetable raising.

New Dormitories To Be Ready For Use In January

Plans call for two new dormitories to be open in January. That is, if weather conditions permit finishing of construction by that time.

The boys' dormitory will house 52 students; the girls' dormitory, 50 students. In each of the dormitories are two faculty apartments.

These new dormitories are completely modern, constructed in motel style—no halls, but an open porch in front. Each contains its own laundry, spacious storage rooms, and a student lounge.

Cost of the dormitories is an estimated $150,000 each. Architecture is by Jay Liddle, and general construction is by Flint Brothers, Jackson, Mississippi.

HINDS BOSSES — Hinds Junior College coaches Joe Renfroe, left, and Frank Young have high hopes of notching up their first victory of the season Saturday night when the Eagles entertain arch-rival Copiah-Lincoln of Wesson. Coaches Renfroe and Young are suffering their poorest season as Eagle tutors.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Hinds Eagles Lead JC Standings

By TOMMY NANCE

Only two teams remain with perfect records in the junior college standings through this past week. They are Hinds, who has failed to come up with a victory, and Pearl River, who has not yet been defeated.

Pearl River, our prediction to win the state title, defeated the Perkinston Bulldogs, the only other undefeated team as of last week. Jones lost to a determined Holmes eleven to the tune of 22-21. Hinds, now holding an undisputed twelfth place, lost their sixth start to East Central as the Bears of Southwest, previously holding no wins, came up with their first victory of the year to give them a 1-5 record.

Hinds, hoping to lose their undisputed title, face Co-Lin, Holmes, and Sunflower, while Pearl River hoping to hold their record still faces Sunflower, Jones, Northwest, and East Central.

Prediction time is here agin but let's hope a more accurate prediction is made on the junior college circuit than that of last week's. In a total of six games, only four predictions came true. Unbeaten Jones lost their first game to Holmes, and Southwest won their first game of the season against Northwest in a 9-6 duel. Both of these were upsets according to our predictions. The other four came out true to form.

This week's games pit Copiah-Lincoln against Hinds. Co-Lin should come up with their fourth win while the Eagles settle back and take a beating. Southwest at East Central: the Bears, although winning last week, will have a hard time beating East Central so we predict East Central over Southwest.

Northwest at Jones: Jones should get back in the winning column this week as Northwest has won only one game this season. Pearl River at Sunflower: the Wildcats will win their seventh straight of the season when they go up against the strong Sunflower eleven. The Perkinston-Texarka na game could go either way but we predict Texarkana will come out on top. These are our choices; compare yours with ours and see how good you are. I hope you come out with a better percentage than mine.

Mississippi Jr. College Standings

TEAM	W	L	T
HINDS	0	6	0
Southwest	1	5	0
Itawamba	1	5	0
Northwest	1	5	0
Perkinston	2	4	0
East Mississippi	3	3	0
Holmes	4	2	0
Jones	4	1	0

Unbeaten, untied, unscored on, and almost unnoticed, Ole Miss scored another victory last Saturday with a whitewashing of Vanderbilt, 33-0. James Anderson, Jake Gibbs, Bobby Crespino, and Charles Flowers led the scoring attack for the Johnny Rebs of Oxford to pace them to their fourth win of the season. This week will be homecoming for the Rebels and an alert Tulane eleven will invade Hemingway Stadium to try to score on, tie, or beat the Mississippi top rated team.

Copiah - Lincoln Wolves Invade Campus For Annual Grudge Battle

Hinds Eagles Fall To East Central For Sixth Loss

The East Central Warriors from up Decatur way tore into the Hinds' defense with a 32-8 shellacking last Saturday night. This marked the third win of the season for the Warriors against two losses while they racked up the biggest margin over the Eagles since the series began in 1930.

Placing the Warriors in sixth place in the Mississippi Junior College standings were halfback Billy Wayne Baucam, who scored two of East Central's tallies ;and James Massey, Jimmy Harbor, and Bobby Caldwell, all scoring once for the Warriors. Charles Halbert, 183 pound fullback from Canton, scored the lone touchdown for the Eagles.

East Central led in all the statistics with a 19 to 13 margin in first downs, 257-121 difference in net yards rushing, and a completion of five on 12 attempts for 65 yards passing. The Eagles, suffering their sixth straight setback, gained only 80 yards passing on four out of 21 attempts.

Other scores of games this past week-end are: Southwest 9, Northwest 6; Copiah-Lincoln 56, East Mississippi 7; Pearl River 24, Perkinston 7; Sunflower 12, Itawamba 7; and Holmess 22, Jones 21.

Saturday the Eagles take on the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves in Eagle Stadium. East Central will be invaded by the Southwest Bears, who picked up their first win of the season last week over Northwest.

Underdog Eagles Look For First Victory Of Season Against Co-Lin

The Hinds Eagles, still looking for their first victory, run up against an always powerful eleven, Copiah-Lincoln, Saturday night at Hinds.

The Wolves, Hinds' biggest rival since the beginning of junior college football in Mississippi, still have sweet memories of Hook Stone and the 1930's when Co-Lin won eight state championships in a 10-year span. The trend in recent years has taken a reverse movement for the Wolves because last year was the first time the Co-Lin crew came up with a win over the Eagles in the past decade.

The blue and gray colors will be flying high as will the maroon and white Saturday night at 8, when these two teams battle to see who will come out on top in 1959.

Coach A. J. Mangum and his assistant, Wallace Hargo, will have six lettermen to work with along with an impressive 3-1 record. Pearl River has been the only team to upset the Wolves this season.

In the past 30 years, these two teams have tied only twice and the score was 0-0 both times. Hinds holds a narrow margin of victories over Copiah-Lincoln, 16-13, but the Wolves hold the scoring title with 457 points to Hinds' 453.

Printing Business Proves No Picnic

Publishing a paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly; if we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we stick close to the office all day, we ought to be out hunting interesting things to print; if we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't accept contributions we don't appreciate genius; and if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk.

If we edit the other fellow's story we are too critical; if we don't we are asleep. If we clip things from other papers, we're too lazy to write them; if we don't, we're stuck with our own stuff. Some will say we swiped this article, and we did!

BULLETIN

All men students that are interested in trying out for Hinds' basketball team, which will enter the Jackson City League, should report to Mr. R. C. Benton in the men's gym Thursday, October 15th at 7 p. m.

To be selected on the team you must at least a "C" average.

NEWS BRIEFS

Rain Brings Cooler Weather

By NANCY CHAPMAN

Heavy rains throughout Mississippi brought cooler weather to the campus Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The United Steelworkers Union said Monday that it will not be beaten, although a court order may enforce an 80-day truce in the record steel strike. "But there will be no permanent peace," says steelworkers President David J. McDonald. McDonald told a White House investigation panel that at the end of the truce the basic issue would remain unsettled. The white-haired union chief boomed in a roar "never, and I mean never" would the Steelworkers yield to management's demands.

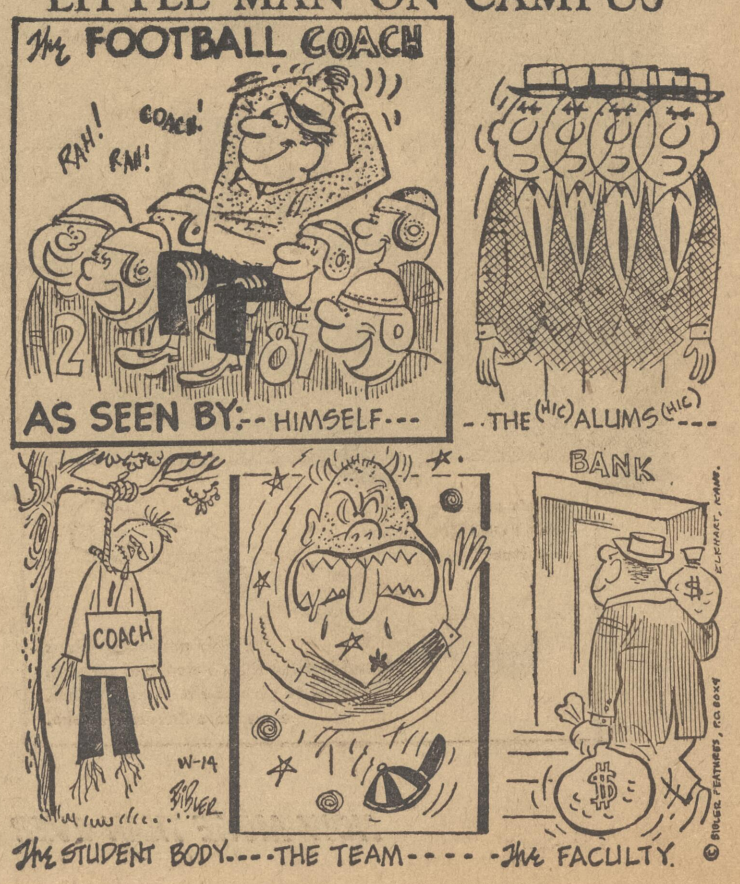
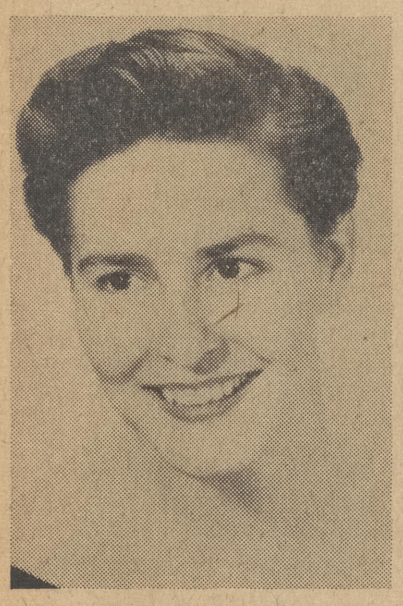
LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS



THE HINDSONIAN

VOLUME 26—NUMBER 5 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1959

Officials Await Dedication Ceremonies



ON DEDICATION PROGRAM — Mrs. Peggy Swett, left, girls' physical education director, Mr. G. M. McLendon, President of Hinds Junior College, and Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Stepper choreographer, will be hosts at the dedication ceremonies for the new girls' gymnasium, Saturday.

Hinds Physical Education Building For Young Women Ready For Use

The new physical education building for girls at Hinds Junior College will be formally dedicated at 3:30 p.m., Saturday, Homecoming Day.

Located on the northeast perimeter of the campus, adjoining a play area of 200 feet by 150 feet, the new building comprehends a gymnasium proper, a corrective and therapy room, a Hi-Stepper studio and rehearsal area, a class room equipped with visual aid equipment, directors' offices, locker rooms, and ample storage space for equipment.

Equipment now in use for the gymnasium includes combination indoor standards accommodating three badminton and two volley ball courts, a full sized professional trampoline, ping pong table, inclined spring board, adjustable traveling rings, duck mats, motor controlled glass backboards, amplifier and microphone with two speakers, and scoreboard and clock.

The corrective and therapy room is equipped with Battle Creek rowex, ro-trim, health bike, veelite, inclined exercise table, and massage table. In this room are also Swedish stall bars, a chest weight, balance board, scales and measuring rods, a first aid cabinet, and a large posture improving mirror.

Hi-Stepper Studio

The Hi-Stepper studio is fitted with 60 feet of mirrors, the same type used by Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Mirrored reflections aid in achieving precision, and in eliminating faults in line, form, color and beauty in Hi-Stepper development. A Stromberg-Carlson stereophonic record player, and ballet practice bars are also in use in this studio.

The office of the Hi-Stepper director, Mrs. Alon Bee, adjoins the practice area. Dramatic in black and white with orange accents, the office is equipped with an L-staped arrangement of long sofa, table and chair. A rectangular table in ebony and matching conference desk and white leather swivel chair complete the furnishings. Drapes at the large window behind the desk are of modern print, "Fancy Free," from the ballerina collection in black and orange on white background. A cornice is contained in the window treatment.

The office of the director of physical education classes, Mrs. Peggy Swett, is a combination of office, conference room, reception area and kitchen. Against a recessed wall there is an "in a cabinet kitchen" consisting of stove, sink, and refrigerator.

Walnut Table

Furnishings include a large, round walnut table with four barrel chairs upholstered in dull gold doe-vin, a curved sectional sofa in turquoise, a coffee table, and the director's desk of free form walnut,

HOMECOMING CELEBRATION

Queen Ellis To Wear Crown At Halftime

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Miss Kareemie Ellis, of Port Gibson, will be crowned Homecoming Queen Saturday night to highlight a day of homecoming festivities and dedication ceremonies.

President G. M. McLendon will place the regal crown on the head of Miss Ellis during halftime activities of the Hinds-Holmes game.

The title, homecoming queen, adds the top honor to Miss Ellis' list, which includes being cheerleader, president of the CYO, and a WAA member.

Her majesty, Miss Ellis, will be escorted by Billy McLain, of Brandon, who is president of the sophomore class. Her court includes the following:

Miss Martha Warnock, sophomore maid from Satartia, escorted by Jimmy Shirley, of Yazoo City; Miss Beebe Hilton, sophomore maid from Jackson, escorted by Tommy Bruckner, of Merigold; Miss Lottie Leach, sophomore maid from Jackson, escorted by George Bennett, of Jackson; Miss Delois Armstrong, sophomore maid from Forest Hill, escorted by Jimmy Bloodworth, of Jackson.

STARTS AT 2:00 P. M.

Registration for the day's activities will begin at 2:00 p.m. in the administration building. At 3:30 p. m. Mr. F. M. Greaves, president of the Board of Trustees, will cut the ribbon marking the official dedication of the new girls' Physical Education Building.

A supper for special guests and a coffee hour will precede the Hinds-Holmes meet.

Immediately following the game a dance will be held in the Recreational Hall.

Baird To Preach Religious Meeting On November 9-12

Rev. James Baird, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Clinton, has been named speaker for the Religious Emphasis Week to be held on the Hinds campus November 9-12.

Plans for the special week are being made by an interdenominational steering committee headed by chairman Linda Williams of Byram, and secretary Dorothy Raye Brock of Learned.

College Marks Milestone

In every age, every group has passed trying times and finally met with success.

All the frustrations, work, love, and devotion seem to pay off in healthy, heart-warming dividends when people can see the fruits of their labors brought into sparkling reality.

This week will mark another milestone in the life of Hinds Junioir College.

Highlight of this weekend's festivities will be marked by the official dedication ceremonies for the new physical education bulding for girls.

This new gym is complete in every detail, from gymnastic equipment to beautiful and useful modern decor. It can truly be said that it is among the finest in the South.

To Mr. G. M. McLendon, Mrs. Anna Bee, Hi-Stepper director, Mrs. Peggy Swett, director of physical education, and to all others who will have a part in this event, the opening must make the worry and waiting "well worth the while."

After dedication ceremonies, Hinds will play host to the Holmes Bulldogs in the annual Homecoming game Saturday.

During halftime ceremonies at Eagle Stadium, eight of Hinds' lovelies will grace the field as maids. Here also, her majesty, Queen Kareemie Ellis will be crowned and reign as queen of the Homecoming.

The list of faculty and student chairmen and committees appointed for heading up the homecoming and dedication activities would be too long to mention here. All deserve credit for their contributions.

Looking behind the "bright lights" of color and pageantry we see that the dedication and homecoming are only a part of a larger plan designted to keep pace with the needs of the rapidly growing area that the college serves.

Freshman Day Meaning

Freshman Day may seem like a lot of "nonsense" to many of our freshman friends.

Yet, there is a deep and profound meaning connected with the "initiation". The idea of rites, ceremonies, ordeals, and instructions by which one is made a member of a society, is an old one.

In all military academies a student must be a "plebe" for a full year. Most other societies and sects have such times of training.

In order to become a leader in anything, one must first learn to serve.

So, if all the "hull-a-baloo" connected with Freshman Day seems "silly"; remember, freshmen, next year you'll be the leaders — if you survive!

Why Study Languages?

Why should I take a foreign language? This is often the question asked by many students preparing their schedules for the semester.

The jobs available to those who speak a foreign language are numerous and the pay is often high. Some of the jobs in which foreign languages are essential or valuable, are airline stewardesses, interpreters for the United Nations, and secretaries in foreign countries for American companies.

Hinds offers both Spanish and French in its curriculum. Even if you are not interested in a job which requires knowledge of a foreign language, it can be of great value as a background for your English, because the origin of most English words is foreign.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Class Vice President From Delta City Takes Publication's Top Honor

Albert Richardson, familiar to everyone on the campus as "Perk" has been chosen as the Sophomore of the Week by the Hindsonian.

Albert, a 6'1" brown eyed lad, hails from Delta City, Mississippi. After his graduation from high school there, "Perk" has been kept busy with many activities at Hinds.

ALBERT RICHARDSON

During his freshman year he was a member of B. S. U. and a member of the Circle "K" Club.

Summer time is supposed to be vacation time — but not for "ole Perk." While most of us were taking it easy, he was being kept busy as the Pastor of the Youth Week Revival and as teacher of the Training Union Class at the First Baptiist Church in Delta City.

Now that school time is here again, we find Albert still grinding away. He was recently elected vice president of the Sophomore Class, he is a Sunday School representative of B. S. U., a member of M. R. A.

"Perk," an engineering major plans to attend Mississippi State University after leaving Hinds. After graduating from Mississippi State, he plans to work as a draftsman.

When asked what he thought of Hinds "Perk" answered, "The most wonderful place to receive a good education along with spiritual guidance."

May the Hindsonian take this opportunity to wish the best of everything to one of Hinds' best, Albert "Perk" Richardson.

Steel Strike Gets Nation's Attention

By NANCY CHAPMAN

The steel strike is still focused in the nation's attention. A White House investigation committee assigned to try and reach some settlement has admitted failure in its investigation.

President Eisenhower was expected to invoke the Taft-Hartley law earler this week, much to the dismay of each side involved. The steelers say that an 80-day "cooling off" period would achieve nothing; in fact, it would possibly provoke a new strike in January.

Professor Tells of Big 25-Page Test

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

From the Northeast Beacon:

A professor was telling his class what to expect of the big test that was coming up. "It will be twenty-five pages long, and it will take at least four hours to answer the questions," he said. Then, as the class groaned, he added consolingly, "Don't worry. All of you will be in the same boat."

At this statement, a student spoke up. "Yeah," he said, "the Titanic."

The Clan-Call, of Belhaven College, sends this pleasing, yet frightening, bit of satire our way:

Sonnet of a Pedagogue:

"How can I flunk thee? Let me count the ways.
I can flunk thee on grammar, and spelling, and punctuation,
I can flunk thee for the heck of it, louse up your education;
I can flunk thee every day, an F for every day's
Most invited need, by sun and candlelight;
I can flunk thee freely, even though you're right;
I can flunk thee graciously, receiving parental praise.
I can flunk thee with a passion put to use
When I was flunked in by-gone days.

I can flunk thee with the life I seemed to lose
With my lost saints. I can flunk thee with the breath and Smiles of all my days. And if you take my course again,
I can flunk thee in many better ways.

Cold Storage Plant Serves Large Area

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

As a person comes into Raymond from the direction of Jackson, he will notice a white brick building across the road from Hinds Junior College. This building is the Hinds Junior College Cold Storage Plant.

Since the plant was built in the late 1930's, it has, under the management of Grady Sheffield, progressed from a simple meat curing and storage plant to a modern and well equipped structure complete with slaughter and locker facilities for public use. There are 570 lockers in the plant, each holding an estimated 200 pounds.

The plant is constructed to obtain the utmost in efficiency. When meat comes to the plant, the employees, under the direction of Talmadge McNair, assistant manager, first slaughter it and then haul it to the processing room for cutting, wrapping and packing.

Later, it is taken to a room to age in 36 degree temperature. There is also a freezer room kept at a constant zero degrees, and a storage room where some of the perishable foods for the school's kitchen are kept.

Plant Processes

The plant processes all the beef, lamb, pork, and chicken that the college uses each year. Turkeys, geese, rabbits, ducks, and even goats are also processed here, but not on as large a scale as the other foods. Mr. Sheffield estimates that Hinds Junior College uses at least 12,000 chickens, 50,000 pounds of beef, and 10,000 pounds of pork each year.

There is an elaborate communication system installed in the plant. This system is very much in use since the plant's average output is 200 pounds of meat daily.

Any animal delivered to the plant will be efficiently slaughtered, chilled, cut up, and cured or packaged. The time all this takes may possibly be as short as 10 days, depending on the kind of meat to be handled.

This plant serves farmers and cattlemen in more than 15 central Mississippi counties. The territory it includes stretches as far north as Belzoni, as far east as Brandon, to the west as far as Vicksburg and Port Gibson, and all the way to Wesson on the south.

The plant is the largest in Mississippi. Mr. Sheffield attributes this to three reasons. The first and most important is the complete service rendered to a customer when he enters the plant. He gets a finished product where in similar plants, he is unable to do this. The second factor in the popularity of the plant is the reasonable price charged for the job. Being practical, a non-profit organization, the prices are as low, and in many cases, lower than is possible anywhere else in Mississippi.

Top Quality

The quality of the service received at the plant is still another reason for the large amount of business. The cutting, wrapping, and other phases of the processing of food is done in such a way as to please the customer.

Manager Sheffield has just completed 19 years as manager of the plant. He is a graduate of Hinds Junior College and when in school was newspaper editor, class president, member of Phi Theta Kappa, and football captain. Upon his graduation from Hinds, he was offered a football scholarship to Mississippi Southern, but refused it in order to stay in Raymond to work at the cold storage plant.

"Our plant," reports Sheffield, "has been described as the best in the state, and as good as any in the South."

Canterbury Group To Hold Regular Club Meetings On Campus Beginning Monday

The weekly meeting of the Canterbury Club was held Monday night in the music building under the direction of Reverend Kishpaw of Bolton.

Plans were made for the election of officers at the next meeting, Monday, October 26, at 6:15 p.m. All Episcopalians and interested students are urged to attend.

CHOICE BEEF — Mr. Grady Sheffield, manager of the Hinds Junior College frozen food locker plant, is shown inspecting choice beef that is being processed by the plant. The college-owned plant processes most of the meat used in the school cafeteria. This plant serves farmers and cattlemen in more than 15 central Mississippi counties.

Registrar Herrin Releases Term Test Schedule For 1st 9 Weeks Next Month

The nine-week test schedule for the week of November 2-6 has been recently released by Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

On Monday, November 2, test will be given in second and third period classes. First, second, and fifth period classes will be given their test on Tuesday.

On Wednesday the first and sixth period classes will be given their test; while two-A, third, fourth, fourth, sixth, and seventh period classes will have their test on Thursday. Friday's test will be in fourth, fifth, and seventh period classes.

Regular class work will not be interrupted during mid-term test, but they will continue with tests coming where they are shown.

Students will not be furnished report cards but their records will be sent home. Some teachers will perhaps post grades for their students while others will let students find out their grades from their parents.

Omar Khayyám writes a new jingle

Old Omar has come up with another corker of a couplet. Freely translated from the Persian:

It's what's up front that counts
If it hasn't got it there it hasn't got it

True, the lines don't scan. But what do you expect from a tent-maker—the perfect rhyme of "Winston tastes good like a cigarette should"?

We'll admit that something may have been lost in the translation. But when it comes to Winston, nothing is lost in the translation of rich, good tobacco taste. That's because up front of a pure white filter Winston has Filter-Blend—a special selection of mild flavorful tobaccos specially processed for filter smoking.

Winston is designed to taste good.

Or, as Omar puts it:

The Moving Lighter lights;
and having lit,
Flicks off. Then you draw on IT,
And bit by bit smoking pleasure
mounts;
With Filter-Blend up front,
Winston's got what counts!

DRAMATIC GROUP

Lendon Players Plan Fall Production 'Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal,' Drama

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Sometimes nothing can be quite as exciting as putting on a good play!

These words describe the sentiments of the Hinds' Lendon Players. The group is well on the way to another successful season this year. Already officers have been elected and installed for the coming season, and programs have been planned for the year.

This group produces two plays a year, one in the spring and one in the fall. In addition, programs are planned for the general meetings and members have a chance to see outstanding productions of college and Little Theater groups from the surrounding area.

STAGE MAKE-UP

At the last business meeting Mr. Fred Brooks, sponsor, gave a demonstration in the art of "stage make-up". At the next meeting, Thursday, October 29, the program will be given by the Southern Bell Telephone Co.

The Lendon Players are in rehearsals now for their fall production Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal, a drama in three acts.

The play, written by Anne Marthen, is from the "best seller" of the same name by Lloyd C. Douglas. It is under the direction of Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the Hinds Junior College speech and drama department.

Tryouts were held in the speech studio last week. Members of the cast who obtained parts are as follows:

PLAY CAST

Jerry Horack, Milwaukee, Wis., who will play the lead role of Dr. Hudson; Linda Bovay, Vicksburg, in the role of Joyce; Alice Boyd, Utica, playing the part of Nancy Alford; David Ethridge, Vicksburg, cast as Mr. Warner; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, in the role of Barbara; Frank Powers, Utica, who will play Toni Bontempini; Norma Sandifer, Jackson, as Mrs. Bontempini; Katherine Curry, Holly Springs, cast as Jose; Penny Knott, Jackson, in the role of Cindy; Penny Morris, Jackson, portraying Cynthia; Lynn Watts, Wiggins, as Marion; and, Sibley Walters, Vicksburg, as Tim Watson.

The production is scheduled for Thursday, November 19, in the campus auditorium. Tickets will be 50c for student admission and $1.00 for adult admission.

MISS FITT

Hinds Graduate Pat Smith Returns To Hinds Campus On English Staff

Pat Smith, Mendenhall, is a recent addition to the English staff of Hinds Junior College.

Writer, Man of the Year, two-degree graduate of Ole Miss, community builder, former public relations director of Vickers, Inc., Hinds graduate and former editor of The Hindsonian, Pat Smith has freshmen and sophomores at Hinds writing themes—and liking it, some of them.

Something over a decade ago on being elected college editor, he wrote, ". . . this solemn pledge I give you! I'll give this job the best I have in me. And this I ask of you: Stand by! If I'm making good it's important that you stay with me, but it's more important for you to be there when I get on the wrong track to set me straight".

Mr. Smith's novel with Mississippi setting, the Pearl River area, titled The River Is Home, is on the library shelves. His second novel is now with the publishers, and his third is taking form and being put on paper.

He is married and the father of two children.

Agriculture Group Elects Sophomore To Head Activities

The Hinds Agriculture Club elected Billy Denson, Lena, president; Bill Mitchell, Mt. Olive, vice president; Larry Watters, Jackson, secretary-treasurer; and James McCoy, Bentonia, reporter, at their last meeting.

The club, under the sponsorship of Mr. W. M. McKenzie, agriculture instructor, invites all students interested in the field of agriculture or relating professions to attend the meetings.

The club will undertake projects throughout the year including its members as participants.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Sunflower Ties PRJC Wildcats

By TOMMY NANCE

The previously unbeaten, untied Pearl River Wildcats were tied last Saturday night by the Trojans of Sunflower Junior College. Before a crowd of 1500 homecoming fans the Wildcats came from behind 20-8 in the fourth period and tied the Trojans 20-20.

Quarterback Bobby Weaver and his aerial attack kept the undefeated record for Pearl River with a 67-yard air offensive show for the second touchdown and a 31 yard pass to Joe Newton, which set up the tying tally late in the last period.

When the final gun sounded, the Wildcats were on the Trojan one yard line resulting from a nine-yard pass by Weaver. Probably if one more play had concluded, the Wildcats would still have their perfect record.

This week Sunflower faces Co-Lin in Wesson and Pearl River journeys to Ellisville to meet the Bobcats of Jones.

* * *

With the exception of the Pearl River-Sunflower tie, which is counted as neither a win nor a loss and the Southwest-East Central game, which was won by the Bears of Southwest, 7-6, the predictions of last week were right down the line.

The two upsets were that of the Pearl River tie and the Southwest win over East Central. Other scores of this past week are: Texarkana 21, Perkinston 6; Jones 6, Northwest 0; and Copiah-Lincoln 46, Hinds 16. East Mississippi, Holmes and Itawamba had open dates.

Mississippi Junior College Standings

Team	W	L	T
HINDS	0	7	0
Northwest	1	6	0
Itawamba	1	5	0
Southwest	2	5	0
Perkinston	2	5	0
East Mississippi	3	3	0
East Central	3	3	0
Holmes	4	2	0
Copiah-Lincoln	4	1	0
Sunflower	5	1	1
Pearl River	6	0	1

With an over-all prediction record of 17-5, here are this week's predictions hoping to improve on the 77 percent record. After last week's tie between Pearl River and Sunflower, the Trojans are up and ready to meet the once beaten Co-Lin Wolves in the top tilt of the week. We predict Sunflower 19, Co-Lin 14.

Other predicitions are: East Mississippi over East Central in a real tough battle at Scooba; Holmes over Hinds, although the fighting Eagles could upset Holmes in this homecoming encounter; Marion Institute, Alabama, over the Itawamba Indians; Pearl River should top Jones by at least two TD's in a very important conference game; and Perkinston faces Northwest in which the battle of the losers should decide who is the worst of the two. We predict Northwest (to lose).

TOP TEN

With three of the top 10 teams in the nation losing last week, the Ole Miss Rebels should move up to third place in the national ratings. While the Rebels had little if any trouble scoring a win over Tulane, Georgia Tech was upset by Auburn 7-6 in the first of a doubleheader over in Atlanta. Mississippi State was dealt their third loss of the season against one win by the Georgia Bulldogs to the tune of 15-0.

Here is how the top 10 teams did in last week's play: 1. LSU beat Kentucky, 9-0; 2. Northwestern beat Michigan, 20-7; Texas beat Arkansas, 13-12; Georgia Tech lost to Auburn, 7-6; OLE MISS BEAT TULANE, 53-7; Purdue lost to Ohio State, 15-0.

Southern California beat Washington, 22-15; Syracuse beat Holy Cross, 42-6; Iowa lost to Wisconsin, 25-16; and Penn State beat Boston University, 21-12.

Winless Hinds Ready For Invasion By Goodman Eleven's 4 - 2 Record

Homecoming time is here at last and the Holmes Junior College Bulldogs, coached by Billy Mustin, furnish the opposition for the winless Eagles in the annual Homecoming game.

Hinds would like nothing better than to win this important game to break into the win column and show off before a patriotic Homecoming crowd.

The competition is going to be tough and the Eagles, in order to win, will have to be really fighting for the Bulldogs upset the Bobcats of Jones two weeks ago while last week they were idle.

Coach Mustin brings eight returning lettermen with him and a 4-2 season record to entertain the Eagles on the field while Hinds furnishes the halftime entertainment with the band, Hi-Steppers, and Homecoming festivities.

In series history the Goodman eleven has won only 11 from the Eagles while Hinds has taken 15. One game has been tied, for in 1945 a 6-6 deadlock occurred. Hinds holds the scoring title with 420 points to 365 for Holmes.

Powerful Copiah-Lincoln Errupts In Hinds Stadium With 46-16 Rout

The Hinds Eagles bowed down to the always powerful Copiah-Lincoln eleven to the tune of 46-16 last Saturday night before a large crowd.

This was the second year in a row that the Eagles came out on the short end of the score against Co-Lin. Last year the Wolves stoped Hinds with a 38-28 beating.

For Co-Lin, who scored in every period, this was the fourth win of the season against only one setback, administered by the Wildcats of Pearl River, 6-0. This marked the longest losing streak owned by Hinds in their history. Previously, the eight game losing streak along with two ties back in 1934 and 1935 was the record.

Leading Co-Lin in the effort to win the junior college championship, were Alton Greenlee and Buford Berry, who respectively tallied three and two touchdowns. Greenlee scored first for the Wolves with an 11-yard jaunt in the first period followed by Ira Coates' point after. The second TD was set up by Sonny Hill, who passed to Greenlee for the six points. Again Coates scored the point after.

Paul Hunter passing to Greenlee, Hill passing to Norman Minton, and Berry, who scored the final two TD's for the Wolves, sparked Co-Lin in the second half.

Scoring for the Eagles were fullback Charles Halbert and halfback Byrle Kynerd, who tallied in the second and fourth periods respectively. Charles French and Donnie Ross added the extra points.

Co-Lin led Hinds 234-92 in net yards rushing, while they completed nine of 18 passes for 132 yards. The Eagles completed seven of 17 passes for 152 yards.

This week the Eagles face Holmes in their homecoming tilt while Co-Lin will be invaded by Sunflower.

Contenders Battle For Frosh Class President

Hunter, Lee, Rice, Sumrall Stage Duel In 4-way Bid For President's Position

One of four contenders will be elected to the highest freshman position this week as voters go to the polls to choose their president and other officers for the year 1959-60.

The nominations for officers were made Monday morning in a meeting of the entire freshman class. In the same meeting the following faculty members were nominated for class sponsor: Mr. Walter Gibbes, Mrs. Nell Pickett, Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Mr. J. R. Harris, Mr. Al Rowan, Mr. Bill Oakes, Miss Genevieve Williams, and Mr. L. C. Magers.

For Secretary

Trying for secretary are Lynn Pope, Jackson; Rita Anderson, Bolton; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill; Jackie Melsheimer, Vicksburg; Joan Williamson, Byram; Sylvia McGuffey, Vicksburg; and Carolyn Middleton, Memphis, Tenn.

Campaigning for treasurer are Jessie Cowan, Natchez; Kay Sumrall, Clinton; Carole Carver, Yazoo City; Charles Simmons, Jackson; Larry Miller, Vicksburg; Mary Thomas, Vicksburg; and Jimmy Newsome, Jackson.

The polls will be open Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. for the first primary. Run-offs will be held Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The sophomore class is in charge of the election.

College Students May Purchase '60 Eagle Yearbooks

"Eagle" yearbooks are now on sale and may be purchased by contacting any of the 10 yearbook salesmen.

This year's book sells for $4.50 and may be purchased on installment, $2 down and the balance of $2.50 when copy is received.

Charlotte Tackett, Frances Nelson, Adona Moore, Retha Trussell, Carolyn Sebren, Kathryn Renfrow, Phil Roy, Davis Llenos, Larry Little, and Bobby Hall.

The annual staff pledges this year's annual will be "bigger than ever."

Sponsors of the group are Mr. T. T. Beemon, Hinds biology instructor, and his wife, Mrs. Emma F. Beemon, mathematics instructor.

President's Group Holds 1st Meeting To Plan Program

Members of the newly organized Council of Presidents held their first meeting last Thursday in the faculty conference room.

President G. M. McLendon introduced the group and told of the advantages which such a group could offer Hinds.

The presidents, representing a group, in attendance, are as follows:

Martin Bittick, representing the Choir; Dannye Hunter, president of the International Relations Club; Ouida Henderson, from the Phi Theta Kappa; Billy Denson, representing the Agricultural Club; Martha Pharr, from the Women's Athletic Association; David Ethridge, president of the Lendon Players; Jerry Horack, representing the Phi Beta Lambda; Carolyn Sebren, from the Y. W. C. A.; Larry Dowdy, president of the Men's Recreational Association; and Billy McLain, sophomore class president.

At this meetinig Billy McLain, Brandon, was elected chairman of the group.

The next meeting of the Council of Presidents is scheduled for Thursday morning in the conference room at 7:30 a. m. All presidents of groups on the Hinds Junior College campus are asked by Mr. McLendon to be in attendance.

Ross Barnett, Jr. Tells Experiences To Debate Class

Ross Barnett, Jr., son of Governor-Elect Ross Barnett, was the principal speaker this week for the Hinds Junior College speech and debate class.

Mr. Barnett gave an informative and humorous account of his experiences in debate and public speaking. Using the last section of his program for a question and answer period, Mr. Barnett revealed the many humorous phases of this past summer's political campaign.

QUEEN LOOKS RADIANT

Kareemie Ellis Wears Red Velvet Robe, White Formal In Ceremony

By BELINDA HILL

Miss Kareemie Ellis looked radiant as she was crowned Hinds Junior College Homecoming Queen last Saturday night. Miss Ellis was wearing a white formal and a red velvet robe.

The queen was escorted by Billy McLain, of Brandon, who is president of the Sophomore Class. Her court included:

Registration for the day's activities was held at 2:00 p. m. in the administration building. At 3:30 p. m. Mr. F. M. Greaves, president of the board, made a few remarks concerning the dedication of the girls' gymnasium. The ribbons were then cut, and Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Stepper choreographer, and Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education director, welcomed guests into the building.

Dinner was served in the college cafeteria at 5:00 and the barbecued chicken was wonderful. Coffee Hour was held in the Home Economics Building.

At the football game Holmes Bulldogs defeated Hinds Eagles with a 37-8 score.

All the members of the homecoming court, students of the college and alumni then attended a student alumni dance in the boys' gymnasium to climax the day's activities.

Sophomores Get Revenge In Messy Activities Today

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Revenge was the word, as sophomores aptly directed adequate amounts of penalties toward their freshmen counter-part.

Now that the long-awaited day has finally come to pass, the apprehensive sighs of freshmen clearing away the paint and costumes that helped add to the day's unrest may be heard up and down the hallowed halls of Hinds.

Some of the chief activities today were air-raids, starched hair, generously giving free chewing gum, and sampling as many shades of lipstick as possible.

A hectic day it was, for everyone involved, but especially for the teachers. Imagine, if you can, trying to run a class amid the clanging and banging of freshman attire and the intermediate satirical cries of "Hi teach, am I late?"

Kangaroo Court, prepaired by the sophomores as an added treat, awed and entertained freshmen during seventh-period in the auditorium.

The assembly program in the auditorium marked the culmination of Freshman Day for the group.

Thinking back on the day's trying events, freshmen, ask yourself if it wasn't worth the worry? After all, next year you'll be the sophomores!

Council Points Progress

Student Concil, that's a word that seems to be the topic of conversation every year about this time.

What connotation do you give the two words, Student Council? Do you look at it with a tinge of jealousy, thinking the faculty overbearing, or, do you think that situations are "fine" as they are now?

The students of Hinds are, indeed, lucky to have some of the finest facilities of any junior college in the nation. This past week end a new Women's Physical Education Building was dedicated. Two new dormitories are now in the process of being built.

Last year the financial report of spending was high for Hinds. In round figures, about $600 a year was put into this institution for each individual student. (Ask yourself how this compares with the amount you spent or will spend this year?)

In view of these facts, should we simply say the advantages out-weigh the disadvantages and be satisfied?

This is not the way of the crusader, nor is it the faculty's intention.

President G. M. McLendon has already demonstrated his willingness to help in this matter. He has set up a Council of Presidents.

To this council will come the presidents of each class and organization, a cross-section of student opinion. The president of each group will have a chance at council meetings to vote the opinion of the organization he represents.

This new Council of Presidents held its first regular meeting in the conference room last Thursday morning. President of the sophomore class, Billy McLain, was elected chairman of the council.

When the council begins actual work, there will be a wonderful opportunity for faculty-student understanding on vital issues which confront them.

We have much to be proud of at Hinds! Such a plan as the Council of Presidents, if carried out in the correct manner, can only lead Hinds further on the road to progress already looming bright before us.

TV "Scandal" Degrading

With the so-called "rigging" and "fixiing" of many of today's top television shows, it makes one wonder what the American public's intelligence must seem to those responsible for such actions. Apparently the sponsoring forces concluded long ago that the thirsty TV'ers would drink almost anything.

The deceivers are fast finding out, however, that the parched throat of America's viewing public has been dampened, and its thirst well-nigh quenched; there will be no more drinking for a while. Congressional investigating committees are seeing to that.

Such big-name winners as Charles Van Doren and Hank Bloomgarden, fame-grabbers of the now-defunct "Twenty One" quiz show, have been undergoing extensive questioning by these committees. The facts discovered have startled the nation. But now the fraud is over; the persumably feeble-minded American viewers have "wised up."

From now on, deception will be hard to pour down the throats of the American television audiences.

Faculty, Students Express Sympathy

OFF THE CUFF

Students Favor Present Party In State Politics

By JEAN RODGERS

A young Republican newcomer and a veteran Democrat are battling for the Senate seat from Hinds county.

JEAN

The controversial Republican, running on an independent ticket, is Bill Westbrook. Hayden Campbell, Democrat who is supported openly by the Hinds County legislative delegation, Sutton Marks, J. H. "Farmer Jim" Neal, Joe Moss, and Russell Davis, is the only Mississippi candidate to face opposition in the November 3 general election.

Expensive Campaign

Campbell waged a very expensive campaign in the primary election, defeating incumbent Mitchell Robinson in the second primary. Robinson led Campbell in the first primary by some 2,000 votes, but Campbell was the victor in the second.

Because of the two-party fight, the Hinds county race is gaining statewide attention.

Campbell frequently refers to the role he played in getting the University Medical School bill passed and his work toward improving the state's mental institutions at Whitfield and Ellisville.

GOP Loot

Westbrook is running as an independent because the Republican party did not hold a primary election, but he has been accused of using money from the Republican National in his bid for the Senate seat.

Congressman John Bell Williams strongly endorsed Hayden Campbell for the State Senate last week. "The Mississippi Democratic Party is large enough and strong enough for us to disagree and fight among ourselves, but when the common enemy of all Democrats—the Republican Party—moves into view, the time has come for us to fight and stand together in the best interest of our sovereign state and its citizens," states Mr. Williams.

Variety of Answers

From the students at Hinds, who were asked their opinion on the two-party election, came a variety of answers, but each seemed to favor the Democratic Party as the organ of Mississippi politics.

Albert Richardson, sophomore class vice president from Delta City, stated, "The Democratic form of government has held up thus far without a Republican Party, so why can't it hold up hereafter."

Favors Two Parties

"When you have two parties," said Evelyn Dubois, freshman from Jackson, "both sides of the issue are presented."

Agreeing with Hayden Campbell, when he said two parties in the state would eventually result in both sides bartering for a Negro vote and creating political rule by a minority, is Bob Roberts, sophomore from Jackson, stating, "In one way it is good to have two parties, but with the Negro population as high as it is today they could easily gain an advantage over the white race."

Randell Rusk, freshman from Vicksburg, replied, "I feel that there is too much furor being made over the matter. Let things take their course. We need more statesmen and fewer politicians."

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Hinds Homecoming Queen Receives Publication's Weekly Top Award

By CHARLOTTE PARKER

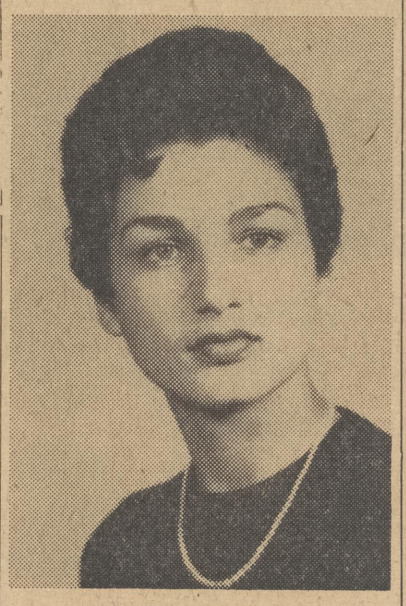
Take a sparkling personality, a friendly smile, a cheery hello, then put them together and you have one of the most radiant personalities on the campus—Kareemie Ellis.

The popular lass, was recently crowned Hinds' Homecoming Queen to climax the Hinds' homecoming activities.

Kareemie, with dark brown hair and hazel eyes, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ellis of Port Gibson, and is a graduate of Port Gibson High School.

Long List

Kareemie has accumulated a long list of honors during her relatively short lifetime. While in high school, she was elected a Homecoming Maid, "Best Personality," "Most Beautiful," and was elected the "Friendliest Girl" for two years.



KAREEMIE ELLIS

She was president of the Library Club, president of the Future Homemakers of America, and Business Manager of the annual staff.

To add to these, she was a member of the Girls' Chorus, a member of the G.A.A., a member of the Beta Club, a member of the newspaper staff, and a member of the basketball team.

As the days go by, Kareemie keeps adding to this long list. As a freshman last year, she was president of the Lamplighter's Club, president of the C.Y.O., and a member of the W.A.A.

This year to add to the title of Hinds' Homecoming Queen, she is again president of C.Y.O., a cheerleader, and a member of W.A.A.

Enjoys Hobbies

Although she is kept busy most of the time with her extra-curricular activities, Kareemie takes time out to enjoy her favorite hobbies, which include dancing, horseback riding, and "getting to know people."

A home economics major, Kareemie plans to continue her education at Mississippi Southern in Hattiesburg.

The Hindsonian wishes Kareemie the best of everything in the future that lies ahead. May happiness and success be her constant companions.

Fresh Ideas Vital Ingredients With Today's Education

In a preface to "Memo to a College Trustee," Clarence H. Faust, President of the Fund for the Advancement of Education and Vice-President of the Ford Foundation, says, "The Report is being published exactly as it was finally submitted by the authors . . . It is testimony of the Fund's conviction that fresh ideas and vigorous discussion are essential ingredients of progress in American education."

One of the most telling portions of Ruml's presentation is his section, "Models of the Possible," in which he gives specific figures on how a liberal college might be operated according to his suggestions.

For a college of 1200 students, for example, he assumes the recommended ratio of one teacher for every 20 students, making a total of 60 full-time faculty members. He further assumes that $800 per year per student is available from tuition or otherwise for the compensation of the faculty. From this he deducts 25 per cent to cover retirement and insurance provisions and sabbatical-leave reserves, leaving a total of $720,000 for faculty salaries.

Under similar assumptions, Ruml offers generally similar models for liberal arts colleges with 800, 1800 and 3000 students. For the largest size college, he assumes abolishing the present academic year of two semesters of 16-½ weeks each and substituting three academic quarters of 11 weeks each, with a possible fourth quarter in the summer. This reform of the academic calendar he recommends as being more efficient for all colleges. Top salary on Ruml's largest model is $26,000 per year for a college with 3,000 students and the top salary on his smallest (800 students) model is $18,000.

3 Types

Looking toward curriculum reform, Donald Morrison suggests three possible types of "mechanism" for bringing about change in the structure and operation of liberal arts colleges—one by initiative of the college president; another by a faculty committee; and a third by a tri-partite body on which administration, faculty and trustees would all be represented. He says, "Whatever the 'mechanism,' the president and faculty must join in common cause if the planned change is to take place."

At many points in the report, Beardsley Ruml stresses the ultimate and inescapable responsibility of the trustees, under the college charter, for the conduct and welfare of the college and urges them to ask for more complete information on current operations and to take a more active part in the affairs of the college. At one point, Ruml says, "In selecting an instrument for the purpose of reconstructing the curriculum of a liberal college, the trustees must keep in mind that the process will take many years of devoted work and that flexibility and adaptability to experience, to circumstance, and to the unpredictable are necessary to avoid rigidity and the inevitable hostility that responds to a stubborn and arrogant force."

In one section, Ruml says flatly, "The most serious general problem facing the colleges is the prevailing low level of academic salaries. This is a matter to which the trustees must give their profound attention in meeting their charter responsibilities."

Physics Instructor Attends Video Program On Closed National Network

Mr. F. J. Stephenson, Hinds Junior College physics instructor, attended a closed network TV program at WJTV Monday from 4 to 5 p.m.

Mr. Stephenson brought the following message from CBS: "CBS feels the need of more educational programs to compete with our present westerns, mysteries, and other shows. CBS has scheduled ten such programs for this year (1959-60). These programs are based upon current news facts in which we, as Americans, should be interested.

Of course, as with all TV programs, the continuance of these programs will depend upon the response of the TV audience. If accepted by the public this year, 26 will be scheduled in 1960-61, and 52 during 1961-62.

"All of these programs vary as to subject matter. One will be on Cancer, another on World Population, and others on news facts that should be of interest to every citizen."

The first of such educational programs was presented on Tuesday of this week at 9 p.m. over WJTV. Eighteen months in preparation, it was entitled The Biography of a Missile. In this program, for the first time, we can see and know top secret materials used by our missile experts.

Dr. Finger Talks To Hinds Student Body In Assembly

"Ambition, drive, industry, self-discipline" are some of the ingredients that must be supplied by the student who would get a college education, according to Dr. Ellis Finger, Millsaps College president, who was guest speaker at Hinds assembly Wednesday morning.

Dr. Finger stated that some other pre-requisites are the native gifts a student brings to school, endowments of intellect and ability to learn, for which he is not responsible, but which others gave; also those skills which he has developed —all that which he has acquired prior to college entrance, for which he is responsible; and the prerequisite of a place of instruction, an environment of learning, and interest, largely provided by the college.

The speaker, defining education as a transmission of culture, emphasized the importance of apprasial and reappraisal of facts and data, stating that knowledge is not enough, that there must be knowledge of truth. He pointed out the meaning of the passage, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Dr. Finger was the assembly guest of the Phi Theta Kappa at Hinds. Ouida Henderson, president of the local chapter, presented the speaker, after the devotional was conducted by Nancy Ruth Chapman. At this period, Mrs. Leslie Reeves sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Business World To Pay Tribute To Education

American business will pay tribute to the nation's 2,000 colleges and universities during the next three weeks. Many commercial sponsors of the coast-to-coast television broadcasts scheduled for this perioid will take time out during some part of their programs to cite colleges for their vital contributions to the nation's welfare and progress and to urge citizen as well as corporate support of college needs in the face of mounting educational demands.

These "college commercials" are being scheduled at the suggestion of the Council for Financial Aid to Education in New York, a non-profit service agency voluntarily giving to colleges. The corporations are participating in the nationwide observance of American Education Week which has been set this year from November 8 through 14 by proclamation of the President of the United States.

The programs and cooperating sponsors include (Eastern Standard Time is given):

TV Programs

Mon., Oct. 26, 9:30 P. M., NBC-TV: "Winterset," Hallmark Hall of Fame, Hallmark Cards, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.

Wed., Oct. 28, 10:00 P. M., CBS-TV: Armstrong Circle Theatre, Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, Pa.

Sun., Nov. 1, 10:30 P. M., NBC-TV: Loretta Young Show, Philip Morris, Inc., N. Y. C.

Sun., Nov. 8, 7:00 P. M., CBS-TV: Lassie, Campbell Soup Co., Camden, N. J.

Fri., Nov. 13, 9:00 P. M., CBS-TV: Desilu Playhouse, Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburg, Pa.

Companies scheduling special tributes after American Education Week include: DuPont, Show of the Month, "Ethan Frome," Feb. 11; and General Mills, Inc., "Wyatt Earp" (date not yet set).

Home Impressions

These public service announcements tied in with American Education Week represent 90 million home impressions, according to recent Neilson ratings. This means, according to the council, that higher education's services and college needs will be brought to the attention of virtually every one of the 45 million television homes at least twice in the next few weeks.

The council pointed out that these public service messages are a part of year-round contributions of advertising space and broadcast time by companies and the mass media made possible by a "Help Higher Education" campaign created by the Advertising Council and the volunteer services of N. W. Ayer & Son. The total value of this public service advertising, if purchased at commercial rates for the colleges, exceeds $6½ million, the CFAE stated.

Technical Division Registers 10 New Campus Students

The Hinds Junior College vocational technical division enrolled 10 new members Monday, reports Mr. Walter Gibbs, vocational coordinator.

Three factory visitors were on campus, one demonstrating welding equipment, one demonstrating the use of chemicals in the care of water towers, and one from the Singer Sewing Machine Company, demonstrating the uses of the industrial sewing machine in upholstery and fabric work.

The technical division is working on organizing cooperative programs with industry in this area. This means that a student goes to school and works on a job at the same time.

Coleman Disagrees With Barnett

By NANCY CHAPMAN

Gov. Coleman has issued a statement that he would oppose any plan that Gov.-Elect Ross Barnett supports to reduce taxes on large incomes. Coleman says that it looks as if the state is headed for some financial troubles.

NANCY

He also denied that he warned Barnett against cutting income taxes or "about anything." According to Coleman, all phases of income taxes should be thoroughly studied before any reductions are granted.

President Eisenhower took time out from his Georgia golfing vacation to tell newsmen that he favors a Western summit conference any time soon. Probably this means that a meeting will be held fairly soon, and will include talks with West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, and French President Charles de Gaulle. Unofficial reports say that the conference will be held in Paris sometime during the month of November. One of the chief purposes of such a meeting would be to plan a parley with Soviet Nikita Krushchev.

"The steel strike is crippling the nation's economy more seriously than a lot of people realize," according to reports of several different economists. Dr. George Cline Smith, official of the Dodge Corporation, said that each additional week of the strike is becoming more serious. Construction is especially being hampered because of the uncertainty of prices and delivery schedules. Not only are future structures being affected, but those already under construction are suffering from the 105-day-old strike.

Gov. Earl K. Long, Louisiana's famed administrator, has given some advice for those who want to quit smoking: "If you can resist until the third morning, you've got it made." Mr. Long has given up cigarettes again; this makes the third time he has dropped the smoking habit. He said that he had received a few cartons from the Southern Governor's Conference, but that he gave them to Negro workers at the mansion.

Mississippi's first conference on nuclear explosions and the future of commercial and industrial nuclear powers in our state was held last week in Jackson. One of the main speakers was Dr. Gerald W. Johnson of Livermore, California, He predicted such nuclear explosives could be used profitably in excavation, mining, building of canals, and construction of harbors. Problems prevent the immediate use of these explosives, because scientists and researchers do not have the necessary experience for firing nuclear devices.

Hough Addresses Faculty Members About Retirement

At the last regular meeting of the Hinds Junior College Faculty Club, Mr. Bobby Hough, from Mississippi Employment Retirement System, spoke to the group.

The organization meets every two weeks and is scheduled to have the fourth regular meeting for the school year Wednesday in the conference room.

Elected officers of the group this year are as follows:

Miss Lula Mae Fowler, social science instructor, president; Mr. Wallace M. Wall, drawing instructor, vice president; Mrs. Neva W. Sprayberry, business education instructor, secretary; and, Mr. L. Kenneth Clark, business education instructor, treasurer.

Agriculture Group Hears Joe Treloar At Club Meeting

The Agriculture Club had as its speaker this week, Mr. Joe Treloar, from Clinton High School.

He talked about vocational agriculture and better ways of doing things. He also told the group about the value of our lives and also told us how we could make a success of them.

This club will have a number of speakers to talk about different fields of work throughout the year.

The meeting is held in the old science building each Friday at the 2A period.

BULLETIN

New meal tickets will be sold on Friday of this week and Monday of next week at the business office.

These new meal tickets must be presented at breakfast, Monday, November 2.

MANY CONVENIENCES

Dormitory Life Provides Guidance, Companionship, Home For 180 Girls

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Home is where the heart is, and 180 girls are right at home in the heart of Hinds Junior College—the dormitory.

Of course, the dormitory can never replace the home, but it is the best substitute that college can offer. The companionship of the other girls and the guidance of the house-mother make even a frightened freshman feel right at home.

Comfortable Lobby

Many conveniences are provided for the girls. A comfortable lobby offers relaxation for television viewers or those who just want to chat. Tables are set up in the lobby for cards, dominos, checkers, and other games. A public telephone is also available to the girls.

On each floor of the dormitory is an ironing board for the girls' use. Modern bathrooms and well-furnished bedrooms satisfy almost any girl's dreams.

A Coke room, equipped with a candy machine, keeps tidbits well at hand. Many girls, however, choose to bring their own food.

Alarm Clocks

The dormitory day begins with the sterephonic sound of clocks alarming. All day girls dart in and out their rooms, up and down the halls, breaking the monotony only by attending classes. Of course, a few of the girls study.

One of the main events of the day is mail call. From all directions come girls, anxious to see if they received a letter from that "special someone."

And when the day is over, evening devotion offers spiritual guidance and consolation for the day's problems. And then—the lights go out.

EXPANDING DEPARTMENT

Vocational Program Offers Training

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

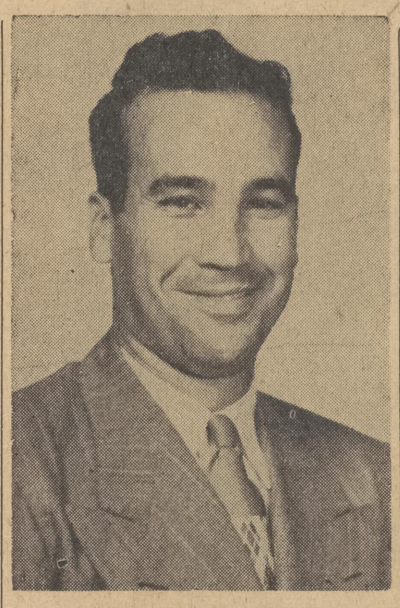
As an integral part of its educational program, Hinds Junior College offers vocational training to students who are interested in either full-time vocational or trades training work and to regularly enrolled college students who seek these opportunities for credit in their academic studies.

For the use of the students, the vocational building provides adequate space for the coordinator's office classrooms, laboratories, tool rooms, and work area for the vocational department.

The vocational courses now offered are radio and television theory, repair and code, barbering, automotive mechanics, body and fender repair, woodworking, mechanical drawing or engineering drafting, machine shop, refrigeration and air conditioning, electric motor repair, general electricity, airplane engine mechanics, and, automotive machanics.

Rapidly Expanding

The Vocational Department is rapidly expanding to meet the demand for this type of training. Present courses will, in accordance, be expanded and new courses will be added as seems appropriate in the future.



MR. WALTER GIBBES

Vocational Boss

The department is under the able leadership and direction of Mr. Walter H. Gibbes, who is the co-ordinator for the group, and 10 capable instructors, who have had both formal and practical training.

The instructors include: Mr. K. Bryant; Mr. B. A. Hill; Mr. C. E. Kynerd; D. W. Lewis; Mr. A. G. Liss; Mr. J. H. Rice; Mr. Tom G. Slay; F. J. Stephenson; and Mr. D. C. Ware.

The course of study in the Vocational Department is set up so that trainees may enter on any Monday and take a normal load.

Entrance is dependent in no way upon previous schooling or education. After finishing the prescribed course the applicant will receive a certificate showing the merit of his work.

Prepare for Employment

The vocational-technical courses are planned so as to prepare students for employment as advanced apprentices in the fields of their choice and to give preparatory training for salesmen, manager, or clerks in the vocational-technical fields.

The department of Vocational-Technical Education is organized to serve all students profitably if they choose a manipulative skill along with college courses, especially since the courses are designed to give specific knowledge and training in a chosen field. Employment demands in the technical fields are good as there is a great need for teachers as well as technicians in industry.

In an informal interview, Mr. Gibbes said that in many cases people entering the vocational-technical fields have been offered substantial jobs the moment of their graduation.

Registrar Tells Term Test Schedule For Next Week's Half Semester Exams

Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, has released the schedule for the nine-week test for the week of November 2-6.

On November 2, Monday, test will be given in second and third period classes. Tuesday's first, second, and fifth period classes will be given their tests on November 3.

First and sixth period classes, which meet on Wednesday, will have their test next Wednesday, while Thursday's two-A, third, fourth, sixth, and seventh period classes will be given their test on November 5.

Test on Friday will be given in fourth, fifth, and seventh period classes.

Regular class work will not be interrupted during mid-term test, but they will continue with tests coming where they are shown.

Reports will not be furnished to students but their records will be sent home. Some teachers will perhaps post grades for their students while others will let students find out their grades from their parents.

NEW FACULTY ADDITION

Sarah Nell Taylor Heads Reading Department On Hinds JC Campus

Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, of Laurel, is the new reading teacher at Hinds Junior College.

Miss Taylor, who attended college on a Masonite Scholarship, graduated from Mississippi Southern College in June with a B.S. degree and a M. S. degree in Psychology of Reading.

She taught as a graduate student at Mississippi Southern last year and after her graduation in the spring of this year she taught at Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York.

At Southern Miss Taylor was a member of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society, and the Student Education Association. She was a national winner in 4-H Club work and represented Southern as Intercollegiate Oratorical Speaker.

Miss Taylor resides on the campus.

Northside House Changes Name To New Faculty Home

Northside, "Sorority House", "Tree House", so-called last year has now risen to the level of "Faculty House", but still is listed by telephone as Northside.

Located on the far edge of the north campus, it was occupied last year by sophomores, and by Miss Lurline Stewart, who with her mother, lived in one of the apartments. From the sophomores the white house, under the trees with its several apartments received its title, Sorority House.

Renovated in the summer and refurnished, this spacious building is now occupied by Miss Genevieve Williams, Miss Marjorie McCord, and Miss Jean Packard, in addition to Miss Stewart and her mother.

Holmes Bulldogs Rack Up Victory Over Hinds Eagles

Led by a speedy band of halfbacks, the Holmes Junior College Bulldogs tore into the Eagle defense in the second half to win their fifth game of the season, 37-8.

Leading by only one point at the half, 9-8, the Bulldogs tallied four touchdowns in the final half to remove all hope for the Eagles to come up with an upset Homecoming victory. Hinds' eight points were the results of an eight yard run by halfback Burl Kynerd and the two point run after touchdown by fullback Johnny Daher.

Bill Boman accounted for three touchdowns for the Bulldogs, running 12 yards in the third period, scampering from the six in the fourth and tossing to end Bobby Harper for a three yard touchdown for the last score in the game.

Holmes' other touchdown came from a six yard spurt by halfback Van Allen and the touchdown pass to Allen from Jimmy Williams. Earlier in the game, Holmes end J. B. Windle caught quarterback Jerry Streva behind the goal line for a two point safety.

Hinds and Holmes both got 15 first downs, while the Bulldogs racked up 258 net yards rushing to Hinds' 33. The Eagles completed 12 passes out of 21 for a gainage of 206 yards while the Bulldogs gained only 61 yards on six completed passes out of ten.

Freshman Team Wins First Game Against Millsaps

The Freshman football team, coached by Billy Templeton, a former end from Ole Miss, played their first game October 13 at the Millsaps College field. The Eagles, coming from behind in the second half, upset the Majors to the tune of 14-6.

Hinds was led by quarterback Johnny Puckett, who picked up a fumble and ran 65 yards for the first Eagle tally and scampered seven yards for the other score. Both extra points were added by Jack Curtis, Jackson.

Millsaps led the Eagles 6-0 at halftime, but Hinds came back strong in the second half to score two touchdowns.

Ivan Cunningham, Vicksburg, and Joe Reilly, New York, led the defense for the Freshman Eagles.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Ole Miss Rebels Over LSU Bengals

By TOMMY NANCE

Well this is it, the week we've all been waiting for, the showdown between the University of Mississippi and the LSU Bengals. Both teams, going through last week with perfect 6-0 records, should be up to par when they meet down in Baton Rouge for this Hallowe'en encounter Saturday night.

The rampaging Rebels of Ole Miss hog-tied the Arkansas Razorbacks 28-0 last Saturday while the Bengals took a very unimpressive win from the Florida Gators down in Gainsville. Both elevens have the best defensive squads in the Southeastern Conference for the Chinese Bandits have held their oppositions to only two field goals for six points while the Rebels have given up a touchdown for seven.

Johnny Vaught, Rebel tutor, and Coach Paul Dietzel of the LSU Bengals will be playing for everything since the winner of this crucial battle will most likely win the national title and the SEC championship, along with the invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

Judging from previous games this season, and, of course, being Mississippians, we predict OLE MISS—14, LSU—7.

* * *

The Pearl River Wildcats have all but won officially the junior college football championship. The Wildcats defeated the Bobcats of Jones, second in contention to the title, last week to the tune of 28-14. Other important scores in junior college standings are Perkinston—32, Northwest—6; East Central—12, East Mississippi—7; and Copiah-Lincoln—33, Sunflower—13.

JUNIOR COLLEGE STANDINGS

Northwest	1	7	0
Itawamba	1	5	0
Southwest	2	5	0
East Mississippi	3	4	0
Perkinston	3	5	0
East Central	4	3	0
Holmes	5	2	0
Sunflower	5	2	1
Jones	5	2	0
Pearl River	7	0	1

TOP TEN RESULTS

Only one of the top ten teams in the press ratings fell to defeat this past week, that was Arkansas. Arkansas, number 10 in the nation, fell into the hands of number four, Mississippi, with a 28-0 shellacking. LSU beat Florida, 9-0; Northwestern beat Notre Dame, 30-24; Texas beat Rice, 28-6; Southern California edged by Stanford, 30-28; Syracuse ripped West Virginia 44-0.

Number seven Auburn defeated Miami, Florida, 21-6; Penn. State whipped Illinois, 20-9; and Georgia Tech beat Tulane, 21-13.

Renfroe's Eagles Vie For First Win Against Moorhead

The Sunflower Trojans invade Eagle Stadium tomorrow night to represent the last opposition for the Hinds Junior College Eagles in the 1959 football season.

The word Sunflower has a particular meaning for Hinds coach Frank Young, who served two years as a coach at the Trojan camp. Head coach, J. B. Randall, has always managed to have a better than average team for the Delta junior college. Lacking in depth and experience in last year's race, the Trojans managed a 2-7-1 record for one of their worst seasons in history.

Bringing only four lettermen into the campaign, Coach Randall and his assistants, J. D. Stonestreet and Jim Billipanni, have forced five victories against only one defeat as of last Friday in this year's battle for the gridiron honors.

Aiding the Trojans in one of their best seasons have been ends, Dickie Dickson and James Jackson, while Pete Vincent has filled the quarterback position.

Although this game ends the season for the Eagles, Sunflower faces Perkinston next week for their last encounter.

In the past 25 games the Eagles have won 12 games against Sunflower while they have lost ten and tied three. Hinds leads in total points scored with 457, while the Trojans have tallied 305.

Hinds Head Meets With School Profs

President G. M. McLendon is in Chicago this week serving on the 16-member body, the Commission on Administration of the American Association of Junior Colleges.

This meeting, the first in a stepped-up program of the Commission, was made possible through a financial grant from the Kellogg Foundation.

It has for its purpose the study of administrators, and faces the problem of locating and preparing executive and administrative leadership for the new and rapidly increasing junior colleges being established throughout the country—colleges of increasing complexity and size.

Among the speakers at the Chicago meeting are Marvin C. Knudson, president of the American Association, of Junior Colleges, and Dr. Maurice Seay, director of the Division of Education of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation.

The 16 members of the Commission were selected from all geographical regions of the country.

President McLendon is the one representative chosen from this region to participate in the significant first step of the Commission in its study on the preparation of administrators.

Terry Civic Group Hears Hinds Art Instructor Denton

Mrs. Katherine A. Denton, art instructor on the Hinds campus, was the guest speaker yesterday at the Terry Women's Club.

She spoke to the group after the business meeting and before the social hour of the federated social club. Her topic was entitled "Art, the Window of the Soul of a Nation."

Mrs. Denton has several other speaking dates planned for early next year on the subject of art before civic groups. She is a graduate of M.S.C.W. and had advanced study at Peabody College and Mississippi College.

Religious Activities Draw Students

Rev. James Baird Campus Speaker In REW Services

The Rev. James Baird, pastor of the Mt. Salus Presbyterian Church at Clinton, is leading the series of Religious Emphasis services on the campus this week.

Arrangements are planned by the faculty-student committees. Devotionals and music, both congregational and special, are led by students.

All meetings are being attended by students, faculty members, and some visitors from off the campus.

The series of services will close with the evening meeting tomorrow night.

Hinds Special Services On Spiritual Growth Conclude Tomorrow Night

Religious Emphasis Week services on the Hinds campus started Monday and will conclude tomorrow night.

The featured speaker this week has been Rev. James Baird, pastor of the Mt. Salus Presbyterian Church, in Clinton. The major purpose of Religious Emphasis week is to promote spiritual growth on the campus.

Overall chairman of Religious Emphasis Week is Rev. Clay Lee, pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church. Student chairman for the week is Linda Williams of Terry, and the general secretary is Dot Brock.

Services have been held each evening at 6:30 p.m. in the College Auditorium since Monday. They will conclude tomorrow night. The third and final morning service will start at 9:30 tomorrow.

A new time schedule has been made for this week, so that students having a class at 2A and one half of third period on Tuesday and Thursday can attend the meetings. These classes will start at 10:30 and end at 11:55.

The Student Steering Committee, planned the week's activities.

Other committees and members are Evelyn Halper and Ann St. Clair on the publicity Committee; Ken Jones and Rose Earnest on the hospitality committee; Corkie Lyle, Ronnie Allen, Monroe Williams, and Billy Holley on the usher committee; and Sarah Luckett on the order of service committee.

Public Relations Staffer, Sports Editor Leave Tonight For ACP New York Meet

Hinds Junior College will be represented at the annual Associated Collegiate Press conference in New York this week by Tommy Nance, sports editor of the Hindsonian, and Irl Dean Rhodes of the Public Relations Department.

They will leave tonight from the Jackson Municipal Airport and should arrive in New York around 6:30 Thursday morning. Headquarters for the conference will be the Hotel New Yorker. They will return to the Hinds campus Sunday.

To Hear Huntley

In New York they will join over 1,000 other delegates and sponsors form all over the nation to hear NBC—TV news commentator, Chet Huntley, and Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review. Panel discussions, short courses, and clinics will highlight the conference with such speakers as James Roach, sports writer of the New York Times, Earl Ubell, science editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and Allan Keller, staff writer of the World Telegram and Sun.

Some of the courses to be conducted are photography, advertising, sports, feature writing, and editorial writing.

The schedule will begin with registration all day Thursday and an opening convocation by Chet Huntley that night. Sectional meetings will be held Friday, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing through the afternoon.

A get acquainted dance with music by Jack Adato will climax the day. Sectional meetings and an all-conference luncheon will conclude this year's convention Saturday morning.

ACP Headquarters

The ACP was established in 1933 to meet the need in the field of college journalism for reliable advice, criticism, and suggestion. Its headquarters at the University of Minnestoa has been directed by Fred L. Kildow of the School of Journalism of that University through a number of years.

Along with courses, speeches, and conferences, there will be sightseeing tours and TV shows to entertain the delegates.

The Hindsonian has long retained membership in ACP. It has been represented before at the national conferences in Detroit and Chicago by sponsor and students.

College Debaters To Participate In Fall JC Workshop

Debate instructor Pat Smith will take a delegation of 18 Hinds students to the first annual Junior College Debate Workshop at the University of Mississippi next Wednesday.

The group will leave Tuesday from the campus by bus and will spend the night at Ole Miss.

Activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a general get-together in the studio-theater on the second floor of the Fine Arts Center of the campus.

The program will be in three parts. The first will be a symposium-form (brief speeches and a question and answer period by a panel of Ole Miss students) on the question, "What changes, if any, should be made in the powers of the Supreme Court."

The second will be a demonstration debate by Ole Miss students on this year's national collegiate debate question: That Congress should have the power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court.

The third part will be a general session for evaluation of the workshop.

The play, written by Anne Mathen, is adapted from the "best seller" of the same name by Lloyd C. Douglas. It is under the direction of Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the Hinds speech and drama department. Assistant director of the play is Veronica Roberts.

Tickets will be $.50 for student admission and $1.00 for adult admission.

Religious Groups Plan Thanksgiving Events On Campus

This year, as in the past, the various religious groups on the Hinds campus will work together to sponsor Thankegiving baskets to needy families.

Freshman Class Elects Bill Hunter As President For 1959-60 School Term

Hunter is a 1959 graduate of Provine High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hunter of 3527 Southland Drive.

Other freshman class officers elected are as follows: John Wilda, Milwaukee, Wis., vice president; Carolyn Middleton, Memphis, Tennessee, secretary; and Kay Sumrall, Clinton, treasurer.

Mr. Bill Oakes, health and physical education instructor, was elected co-sponsor of the class by popular student vote. Mr. A. L. Denton, director of guidance, was appointed co-sponsor of the class by the administration.

Observe National Holiday

Today is Veteran's Day, a national holiday observed by all the states.

Each year at this time the people of the United States take time out from their busy daily routine to salute the men who have served their country during war and peace in the military services.

From the time of the Revolutionary War, through two World Wars, and a bitter struggle at Korea, the men of our country's military have fought and died to preserve our basic concept of life—that of a democratic nation.

In a time of world tension, today our fighting forces are working unceasingly in an attempt to keep abreast of new developments in the fields of rocketry and nuclear fission that we might not become the spoils of a powerful communist victor.

On Armistice Day, we salute you, the Veterans of the Army, Navy, Air-Force, Coast Guard, Marines, and all of our nation's other fine services who have helped preserve our way of life.

Segregation Still Prevails

While many Northern radicals and slanted publications are saying that the racial segregation of the South is in opposition to The Constitution, they seem to have lost sight of the fact that in many Northern cities segregation still prevails.

Though it is not the same staunch principled segregation of the deep South, it is, nevertheless, obvious. In many of the larger cities of the North, where crowded schools and the intermingled races are prevalent, statistics show a steady loss of white population to the suburbs and a steady increase of Negroes in the larger city schools.

Of 704 schools examined more than half are virtually segregated and the number of so called de facto segregation is apparently on the increase.

Perhaps it would be wise for the men of the 1954 U. S. Supreme Court who decided that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal" to study a little psychology. By so doing they might realize that in a democratic nation you can't force anything on people when they don't desire it.

Establish A Good Habit

We acquire a habit without much effort, be it good or bod. To establish a good habit requires definite desire on our part and planned procedure. We must set up the stimulus or reminder and constantly bring to our attention that which we wish to become habit.

We must then condition our minds to insist that we think about the subject as frequently as possible. By so doing we can select and establish desirable habits. They become a part of us — second nature without apparent effort.

The everyday practice of safety must become a natural habit with each of us if it is to become effective. If safety is to succeed, we must work at it constantly, establish the stimulus, think safety and make it a habit.

Let's think safety, do something about it every day. Remind ourselves continuously and make safety a habit.

OFF THE CUFF

Books On Travel, Adventure, Racing In Hinds Library

By JEAN RODGERS

One of last year's Pulitzer Prize Winners, The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters by Robert Lewis Taylor, is among the new books in the library at Hinds.

JEAN

According to Robert Chase, noted American author, this book is "A remarkably readable American picturesque tale, full of vivid and racy passages and rich in language, local color, comic situations, and scenes of horror."

It is the story of a father and son answering the lure of gold in California in 1849.

* * *

For those who are interested in racing, there is a new book entitled The Devil Behind Them by John Bentley. This is the story of nine dedicated drivers who made motor racing history. The nine represent six foreign countries where racing is popular.

The biographies of these men are woven into an unified tribute to the sport of motor racing.

* * *

Come North With Me is an autobiography of Bernt Balchen. It is the personal adventure story of a Norwegian boy who became a UnitedStates Colonel and played a key role in some of the most extraordinary feats of exploration known to this century.

* * *

If you are interested in haunted trails and ghostly tales, then you should read Things That Go Bump In the Night by Louis C. Jones.

Included in this book are stories about haunted houses, murder, murders, revenge, suicide, and tales of the restless spirits.

* * *

And Walk In Love is a novel by Henrietta Buckmaster. It presents the modern viewpoint of Paul of Tarsus who became Saint Paul and the writer of many of the Epistles in the New Testament.

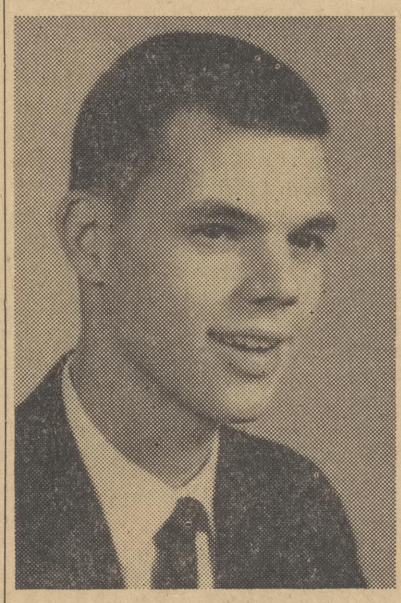
Robert S. Weekly, Mississippi author, wrote The House in Ruins. The story takes place in Cold Fork, Miss., where three men began a campaign of theft and sabotage to harass union troops in that area.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Lendon Player President, Hindsonian Co-Editor Reigns In Top Honor Spot

By NANCY CHAPMAN

Although you quite often hear "An Apple a day keeps the doctor away", the old adage doesn't hold true in all cases. There is a particular doctor who is a living example of that fact. He's "Doctor Tuttle", a kind-hearted, always-busy little man who couldn't be kept away with a dozen apples a day! Confused? Settle back for an explanation.



DAVID ETHRIDGE

The "Doctor Tuttle" is none other than David Ethridge, of Vicksburg, today's sophomore of the week. David will be remembered by most of you for his witty portrayal of the kindly old doctor in the Lendon Players' production of "A Cat Has Nine" last spring. Now let me further polish the confusion from the apple's bit.

David, like the doctor in the old quotation, couldn't be kept away, not even by a fat, juicy apple. He's always there, just when he's needed. That's saying a lot, too, for he's quite often needed. The reason is that he's a member of several organizations on the campus, and holds responsible positions in each of them. Examples: "Dr. Ethridge is president of the Lendon Players, co-editor of the Hindsonian, member of the Circle K, and the C.Y.O.

As if these weren't enough prescriptions to fill, the "doc" served as campaign manager for the sophomore presidential candidate who was elected. The election resulted in "just what the doctor ordered."

"Doctor Dave" didn't just recently set up practice, either. He "interned" for four years at St. Aloysius High School in Vicksburg before coming to Hinds last year. While in high school, he was active in extra-curricular affairs, besides taking part in the Little Theater group in Vicksburg — particularly the "Gold in the Hills" production.

So far, just about all of the doctor's "operations" have been successful. Probably they always will be, because David has the stick-to-it-iveness that it takes for a job well done.

Hindsonian staff wishes David well in his future plans, which include attending the University of Alabama and majoring in drama. He's been a good doctor!

of Hinds Junior College. Mr. Adams added much to the success of the program. A new addition to the staff this year, he is organ instructor at Hinds.

The Lendon Players' production of Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal is scheduled November 19 in the college auditorium. Make plans to see this production.

The Hinds Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers play at football games, various events, special occasions and help boost school spirit.

They are due a big "pat on the back" by the student body. We salute this group.

NEWS BRIEFS

Mack Charles Parker Lynching In For More Publicity

By NANCY CHAPMAN

The Mack Charles Parker lynching which gained worldwide attention last spring seems to be in for another season of publicity. According to recent reports, there is a strong possibility that the federal government will reenter the case with lesser charges. The Justice Department issued a statement saying that federal law had not been violated because there was no clear evidence that a state line was crossed by the mob that dragged Parker from the Poplarville jail and shot him. Only Mississippi authorities could try the lynchers for murder or kidnapping.

NANCY

Oren Harris, chairman of the ever-busy House Investigation Subcommittee, has fired charges of bribery at the National Council of Disc Jockeys. Harris and his fact-finders said considerable evidence has shown that some "dee jays" have taken bribes to push particular recordings. The subcommittee charged that song publishing and recording companies have "rigged" the polls which survey the nation's top tunes, especially the "rock and roll" surveys. The investigators will meet again on December 9 when they will look into the radio and television industries.

Lt. Gov.-Elect Paul B. Johnson has proposed a two-measure formula for the state's increasing safety problem. In a speech at the first annual conference of the Mississippi Safety Council, Johnson declared that the present safety laws are inadequate, and that an automobile inspection law and re-examination of driver's license permits would go a long way toward solving the complex traffic safety situation.

The Vatican in Rome has reported that all normal protocol will be temporarily set aside when President Eisenhower makes his visit to Italy for an audience with Pope John XXIII. The President, a Presbyterian, will be only the second incumbent president ever to visit a Pope. Plans for the goodwill tour include visits to strategic nations of Asia and the Middle East. Eisenhower told newsmen he would leave by jet plane on Dec. 4 and will see the Pope on Dec. 6.

HUNTS TREASURES

Wilda Travels In Guatamala Jungle

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Adventure is where you find it, but you sometimes have to seek it out to fulfill that "once in a lifetime" secret yearning of yours.

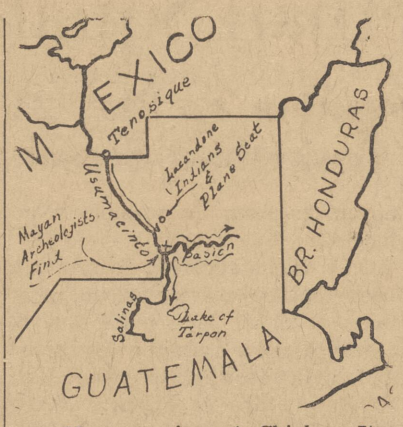
John Wilda, Hinds freshman from Milwaukee, took this "once in a lifetime" opportunity last February when he signed up with a group to embark on a safari into the jungles of Guatamala.

For two weeks the group—made up of city-soft amateur adventurers, many of whom had never seen a jungle before—wound its way through the steaming land by plane, train, mule and dugout boat.

Two Treasures

Their two chief purposes in this unusual undertaking were to seek two lost treasures, perhaps nonexistent—one belonging to the 16th century Mexican conqueror, Hernando Cortez, and one said to belong to associates of the late Geo. "Bugs" Moran, Chicago prohibition era hoodlum.

In Mexico they visited the famous Mayan ruins at Chichen Itza near Media, then took a 200 mile, 21 hour jaunt on a rickety train to Tenosique in Tabasco province of Mexico.



From there they plunged 120 miles into the jungle following the Usumacinta River bordering Mexico and Guatemala on mules and dugout boats.

Though it had been rumored for years, the first stories to bear actual fact of the Cortez treasure began about two years ago when a group was guided to a settlement of primitive Iacandone Indians, believed to be possible offshoots of the ancient Mayans.

Wilda said his group found the settlement located east of the river about 60 miles south of Tenosique.

Gangster Loot

Another settlement of the same Indians, but west of the river, figures in the tale of gangster treasure, said to total $800,000.

The loot was being flown to South America from the United States in 1956 by two pals of Moran's, but the small plane crashed on the way.

One of the men was killed in the crash, but the other, badly injured, was able to crawl about 15 miles and ended up at the tribe's settlement, the tale goes.

The Indians nursed him to health, but he was never able to find the way back to the plane where the money lay because jungle growth had already concealed it.

Found Cockpit Seat

While the group found no treasure, deep in the Guatemalan jungle, the adventurers did locate what is believed to be the seat from the cockpit of the small plane used to transport Moran's money.

"You never know what you might find," Wilda said. "It could even be a city."

The group found a fresh water lake where huge tarpon, usually found only in salt water, have made a home. It was at the southernmost point of the trip.

"It is one mile wide and two miles long and is packed with these tarpon, and giant turtle, too," said Wilda.

IN RAYMOND SQUARE

Phi Theta Kappa Members To Hold Rummage Sale In Town Saturday

The Phi Theta Kappa met for its regular meeting early this week, and discussed plans for the rummage sale to be held at the Raymond town square Saturday, Nov. 14, beginning at 1:30 p.m., weather permitting.

Ben Jones, Gray McLain, and Nancy Chapman were appointed to serve as a steering committee to check on weather, publicity, and other arrangements.

The rummage sale will be conducted by several members of the organization. Items to be sold include clothing, toys, shoes, jewelry, and any such household articles.

Any one wishing to contribute articles for sale should contact Ouida Henderson, Beebe Hilton, or Martha Pharr. All items should be turned in at the registrar's office by Friday morning at the 2A period.

College's Baptist Students To Publish Monthly Publication On Local Campus

The Baptist Student Union has announced that it will publish a monthly newspaper called the Baptist Beacon.

Belinda Hill, Brandon, is the editor, and her committee members are Delois Robinson and Doug Chathum. The paper is sponsored by Miss B. J. Frew, Director of B.S.U.

The Baptist Beacon will be approximately five pages, and it will be published the last Monday of each month.

The paper will contain campus news plus a schedule of events for the following month and a 'Jest for Fun' column. In each issue there will also be a message by a local pastor and a freshman and sophomore personality.

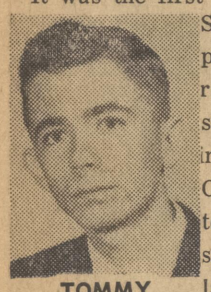
PRESS BOX VIEWS

Southern Loses "Number 1" Crown

By TOMMY NANCE

Mississippi Southern lost its number one crown in the United Press International's small college football ratings last week in defeat against the eighth place Memphis State Tigers to the tune of 21-6.

It was the first time Mississippi Southern lost first place since the ratings were started last year in September. Coach Pie Vann's team led for 11 straight weeks last year and the first six weeks of the current season.



TOMMY

The Delaware Blue Hens, winning an impressive victory over Rutgers of the major college ranks, took over first place while Southern fell to second. Delaware gathered 18 first-place votes and a total of 339 points to Southern's 13 and 291 points.

Taking over third, fourth, and fifth places respectively were West Chester (Pa.) Teachers; Bowling Green, who walloped Miami, 33-16; and Middle Tennessee State.

Banks is NL's Most Valuable

Chicago Cub, Ernie Banks, has won the National League's most valuable player award for the second straight year. He became the first National League player to be named to the honor in consecutive years since the baseball writers took over selection of the most valuable player in 1931.

Being named on every ballot, Banks drew a total of 232½ points while his nearest opponent, Eddie Matthews, Milwaukee's third baseman, finished second with 189½ points. Hank Aaron and Wally Moon got the only other first place votes.

LA Rams Lead Yards Gained

With half of the professional football season completed, the Los Angeles Rams lead in total yards gained with 2159 yards. Passing—the Rams have 1153 to their 1006 in rushing. The Baltimore Colts, who tallied 426 yards last week, follow a close second with 2070 yards.

Cleveland has advanced from fifth place to third on 2020 yards thus far. The New York Giants lead the list in defense, holding their opponent's rushing average from 2.8 to 2.7. On 186 times that the line of the Giants has been hit, that is a very good average.

After last edition's predictions, we ought to give it up. But here we are again after a week's rest and ready to go for broke. Since only a few junior colleges have games remaining and most of them already through, we turn to the Southeastern conference. First of all there is the Alabama-Georgia Tech game in Birmingham. The Yellow Jackets of Coach Bobby Dodd should add another win to their column by defeating Alabama, 20-7.

Auburn Favored

Auburn runs up against the rough Georgia eleven and should have a little more trouble than Tech but we still pick Auburn, 21-13. The Wildcats of Kentucky face Xavier, Ohio, this weekend and will have trouble coming up with a victory. With a few breaks on the part of Kentucky, the Wildcats could win another. Vanderbilt and Tulane clash in New Orleans this week in which should be a very hard fought battle. We pick the Commodores over the hard luck Green Wave.

For the final two predictions of this edition, we chose Ole Miss and L.S.U. to keep on winning as they go up against the Tennessee Volunteers and Mississippi State Maroons respectively.

Benton Announces MRA Pre-Holiday Social Activities

According to Mr. R. C. Benton, Hinds recreational director, the M.R.A. will sponsor a pre-Thanksgiving holiday wiener roast and hayride on November 24 and a Christmas dance on December 11.

Recreational and intramural activities for the Men's Recreational Association tentatively scheduled for the remainder of this week are as follows:

Wednesday, November 11 at 6:00 p.m.—Practice session for intramural basketball teams at women's gym.

Thursday, November 12 at 6:00 p.m.—Dancing lessons at women's gym. At 6:30 p.m. final practice session for intramural basketball teams. (Regularly scheduled games will get underway next week at the women's gym.)

Hinds Eagles To Meet East Central In 1st Basketball Squabble Nov. 20

Troy Ricks' Aggregation To Play 23 Games In 1959-60 Basketball Season

By TOMMY NANCE

Coach Troy Ricks, Eagle hardwood boss, has recently released the 1959-60 cage menu. A total of 23 games have been scheduled along with the final tournaments.

Ricks' Eagles, who finished second in the state last year, open their campaign against the East Central Warriors in Pelahatchie's modern hardwood arena on November 20. Along with playing the Warriors three times, Hinds opposes nine Mississippi junior colleges twice and the Mississippi State Freshman twice, once in Jackson and once in Raymond.

Sunflower, Jones, Southwest, Pearl River, East Mississippi, Perkinston, Clarke, Holmes, and Copiah-Lincoln are slated to tangle with the Eagles in two cage battles each this season, each on a home and home basis.

Hinds will look for the basketball championship this year as they sport one of the best promising centers in the state, Tommy Thompson. This could be the year for the Eagles, although 12 rugged opponents loom as possible roadblocks.

Only two other returnees, along with Thompson, are back this year but that should be enough. Guard, David Gover is a hustler and should add depth at his position, while Larry Dowdy has experience at the forward slot but needs a co-worker.

Although losing Larry Pennington, Gerald Lee, Buck Whiffen, and Phillip Warren, the Eagle cagers have several newcomers to give overall strength. Joe Watson and Billy Rhodes from Pelahatchie and Gerald Austin and Lewis Vaughn from Forest Hill are four of the hopeful standouts for the five-man team.

The future for Coach Troy Ricks seems bright in most respects; nevertheless, uncertain conditions cast plenty room for taking a "wait and see" attitude.

The 1959-60 Hinds basketball schedule is as follows:

Nov. 20—East Central at Pelahatchie Gym.
Dec. 1—Sunflower at Moorhead
Dec. 8—Jones at Raymond
Dec. 9—Mississippi State Freshman at Jackson City Auditorium.
Dec. 11—East Central at Decatur.
Dec. 12—East Miss. at Scooba
Dec. 15—Southwest at Raymond
Dec. 17—Sunflower at Raymond
Jan. 8—Pearl River at Raymond
Jan. 9—Perkinston at Raymond
Jan. 13—Mississippi State Freshman at Raymond
Jan. 15—Clarke at Newton
Jan. 22—Holmes at Goodman
Jan. 26—Copiah-Lincoln at Raymond
Jan. 29—East Central at Raymond
Jan. 30—East Miss. at Raymond
Feb. 2—Copiah-Lincoln at Wesson
Feb. 5—Pearl River at Poplarville
Feb. 6—Perkinston at Perkinston
Feb. 9—Southwest at Summit
Feb. 12—Holmes at Raymond
Feb. 13—Clark at Raymond
Feb. 16—Jones at Ellisville
Feb. 25, 26, 27—South Division Tournament at Poplarville
March 4, 5—Overall State Tournament

VOLUME 26 — NUMBER 8 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1959

Smith Carries Debaters To Ole Miss Workshop

Activities began today at 9:30 p.m. with a general get-together in the studio-theater on the second floor of the Fine Arts Center of the campus. The program was in three parts.

The group will leave Ole Miss after the last session of the workshop and arrive back on the Hinds campus sometime this evening.

Thanksgiving Day Campus Holidays Start Wednesday

Thanksgiving observances will begin on the Hinds campus tomorrow evening with the traditional Thanksgiving dinner.

Holidays for students will begin after classes Wednesday, November 25, and close at 8 p.m. Sunday, November 29.

Mrs. Marian Welch, head dietitian, and her assistants, Mrs. Berryhill and Mrs. Finger, announce 5 p.m. as the hour of dinner to be served to all cafeteria ticket holders, and to guests of the administration.

The dinner service will be semiformal. Special cafeteria hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Benton, and Miss Betty Jane Frew, and members of the college B.S.U.

Decorations of cafeteria and tables will be in charge of the college Women's Athletic Association, under the supervision of Mrs. Peggy Swett, director of women's physical education.

Following the dinner, students, faculty, and guests will be privileged to attend the fall production of the Lendon Players, Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

The following is the menu for the Thanksgiving dinner: roast turkey, dressing, turkey gravy, orange marmalade, candied yams, green beans, carrot salad, hot rolls, butter, chess pie, coffee, milk and chocolate mints.

Choir To Perform Sunday At Local Methodist Church

The first engagement of the year for the Hinds Junior College Choir will be at the Raymond Methodist Church Sunday night, November 22.

At that time the choir will present a section of their sacred concert, which is a year-round program of music featuring the choir, Girls' Ensemble, Men's Ensemble, and soloists.

On December 3, the choir will travel to Vicksburg to sing at the Letourneau Club chapel service.

A program of Christmas music will be presented in the college auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on December 16. This presentation is open to the public.

The choir will begin their week end touring early in the second semester. Their appearances will cover primarily the churches of the Hinds Junior College area.

Final Rites Held In Canton For Hinds Junior College Lad Johnny Harreld

Funeral services for Johnny Harreld, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harreld who was killed in an auto accident early Thursday in Jackson, were held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Canton.

JOHNNY HARRELD
Killed In Wreck

Father P. Moran officiated at the services for the youth. Interment was in the Canton cemetery.

Jackson police said Harreld, a freshman at Hinds Junior College, was instantly killed when a car in which he was a passenger crashed into a utility pole near the intersection of Terry Road and Lynch Street, at 12:45 a.m. Thursday. Three other passengers of the car, all students at Hinds Junior College, were injured.

They were Jai Hill, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill of Canton; W. K. Pace, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Pace, Sr., of Canton; and Jimmie Newsome, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Newsome of 615 Benning Rd., Jackson.

Harreld, a passenger on the right side of the car, was pushed against the door and his head was smashed when the vehicle hit the utility pole.

Survivors include his parents, prominent operators of a Canton auto agency and motel chain, and a brother, W. E. Harreld, Jr., of Greenwood.

Drama Show Thursday

NOT A BIT SUPERSTITUTIOUS — Last Friday was that "unlucky day" Friday the 13th and a lot of people stawed away from broken mirrors, ladders, and black cats. But that was not the case at Hinds Junior College. Pretty Martha Arrington, Hinds Hi-Stepper from Bruce, was not a bit superstitutious. She just broke the mirror in the background, and is starting to walk under the ladder. Meanwhile she's looking for a black cat to cross her path. Photo by Richard Patrick.

Lendon Players To Stage Play In Auditorium

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal, a drama in three acts, will be presented in the college auditorium tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m.

The play, written by Anne Mathen, is adapted from the "best seller" of the same name by Lloyd C. Douglas. It is under the direction of Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the Hinds speech and drama department. Assistant director of the play is Veronica Roberts.

Cast

Members of the play cast have been hard at work on rehearsals for the past six-weeks. Their names and respective roles are as follows:

Jerry Horack, Jackson, Dr. Hudson; Linda Bovay, Vicksburg, Joyce Hudson; Alice Boyd, Utica, Nancy Alford; David Ethridge, Vicksburg, Mr. Warner; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, Barbara Warner; Frank Powers, Utica, Joel Kelsey; Larry Miller, Vicksburg, Tony Bontempini; Katherine Curre, Holly Springs, Jose; Penny Knott, Jackson, Cindy; Lynn Watts, Wiggins, Cynthia; and Sibley Walters, Vicksburg, Tim Watson.

Story

The play centers around the office of Dr. Hudson, a resident doctor at Brightwood Hospital.

Dr. Hudson believes that if we would have what we want, we must first invest in others. He says, "As we invest, we grow in strength and power. Every time we help others it benefits not only them but ourselves as well." His investments have proven their worth as demonstrated by the many hopeful people who leave his office to return to a healthful, satisfying life.

As the drama unfolds, we see that the doctor's one desire is to build a new wing on Brightwood Hospital to help meet the medical needs of the community. Here he comes into conflict with Mr. Warner, an unscrupulous businessman, who owns the only land available and refuses to sell it.

To complicate matters Mr. Warner's daughter has fallen in love with a young intern at the hospital, and Dr. Hudson's daughter is critically injured in an automobile accident.

The loneliness and unsureness of Dr. Hudson in his time of trouble is known only to himself and his secret journal. The final act, however, reveals the nature of the answer he gives the journal as to the worthwhileness of his investments.

Remember, curtain time is 8:00 p.m. in the college auditorium.

61 HONOR STUDENTS

Linda Herrington Lone Student To Make All A's In 1st 9 Weeks

The mid-semester honor roll at Hinds was released from the registrar's office this week.

Of the 61 names listed below, 22 are from Jackson.

Linda Herrington, Raymond, was the one student to make all A's.

A's and B's

Others who made A's and B's for the nine weeks, record are the following:

Freshman Group Plans Activities, Campus Projects

Freshman class officers met for the first time Friday, November 6, to make plans for the current school year's class activities.

Billy Hunter, president; John Wilda, vice presndent; Carolyn Middleton, secretary; and Kay Sumrall, treasurer, discussed various projects for the class, including sponsoring dances and placing suggestion boxes in the Administration Building and the Grill. All student suggestions will be welcomed and given careful consideration by the officers' council at their weekly meetings.

Few Individuals Set Pace

From the gifted pen of the famous prose and poetry writer, John Donne, come these inspiring words of wisdom well worth pondering.

. . . "No man is an Island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of continent, a part of the main; if a Clod be washed away by the Sea, Europe is the lessee, as well as if a Promontrie were, as well as if a Mannor of thy friends or of thine own were; any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in Mankind; And therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee" . . .

Everything we do affects in some small way the course of the lives of people of the rest of the world. Think of the terrific amount of good that could be done if everyone applied this type of positive thinking and action to every day lives.

Here at Hinds, we have a wonderful opportunity to participate in school and club activities. But groups are not run by individuals, they take unity and a positive plan to achieve their goals.

Two campus elections, under the sponsorship of the sophomore class, had to be postponed until a later date because they were not set up and handled correctly.

Freshman Day was no more than a let-down to many who observed its lack of organization.

If we, the students of Hinds, don't show the initiative to carry responsibility and to organize to achieve an admirable end result, then we have no reason to complain about our precious rights.

A few individuals on this campus do more than their share to carry responsibility. The rest do nothing.

Let's determine for ourselves — do we carry responsibility or are we doing nothing?

As sophomores we should be the leaders — set the pace. Have we done this so far?

Thankful For One People

We are one people.

True, there are differences among some of us, political, economic, religious, and others. A student from California, because of his environment, thinks as a Californian, not as a Mississippian. County, state, and national boundaries divide the students at Hinds Junior College into distinct groups with distinctly different characteristics. Even the prevailing weather is different.

And, yet, the students come together and with one united voice proclaim their unity as a student body.

This is the glory of being an American, this ability to rise above our differences with tolerance and understanding, work shoulder to shoulder with our fellow students.

Yes, there are differences among us, but let us humbly thank our Maker for the differences which He, in His wisdom, gave us. If we were all cast in the same mold, Hinds Junior College would be a dull and deadly place.

Faculty, Students Extend Sympathy

Thanks Festival Marks Prayers, Big Feasting

By JEAN RODGERS

Thanksgiving Day in the United States is a day set aside for a festival of thanks for the mercies of the closing year, celebrated by prayers and feasting.

JEAN

America's earliest Thanksgiving Day was held in 1621 by the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Colony.

Thanksgiving did not become an annual event until 1863, when Abraham Lincoln set aside the fourth Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day. In following years the last Thursday in November was chosen until a joint resolution was passed by Congress in 1941 proclaiming the fourth Thursday of the month to be set aside by the Nation for Thanksgiving Day.

Although the resolution was passed by Congress and the fourth Thursday is celebrated nationally, many states set aside the last Thursday of November.

Thanksgiving has many meanings for students at Hinds.

Jean Parks, sophomore from Jackson stated, "It is a time for me to be thankful for all the wonderful blessings I have."

"Thanksgiving does not have the same meaning it had for our forefathers", says David Ethridge, sophomore from Vicksburg, "but, is this necessarily wrong? We should certainly be thankful for our abundant blessings, but perhaps we should show it by our actions rather than words."

"Thanksgiving means a time of gratitude, appreciation and togetherness," stated Dorothy Smith.

Marshall Gurley, Jackson sophomore, expressed, "Thanksgiving means a day when we purposely sit down and give thanks for the privilege of being alive in a country such as this."

And what does Thanksgiving mean to me? It means a day set aside by a Christian nation to give extra special thanks to the Lord. A day in which we can express our love and worship for Him along with our family and fellow countrymen.

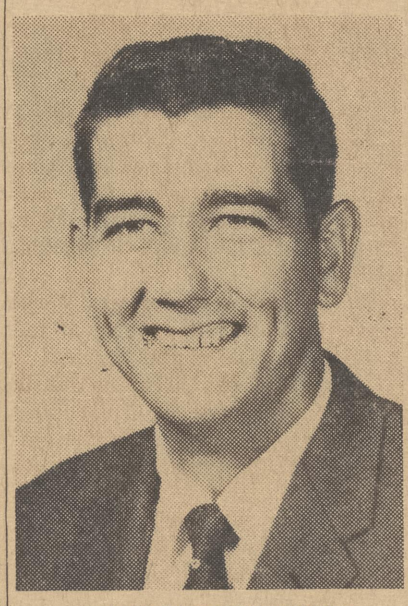
SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Basketball Wizard Gets Weekly Student Newspaper Honor Award

By JEAN RODGERS

A friendly smile and a warm hello distinguish G. B. Thompson, better known as Tommy, who has been chosen as Hinds' outstanding Sophomore of the Week.



TOMMY THOMPSON
Cage Ace

Tommy, from Winnsboro, La., was a 4-H Club president for three years, vice-president of the Future Farmers of America Club, and a member of the Glee Club for three years in high school.

Voted Most Popular and Best Athlete in his senior year, Tommy excells not only in personality, but also in sports. He played varsity basketball for two years, and he received an honorable mention on the Louisiana All-State basketball team for 1955-56. During the 1956-57 season he was named to the All-State team.

Tommy has played two years of college varsity basketball, and he is a member of the Baptist Student Union, Circle K Club, and Men's Recreational Association at Hinds.

Majoring in Physical Education, Tommy likes to spend his leisure time in playing basketball, hunting, and fishing.

When asked what his plans are for the future, Tommy stated, "I'm going to continue my education in a senior college, but I don't know where yet. The school will be in Mississippi, I'm sure.

CAMPUS DOINGS

Group Takes Part In Campus Life

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

The Men's Recreational Association, a new group on the Hinds campus, is taking an active part in college campus life. They are working with the Women's Athletic Association to sponsor a Thanksgiving hay-ride for members and their dates. This holiday festivity is scheduled for next Tuesday and further information will probably be posted on the bulletin boards.

DAVID

* * *

This Thursday evening holds a pre-Thanksgiving treat for you. It all begins at 5 p.m. in the cafeteria with the annual Thanksgiving dinner, which is a dress-up affair. Later the same evening at 8 p.m. the Lendon Players invite you to enjoy their play, Dr. Hudson's Secret, in the college auditorium.

* * *

Don't forget canned-goods and other non-perishable foodstuffs may be taken to the B.S.U. room on the second floor of the administration in preparation for baskets to be distributed to needy families on Thanksgiving. Miss Betty Jane Frew will be on hand to accept all contributions.

* * *

We'll get a four day rest from school when Thanksgiving holidays arrive next Wednesday after classes, but when we return, things will be popping again. After Thanksgiving, we have Christmas to look forward to and several groups on the campus are already hard at work planning Christmas parties, recitals, and dances. The Men's Recreational Association has scheduled a dance, the choir is planning a concert in the auditorium, and Mr. John Adams, organ instructor, is planning a recital.

THANKSGIVING

Of old, we thanked Thee, Lord, for the harvest yield,
For the filled crib and the overflowing bin;
For the good earth and the fertile bearing field;
But today, with the golden harvest gathered in,
We would no longer hoard it for our own.
The cry of hunger sounds across the lands
Where the aged are weeping, and where children moan,
Reaching toward us with transparent hands.

We are grateful, Lord, for the harvest we can share;
Grateful for the land that yields the grain;
For the unfailing strength it has to bear
Life-giving substance through the sun and rain,
And more than grateful, blessed Lord, to Thee
That Thou has trusted us so signally.

TELL HINDS' ADVANTAGES

Staff Members Participate In Meet

Several members of the Hinds Junior College staff and administration are participating in a College Guidance Program for high school juniors and seniors this week at Vicksburg.

The purpose of the College Guidance Program is to interest the students in different types of colleges best suited to their needs.

The program is sponsored by the Vicksburg Branch of the American Association of University Women, other civic organizations, and the city and county schools of Warren county.

The three day program began yesterday and is scheduled to end at noon Thursday. Each day's activities will see Hinds representatives present to speak to the group and tell of the advantages of Hinds. On Tuesday, Coach Joe Renfroe, football coach, and Mr. Walter Gibbes, Hinds vocational co-ordinator, gave talks. Today President G. M. McLendon, Mrs. Margaret Kimball, and Mrs. Peggy Swett, physical education instructor, were introduced.

Tomorrow, at the final session, Mr. A. L. Denton, director of guidance at Hinds, and Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, will speak to the county school group.

Hinds Home Economic Majors Attend Association Conference In Jackson

Hinds was recently represented at the Mississippi Home Economics Association meeting held at the Heidelberg Hotel in Jackson. Those attending from Hinds were Miss Fleta Whitaker, home economics instructor; Ella Gill, Tunica; Pat Coleman, Jackson; Faye Northern, Jackson; and Lynn Watts, Wiggins.

The 50th Anniversary of American Home Economics Association was featured this year. The anniversary banquet was held Friday evening in the Crown Room of the Edwards Hotel. Miss Ruth Wallace, State Supervisor of Home Economics in Mississippi and state president of the Association, presided at this banquet.

The guest speaker for the evening was Miss Olga P. Brucher, president of the American Home Economics Association from the University of Rhode Island. She spoke on the subject of "Home Economics in the Years Ahead."

Special music for the banquet was furnished by the Music Department of Mississippi College.

NEWS BRIEFS

Negro Held In Brutal Slaying

By NANCY CHAPMAN

A 28-year-old Negro, Walter Knight of Lawton, Okla., is being held in connection with the brutal slaying of a young Centreville woman who was living in Lawton where her husband was serving with the army.

NANCY

Mrs. Fern Romero, mother of two small children, was murdered late last week while her husband, Captain Louis Romero was away on assignment in Fort Bliss, Texas. Police investigators say that a Negro service station attendant, Walter Knight, was held for suspicion of murder after authorities found Knight carrying a hunting knife which could have been the murder weapon. Knight had driven Mrs. Romero to her home on several occasions while the Romero car was being repaired.

The Oregon Farm Bureau Federation closed its annual state convention last week with the decision to demand the resignation of Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, if the statement issued concerning the contamination of cranberries can not be proven. The bureau said the publicity released by the secretary was extremely harmful to the agricultural producers, who could possibly suffer serious financial losses.

The new amendments to the Taft-Hartley law went into effect late last week. Several of the features have been causing controversal comments. Stricter bans on picketing and boycotts constitute the major changes. Still other sections of the new law are expected to go into force on Dec. 14.

Phi Beta Lambda Plans Outing For Jackson Tonight

A movie-trip to Jackson has been planned for today by the Phi Beta Lambda, campus business organization.

The group will leave by bus from Main dormitory at 4:00 p.m. and go into downtown Jackson. The bus will return at 7:30 p.m.

According to Jerry Horack, club president, the next regular meeting of the group will be at 2-A period on November 20, Friday. At this meeting a guest speaker will address the club.

AT NEW YORK MEET

Rhodes, Nance Represent College At Associated Collegiate Conference

The Hindsonian was recently represented at the 35th annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference in New York City this past week by Irl Dean Rhodes, public relations staffer, and Tommy Nance, sports editor.

Arriving early Thursday morning, they spent all day taking in the sights of this interesting metropolis, along with meeting several other delegates from across the nation.

The opening convocation was given by Chet Huntley, NBC news commentator, on the subject, "Some Musings of a Reporter." Fred L. Kildow, director of the ACP, made an informal talk, after which the night was left for the theater-goers and sight-seers.

Most of Friday was set aside for meetings and discussion sessions of which effective sports writing, photography tips, editorial policies, and page makeup became the center of attention. An address by Norman Cousins on "The Russian Report" highlighted the afternoon.

An informal get acquainted dance for all the delegates was held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel New Yorker Friday night. The music was furnished by Jack Adato's orchestra.

Panel discussions and a conference luncheon climaxed this year's press convention Saturday.

Among 30 states and 1200 delegates, Hinds was one of the few junior colleges represented. Other schools in Mississippi that sent delegates were the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State College for Women, and Mississippi Southern.

Dr. Johnson turns another elegant phrase:

Sir, if it hasn't got it there, it hasn't got it!

Old Dr. Sam has done it again—brought his dictionary up to date in terms of modern Winston usage.

Winston (win'ston), n. A cigarette with Filter-Blend on one end and a wise man on the other.

Taste (tāst), n. What decorators argue about and Winston smokers enjoy.

Filter-Blend (fĭl'tĕr-blĕnd), n. A happy marriage of art and science. Light, mild, flavorful tobaccos are artfully selected, then scientifically processed for filter smoking.

Slogan (slō'găn), n. (e.g., Winston tastes good like a cigarette should). A statement of disputed grammar but unquestioned fact.

Front (frŭnt), n. (used in conjunction with the preposition "up"). The section of a filter cigarette where if it hasn't got it, it hasn't got it. Also, the section that counts, the section where exclusive Filter-Blend is to be found.

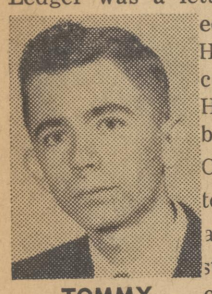
PRESS BOX VIEWS

Students Disagree With Editor

By TOMMY NANCE

Appearing in Tuesday's Clarion Ledger was a letter which sports editor Arnold Hederman had received from three Hinds students. It began, "Dear So-Called Sports Editor: Your personal top ten teams stink." . . . It goes on to say that "anyone should have an undefeated record after playing a bunch of girls' football teams." This refers to the mighty Rebels of Ole Miss. The trio continues, "Why doesn't Ole Miss go ahead and play some junior colleges?"



TOMMY

After stating a few more sultry remarks, they list their top ten teams: Texas, LSU, Southern California, Syracuse, Northwestern, Georgia, Auburn, North Texas State, Tennessee, and Wisconsin. "This, of course, was written before the Ole Miss-Tennessee game Saturday." With the results of this past weekend's games, we would thing that at least six changes should be made in this so-called list.

We think the letter showed ignorance, disrespect, and childish thinking on the part of the three Hinds students. For the sake of our student body, let's hope nothing else this little and simple happens again.

The 1959 Eagle football statistics, recently released, are not all in Hinds' favor, but they point out some outstanding players in the Eagles' offense and defense.

Team statistics: Hinds scored a total of 73 points, while their opponents tallied 247. In the first downs department, the opposition led 110 to 91 while Hinds led in passing first downs, 38 to 27. In net yardage gained Hinds tallied 1552, while the opposition racked up 2781.

Byrle Kynerd, Jerry Streva, Donny Ross, Johnny Daher, and Charles Halbert led the Eagles in individual averages. Ross punted 32 times for 868 yards and a 27.1 average. In punts returned, Kynerd led with 9.2 average, while Streva completed 50 passes in 115 attempts.

An average of 15.1 led the Eagles for this year in kickoff returns. Daher won this honor with Kynerd following close behind with 15.

In rushing Halbert edged out Kynerd, 3.5 to 3.1 to gain top spot. For overall scoring Johnny Daher led Hinds with 22 points, followed by Halbert and Kynerd with 14 and 13 points respectively.

SEC Predictions

Barring a couple of upsets, our predictions were that of an expert last week. We continued this week hoping to extend our list of correct choices. First of all, we see Alabama over Memphis State. With the splendid showing by the Crimson Tide in Birmingham last week in their upset of Georgia Tech, Memphis State hasn't a chance.

Mississippi Southern travels up to Auburn and should make a good showing but should come out on the short end of the score. The traditional rivalry between Florida and Florida State continues this week with the Gators adding another win to their column.

Kentucky's homecoming will be spoiled this year by the upset-minded Tennessee Volunteers and LSU should have no problem winning over the hapless Tulane Green Wave.

Men's Rec Teams Participate In Pre-Holiday Tourneys

The members of the intramural basketball teams and captains of each respective team have been announced by R. C. Benton, recreational director.

Four teams, the Falcons, Owls, Eagles, and Hawks, have been participating in a tournament this week. The winners of each game will play Monday, November 23, at 6:30 in the girl's gym.

Each team consists of the following boys. Falcons—Skip Burnham, captain; Bill Lucas, Leo Williams, Percy Payne, Tommy Hurst, Butch Canuth, Glenis, Joe Lindigrin, and James Collier.

The Owls' members are Johnny Carter, captain, George Boone, Joe Ferguson, Howard Wood, Jerry Burt, Bob Laster, and Billy Gray. James McDill, captain, Hayward Neeley, K. L. Smith, Bill Huffman, Donny Hunter, and Charles Magee make up the Eagles. Members of the Hawks are Donald Oakes, captain, Albert Richardson, Clarence Osborne, Rudy Holcomb, Robert Grantham, J. C. Purvis, and Harry Coker.

Eagles Take On East Central; Basketball Team To Make Debut

Thompson, Dowdy, Gover Only Cage Veterans On Team

The Hinds Junior College basketball aggregation makes their debut tomorrow night when they take on the East Central Warriors in the new Pelahatchie gym.

Coach Troy Ricks states that his team is small and inexperienced in college play but all the boys are hustlers. Doubtful about the strating lineup, Ricks has only three returning lettermen.

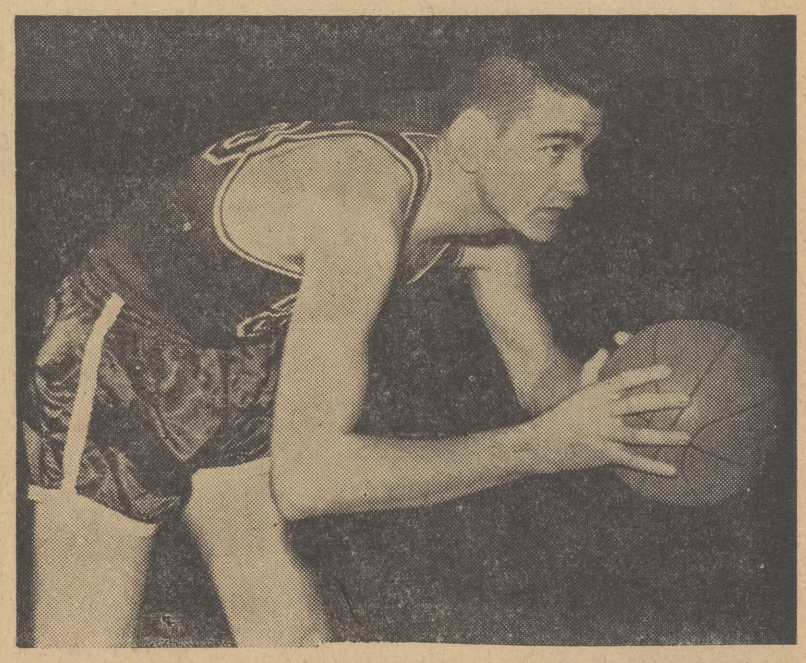
Those which are showing promise are Joe Watson, good shooter, Bobby Coglan, good jumper, Tommy Winstead, fast, and Billy Rhodes, an all around player. All of these will be playing before a home crowd.

Lewis Vaughn and Gerald Austin, former Forest Hill standouts, will aid in this year's team at guard slot. Along with others, Dean Liles, Raymond, and Norman Pace will be trying to place Hinds on top in the Mississippi Junior College basketball standings.

The Warriors of East Central have five-sophomores and eight freshmen vying for starting positions. Among those are centers Tim Duckworth, 6'6" and Brooks Cox, 6'4", Mack Partridge, Tom Croswell, Charles Robinson, J. H. Dyer, and Joe Kelly.

Hinds will encounter East Central again on December 11 in Decatur and on January 29 at Raymond.

The Holmes Bulldogs are sponsoring a pre-Thanksgiving tournament this weekend in which East Central meets Sunflower at 7:30 Friday evening and Hinds meets Holmes at 8:30.



Tommy Thompson, center, will be one of the starting five in tomorrow night's game with the East Central Warriors. Thompson, along with Larry Dowdy, and David Gover are the only returning lettermen on the Eagle squad this year.

Jackson Groups Offer Christmas Pre-Employment Training Course

The Christmas Pre-Employment Training Course is offered for adults 16 years of age and older who may seek part-time employment in Jackson businesses for the Christmas season, on November 17, 18 and 19. The classes are scheduled at the Central High School auditorium from 7:00 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Employers in this area have requested that part-time Christmas employees be instructed in welcoming the customer, presenting merchandise, sales promotion, suggestion selling, closing the sale and use of sales-checks.

Instruction in these techniques will be provided by visual aids and lectures during the three night courses. Prominent merchants and sales executives will be guest teachers for this Christmas pre-employment training.

A billfold sized certificate will be awarded to adults attending the full series of meetings. These certificates may be presented to personnel departments as evidence of satisfactory completion of the pre-employment training course when application is made for part-time Christmas employment.

Persons 16 years of age or older who are residents of this school district may enroll. There will be no charge for this instruction and persons wishing to enroll may contact the director of adult and vocational education, Jackson public schools, telephone FL 2-7178.

The training course is sponsored by the Jackson Downtown Merchants Association, Jackson Sales Club, and Division of Adult and Vovational Education Jackson Public Schools.

The course is open to all students of Hinds Junior College and will be of practice value to those who plan to work in some Jackson business during the busy holiday season.

Westside, Main Girls Tie In Battle; Football, Other Sports Highlight Week

The Westside Gang and Main Mobsters battled to 0-0 deadlock last Tuesday afternoon in a female football classic.

This game was the first of the girls' intramural activity of the year open to the public. It was sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

Both teams played outstanding football with Bert Wynn, Jackie Melsheimer, Lottie Leach, Martha Pharr, Red Shivers, Carolyn Horton, Lou Johnston, Ruth Warden, Dot Gatlin, Charlotte Tackett, Bernell Boler, and Gail McNair leading the Gang. The Mobsters wouldn't have had a chance if Betty Jean Robbins, Martha Rhodes, Maxine Benson, Kanita Stevens, April Albritton, Patsy Kettleman, Diann Bartee, Glenda Barlow, Linda Coker, Pat George, Evelyn Halper, and Maxine Womack had been missing from the starting lineup.

In other girls sports, the Hinds, basketball team defeated the Nicholas Supply Company six with a 58-19 margin last Wednesday night. The team, coached by Mrs. Peggy Swett, led at the end of each quarter and had built up a 36 point lead at the end of the half.

The next game will be Wednesday, November 18, when Hinds plays Pine Sol at 8:00 p.m. at the Jackson Air Base gym.

The starting lineup will be Betty Jean Robbins, Joanie Philips, Kanita Stevens, Gail Rushing, Mary Jean Fugate, and Martha Pharr.

Other team members are Jackie Melsheimer, Janet Davis, Orlane Huff, Red Shivers, Bert Wynn, Lottie Leach, Martha Rhodes, and Bonnie Harding, Team managers are Bernell Boler, Mary Thomas, and Gail McNair and the assistant coach is Carolyn Horton. Scorekeeper is Lou Johnston.

Who's Who Contest Underway Tomorrow

Nominations For Student Honors To Draw Campus Wide Attention

Nominations for the 1959-60 Who's Who elections will begin December 3.

Polls will open at 8:15 a. m. in the administration building and will close at 3:30. The first primary will be held December 8 and if a second primary is necessary, it will be held December 10.

Leading in honor will be the election of Mr. and Miss Hinds Junior College. These positions represent the highest honors students can bestow on their fellow classmates. The honors are based on quality of character, scholarship, participation in activities, and service to fellowmen.

Candidates for these positions must be members of the sophomore class and have an ecademic average of C or above.

A person will be allowed to receive only three positions in the contest, including the campus favorites.

Other positions to be filled by girls are Most Beautiful Girl, Most popular girl, Most intellectual girl, Most Intellectual Girl, Most Courteous Girl, Wittiest Girl, Girl Most Likely to Succeed, Best Girl Athlete, and Campus Favorites (five girls). Also, a girl and boy will be chosen as Cutest Couple.

Boys will be chosen for Most Handsome Boy, Most Pouplar Boy, Most Intellectual Boy, Most Courteous Boy, Wittiest Boy, Boy Most likely to Succeed, Most Vervatile Boy, Most Dependable Boy, Most Neatly Dressed Boy, Friendliest Boy, Greenest Freshman Boy, Best Boy Athlete, and Campus Favorites (five boys).

3 Staff Members Attend Southern Association Meet

Three members of the staff are representing Hinds Junior College this week at the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Louisville, Ky.

President G. M. McLendon, Mr. A. L. Denton, head of the guidance department, and Mr. Walter Gibbes, head of the vocational department, left last Friday for this event.

President McLendon is a senior member of the committee on admission to membership in junior colleges and expressed a desire to take an active part in the junior college work through the various committees and their assignments.

Annual Penny Fair Show Set For Thursday Night

"Your generous participation in the work of the World University Service for the strategic university student group builds for future and today eases the suffering of those students less fortunate than ourselves," wrote W. J. Kitchen, executive secretary of W.U.S., when the Hinds Junior College contribution from the 1958 Penny Fair reached the W.U.S. headquarters in New York last year.

The 1959 Penny Fair will come to a climax tomorrow night with the coronation of the king and queen of the annual festival.

The royal pair will be chosen by the greatest number of votes received at a penny per vote.

The candidates chosen to vie for the honor are the following: Nancy McKay and Mickey Coker, representing the sophomore class, and Sue Bell and Byrle Kynard, representing the freshman class.

Side shows, tours, plenty of food, and artistic talent will be featured at the Fair.

Money collections are to be turned in at the book store to Mr. L. K. Clark for official count. The deadline for receiving collections has been set for 6:00 p.m. tomorrow, Thursday.

The coronation ceremonies will begin at 6:30 p.m. These will be followed by a floor show designed to entertain the royal pair and their court. The library building will be the setting for the Fair.

Raymond Student Takes Top Talent In Farm Program

Bill Matthews, freshman from Raymond, recently won first place in the talent division at the annual meeting of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation.

The piano player chose to play a medley of songs from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess for his talent. The songs he selected to play were "Summertime," "It Ain't Necessarily So," and "Bess, You Is My Woman Now."

By receiving the first place award, he also won an all expense trip to Chicago on December 11.

McLendon Speaks To Clinton Lions About Donations

President G. M. McLendon was guest speaker for a recent meeting at the Clinton Lions Club.

Introduced by program chairman, Lion Henry A. Carlock, Mississippi College faculty member, Mr. McLendon spoke of the pleasant relations that have existed between Hinds and Mississippi College, Hinds' close neighbors.

He observed that Hinds College has no ambition whatever to become a senior college, but only to fulfill its mission as a junior college.

Mr. McLendon spoke of his efforts, along with his associates on the junior college level in education, to arouse interest on the part of the foundations which are donating money to higher education and to encourage them to do something as aid for the junior colleges.

He spoke of the Kellogg Foundation's recent grant to schools of this classification, and of more aid to come from other sources, who are concerned with junior colleges.

IN CHAPEL PROGRAM

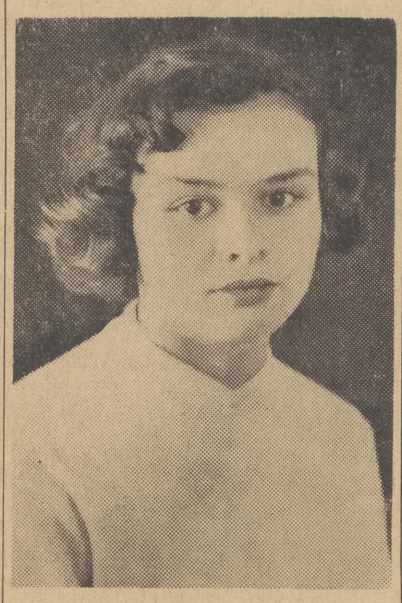
Coed From Germany Tells About Experiences In Mother Country

Ursel Brust, Hinds student from Birkenfield, Germany, spoke to the student body November 18, during the weekly assembly program.

Ursel, who was introduced by Mr. Fred Brooks, speech instructor, is living with her sister in Raymond during her visit to the United States.

Birkenfield, Ursel's birth place, has a population of about 15,000 and is located 60 miles from the French border.

She finished high school in Germany in 1956 and majored in lauguages. It was necessary for her to major in languages to enter the International Business College, located 20 miles from her hometown.



URSEL BRUST
. . . Reveals Experiences

At the college she studied English, French, German, bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, business management, and mathematics in the three years of her attendance there.

"Meeting people from different lands," says Ursel, "is the advantage of going to an international school."

Ursel began studying French when she was 10 and English when she was 12.

Shortly before finishing school Ursel applied for a visa to visit the United States to study. She arrived in the United States September 20 and after sight-seeing tours of New York and Washington, D. C., she came to Raymond, where she enrolled at Hinds.

"I must say that I like school over here a great deal better than I do back home," stated Ursel; "We do not have any activities such as football, Hi-Steppers, or anything like that. We have a very strict school."

"I have been having a wonderful time," Ursel responded; "I am thankful to Mr. McLendon, Hinds president, and all the teachers and students for the help and friendliness they are showing me."

AT MILLSAPS COLLEGE

Five Students, Speech Head To Attend Youth Congress

Five students and one faculty member will represent Hinds this week in the 12th annual Mississippi Youth Congress at Millsaps College in Jackson, December 4 and 5.

Students attending are as follows: Billy McLain, Brandon; Dan Rogers, Crystal Springs; Belinda Hill, Brandon; Dorothy Gatlin, Madison; and Dannye Hunter, Morton.

Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of Hinds speech and drama department and president of the Mississippi Speech Association, will preside over the house during the first session until the speaker of the house is elected.

Usually held in the legislative chambers of the capitol building, the conference was moved to Millsaps College due to the special session which was recently called by Governor J. P. Coleman.

According to rules set up by the Mississippi Speech Association each school represented may send five delegates and present three bills.

The Hinds delegation's three bills are the following: 1. a bill to Abolish Present Speed Limits on Highways, which will be presented by Billy McLain; 2. a bill to Establish a Chapel at Parchman, which will be presented by Dorothy Gatlin; and 3. a bill to Separate the Offices of Sheriff and Tax Collector, which will be presented by Belinda Hill.

The two day event is sponsored by the Mississippi Speech Association. Director of the congress is Dr. Clyde Reeves from Ole Miss. He will be assisted by Mr. Eddie Collins of Millsaps College.

Campus Events Underway

This week will see two events connected with Hinds come to pass, one here on the campus and the other in Jackson.

This Thursday night will be Penny Fair night at the school once again. This annual show is under the sponsorship of the Y. W. C. A. Students will have an opportunity to taste of the delicious food prepared by the choir and enjoy other booths set up by campus clubs. Later in the evening a talent show will be held in the auditorium and students will see the crowning of this year's Penny Fair king and queen. All money from this affair goes toward worthwhile over-seas charity.

On Friday and Saturday of this week Hinds will be represented by five students and one faculty member in the 12th annual Mississippi Youth Congress in Jackson. This also is a worthwhile program for it gives students a chance to see the workings of the state legislature and actually participate in a mock session of law-making.

Here's hoping both events work out well!

Sophomores Study Hamlet

"The play's the thing . . . '. When Hamlet uttered those immortal words, he probably didn't realize how much of a "thing" the play really was! You can be sure, however, that for the sophomores of Hinds Junior College, the noble prince's statement has become a practical philosophy. Yea, the sophomore literature classes are studying Hamlet and his friends.

For many of the students, "the play" is a pleasant experience; however, for just as many more, it is a miserable one. Some can't figure Shakespeare's motives for such goings-on; they feel that such study is, to quote the master himself, "much ado about nothing." For those people, this advice: Try to cultivate an appreciation for the play, simply for appreciation's sake, if for nothing else.

Chances are that the whole experience will become more enjoyable. Honest efforts toward any accomplishment usually pay rich dividends — in this case, the satisfaction of being able to say, "I appreciate Hamlet!"

Editors Welcome Criticism

Constructive criticism is a healthy thing, and we've done more than our share to criticize you — the students of Hinds Junior College.

No one is perfect, least of all the men and women of the press. Perhaps some of the greatest mistakes of modern times have been made by newspapers.

There have been newspapers that buried the wrong people in their obituary pages, newspapers that had wrong headlines, and those that gave too much emphasis to old news stories.

And what English teacher cannot find a single mistake in a newspaper?

As we've said no one is perfect!

The Hindsonian is your newspaper, Hinds students. If we aren't as unprejudiced as we should be, if we need constructive criticism, let us know. We welcome your letters and suggestions!

Defense Act Controversies On College Aid

By JEAN RODGERS

One controversy after another has been piling up on the state and national government scenes as the new year is fast approaching.

JEAN

The latest national controversy, which affects us as college students, concerns the National Defense Act. In this Act Congress appropriated $31,000,000 a year for loans to needy students for their education.

In return each student receiving a loan from the government must sign an anti-Communist affidavit along with an oath of allegiance to uphold the government of the United States.

Out of 1,370 institutions which have been participating in the program, 12 universities and colleges now refuse to continue under it. They say that the anti-Communist stipulation brings up an unnecessary suspicion of disloyalty.

Dollar Required

Each participating college under the program is required by law to provide only one dollar of their own funds for every nine dollars furnished by the Federal government for student loans.

John F. Morse, administrator of the loan fund in the office of Education in Washington, stated, "The act was passed for the benefit of needy students, not for the institutions. Wealthy institutions may well provide these benefits from other sources, but there are a number of institutions which, if they were to take the stand Harvard, Yale, and others have taken, would literally force students out of college."

Executives of some of the colleges say they don't object to the taking of the oath of allegiance by the students, but they do not want to see an anti-Communist affidavit included.

The reply to this by several senators was that to take the oath and refuse to sign the anti-Communist affidavit is a contradiction. "The students should deem it an honor to sign the document in question," stated Senator Bridges, New Hampshire Republican.

Revisions Studied

Revisions of the law are in process and there is hope of passing a new and stiffer law in the next session of Congress. Proposed amendments are repealing the existing provision and substituting clauses that would make it a felony hereafter for anyone to accept a loan under the program and then participate in Communist organizations or advocate the overthrow of our government by illegal means.

"In the subcommittee on Internal Security, we have found a pattern," said Senator Johnston, Democrat from South Carolina. "The Communists use the students within the college to further their purpose."

"If we let one such person into a college . . . he will be protected to a certain extent because the student body will say that he is attending the college because of payments he is receiving from the government of the United States, and that tends to turn suspicion away from that individual. That is the one reason I want to throw all the protections possible around those whom we assist as students in the colleges of the United States," concluded Senator Johnston.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Who's Who Winner, Central Honoree In Publication's Top Weekly Award

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Even King Louis XIV of France, with all his wealth and fame, would hang his head in disgrace if he had to rival such a list of honors as that held by Hinds' own Jimmy Bloodworth.

JIMMY BLOODWORTH
. . . Loaded With Honors

He served on the student council there for three years and represented Central at the Student Council convention in Oklahoma.

But things didn't stop there. Last year, here at Hinds, Jimmy was elected Most Neatly Dressed Boy. He was a member of the Eagle Band, and again this year is a member, listing band as his favorite subject.

This summer Jimmy took a job aboard the ship, "Topatopa", and visited five European countries—France, Germany, England, Belgium, and Holland. That's pretty good for a guy whose hobby is flying.

Meanwhile, Jimmy is taking a general course here at Hinds. He says Mississippi Southern will be his next stop.

Our hats are off to one who has added much to the life of Hinds Junior College. He'll be missed—really missed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

Dear Editor:

We at Hinds Junior College are faced with a problem. Must we allow the flag of our country to lay on the shelf to gather dust just because the flag pole is broken and the school officials haven't found time to fix it? Must we be known as the junior college with a flag pole, but no flag?

This American Flag in question was given to the school by the parents of a former graduate who died in the war for his country and his flag. And we won't even display this flag for all to see. Maybe we're trying to hide this flag?

Signed,
Johnny Sumrall

* * *

Dear Johnny:

We, the editors, have recognized this need also.

Last year we made inquiries at President McLendon's office. We found him more than willing, but on examining the flag pole we found it was not workable. Parts were then requisitioned, but somehow the year slipped by without the colors flying over Hinds.

This fall, as school reopened, we began our crusade again. The Circle K decided to "get the ball rolling", but as of yet haven't put the flag up.

The necessary equipment is available, or can be purchased, a ladder may be found at the maintenance building, and the flag is in the president's office.

The pole will have to be fixed, and the flag will have to be put up each morning and taken down each evening. It's a grand old flag, needs care, and won't stand insult. Maybe it's too proud to ask for student help to have it restored to its rightful place.

Reporter Gets Inside Dope On College's Flying School

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

As an added attraction to a feature this air-anxious Hindsonian staff writer recently took a spin in Hinds' Piper Super Cruiser, airplane owned by Hinds Junior College and flown by Mr. Kennis Bryant at the John Bell Williams Airport.

It was the first airplane ride for the excited reporter tightly strapped in the back seat of the three - passenger flying machine, and as the nose of the plane left the 4000 foot runway, a slight flock of butterflies attacked.

JOAN

Once the cruiser reached its altitude, though, a kinda-nervous reporter calmed down and glanced out at the city below, which now appeared a village of little people.

It was fun, and the ride back was much shorter than the ride up had been. In fact, the plane was circling the airport before the passenger realized that it was nearing a landing.

The airport, 640-acres of land owned and operated by Hinds Junior College, is headquarters for Hinds' flying school, which offers a course in both flying and airplane mechanics. Mr. Kennis Bryant, who took up flying about 30 years ago just because he wanted to fly, has served as flying instructor for the past nine years.

Old Hand At Flying

Mr. Bryant obtained his instructor's license at Parks Air College in St. Louis in 1930, but did not begin teaching until about 10 years ago.

This year, for the first time in the history of the airport, a girl is taking flying lessons. She is Jessie Marie Cowan, of Natchez, who is working for a private license.

To obtain a private license one must complete from 40 to 45 hours of training, including 15 hours of cross-country flying. For a commercial license, one must complete 200 hours of training, 50 hours of that being cross-country flying.

Since Hinds has owned the cruiser, it has been flown the equivalent of six trips around the earth at the equator. It cruises at a speed of about 110 miles per hour with a maximum speed of 130 miles per hour.

It usually flies at an altitude of from five thousand to seven thousand feet, but on some cross-country flights, it flies at an altitude of about ten thousand feet. It cannot go beyond this altitude without a supply of oxygen.

Set To Go Up

Mr. Bryant, anxious to see just how high he can fly the plane, has flown as high as 15,000 feet, and has plans for rigging an oxygen tank and mask and going 20,000 feet, just a little short of four miles.

Mr. Bryant says that the best airplane has not been built yet. Mississippi State University is working on one now that starts much slower than others, but cruises about three times as fast and can land anywhere.

HONOR ROLL CORRECTION

In the last issue of the Hindsonian a news item listing mid-semester honor students failed to name three students making A's and B's—G. B. Shields, Tutwiler; Stanley Strickland, Jackson; and Joe Stephenson, Raymond.

The Hindsonian staff regrets this error.

MRA, WAA Plan Christmas Dance In New Girls' Gym

A Christmas ball is being sponsored by the Men's Recreation Association and the Women's Athletic Association on Friday, December 11 in the gym.

The dance will last from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. Music will be by the Red Counts. The dance is semi-formal.

There will be no tickets sold at the door for this dance, but advance tickets are available at the grill and will be sold also in the dormitories.

The ticket committee is as follows: Miss Sara Nell Taylor, chairman; Mr. T. T. Beemon, Miss Jean Packard, Johnny Carter, Alice Shivers; Betty Jean Robbins, J. C. Purvis, and Bill Lucas.

Letter Policy

Members of the student body and faculty are invited to write letters to the editors in compliance with the following rules:

Letters must not exceed 250 words in length and must be signed with complete name.

Letters must be addressed to the editors. No letters addressed to individual members of the Hindsonian staff will be printed.

They will be printed without change except in the case of potentially libelous material.

The Hindsonian reserves the right to reject any letter because of content or character.

YOUTH EXCHANGE DELEGATE

Foreign Student To Address IRC Group In Program This Evening

Manfred Bischoff, 17-year old student from Germany, is the guest speaker tonight at 7:00 at the Hinds IRC meeting in Room 9 of the academic building.

In America on the International Christian Youth Exchange program, the young student arrived four months ago from the Black Forest Region of Germany, and he is now at Murrah High School, Jackson.

He has studied English for a little over four years and he speaks it well with a charming accent.

"Studying in a different language is a little difficult", Manfred says, but added, "I translate the most difficult lessons into German so I can remember them, then I put them back into English for my exams."

As to his first impression of the United States, he said that "It's so big! Seeing the skyline in New York was like a dream that has suddenly become a reality".

While in Jackson Manfred is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Parker, 4012 North East Drive. The Parkers' son, Harry, who was a Provine High student last year, is now studying in Marl, Germany.

The Hinds IRC invites all interested students of the campus to share with them tonight the program at 7 o'clock.

Hinds Hi-Stepper Instructor Helps MSD's Pep Squad

The Mississippi School for the Deaf's pep squad and Superintendent R. A. Brown visited Hinds Junior College November 20 to see the Hi-steppers in action and for Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Stepper Instructor, to instruct the pep squad.

They had lunch in the campus cafeteria. After lunch the Hi-steppers gave a demonstration of some of their routines.

The Mississippi School for the Deaf's pep squad put out a routine and Mrs. Bee said she was amazed at the group's performance. Instead of using music, Mrs. Bee used a bass drum so they could hear the vibrations of the drum.

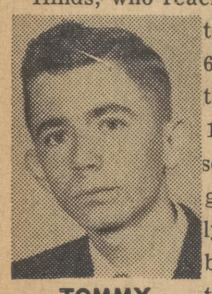
Cagers Collect Initial Trophy

By TOMMY NANCE

Receiving their first athletic trophy of the current campaign, the Hinds Eagle cagers edged the East Central Warriors 75-74 in the finals of the Holmes Holiday Tournament.

Hinds, who reached the finals by topping Holmes, 61-57, marked its third win of the 1959 basketball season in as many games. Previously, the Eagles had beaten East Central, 84-81, in the formal opening of the new Pelahatchie gymnasium.



TOMMY

Pelahatchie's own high school product, Joe Watson, led the Hinds five in the feature game of a cage tripleheader with 23 points while Larry Dowdy followed closely with 21. In two other games played in connection with dedication ceremonies, the Pelahatchie Chiefs tore into the Lions of Raleigh to the tune of 90-49, and the Forest Hill girls opened the night with a 37-29 victory over the Pelahatchie lassies.

Dowdy Paces Eagles

Larry Dowdy, chipping in 19 points, led the Eagle attack against the Holmes Bulldogs in the opening round of the pre-Thanksgiving tourney at Goodman.

From the beginning of the game, neither team managed more than a six point margin. Ahead 57-55 in the last few minutes, Dowdy hit two free throws and followed up with a goal to put the Eagles out of danger.

East Central and Sunflower battled down to the wire until the last few minutes of the game when the Warriors gained a five point edge on Sunflower and put the game on ice for East Central. Meeting in the consolation game of the tournament were Holmes and Sunflower, who lost their first game. Holmes had little trouble with the Trojans as they sailed to a 90-71 victory.

Bowl Lineups

The football season is almost over and the bowl outlook is getting clearer and clearer. With a schedule of 25 games extending from December 28 through January 10, six are set for New Year's day.

In Mississippi's own Hospitality Bowl, we see Pearl River Wildcats of Poplarville vying with Henderson Junior College of Athens, Tex. Presbyterian and Middle Tennessee State will battle in this year's Tangerine Bowl. In the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex., North Texas State and New Mexico State will clash.

The newly formed Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, Texas, will pit Texas Christian University against Clemson. Arkansas and Georgia Tech will form the opposition in the Gator Bowl, which will be played on Dec. 26.

Top Bowls

Getting down to the top four bowls, the Rose Bowl will have Big Ten champion, Wisconsin going against Washington, the West Coast choice. New Orleans' Sugar Bowl will show off its defending champion, L.S.U. which defeated Clemson last year, 7-0, and Mississippi, who was previously beaten by the Tigers earlier in the year, 7-3.

Texas will be host team in this year's Cotton Bowl when they face Syracuse, the only undefeated, untied team in the nation. Missouri, the Big Eight's representative in the Orange Bowl, will battle the University of Georgia in Miami, Fla., on New Year's day. It's a little too early to begin our predictions but you can believe each and every one of the bowl games will be a top battle.

"Toy" Bowl Planned

The annual Toy Bowl, matching thee Jackson Boys Club and th the Jackson Boys Club and the Brookhaven Pee Wee Panthers, has been set for Saturday, December 5 at 2 p.m. in Jackson's Memorial Stadium. The game, sponsored by the North Jackson Exchange Club and the United States Marine Corps Reserve, is a drive to help the needy children in the Jackson Area to have a Merry Christmas.

Christmas is a time to give toys to tots, so fans are urged to support your community "Toys For Tots" drive and attend the Toy Bowl. Tickets will be $.50 for adults and $.10 for children under 12 years of age.

Plans Set For Jackson Stadium

During the final meeting of the Jackson Touchdown Club, a resolution favoring proposed renovations to Hinds County Memorial Stadium was displayed by Arthur Miller of Michael Baker Jr. Engineering Company.

The renovation which could be "started next year and completed year after next" if approved is a project of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce and states that every seat in the stadium would be torn down and replaced and a new modern lighting system would be installed behind the seats.

Other changes that would be made are a three level press box, including a television deck on the third level with the possibility of elevators being installed; a second player entrance and improved ventilation; and an enlarged parking area.

Miller explained the "feasibility study" which his company had made concerning the proposed 35,000 seat stadium which would be constructed over the present edifice and would cost $1,200,000 and could be explained later to house 75,000 fans, if desired.

SEC Leads All-American Team

The Southeastern Conference dominated the All-American eleven this year with four players. The East donated three, while the Mid-West and West finished with two each.

Chosen as the finest 11 collegiate players in the land by the 550 coaches who are members of the association were:

Ends — Chris Burford, Stanford and Bill Carpenter, Army.

Tackles—Don Floyd, Texas Christian and Dan Lanphear, Wisconsin.

Guards—Zeke Smith, Auburn and Roger Davis, Syracuse.

Center—Max Baughan, Georgia Tech.

Quarterback—Richie Lucas, Penn State.

Halfbacks—Billy Cannon, Louisiana State and Ron Burton, Northwestern.

Fullback—Charles Flowers, Mississippi.

Charley Conerly Honored

One of Mississippi's all time football greats, Charles Conerly, was honored Sunday in pre-game ceremonies in New York's Yankee Stadium. Conerly, a veteran of 12 12 years standing with the Giants, comes from Clarksdale, and got his fotball experience at Ole Miss.

During the Charlie Conerly Appreciation Day ceremonies, Conerly receives an estimated $25,000 in gifts, including a Cadillac, a trip to Europe, and a Corvette for his wife Perian, from Dumas Milner.

Eagle 5 Entertains Jones Quintet In First Home Battle Of Campaign

Eagle Quint Looks For 5th Straight Cage Decision

By TOMMY NANCE

Coach Troy Ricks and his Hinds Eagles entertained the Jones Bobcats in their first home battle of the basketball season next Tuesday night in the Eagle gym.

Still indefinite about his starting line-up, Ricks has opened with a different quintet on each occasion, and even now only two positions appear to be settled. Tommy Thompson, 6-5 center from Winnsboro, La., and Larry Oowdy, 6-4 returning forward from Kevil, Kentucky are both sure starters for this encounter.

Battling for the opening guard slots are five candidates, Billy Rhodes and Joe Watson, both from Pelahatchie; Lewis Vaughn and Gerald Austin, both from Forest Hill; and Norman Pace, Monroe, La. All five are capable performers and have plenty of speed.

The remaining forward position will be filled by Dean Liles, top rebounder from Raymond, or Bobby Coglan, jump-shot artist from Pelahatchie.

The Eagles' next foe will be the Mississippi State freshman in a preliminary game before the Mississippi State-Louisiana Tech battle in the Jackson Municipal Auditorium, December 9 at 6:30 p.m.

Circle K Accepts Challenge To Play In Football Tussle

The Hinds Junior College Circle K last week accepted a challenge from the Mississippi College Circle K to play a football game in Clinton on Saturday, December 12 at 2:00 p.m.

The president of Mississippi College's Circle K and two of their members came to the Hinds Circle K meeting last Thursday to extend the challenge.

Both teams are to use regular equipment supplied by the school and scoring and playing will be according to that of the college conference. Members of the two opposing teams will consist only of Circle K members who have not played college ball.

According to Billy McLain, president of the Hinds Circle K, the group is hard at work practicing anl invites all students to attend the game.

Mr. R. C. Benton, Hinds recreational director, will coach the group.

Members Sponsor Hayride At Hinds For 60 Students

The Men's Recreational Association and the Women's Athletic Associaton sponsored a pre-Thanksgiving hayride last Tuesday night for all members and their dates.

A party of 60 students enjoyed a wiener roast and dance at the Hinds Junior College lodge.

The students packed the hay-filled truck and journeyed over to the lake ,where they feasted on hot dogs and danced to the music furnished by popular recording stars on records. After eating and dancing, all packed back on the truck and toured Raymond in the light of the moon.

Ricks' Eagles Win 4th Straight Game Over Sunflower 5

The Hinds Eagles marked their fourth win of the season last night when they toppled the Sunflower Trojans, 91-80, in their first regular play of the campaign.

Never behind throughout the game, the Eagles were tied but once and held a 44138 margin at halftime. Pacing Hinds were four top cagers, Tommy Thompson, with 28 points, followed by Larry Dowdy, Norman Pace, and Joe Watson with 14, 13, and 12 points respectively.

Other scorers for the Eagles were Gerald Austin, seven, Bobby Coglan and Lewis Vaughn, both with six, Billy Rhodes, three, and Dean Liles, two.

The losing Trojans were led by forward Bill Callison with 21 points and guard Charles Fitts, who tallied 20.

Former Hinds Student Editor Vies For Position On "Student Printz"

Wayne Trotter, a former Hinds student and two year editor of the Hindsonian, is among a field of four trying out for the position of news editor on the Student Printz, weekly publication of Mississippi Southern College.

Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Trotter, Rt. 5, Jackson, graduated as valedictorian of his class at Byram High School after serving as business manager of the school paper, "Bulldog Barks."

Prior to coming to Southern he served for two years as editor in chief of the Hindsonian, during which time the paper received top ratings. He had three of his editorials reprinted in the Jackson Daily News and one commented on in an editorial "There is Hope for Youth".

Three other former junior college newspaper editors are also aspiring to fill the position of news editor on the Printz staff, which was recently vacated by Elizabeth Wagner, New Orleans, who graduated. The three are as follows: Bennett Easterling, Runnelstown (Jones Junior College); Frances Barnes, Oak Vale (Pearl River Junior College); and Don Stringer, Pascagoula (Perkingston Junior College).

Hinds Opens Programs On Yule Season

Observance of the Christmas season on the Hinds Junior College campus was begun last Wednesday evening with the Christmas vesper service of organ and brass, under the direction of Prof. John P. Adams, head of the organ department.

The following program was given: Trumpet Voluntary in D major (Purcell) Larry McWilliams, trumpet, Mr. Adams, organ; two chorale preludes on 'Nun Komm der Heiden Heiland' (Saviour of the Heathen, Come) (Bach) Marshall Gurley, organ (Robert Crane) Randal Rusk, organ; 'Christe, du Lamm Gottes' (Lamb of God, Our Saviour) (Bach) Randal Rusk, organ; Trumpet Tune in C major (Purcell) Larry McWilliams, trumpet, Mr. Adams, organ.

Other observances marking the season have been scheduled as follows.

A faculty club coffee, tomorrow evening, 6:30-8:30 in the living room of the home economics building will be sponsored by Miss Lula Mae Fowler, club president, and Mr. William C. Oakes and Mrs. Margaret Kimball, co-chairmen of recreation.

A campus-wide dance, under the leadership of the men's and women's recreation associations, is scheduled for Friday night of this week in the new physical education building for women.

The Christmas dinner will be served in the college cafeteria next Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. For this, the vocational-technical school will furnish decorations, and the college Baptist Student Union will serve as hosts and hostesses.

Following the dinner, the college choir, under the direction of Prof. J. Leslie Reeves, will present at 8 p.m. in the main auditorium, "Christmas in Carols."

Thursday evening, December 17, Mr. and Mrs. Irl Dean Rhodes will entertain the Hindsonian staff in their home in McLaurin Heights.

Billy McLain Wins Campus Title; Chapman, Ellis In Second Primary

Hinds Junior College students elected sophomore class president Billy McLain, of Brandon, Mr. HJC in yesterday's first primary balloting, but chose to take a "second look" in the selection of Miss HJC.

Seeking the highest award that can be bestowed by the students are Nancy Ruth Chapman, sophomore class treasurer and co-editor of the Hindsonian, and Kareemie Ellis, homecoming queen and Eagle cheerleader.

Chapman, a product of Raymond, and Ellis, hailing from Port Gibson, head tomorrow's Who's Who second primary run-off ticket.

First Primary Ballot

Others elected to position on the first primary ballot were Nancy Chapman as Girl Most Likely to Succeed; Billy McLain as Boy Most Likely to Succeed; Mickey Coker, Pearl, Most Handsome Boy; Billy Hunter, Jackson, Most Courteous Boy; Martha Warnock, Satartia, and Jimmy Shirley, Yazoo City, Cutest Couple; and Corkey Lyles, Jackson, Greenest Freshman.

In the second primary run-off for Most Beautiful are Sue Bell, Forest Hill, and Nancy McKay, Brandon. Beebe Hilton, Jackson, and Jackie Melsheimer, Vicksburg, garnered sufficient votes to be in the final showdown for Most Popular Girl honors.

The duel for the Most Intellectual Girl is between Ouida Henderson, Jackson, and Lenda Herrington, Raymond.

Two young ladies, Dot Brock and Nancy Chapman, both of Raymond, vie for the Most Courteous spot in the contest. Carolyn Horton, Byram, and Bertha Wynn, Flowood, remain in the feminine encounter for the Wittiest Girl award.

The Most Dependable Girl will be Dot Brock or Nancy Chapman.

Girls Vie

Three girls are vieing for the Most Neatly Dressed Girl on the campus. They are Nancy Goodkin, Jackson; Sue Pittman, Belzoni; and Pat Widenhouse, Jackson.

The two female aspirants for Friendliest Girl are Kareemie Ellis and Jackie Melsheimer. Three girls—one freshman and two sophomores—are pitted in the Best Athlete position. Martha Pharr, Vicksburg; Betty Jean Robbins, Pelahatchie; and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, are still in the race.

The girls' race for Campus Favorites boasts eight hopefuls.

They are as follows: Martha Arrington, Bruce; Sue Bell, Nancy Chapman, Kareemie Ellis, Beebe Hilton, Jackie Melsheimer, Carolyn Middleton, Memphis; and Martha Warnock.

In the balloting for the Wittiest Boy are Tommy Guilbert, Vicksburg, and K. L. Smith, Jackson. The names of three boys claim the spots in the Most Dependable Boy. David Ethridge, Vicksburg; Byrle Kynerd, Raymond; and Albert Richardson, Delta City, comprise the trio.

The Most Intellectual race features Gray McLain, Jackson; and Davis Llenos, Texas City, Texas. Byrle Kynerd and David Llenos are running for the Best Boy Athlete.

Boys who gathered sufficient votes for the run-off in the Most Neatly-Dressed are Jimmy Bloodworth, Jackson; Bobby Hall, Canton; and Davis Llenos.

Friendliest honors go to Jimmy Bloodworth and Tommy Thompson, Winnsboro, La.

The second primary is slated to open at 8 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

A student is able to win only three Who's Who honors. Three is a limit.

Nancy McKay, Mickey Coker Reign In Hinds Penny Fair Festivities

Nancy McKay, Brandon, and Mickey Coker, Pearl, were crowned queen and king of the 1959 Penny Fair at Hinds Junior College Thursday night at 6:30.

At the playing of the theme melody, "Pennies From Heaven", by the college orchestra, the stage curtains opened on a background of fluffy blue clouds (angel hair) splashed with drifts of giant sized "pennies"; and across the stage, the red velvet setting for the throne chairs ornamented by silhouettes of golden crown and scepter.

Organ music for the royal processional was played by Dorothy Ray Brock. Sue Bell and Byrle Kynerd were the royal attendants.

Irl Dean Rhodes welcomed the members of the court, placed the crowns, and served as master of ceremonies for the floor show which followed the coronation.

The show consisted of costume dances, choral numbers, skits, twirling with fire batons, piano, and orchestra numbers.

Library Heads To Change Holiday Book Card Slate

The Hinds Junior College Library announces that books may be checked out through the Christmas holidays provided they are checked out or renewed on or after December 16.

This privilege will be extended to students who do not have books currently overdue. All books not checked out for the holiday period will be due on or before December 17.

Campus Girls Set To Get Christmas 'Cappy Friends'

"Cappy friends" will be chosen tonight and tomorrow by dormitory girls in accordance with a custom of long standing on the Hinds campus, sponsored by the Y.W.C.A.

This program will be climaxed by the activities around the dormitory Christmas trees, late Thursday night, December 17, when Cappy friends' names will be revealed.

Raymond Student To Compete For National Honors

The same Hinds Junior College student who first attracted attention by winning the Hinds County Farm Bureau talent contest this fall will leave Saturday morning to try his luck in the national competition.

Bill Matthews, a freshman from Raymond, will board the City of New Orleans early Saturday enroute Chicago and the National Farm Bureau Convention. This trip is his award for copping first place honors in the Mississippi contest.

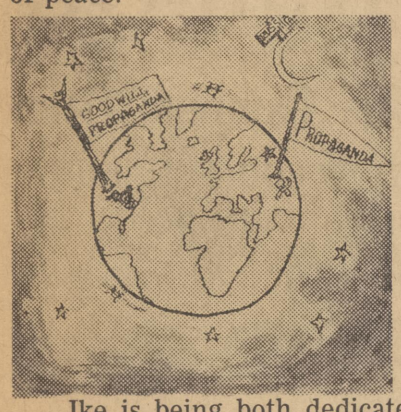
Needed: A World Salesman

In the midst of the cold war the two major world rivals, Russia and the United States, are taking time out for a propaganda move with good will tours.

The recent travels of President Eisenhower and Mr. Kruschev leave room for much speculation. Both seem to be international salesmen trying to gain support with their words of peace.



Ike, in his much publicized tour, is breaking with tradition. Diplomatic policy in the past has been to let the minor power visit the major power, but times have changed; and to ease tension and strengthen allegiances, the president has seen fit to take his foreign policy down a step and place it on an informal basis.

Ike is being both dedicated and practical by having his tours at this time. He is dedicated in trying to ease tension and further peaceful co-existence now before the U. S. takes time out next year for a national election. At the same time he is practical, for he knows all favorable publicity will help to "groom" the Republicans for a return to the White House.

The real question boils down to the following: "What real long range good has come out of the tours and talks?"

While there have been no strong agreements or offensive blocks, tension has, certainly, been eased and foreign heads of state have had a chance to understand Ike's policy.

* * *

Fear brings about action! Mr. Kruschev has seen the effects of this new U. S. policy and has been doing his bit to further his propaganda also. After his visit to the United States, he went to a diplomatic meet in Red China and is now in Poland on a visit.

Questions have been aroused lately concerning differences between Russia and Red China and words of a possible break have a solid basis in fact.

But we must not underestimate the salesmanship of Mr. K. He is a powerful man and his words of peace seem almost reasonable to many small powers.

* * *

The flags are up! — Propaganda and good will are the words. Who will prove the more effective salesman, Russia or the United States?

Dirty News Splashes Front Pages

Just when things are beginning to quiet down about Senate probes of the quiz show rigs, comes word that investigations have turned up payola fixes.

The payola concerns certain disc-jockeys who have received money to play up record companies and individual recording stars.

Is this another vote getting move on the part of some of next year's office seekers? Where do you draw the line between something moral and something legal? And is it always justifiable to slander someone's name even when they are in the wrong?

These are questions which must be analyzed for the full picture. However you feel about these questions, one thing's sure, the final outcome of bringing these stories to the front pages of our newspapers and magazines may have caused more harm than good!

State Receives Bad Publicity With Lynchings

By JEAN RODGERS

Mississippi has received a great deal of bad publicity because of the lynchings which have taken place within the state in recent years.

JEAN

Everything that happens in Mississippi against a member of the Negro race is played up nationwide. Everyone soon learns of any disturbances among men of different races. Mississippi has been referred to as the 'lynching state'.

Because Mississippi stands for segregation, it has received much unkind publicity as to its so-called unfairness to the Negro. If one observes closely, it is evident that the white people of Mississippi are trying to help the Negro increase his social standing by giving him many opportunities that the average Negro could not acquire by himself.

The crime rate in Mississippi is one of the lowest in the nation. When people of other states want to ridicule Mississippi, they should first take a short inventory of their own state before they try to improve ours.

As Mississipians we should be proud of our state and what it stands for, because it is ours.

Pretty Raymond Lass Possesses Knack For Winning Beauty Titles

By CHARLOTTE PARKER

Another Miss America for Mississippi? This could be true, for this pretty sophomore seems to have a knack for winning beauty contests.

LOU ANN CARTER
With Personality Plus

Lou Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Carter of Raymond, is a graduate of Hinds High School.

During her senior year, the green-eyed, 5' 9" sophomore was selected as Most Beautiful to start her on her way. She reigned as Prep All-American Football Queen in Memphis and was selected as Miss Teen-Age of Mississippi. She was also an All-State Basketball player.

As a freshman last year, she was alternate in the Miss Ski Queen contest. This year the prancing Hi-Stepper was Raymond's entry in the Miss Travel Queen contest.

Lou Ann is majoring in secretarial science and plans to do secretarial work after finishing at Hinds.

May the Hindsonian take this opportunity to wish Lou Ann the best of everything in the future.

Governor J. P. Coleman issued a statement apparently in retaliation to the statements made that he had partitioned the legislature to give special attention to certain items up for legislation. The statement made by Coleman was as follows "I have not asked this special session of the legislature to do anything for J. P. Coleman." He did admit, however, that he had appealed for dormitory space at Ellisville, and for better accommodations in our overcrowded senior colleges.

According to an estimate released by the Census Bureau on Monday of this week, population has dropped in Mississippi over one per cent since the last official account in 1950. As a result of the changes since 1950, Mississippi has dropped in population rank from 26th to 28th, falling behind South Carolina and Connecticut. Most of the loss has been due to migration from the state, according to some officials.

Louisiana will go to the polls on January 9 to vote in the second primary runoff of her gubernatorial election. Voters will have to choose between a tireless New Orleans mayor, and a former singing cowboy star for governor. DeLesseps Morrison and Jimmie Davis will be the second primary candidates. For the first time since the state's Huey reign, two anti-Long leaders entered the gubernatorial runoff.

Reading Instructor Attends Confab On TCU Campus In Lone Star State

Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Hinds' reading instructor, returned Saturday from Fort Worth, Texas, where she attended the ninth annual Reading Conference at Texas Christian University.

Miss Taylor was one of four Mississippi teachers who attended the conference for colleges and adults. Dr. Ralph Staiger, professor at Mississippi Southern College and a member of the conference board also represented Mississippi.

"How Not To Teach Vocabulary," "Teaching Vocabulary to Mature Students," "Materials, Techniques, and Procedures," "Research in Reading," and "Intergrating the Reading Program Into the Curricula" were some of the interesting topics discussed. Mr. Warren Fortenberry, former reading instructor at Hinds and present reading instructor at Florida State University, lead a discussion titled, "Counseling in Reading Programs."

The main event of the convention was the presentation of "sophisticants," consisting of nationally known authors of reading textbooks and workbooks. These authors emphasized the opportunities open in the field of reading, in both the diagnostic phase and the teaching phase.

Phi Theta Kappa Entertains Group

The Gamba Lambda chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa entertained the freshman honor roll students with a coke party in the Women's gymnasium on Friday of last week.

Beebe Hilton and Gray McLain greeted the students at the door, and issued name tags to wear during the get-acquainted session. Ouida Henderson, the organization's president, welcomed the guests, and commended each for his outstanding work.

Lamplighters Club Promotes Campus Door Decorations

Door decorations, promoted by the Lamplighters Club, home economics organization, are now being arranged by residents of Main and Westside dormitories for girls. The deadline for competition has been set for December 14, when best decorations will be named, for which prizes will be awarded by the Lamplighters.

Decorations best revealing the spirit of Christmas, not necessarily the most expensive or the most colorful, will win top places, according to Kareemie Ellis, chairman of door decorations. A faculty committee will judge the decorations in the evening of December 14.

Miss Fleta Whitaker, head of the home economics department, is faculty sponsor of the Lamplighters Club.

Home Economics Department Sponsors Fall Fashion Show On Wednesday, December 15

A showing of fall fashions will be open to the public in the home economics department in the evening of December 15.

At this time the classes in sewing will model the costumes they have completed this semester.

Business Leaders Announce 3 Events For Coming Weeks

Phi Beta Lambda president Jerry Horack announced three events for the coming weeks and told of the group's progress thus far this semester, after this past Friday's meeting.

The club will have a candy rummage sale on December 9 and 16 in the recreation hall between 3:30 p.m. and 5 p.m.

A field trip has been planned to stimulate business interest in members. The group will go to Louisville, Miss. on December 10 to visit the Louisville Lumber Company. A bus will leave the campus from in front of the administration building at 9:00 a.m. and will return the same evening at about 3:30 p.m.

An honorary membership will be bestowed upon Miss Ursel Brust, Hinds student from Germany, during initiation ceremonies on Dec. 15 at the Raymond Lake Lodge.

Wesley Foundation Presents Program

The Hinds Junior College Wesley Foundation will have a special Christmas program next Monday evening, December 14th, at 6:15 p.m.

On this final meeting date before Christmas holidays Wesley will have as its special guests the Rev. Aubrey Smith, pastor of First Methodist Church in Yazoo City. The entire program will center around the spiritual interpretation of the event of Christmas.

All local Methodist students are cordially invited to be present for this meeting which will be held in the Music Auditorium. Refreshments will be served the group at the close of the program.

2 Students Win 'Superior Certificates' At Youth Meet

Two "superior certificates" were awarded to Hinds Junior College students at the 12th annual Mississippi Youth Congress, sponsored by the Mississippi Speech Association last Friday and Saturday at Millsaps College, Jackson.

Dot Gatlin received a certificate for authoring a superior bill. Billy McLain was awarded superior rating for a prepared speech. Dannye Hunter gave a majority report for his committee.

Other students who participated in the meeting were Dan Rogers and Belinda Hill.

The congress was composed of 50 college students making up the "Senate," and 50 high school students composing the House of Representatives.

Prof. Fred Brooks, president of the Mississippi Speech Association, who accompanied the Hinds delegation, served as chairman of the House while the speaker was elected as judge for delegates of the House, and as one of the three judges for all the bills presented. He also attended the meeting of the junior college speech festival planning committee Saturday.

Local Music Group Visits Louisiana State University

Dorothy Brock, Martin Bittick, Bettye Smythe, Bill Matthews, and June Burt, accompanied by their music instructors, Mr. John P. Adams, Miss Jean Packard, and Mr. J. Leslie Reeves visited at Louisiana State University Saturday.

The students met members of the music staff, and had the opportunity of performing for some of these.

Dorothy, Martin, and Mr. Adams were guests for coffee in the home of Christian Jordan, professor of piano and teacher of a number of Hinds Junior College persons, namely, Mr. Adams, Miss Maudine Thrash, Jessie Clair McLendon, Glenda Rush, and James Furlow.

Plans were worked out for a visit to the campus on Jan. 11 by Loren Davidson, professor of voice, teacher of Miss Packard. On that day Mr. Davidson will hear Hinds voice students sing individually, and he will conduct the college choir. He will also show a film on voice production.

Lawrence Speaks To Hinds Junior Agriculture Club

Dr. John Lawrence, a prominent Jackson vetinarian, recently spoke to the Hinds Agriculture Club on the subject of job opportunities in the field of vetinary medicine.

The Agriculture Club also made plans for special projects to be completed during the remainder of the school year.

President of the club is Billy Denson of Lena, Miss., and sponsor of the club is Mr. W. M. McKinzie, head of the Hinds Agricultural department.

2 State Colleges Win Bowls

By TOMMY NANCE

Two Mississippi Colleges came up with bowl wins over this past weekend. Delta State College, making their first bowl appearance in the history of the school, opened the second half with a 95-yard touchdown scamper on the kickoff by halfback James Habbert, and the Statesmen later later went on to register 13 more points in the third period to humiliate the East Central, Oklahoma, State College Tigers 10-0 in the second annual Christmas Festival Bowl in Natchitoches, La.

TOMMY

Winning their second straight Hospitality Bowl game, the Pearl River Wildcats, of Poplarville, trounced the Henderson County Cardinals of Athens, Texas, 30-0. Bobby Weaver, 171-pound sophomore quarterback from Childerburg, Ala., completed four touchdown passes to lead the Wildcats in scoring on a rainy, cold day in Gulfport.

SYRACUSE RATES NUMBER ONE

After last week's victory over UCLA, the Syracuse Orangemen deserve to win the national football title. Belting the Californians 36-8, the Orange finished the season unbeaten and untied in 10 games for the first time in 71 years of intercollegiate football to remain the only major unbeaten, untied college in the nation.

The Orange team got off to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter, then added another touchdown in the second period to lead 21-8 at halftime. The third quarter was held scorless with U.C.L.A. threatening all through the period. Fifteen points were scored in the fourth and final period, all going to Syracuse.

Congratulations again to the Syracuse eleven on winning their first National Football Championship.

Sugar Bowl Rematch Top Game

Gene Kirby, Dizzy Dean's Baseball Game of the Week producer, said that the Ole Miss-LSU rematch has caught the fancy of America and it will be easily the "Bowl Game of the Day," with the number two and three ranking teams in the nation playing.

in the same bowl, how could another bowl have picked as two equal of teams as the Sugar Bowl officials did for this upcoming New Year's Day classic?

Rice Trophy Available

The win over UCLA for Syracuse clinched the National Football Title for the Orange but the Grantland Rice National Championship trophy which is presented by Look Magazine to the top team in the country, after the bowl games are played, may still go to either Ole Miss or the LSU Tigers.

A combination of a Texas win over the Orangemen in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas and an Ole Miss win over the Bengals in the Sugar Bowl would almost surely give the Rebels this high honor. The same goes for LSU, if the Tigers win over the Rebels again and a Syracuse loss on New Year's day, the Baton Rouge Bengals would gain this top honor.

During the recent Look All-American banquets up in New York, Billy Cannon and Charlie Flowers posed for many pictures. One of them happened to be a gag shot showing Flowers dealing Cannon a solid elbow to the mouth.

Circle K Club Vies With Choctaws In Saturday's Game

The Hinds Junior College Circle K members are readying for their clash with the Mississippi College Circle K team in Clinton this Saturday at 2 p. m.

Both teams, which are to use regular equipment supplied by the school, have been working hard for the past two weeks in order to be ready for this inter-school battle. Coach Bill Templeton has been working with the Hinds boys so that they may be better prepared for Saturday's game.

Circle K members who will participate are as follows: Ken Jones, lineman; Perk Richardson, lineman; Johnny Nall, halfback; Dale Stogner, quarterback; Chris Lewis, lineman; G. B. Shields, center; Jimmy Cressman, halfback; Clark McNair, lineman.

Eugene Harlow, fullback; Dave Gover, lineman; Larry Watters, lineman; Don Sheffield, back; Billy McLain, lineman, and Howard Wood, lineman. All students are invited to attend the game.

Hinds Cagers Meet State Frosh In Duel Tonite At City Auditorium

Mississippi State, Louisiana Tech Crash In Night-Cap Feature Battle

The Hinds Junior College Eagles and the Mississippi State freshmen lock horns tonight preceding the varsity encounter between the Mississippi State Maroons and Louisiana Tech Bulldogs in Jackson's City Auditorium at 6:15 p. m.

Mississippi State, forming the toughest opponents yet to face the Eagles, will start off with guards Mack Whyte (6' 4") of Jackson and W. D. Stroud (6' 1") of Forest; center Bobby Shows (6' 7") from Brookhaven; and forwards Joe Gold (6' 4") of Benton, Kentucky, and Leland Mitchell (6' 4") from Kiln.

Coach Troy Ricks' cagers, winners of the south division and overall runnerup of the state junior college loop last season, have shown a well-balanced versatile attack in their first five games. Starting for Hinds in this sixth game of the season will be Tommy Thompson at center, Larry Dowdy and Norman Pace at the forward slots, and Joe Watson and Gerald Austin at the guard positions.

Mississippi State's frosh coach, Jerry Simmons, feels that he has one of the strongest yearling teams ever assembled at MSU, and he is trying to build the first year men into outstanding cagers for varsity use in years to come.

Simmons states that Hinds should be one of their toughest opponents of the season but State carries the favorite role.

The defending Southeastern Conference basketball champs, Mississippi State University, clash with the rugged Louisiana Tech quintet in the varsity game of the big twinbill in Jackson tonight at 8 p. m.

Ricks' Eagles Check Jones Bobcats For 5th Consecutive Hardwood Win

The Hinds Eagles, victorious in their first four starts, picked up their fifth straight win last night over the Jones Bobcats by a narrow 54-53 score.

A nick and tuck battle all the way, Hinds pulled it out of the fire when Lewis Vaughn tipped in two free shots in the last 30 seconds to give the Eagles their win.

After Vaughn's two points, the Bobcats threatened again when they went down court but only to have the ball tied by Vaughn and Joey Powell. Lewis took the jump and Gerald Austin pounced on the ball and was on his way to another two-pointer when the final bell sounded.

Leading the Eagles all the way was Larry Dowdy, who tallied 10 points, followed by Austin, with nine, and Tommy Thompson and Billy Rhodes, both with eight. Taking scoring honors for Jones were Wiley Wade and Jimmy Graves, with 14 and 13 points respectively.

Merry Christmas Happy New Year

Christmas Time Brings Belief To Reality

(AN EDITORIAL)

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." (Luke 2, 14).

This is the age old story of the nativity of Jesus Christ told again . . . "And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn." (Luke 2, 7).

Every time we hear again the beautiful story of the birth of Christ it gains a new splendor, for it is a story of which we can never tire.

And what of the true spirit of Christmas? Have we, as many people say, lost its true meaning to our high strung modern life and our fast pace commercial world?

I do not think so! I still can not help but feel a warm-hearted sigh take hold of me when I hear the music of Christmas carolers, or see the happy faces of people giving instead of expecting, or listening to Dickens' Christmas Carol, or hear the postman say 'Merry Christmas to 'ya'.

It's an intangible yet very real feeling that comes at Christmas to take hold of all people. We can not help but see its effects even on the Hinds campus. Students and teachers alike seem to put aside their prejudices and find the good in others. And hovering above us all appears a hard-to-grasp statement, "It's great to be alive, the world is good, and God is real."

The Christmas season could not lose its true meaning; for, if it did, it would no longer be the Christmas season, but only another unmeaningful pagan holiday.

In a sense the secret of our way of life, the desires of our American forefathers, is manifested more in our Christmas season that at any other time of the year. Our Christmas customs come to us from across the seas, the age old Christmas customs of the immigrants who came to America and made this land great.

All our basic beliefs, our freedom to worship the Christ Child in our own way on Christmas day are, indeed, manifested in our Christmas celebration.

To the thoughtful person, the meaning of Christmas and its relationship to us touches upon the very core of our existence and our purpose upon earth.

Christmas is the chief time of year when good will, fellowship, and understanding prevail. Is this not the one thing that separates us from our bitter rival, communism, in an age of decision and world change?

Is this not the only thing that will eventually cause those who have turned their backs on the reality of life and have long since forgotten the Christmas story of 2,000 years ago in Bethlehem to return to the fold and make the heralded song of the angels come true . . . "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

—David Ethridge

A BLESSED CHRISTMAS . . . .

From The HINDSONIAN STAFF

Another Washington Stunt

The latest stinch being stirred up in Washington is over the touchy problem of birth control.

The whole issue began when some people in Washington suggested that the U. S. encourage the use of birth control in their foreign aid programs to curb increasing population in already over-crowded countries.

Perhaps the chief reason for the controversy is a further attempt to dwindle the spark of hope being kindled by Democratic presidential hopeful, Jack Kennedy, a Roman Catholic. (The Catholic Church has always taken a firm stand against any means of artificial birth control.)

President Eisenhower had this to say on the question, "I cannot imagine a subject more emphatically not a proper political or governmental activity of function or responsibility."

At the end of a fiery press conference Ike concluded, "This government will not, as long as I am here, have a positive political doctrine in its program that has to do with this problem of birth control. That's not our business."

This country is based on the principle of freedom of worship and thought, and some people in Washington should realize that this issue is uncalled for and an over-shot on the part of government.

Deserving Individuals Win

Hinds Who's Who winners are now official, and each winner of the various categories deserves credit for the vote of confidence the student body has placed in him or her.

From Mr. and Miss H. J. C. down through and including the last category listed in Who's Who, you the recipients, have added honors to your name.

The real test of your deserving is yet to come, however; for, now that the voting is over, and you have your titles, you have even a greater responsibility to live up to.

If the students of Hinds Junior College have treated you well, it's probably because you've been well deserving.

Exercise Your Opportunity

Governments, even democratic governments are never always ruled completely by the will of the governed. This fact is evident because many people simply do not take the time to even express their wills.

But, even though this situation exists, we do not say that democracy or the democratic way of life is wrong or unworkable. Then, why do schools sometimes use the petty argument that situations are unworkable simply because student governments would not be 'taken to heart' or used to the right advantage by students.

If we have the opportunity of some type of government and fail to take advantage of it, we have no one but ourselves to blame for the lack of it.

Slay, Corps Deserve Praise For Lights

Editorial note:

To Mr. Tom Slay of the vocational-technical school, and his corps of electricians, special thanks are due for the huge lighted Christmas tree on Highway 18, in front of the college auditorium; also for the smaller tree in the college cafeteria, for lighted trees along Raymond's Main Street, and for the star of lights atop the water tank.

Suggestions For Christmas Gifts Can Be Helpful

By JEAN RODGERS

Now that the Christmas season has arrived, we have the age old problem of what we can give to our friends.

JEAN

If you want to give a present with a personal touch and if you have any talent at all in cooking, then for a male or female some homemade candy, gaily wrapped, would be an enjoyable present to receive.

Books are usually good and lasting presents. A Bible is a gift that would be greatly appreciated. If you know the likes and dislikes of a person, a subscription to a good magazine makes an ideal present.

A good perfume, a scarf, or gloves are some impersonal ideas for presents for girls. If a girl has started her silver, china, or crystal patterns, then a piece of any of these in her particular pattern is a good idea for a present. Jewelry is usually a good idea if it is in good taste, and cuff links are nice for males and females.

If someone on your shopping list is music-minded then sheet music or records are usually welcome. A good thought along the line of records is found in the Viceroy cigarette ad in the last Hindsonian. The Campus Jazz Festival record advertised makes a different and an inexpensive gift that both the jazz-fiend and the good music lover would enjoy.

Stationary, matching desk sets, and pen and pencil sets, are ideal gifts for the college student.

Whatever you give, remember it's the thought that counts.

Vicksburger Eats, Drinks, Sleeps By Ethics Of American Athletes

By SUSIE PETTIT

This week's Sophomore of the Week is a girl who eats, drinks, and sleeps by the ethics of an athlete.

She is Martha Pharr of Vicksburg, Miss. Martha comes to us from Jett High School where she was an all-round girl in every respect.

MARTHA PHARR
Loves Athletics

Playing basketball all four years in high school and being elected Most Athletic Girl were just a few of the many honors that Martha held. Although she specializes in athletics, she was valedictorian of her senior class and editor of the school's yearbook.

While at Hinds, Martha has been associated with the Women's Athletic Association for the past two years, and this year she holds the office of president. She was on the tennis team as a freshman, and she played varsity basketball both last year and this year.

Martha, who is an active member of the Baptist Student Union, was elected cheerleader this year and was recently made a member of the Phi Theta Kappa.

After graduation from Hinds, Martha will go to Delta State College where she will continue to major in physical education.

It is a certain that she will carry on her activities there and will be as well liked as she is at Hinds.

The annual Walters survey of American college populations shows two new trends this year. There is an increase in the number of new women students and a decrease in the number of new engineering students. In freshman classes there are nearly 10 percent more women than before, and the number of freshman engineering students is 4.7 percent lower.

Cafeteria Strives For 1600 Top Meals Daily

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Can you imagine someone's cooking 1600 meals in one day? That's exactly what Mrs. Marian Welch, head dietitian of Hinds' cafeteria, does every day, seven days a week.

JOAN

What is more, she plans each of those meals individually and purchases all the food.

Think that's a pretty big job for one person? Yes, it would be except for the fact that she is well assisted by two assistant dietitians, Mrs. Ruby Berryhill and Mrs. Maggie Finger, along with 11 excellent cooks.

Said Mrs. Welch, "I have always loved to cook—all my life." It wasn't until she had taught school for 11 years, however, that she decided to enter the field of cafeteria management. She quit teaching and entered the University of Mississippi for special training in this field. And that's how Hinds lucked up on getting such an excellent cafeteria manager.

Mrs. Welch, who is a member of the American School Food Service Association, says that she plans every meal for that meal only, whereas dietitians in many cafeterias have a regular pattern to follow—for example, ham every Monday, spaghetti every Tuesday, roast every Wednesday, etc.

Absolutely no food is donated to the cafeteria; everything must be purchased. Although some of the products, the most abundant of which are milk and eggs, are purchased from the farm and cold storage plant, the cafeteria still must pay the approximate retail price on everything it buys.

And it is amazing how the cafeteria manages to serve such good meals on such a tiny budget. Yet never are substitutes offered in daily meals.

Concerning a few student complaints, Mrs. Welch commented, "If you come to all three meals every day, you will get sufficient nourishment, but if you miss some of those meals I can't promise."

One of the most important contributions of the cafeteria is that it offers employment to those students who must work to pay their school expenses. "If any student is willing to work," Mrs. Welch assures, "we are willing to help him."

Sophomores Must Make Application For JC Diplomas

All sophomores who plan to graduate from Hinds at the end of the first semester must go by the registrar's office and the business office and make applications for diplomas.

A $10.00 fee to cover cost of diplomas and caps and gowns is required of each student. It is each student's own responsibility to check his records and see that he has credit in the courses necessary for graduation.

Announcements will be made later concerning sophomores graduating at the end of the second semester.

Dietitian Reveals Christmas Dinner Menu Today At 5

Mrs. Marian J. Welch, head dietitian, announced the following menu for the Christmas dinner to be served in the college cafeteria tonight at five o'clock.

Roast turkey with dressing; rice, gravy; green lima beans; crabapples; head lettuce salad with French dressing; pickles, beets; Christmas tree jello with whipped cream; French rolls, butter; hard candies; coffee, milk.

Modern Language Group Announces Slate Of Officers

The newly formed Modern Language Club held its first meeting of the year Thursday night when the members introduced themselves and elected officers.

Those elected to positions were Rita Anderson, president; Linda Williams, vice president; Joan Williamson ,secretary; and Tommy Nance, reporter. Miss Hilda Ree Davis, club sponsor and foreign language instructor at Hinds, states that the meetings will be held each Thursday at 6:30 p. m.

Membership in the Modern Language Club is open to all students who are interested in Spanish and French. The purpose of the club is to acquaint members with the customs and history of the foreign countries and especially to promote good will through correspondence with students of foreign lands.

Agriculture Group Enjoys Christmas Party On Campus

The Agriculture Club of Hinds Junior College met Friday, December 11 at the 2A period and enjoyed a Christmas party.

Since September, the club has grown to a membership of 28. Refreshments are served at each meeting.

Anyone who is interested in agriculture is invited to attend the meetings at the 2A period on Friday in the old science building.

Miss HJC Guest At Miss America Luncheon Monday

Nancy Ruth Chapman, Miss Hinds Junior College, was a guest Monday of the Jackson Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Miss America parade, and at the luncheon at the Heidelberg Hotel honoring Miss Lynda Lee Mead, Mississippi's Miss America for 1960.

Rev. Aubrey Smith Speaks To College's Wesley Foundation In Local Christmas Program

The speaker for the Wesley Foundation Christmas program was the Rev. Aubrey Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Yazoo City.

The special music was presented by Ina Mae Ainsworth and DiAnn Bartee.

The entire group joined in the singing of Christmas carols and participated in the Christmas Litany.

All filter cigarettes are divided into two parts, and...

"Weni, widi, Winston!" Thus did Caesar (a notoriously poor speller) hail the discovery of Filter-Blend—light, mild tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for filter smoking.

He knew that a pure white filter alone is not enough. To be a complete filter cigarette, it must have Filter-Blend up front. And only Winston's got it!

That's why Caesar would never accept another brand even when it was offered gratis. In fact, history tells us he'd glower at the extended pack and sneer, "Et tu, Brute?"

In a stirring peroration to his legions, Caesar put it this way: "For the Numeral I filter cigarette—for the best-tasting filter cigarette—for the noblest filter cigarette of all—smoke Winston!"

"Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!"

P.S. to bachelors, If you're lucky enough to find a gal who'll keep you in Winstons, Caesar!

Library Serves Students

By JEAN RODGERS

The library at Hinds Junior College contains between 11,000 to 12,000 books, according to the librarian, Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee.

Mrs. Rowzee and Mrs. Virginia Riggs, reference and circulation librarians, list Bonnie Harding, freshman from Jackson; Sandy Wolfe, Jackson freshman; and Peggy Downs, Clinton freshman; as their student assistants, who aid in the mechanical and clerical processes of the library.

The library is housed in the Library Building, which also contains the auditorium, classrooms of the English and Dramatic Departments, and the book store. The building is one of the original buildings of Hinds and was founded in 1926.

There is a list posted in the library of 104 magazines subscribed to by the library.

There are a number of newspapers subscribed to by the library. There are nine sets of encyclopedias, along with many other types of reference books on the shelves.

Separate shelves are designated for new books, books by Mississippi authors, books on reserve, and reference material.

Library hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday, and 8:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon on Saturdays.

REGISTERED NURSE ON DUTY

Infirmary Offers Ample Facilities

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

One of the most important and necessary buildings at Hinds Junior College is the campus infirmary. Established in 1951, the infirmary is now in its eighth year and has as standard equipment heating pads, large and small infra-red lamps for pulled or strained muscles, hospital beds, and an isolation room with two beds, for anyone with a contagious disease.

NOLLIE

In case of an epidemic in the school, the beds should prove adequate.

Some other equipment in the infirmary is a balance scale for exact weight, a splinter forceps for removal of foreign objects from the skin, and a needle sterilizer.

Mrs. Rachel Robinson, registered nurse at the infirmary, has been on the campus since the infirmary was founded in 1951. Armed with an array of needles and pills, she is assigned the job of keeping the students in good health.

She lives in an apartment in the infirmary so that she may be on hand in any emergency that may arise. Ordinarily open hours for the infirmary are from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Besides Mrs. Robinson, there are two other people on duty at the infirmary.

One of these is her assistant, Steve Montgomery, who helps her perform such duties as administering medicines and giving shots. Steve is in his second year as assistant to Mrs. Robinson.

The other person at the infirmary is Dr. James Wood. A native of State Line, in Wayne County, Dr. Wood came to Raymond this year and is now in his first year of service to the school. His father is Dr. A. E. Wood, head of the chemistry department at Mississippi College, in Clinton.

Citizens Vote To Keep Mississippi Under State-Wide Prohibition Laws

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Mississippi is the last state in the United States that still remains under prohibition laws.

The 18th amendment, which was for prohibition on a national scale, was repealed, and last year Oklahoma repealed her prohibition laws, leaving only Mississippi with a so-called dry state.

DAVID

In the last state gubernatorial race one of the chief political controversies was over the handling of prohibition in Mississippi.

Getting down to the people, there are those who favor both sides of the alcohol question.

On the one hand we have those who say it is against all laws of God to drink alcohol. They point to the evil that comes from it. They see sin cities, broken homes, and broken marriages as the end result of alcoholic beverages.

Moderate Drinking

On the other hand, there are those who find nothing wrong with moderate drinking. They show doctors' reports that point out that no long range physical harm comes from the moderate use of alcoholic beverages. They say that alcohol itself is not evil, but the people who mis-use it are.

One real problem that centers around alcoholic beverages is that of bootlegging. A couple of weeks ago in North Wilkensboro, N. C. federal agents stopped a car and found 20 cases of bootleg whiskey.

No sooner had they done this than another car roared around the bend, smashed into the first car, and was found to be carrying 14 cases of moonshine.

Bootleggers in Mississippi have a thriving business because they don't have to pay federal taxes and because they have such a good market in a dry state.

Two Sides

Thus we see people on both sides saying that there are good and bad points to prohibition.

Bootlegged liquor illegally adds to the wealth of many bootleggers and county sheriffs. Prohibition can not stop people from drinking and often times does not cut down on the market.

If prohibition is strictly enforced, it may please a majority of people and cut down somewhat on the moral mis-use of the beverage.

We still believe in the democratic way of life, however, and in the last state election the people voted to keep our state dry. Good or bad, right or wrong, it's the law of Mississippi.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

We wish to express through this column our deep gratitude to the many people who made the 1959 Penny Fair the outstanding success it was.

We are highly pleased with our Penny Fair financial report. The competition between the freshman and sophomore classes was very keen.

The sophomore class, winners of the event, led the campaign fund with $46.82, and the freshman has $44.62. Door receipts amounted to $34.15, the International Relations Club contributed $7.71, and the choir food collections amounted to $25. The Phi Theta Kappa contributed with a faculty picture booth.

To the freshmen and sophomores who worked in the king and queen campaign, to the International Relations Club members who sponsored lively games, to the college choir who set forth an abundance of tempting food, to the Phi Theta Kappans who displayed pictures of the faculty in days of infancy, and youth, to all performers on the floor show, to Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes for crowning the royal pair, and MC'ing the stage performance, and to all who attended and added good cheer to this occasion, we, the Hinds Junior College Y.W.C.A., are deeply grateful.

Gertrude Davis, faculty sponsor

Jewel McNair Reigns At Yule Ball As College's Circle K Sweetheart

Jewel McNair, Clinton, was crowned Circle K Sweetheart in annual ceremonies during the Christmas dance this past Friday night in the girls' gym.

The recipient of the crown was chosen from a field of five contestants, all nominated by Circle K members.

The vote was by secret ballot and no one but the person who counted the votes knew who the sweetheart would be until the night of the crowning.

During intermission ceremonies, Ken Jones, vice president of the Hinds Circle K, spoke to the crowd of onlookers of the meaning and importance of a sweetheart to the group. He then introduced the nominees for the position.

As the band played mood music suited for the occasion, a sealed envelope was given to the master of ceremonies and the sweetheart was named. She was then crowned and presented a spray of red roses.

This year's sweetheart will attend all meetings, functions, and activities of the group.

Students Should Make Any Changes In Schedule Soon

All students who plan to make changes in their schedules for second semester should see Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, before the day of January 22.

After that day students will be charged $1 for each schedule changed.

On January 25 all entering students and their schedules will be registered. Classes will move on regular schedule beginning that day and all students should begin their classes on time.

Choir To Present Program Tonight

"Christmas in Carols" will be presented by the Hinds Junior College Choir in the college auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

Under the direction of J. Leslie Reeves, head of the music department, the choir will render a series of 12 Christmas carols. The girls' ensemble and the men's chorus will participate in the program.

Instrumental accompaniments of organ and pianos will be by Dorothy Brock and Genie McBride. Miss Jean Packard, voice instructor, is director of the girls' ensemble.

Billie Dawson will sing "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," by McGimsey. A duet, "We Saw Him Sleeping" by Booth, will be sung by Ina Mae Ainsworth and DiAnn Bartee.

The choir numbers will be as follows: "A Joyous Christmas Song" by Hokason; "Here We Come A-Caroling," an English Wassail song; "Deck the Hall," traditional English; "Jingle Bells" by Pierpont; "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" by Calkin; "Silent Night" by Gruber; "Cherry Tree Carol" by Shaw-Parker; "Lo, How a Rose" Praetorius; "Let Carols Ring" by Black; "Glory to God" by Pergolesi; "Carol of the Drum" by Davis; and "Sent From Heaven" by Kopylow.

The girls' ensemble will sing "O Come, O Come, Immanuel" by Gregorian and "Slumber of the Infant Jesus," a French carol, and the men's chorus will sing "The March of the Kings" by Provencal.

Tuesday night (6:30-9:00) Freshman Composition and English 101—three semester hours.

Thursday night (6:30-9:00) Economics 101 and Math 51—three semester hours.

Friday night (6:30-9:00) Speech 55—three semester hours.

The cost of these classes are $5.00 matriculation fee and $5.00 per semester hour of credit. The classes begin Monday night, January 25.

Additional courses may be added upon sufficient requests.

FIGHTING EAGLE CAGERS — The 1959 edition of the Hinds Junior College Eagles are undefeated in conference play and have lost only one game and that to the Mississippi State freshmen in overall play. Tomorrow night the Hinds five entertains the Trojans of Sunflower in another conference tilt. Members of the squad are, left to right, kneeling, David Gover, Kentucky; Joe Watson, Pelahatichie; Billy Rhodes, Pelahatchie; Lewis Vaughn, Forest Hill; Gerald Austin, Forest Hill; standing, Thurman Smith, manager; Norman Pace, Louisiana; Dean Liles, Learned; Tommy Thompson, Louisiana; Larry Dowdy, Kentucky; and Troy Ricks, coach. Eagles Seek Win Over Sunflower 5 Thursday

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, undefeated through Monday, go after another win tomorrow to add to their lengthy list of victories when they face the Sunflower Trojans from Moorhead in the Hinds gym at 7:30 p.m.

The Eagles look like another championship team this year for they have yet lost but one game and that was to the rough Mississippi State freshmen last Wednesday night. Hinds holds wins over East Central, this beginning to look like a habit since the Eagles have topped them 84-81 twice and 75-74 the third time; Holmes, 61-57; Sunflower 91-80; Jones 54-53; and East Mississippi 65-64. The game tomorrow will mark the close of the season until after the Christmas holidays for the Eagle cagers.

The Eagles have been paced by Larry Dowdy, Gerald Austin, Tommy Thompson, Norman Pace, and Joe Watson so far this year but action will be seen by Dean Liles, Bobby Coglan, Byrle Kynerd, Billy Rhodes, and Lewis Vaughn soon for they have shown excellent promise for the Hinds five.

Charles Fitts, and Bill Callison will be leading the Trojan five when they invade the Eagles' home and they will be looking for a revenge victory since the Eagles checked the Moorhead cagers 91-80 previously in the Trojan camp.

The Eagles should come up with another victory since they have already beaten Sunflower once this year, and the Trojans haven't made too good of a showing in their first few outings.

Circle K Club Dealt Loss At Hands Of Mississippi College Bandit Eleven

The Hinds Junior College Circle K Club was edged by the Mississippi College Circle K Club in a rugged football game played in Clinton last Saturday afternoon, 7-6.

Hinds scored first on the first play of the battle when Jimmy Cressman, Port Gibson, received a pass from Dale Stogner, Terry, and ran for the tally, but the conversion after touchdown was no good and the Eagles led 6-0. Jerry Houser, Daytona Beach, Florida, tallied the winning touchdown for the Mississippi College Bandits midway in the second quarter.

Both teams played real good ball with John Tadlock, 204-pounder from Harrisville, Dick Bennett, quarterback from Miami, and Crawford Drake, end from Schlacanga, Alabama, shining for the Clinton eleven and Cressman, Stogner, Johnny Nall, 150-pounder from Clinton, and G . B. Shields, product from Clarksdale, were all standouts for the Eagles along with other team members.

Mississippi College led in first downs with eight to Hinds' two. The Bandits completed four out of seven passes while the Eagles tagged only two out of eight. Both teams fumbled six times recovering three apiece.

Hinds Hoopsters Win 4th Straight Conference Tilt Over Southwest

By TOMMY NANCE

Leading all the way, the Hinds Eagles walloped the Southwest Bears with an 84-58 win here last night. Never behind in the game, Hinds held a 16 point margin at halftime.

This game marked a 8-1 record for the Hinds cagers and gave them and undefeated conference record. The Bears were outclassed all the way with Larry Dowdy, and Dean Liles controlling the backboards, while Gerald Austin and Joe Watson stole the show with their dribbling exihibition. The cagers of Summit showed off with their left forward, Tommy Wall, who sacked 22 points without committing a single foul.

Three Eagles made the double marker in the scoring battle with Joe Watson leading with 23 points, while Larry Dowdy and Billy Rhodes sank 17 and 11 points respectively.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Bowls Climax Holiday Activities

By TOMMY NANCE

Two more weeks will tell the tale. Yes, in just two more weeks the four major bowls, Sugar, Cotton, Rose, and Orange, will see what their teams can do when faced with some real talent. Also two newcomers, the Bluebonnet Bowl down in Houston, and the Liberty up in Philadelphia, match top teams for their December 19 classics.

New Orleans' Sugar Bowl has gained the top match of the year for it pits the University of Mississippi (Ole Miss) against the Bayou Tigers of L. S. U., ranking number two and three in that order. The Cotton Bowl shares some of the spotlight since number one ranking Syracuse goes against Texas, rated number four.

TOMMY

Since the Sugar Bowl match is tops, we will leave its prediction to the last. Beginning with the Gator Bowl, the choice is Georgia Tech. Even though the Yellow Jackets are not rated and the Arkansas Razorbacks are slated at the number nine position, we believe the Doddsmen will come out on top.

Georgia Over Missouri

The Georgia Bulldogs will be too big of a test for the Missouri Tigers of Dan Devine when they meet in the Orange classic. Alabama's Crimson Tide collides with Penn State in the Liberty Bowl this year, and we give the Tide a two-point choice. This one could really go either way, but we will stick with Paul Bryant.

Texas Christian and Washington should gain bowl victories when they vie with Clemson and Wisconsin in the Bluebonnet and Rose Bowls respectively. Syracuse (10-0) should have little trouble knocking over Texas in the Cotton encounter even though the Longhorns rate a fourth place pick.

Sugar Bowl

Well, this leaves us with the chore of picking a Sugar Bowl winner, something we had rather not do but let's face it, we can't be anything but right or wrong. Both teams have recently started their pre-bowl work outs and will take off for Christmas then begin the day after the holiday. The Rebels have won their last three bowl outings and the Tigers shut out Clemson last year in the Sugar Bowl, 7-0, both appearing in this same bowl in the past two years.

We might as well get it over with and pick the winner. Our choice is Johnny Vaught's Rebels by 13 points. We believe Ole Miss won't be playing the conservative type ball that they played in the last match with the Tigers, but should win by not more than two touchdowns. We don't dare downrate the Bengals for we know they have an excellent ball club and if anyone can beat Mississippi it will be L.S.U.

State Stars Lead East Over West In 15-8 All Star Win

The underdog Eastern Junior College All Star team upset the West 15-8 last Saturday in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and was paced by several outstanding Mississippi stars.

Both of the East's touchdowns were made by Mississippians, the first made by Ira Coates, 204-pounder from Copiah Lincoln, on a seven yard blast over right guard; the second by Holmes' Walter Van Allen, who bolted through the middle for the six pointer.

Warriors, Indians Fall To Eagle Five By Slim Margins In Weekend Games

The Hinds Eagles racked up their sixth and seventh wins this past weekend when they journeyed east and came out victorious over East Central and East Mississippi.

The win over East Central made it three in a row over the Warriors in as many games. Banging out a slim 84-81 victory, Hinds came from behind as many as eight points but both sides swapped leads fairly regularly with the Eagles leading 44-41 at halftime.

With eight minutes to go the Eagles led by 15 points but the margin slowly began to fall and East Central tied it up with three minutes to go.

The second win in the same weekend came when the Hinds five edged out East Mississippi 65-64 in a nap and tuck battle all the way. The Eagles were led by Larry Dowdy, who dropped in 21 points, while Norman Pace tallied 15 and Tommy Thompson and Gerald Austin had 12 apiece.

College Student Seriously Injured In Holiday Wreck

Hinds Coed Bettye Ann Thornton Recovers From Mishap In Hospital

Bettye Ann Thornton, 20 year old Hinds sophomore, was among those critically injured in a head-on collision which instantly killed both her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Thornton, and seriously injured her younger sister in Holmes county late Christmas Day.

The dead included drivers of both cars, Claud Thornton, 47, of near Yazoo City and Negro Aaron Byas of Leland, their wives and two Byas children. The remaining seven victims were all critically injured.

The accident occurred 18 miles north of Yazoo City on U. S. Highway 49 east near the intersection of Highway 12 about 4:50 p. m.

Two eye witnesses and investigators said both cars were apparently traveling at reasonable speeds. But one witness told officers Byas swerved into the wrong lane when he apparently turned his head to speak to the children on the back seat.

Byas was traveling North and Thornton was traveling South. Both cars were demolished.

The two Thornton girls, Betty and Claudeen were moved to the Baptist hospital in Jackson. Betty suffers from chest injuries, while Claudeen has fractures of both legs and head injuries. They are both described as in "fair" condition.

Thornton, a farmer at Wolf Lake near Louise, had taken his family to his mother's house at Four Mile community near Belzoni for Christmas dinner. They were returning home when the wreck happened.

Since the time of the tragic Christmas mishap several members of the faculty and student body of Hinds have been at the hospital to visit Betty. She is allowed some visitors during the day.

Lendon Players Schedule Meet In Speech Studio Thursday Eve

The Lendon Players of Hinds Junior College are scheduled to have their regular business meeting in the speech studio tomorrow night, Thursday, January 7, at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Fred L. Brooks, sponsor of the group and campus speech and drama instructor, has invited all members of the group to attend. A program has been planned.

MISS JEAN PACKARD
In Music Recital

Music Instructor To Present Voice Recital At Hinds

The Music Department at Hinds Junior College will present Miss Jean Packard, college voice instructor, in a voice recital Monday, January 11, at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Miss Packard, who is a new faculty member at Hinds this year, is from Conway, Ark. She received her B.A. degree from Arkansas State and her M.A. degree from Louisiana State University. While a student at LSU, she was a student of Mr. Loren Davidson.

The accompanist in the recital Monday night will be George Walter from the LSU music faculty.

Mr. Davidson will be at Hinds during the day Monday to work with Hinds choir and hear some of the voice students sing. He will show a film on voice production in the music auditorium Monday afternoon.

WILKINSON, GRIGSBY IN MAIN

Hale, Johnson, Horton, Davis Win In Westside Dorm

Winning first place honors in the Christmas door decorations contest in the dormitories for girls were Sandra Wilkinson and Barbara Grisby of Main, and Doris Hale, Lou Johnson, Carolyn Horton, and Janet Davis of Westside.

The decoration named to first place in Main was an arrangement of three diminsional effect picturing three angels and the Christ child on a background of blue angel hair, blue chiffon, pastel and gold paints.

The door best decorated in Westside was covered with silver and displayed a lighted manger scene in which the Madonna and child were in black silhouettes against a green background.

Winners of second places were Prestyne Ware, Peggy Hegwood, and Carolyn Monroe of Main, and Pam Guchereau, Marcell Mobley, Alice Boyd, and Lottie Leach of Westside.

Third place winners in Main were Kareemie Ellis and Bettye Smythe; in Westside, Nancy Ruth Chapman, Lynn Pennebaker, Alice Herin, and Charlotte Dunlap.

In the honorable mention list of decorators as judged by the faculty committee were these: in Main—Bonnie Harding, Sandra Wolfe, Terah Graves, Sylvia Sheppard, Sallie Baker, Carolyn Gill, and Betty James; in Westside — Patricia Smith, Pat Gilmer, Lillian Lee, Elizabeth Henry, Martha Pharr, Carolyn Middleton, Ann St. Clair, Gay and Kay Collins, Patricia Coleman, Adonna Moore, Retha Trussel, Gail McNair, Suzanne Bright, Mickey Alexander, Mary Thomas, Patricia Dribben, Hassel Ross, Linda Bovay, and Frances Nelson.

Matthews Winner In Talent Division Of Farmers Meet

Bill Matthews, Hinds freshman and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Matthews of Raymond, was one of the top three student musicians who performed at the Chicago Civic Opera House, December 15.

The occasion was the General Assembly of 5000 of the American Farm Bureau Association.

Prior to this performance, Bill had auditioned in the "National Talent Find" program December 12.

In addition to his scheduled performance at the General Assembly program, Bill was drafted to accompany another winner in the absence of a professional accompanist.

While in Chicago Bill took several sight-seeing tours, and attended performances of The Music Man and The West Side Story. He was a guest of the Don McNeil Breakfast Club. On Sunday he attended services at the "Temple in the Sky," the world's tallest church.

ATTEND MISS AMERICA HOMECOMING LUNCHEON — Shown above are several of the girls who were guests of the Jaycees at the Miss America Homecoming Luncheon at the Heidelberg Hotel on December 14. Nancy Chapman, representing Hinds in her official capacity as Miss Hinds Junior College, is seated in the middle of the group. The girls were entertained in the Victory Room and heard speeches by Mayor Allen Thompson of Jackson and the reigning Miss America, Miss Lynda Lee Mead, of Natchez. Another Hinds student, Nancy McKay, Miss Brandon, was at the luncheon also. Other guests included many of the contestants in the Miss Mississippi Contest as well as the new Miss Missisippi and Miss Hospitality. Listening to Lynda Mead's homecoming speech are from left to right, Faye Prevost, "Miss Jackson"; Virginia Wing, "Miss Clinton"; Nancy Chapman, "Miss Hinds Junior College"; Martha Jo Sumrall, "Miss Belhaven"; and Betty Beeson, "Miss Pearl." New Fund Makes Appeal

The new year is upon us, but it is not as significant as the beginning of the new year as the beginning of a new decade.

Who can think back over the Furious 50's without remembering some of the joys and hardships which will be written into the pages of the history of mankind? Who can recollect the past decade without remembering the name, Dr. Jonas E. Salk?

The name Dr. Jonas E. Salk is now recognized around the world. The man responsible for the Salk vaccine has become one of medicine's great figures and his name is a household word.

Yet 17 years ago, back in 1942, Jonas E. Salk was just another name on an application blank, another young research scientist, requesting fellowship assistance to study viruses.

This young man received a $2,100 grant and went on to make the first significant "break-through" in the fight against polio.

Had the $2,100 invested in 1942 in Jonas E. Salk not been granted by the American people through the March of Dimes, there might have been no Salk vaccine.

But the Salk "break-through" and the positive prevention of polio are not the only phase of the New March of Dimes — The National Foundation.

Included in The National Foundation's research grants for polio are 16 respiratory and rehabilitation centers situated strategically around the country. Clinical research into new techniques of treatment for paralyzed patients is one of their main objectives.

A substantial part of the country's contributions to the New March of Dimes in 1960 will go to still broader research into the causes and prevention of birth defects, arthritis and the rheumatic diseases, polio and related virus diseases.

The March of Dimes, The National Foundation, did not dry up the need for further help simply because of the Salk vaccine. As long as there are people, there will be disease; as long as there is disease, there will be research. And only by this research can people hope to make other significant "break-throughs" into the causes and prevention of disease.

When we contribute to The National Foundation in 1960, from January 2-31, we are not simply contributing to another worthwhile charity. Too many of us have this mistaken idea. We are, on the contrary, helping ourselves by progress—progress into unknown areas which will lead to a better existence for all of us. We are helping to make the 1960's an even better decade in which to live.

Student Receives Honor

Hinds Junior College is proud of its students and their outstanding accomplishments. Recently one of the Hinds freshmen, a native of Raymond, brought distinction and honor to his school. Bill Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Matthews, was selected as one of the three top performers at the National Farm Bureau Talent Contest held in Chicago last month. In his performance at the Chicago Opera House he played a piano selection, Medley from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Writer Reviews 50's Top Stories As Decade Ends

By NANCY CHAPMAN

With the dawn of 1960 comes the dawn of not only a new year, but a new decade. What will happen during the next ten years? The only indication we have of things to come is the knowledge of the past decade's major events. Let's take a look at some of the top news stories of the 50's.

The Korean War gained world-wide attention in June of 1950. Many people regarded it as a trigger to a third World War. After the United States' entry into the skirmish, the North and South Koreans signed a peace treaty somewhere near the much-disputed 38th Parallel. Before the end of the war, the United States suffered severe losses.

The field of medicine took one of its most progressive jumps when a quiet-mannered doctor, Jonas Salk, discovered the miracle polio vaccine, later named the Salk vaccine in the doctor's honor. The vaccine was made available in large quantities to health service departments throughout the nation. One shipment of the vaccine, that of the Cutter Laboratories of California, was found to be defective, and caused a violent outbreat of the dread disease. After the California seige, meticulous checks were made on every production agency, thus causing an end to that polio scare. The vaccine was then counted as another milestone in medical history.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Business Group President Ranks In Week's Top Sophomore Honor Spot

By JOHNNY SUMRALL

A thousand miles from home and here he is in a small hamlet called Raymond. He came to seek knowledge, not wealth. But this son of the North turned Southerner, has found a home in Mississippi, the Deep South, and now resides in Jackson with his wife and one child. When on campus, his warm smile, cheerful "hello", and willingness to work has made him a favorite with all his fellow students. So, let me take this opportunity to introduce to you this week's sophomore of the Week, Jerry Horack.

Jerry was born on April 5, 1936, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He is majoring in accounting at the present time. Later he will study for admission to the bar. On graduation from Hinds he will attend Millsaps. After completing post graduate work in accounting he will take his CPA exam.

JERRY HORACK
Business Leader

He belongs to the Lendon Players and holds the office of vice-president, in this the second year of his membership. He also is a member of Phi Beta Lambda formerly FBLA. In his freshman year he held the post of program chairman. In the state convention of the FBLA at Ole Miss he won the state wide Future Business Executive of Mississippi title. He is now holding the office of president in the club.

When asked how he happened to come to Hinds he told us this interesting story. He and Fred Wilda had been working together for three years in Milwaukee. In the summer Fred received a letter from a friend he had met during attendance at an Army Service School at Fort Ruckner. His friend told him he was attending Hinds and spoke highly of it. He recommended it to Fred. Fred and Jerry had both planned to attend college that fall anyway. Why not go South to a small college where a person who has been out of school for several years could get special attention should he need it. Also they both wished to escape the cold winter of the North. So they packed and came to Hinds.

Looking back over the year 1959, we review what the music department has done.

JOHNNY

The Band, under the direction of Mr. A. B. Rowan, and the Hi-Steppers, under the direction of Mrs. Alon Bee, have appeared in the Miss America Homecoming parades in Jackson and Natchez, the Mississippi Sports and Travel Parade in Jackson, the annual Christmas Parade in Jackson, the Forestry Parade in Jackson, and at the haft-time shows at our football games. The Band presented two concerts in the college auditorium, the last one being a Christmas program.

The Concert Choir under the direction of Mr. J. L. Reeves presented two concerts in the college auditorium, one a spectacular Christmas program as the annual Christmas performance. The choir appeared in Vicksburg at the LeTourneau plant.

No Consolation Given For The New Year Blues

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

Just about everyone needs some words of consolation with the coming of a New Year. Are you bothered with after Christmas bills, girls, or coming back to face school and the inevitable week of semester exams? If so, cheer up. You're not so abnormal because you have problems. As Charles Lamb said, "No one ever regarded the first of January with indifference. It is the nativity of our common Adam."

Social Science Students Study 'History Of Man'

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

Along with the other courses available at Hinds Junior College is the social science department, which contains seven classes of Western Civilization and seven classes of American History.

NOLLIE

In Western Civilization, one studies the history of man—his government, economic, social, religious, and intellectual activities from the fall of the Roman Empire to World War II, and recent international developments.

American History is a study of United States history, beginning with the Colonial background of the American Revolution and continuing until after the world wars. In this course, emphasis is placed upon the forces leading to the formation of the union and the forces leading to the War between the States.

In the second semester of this course, the study is mostly concentrated on the restoration of the union and the reconstruction period following. The political and economic readjustments from an agricultural economy to an industrial economy, expansion of the United States into a world power, its part in the two world wars, and postwar problems are also deal with.

The local International Relations Club is a product of the social science department. Co-sponsors of the club with the social science department is the Foreign Policy Association.

Officers were recently elected at the Wednesday night meeting. They are Danny Hunter, Morton, president; Wilma Estes, Jackson, vice-president; Faye Hastings, Jackson, secretary; and Linda Williams, Terry, program chairman.

The Foreign Policy Association is the oldest and largest national association concerned exclusively with citizen education in the field of world affairs.

During club meetings the members discuss matters of current and historical international relations. Locally, the club is engaged in a fund raising campaign with the YWCA for World University Service.

Meetings of the club are held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday after Vesper service. Membership is open to all people interested in learning more of world affairs.

Chairman of the social science department is Miss Lula Mae Fowler. She is also the sponsor of the International Relations Club, with Mr. Thomas Stricklin as co-sponsor.

SCIAL SCIENCE STUDENTS study maps which point out the history of mankind. The courses in history offered on the Hinds campus are concerned more with the why of things, rather than the simple facts of the evolution and revolutions of man. In these social studies, students follow the government, economic, social, religious, and intellectual activities of mankind. Left to right are, as follows: Johnny Nall, Wilma Estes, Ruby Crockett, and Miss Lula Mae Fowler, social science instructor.

Sophomores Must Make Application For JC Diplomas

All sophomores who plan to graduate from Hinds at the end of the first semester must go by the registrar's office and the business office and make applications for diplomas.

A $10 fee to coevr cost of diplomas and caps and gowns is required of each student. It is each student's responsibility to check his records in the registrar's office and see that he has credit in the courses necessary for graduation.

The $10 fee is payable at the business office.

Although first semester graduates are completing their work on January 22, they will not receive their diplomas until graduation exercises in May.

Announcements will be made later concerning sophomore graduating at the end of second semester.

TRAINING FOR BARBERS

Candy-Striped Pole Still 2-Bit Haircut Symbol At Hinds

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Remember the days when the red and white candy-striped pole was the symbol of the barber shop and a meager two-bits covered the cost of both a shave and a haircut? Well, those days are gone forever—almost.

JOAN

But Hinds Junior College will dispute the idea that they are gone completely. That's because Hinds boasts a barber shop all its own. And two bits will buy the same shave and haircut it did years ago.

Sound impossible? Well, it's true. But only through one of Hind's finest vocational courses—barbering—is it possible. One of the few barbering schools in the state, it, under the instruction of Mr. R. L. White, offers an unexcelled nine months' course in complete techniques of barbering.

Ten young men, each assigned a barber chair of his own, fill the shop each day when it opens at 9 a.m. Amid coffee breaks they manage to give approximately 65 haircuts per day.

Some of these are women's haircuts; in fact, some women visit the barber shop regularly for their hairdos.

The barbers give not only haircuts and shaves, but also shampoos, tonics, facials, and scalp treatments. Any one of these services—or all—come under the same price of 25 cents.

The turnover of barbers is astounding. In nine months' time 10 young men, at first beginners in the field, are barbers in their own right.

Ole Miss Gains Revenge In Sugar

By TOMMY NANCE

Well the University of Mississippi did it. They did what they had been waiting to do since the night of October 31 when the L.S.U. Tigers came from behind and tripped the Rebels from the "Number One Team in the Nation" title. The Ole Miss Rebels completely outplayed the Bayou Bengals of Baton Rouge in the Sugar Bowl game to gain sweet revenge for their lone loss in the regular season.

Stopping at nothing, Mississippi tallied in the last 40 seconds of the first half and then went on to score in each of the next two periods to whitewash Cannon and company to gain their fifth straight bowl victory in the last five trips and to give Coach Johnny Vaught his 101st win since coaching at Ole Miss. We sincerely believe that the University up in Oxford deserves the nation's number one title, and we think that more of our next-door neighbors will realize that if a team can defeat another eleven like L.S.U. as much as Ole Miss did on New Year's Day, they rank Number One. Congratulations to the Ole Miss Rebels and to Coach Johnny Vaught.

Other bowl outcomes are as follows: Rose—Washington, 44, Wisconsin, 8; Cotton—Syracuse, 23, Texas, 14; Orange — Georgia, 14, Missouri, 0; Gator—Arkansas, 14, Georgia Tech, 7; Liberty—Penn State, 7, Alabama, 0; Bluebonnet—Clemson, 23, T.C.U. 7; Tangerine—Middle Tennessee, 21, Presbyterian, 12; Prairie — Prairie View, 47, Wiley, 10; Shrine—West, 21, East, 14; and All-America—Major College All-Stars, 53, Small College All-Stars, 0.

Senior Bowl

The 11th annual Senior Bowl football game will be held Saturday down in Mobile, Alabama and a capacity crowd of 40,605 is expected.

Each team, consisting of 25 men, will be coached by the two leading professional football coaches, Baltimore's Weeb Ewbank, who will lead the South, and Jim Lee Howell, coach of the New York Giants, who will lead the North.

The South holds a 6-4 game edge in the series but the oddsmakers have not yet picked a favorite for this year's contest. Each member of the winning squad will receive $600, the losers, $500. Although most of the players already have been drafted by professional teams, numerous pro scouts will be on hand.

The Southeastern Conference and the Big Ten are leading in the representatives with 14 coming from the SEC and 10 from the Big Ten. Both the Atlantic Coast and Southwestern Conferences have five players on the dream teams.

Leading the South will be three Mississippi boys, Hugh McInnis of Mississippi Southern, end; Ken Kirk of Ole Miss, guard; and Marvin Terrell of Ole Miss, guard.

Junior College Action

In the only holiday junior college basketball action, the East Mississippi Indians edged by Freed Hardemen 75-74 and Northwest tripped the Northeast Tigers 91-84 to become co-champions of the round robin basketball tournament in Booneville last weekend.

These four teams will be standing in the way for Hinds' Eagles when they enter the Mississippi Junior College Basketball Tournament at the end of the season. Northeast boast one of the top junior college players in the United States and last year he, Vince Del Negro, led all junior colleges in scoring. Del Negro's average for all games this year is 36.2, which leads all state JC scorers.

Travelers Display Talents In Battle With Men's Team

The Arkansas Travelers Basketball team, led by All-American Hazel Walker, put on a good show last night over in the Raymond High School gym, when they clashed with the Hinds County Hasbeens, an all men's team.

One of the top players for the Travelers was Toby Rayborn, a native of Tylertown, Mississippi. She stands only 5-8 and weighs 145 pounds but Miss Walker states that Toby, who has been on the team for five years, is the "playmaker" of the team.

Other team members are the "Georgia Peach", Louise Barber, 6-1, from Manor, Georgia; Lucretia Taylor, 5-10, from Kilmichael; Gina Wood, 5-7, from Van Buren, Arkansas; Francis "Goose" Barroutle, 5-11 All-American, also from Van Buren; and Virginia McGuffee, 6-1, from Monticello.

During the halftime, a free throw exhibition was given and anyone who wished to challenge standing, kneeling, or sitting free throws was invited to try.

Hinds Paces All-Star Teams Of Past With 9 Representatives In 15 Years

Hinds Junior College has placed nine players on the State Junior College Basketball All-Star teams since 1945 to keep the Eagles on the map in cage happenings.

The most recent star was last year's Larry Pennington, former Provine material, who led the Rams to the Big Eight championship several years back. In 1958 Johnny Grad was the Eagle representative on this select team. Bobby (Buck) Smith, forward, made the team in 1956 and 1957, while Wayne Lee, former Forest Hill star, was named to the team in 1954 and 1955. In 1951 and 1952, Hinds gift to the team was Benton Fortenberry.

In 1949 and 1950, Nick Revon, who later went to Mississippi Southern and made good, was on the All-Star team. He was perhaps one of the best players ever to come out of Hinds and Mississippi Southern. Othel Mendrop, Clyde Shipley, and Robert McKissack were other contributions to the teams in this 15 year period.

During this time the Eagle cagers have made the finals twice, once last year and once in 1946. This year might be the year for a Hinds five to cop the state basketball championship. With the material that the Eagles have, this could very well become a reality.

Eagles Seek 10th Win Friday Night When Faced With Wildcat Cagers

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, undefeated in conference play this year, go after their tenth win of the campaign when they face the Wildcat five of Pearl River Friday night. Coach Troy Ricks will probably place Larry Dowdy, Tommy Thompson, Norman Pace, Gerald Austin, and Joe Watson at the starting positions when the Eagle cagers face the Pearl River five at 7:30 p.m. in the Hinds gym.

The Eagles, holding only one loss to the Frosh of Mississippi State, will be challenged by the Perkinston Bulldogs Saturday night. Both the Wildcats and Bulldogs are strong contenders for the junior college championship. Both games should prove real battles right down to the wire.

In the last outing of the Eagles, Sunflower was humiliated by a 95-61 shellacking by the Hinds five to make it two wins this year against the Trojans for the Raymond team. The Eagles were led by Larry Dowdy, with 25 points, and Gerald Austin and Norman pace, with 21 and 14 respectively.

After the two games this weekend, Hinds has six more scheduled meets for the month of January. January 13, the Mississippi State Freshmen will invade the Eagle home court for a rematch of the tilt in Jackson's auditorium last month. Then on January 15 and 22, the Eagles will travel to Newton and Goodman to clash with Clarke and Holmes junior colleges.

The final three games of the month are played back on the Hinds' campus, when Copiah-Lincoln, East Central, and East Mississippi are to invade Eagle town for games on January 26, 29, and 30.

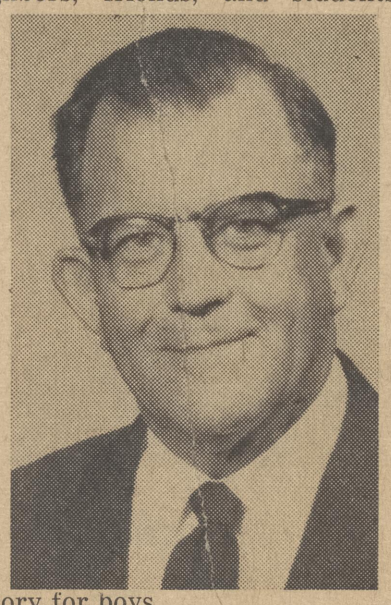
A TRIBUTE TO MR. C. C. MAGERS

(AN EDITORIAL)

This afternoon the body of Mr. C. C. Magers was lovingly laid to rest under a blanket of lovely flowers in the cemetery of his home church at Baldwyn, Miss.

His sorrowing family, neighbors, friends, and students and faculty members from Hinds Junior College assembled there to pay tribute to a beloved civic leader, churchman, teacher, and friend.



Today in chapel, a memorial service was conducted in his honor. On Tuesday the flag was flown at half-mast on the Hinds campus in a fitting tribute to this man, who was recognized for his goodness and understanding of boys. Mr. Magers will be sorely missed at Hinds where earlier in the week he went his genial way, teaching, counseling, and making plans to open a new dormitory for boys.

He will be missed at the Raymond Baptist Church where only last Sunday he taught his Sunday School class as has been his custom through the years.

His work was dealing with youth, and the stories of those young men whom he helped and inspired during the course of his life are a living tribute to him. Understanding, sympathetic, easy of approach, and endowed with a keen sense of humor, Mr. Magers was a favorite with students and teachers

Mere words have their limitations in expressing condolences at a time of death, but if we understand the plan of One far greater than we, death is not an ominous sounding word. It is rather an understanding word for those who are prepared for an eternal hereafter.

Though his active work is now halted in his mid-years, Mr. Magers' enduring labors of inspiration and influence will live on in the lives of all who knew him.

"O strong soul, by what shore
Tarriest thou now? For that force,
Surely, has not been left vain!
Somewhere, surely, afar,
In the sounding labor-house vast
Of being, is practiced that strength,
Zealous, beneficent, firm!"

Dean Magers Dies From Sudden Heart Attack At Jackson Hospital

Final Rites Held Wednesday Afternoon In Baldwyn Baptist Church Cemetery

Early Monday night word came to a stunned Hinds Junior College that C. C. Magers, Dean of Men, had died of a heart attack.

When the news reached President McLendon, he said, "We wish for his family God's help and understanding of this loss," and added, "It was a distinct shock to everyone at Hinds Junior College when the announcement came of the sudden passing of Dean C. C. Magers. The entire college is grieved beyond expression. During Mr. Magers' tenure here, he was loved and respected by all. His counseling with and assistance to young men will continue to live in their lives."

Mr. Magers, 52, died at University Hospital, Jackson, shortly after his attack. His wife and Mr. R. C. Benton, assistant dean of men, were with him.

Later, Mr. Benton said of Mr. Magers, "I will always remember him as the best real friend I ever had. When I first knew him, I thought Mr. Magers was just especially nice to me and my wife, but I learned later that most of the people he was associated with feel the same way. He was that type of person."

Mr. Magers came to Hinds Junior College in September of 1956 and has been here for the four years preceding his death. He was former superintendent of schools at Oak Grove, Purvis, and Morton. He served as representative from Lamar county during Governor Mike Connor's administration, and was a former colonel on the staff of Governor Fielding L. Wright.

Mr. Magers received his elementary education at Baldwyn, and received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Mississippi Southern College. He did graduate work at LSU.

He was a member of the Raymond Baptist Church, the Phi Delta Kappa, the Lions Club, and the Morton Lodge F & AM.

Survivors include his wife, the former Earline Vandiver, Baldwyn; two sons, Billy, student at Hinds Junior College, and Van, student at Raymond High school; three brothers, Hubert Magers, Oak Ridge, Tenn., H. H. Magers, Bentonia, and O. W. Magers, Morton; five sisters, Mrs. Monroe Nanney, Mrs. Layce Wood, and Mrs. Carl Miller, all of Baldwyn, Mrs. C. C. Mabry, Columbia, and Mrs. V. L. Crawford, Peoria, Ill.; two half-sisters, Mrs. Douglas Boren and Mrs. Coy Jernijan, both of Baldwyn, and several nieces and nephews.

The body lay in state at Wright and Ferguson Funeral Home, Jackson, until nine o'clock this morning. The last rites were conducted at the Baptist church at Baldwyn, Mississippi, at 2:30 this afternoon. Interment was at the Baldwyn cemetery.

McLendon Names Assistant Benton Acting Hinds Dean

Mr. Clyde Benton, assistant dean of men, has been named acting dean of men, according to President G. M. McLendon.

A graduate of Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg, Benton has had seven years experience as a high school football coach.

He has been head football coach at Sturgis, Morton, and Purvis high schools.

Benton was employed as a sporting goods salesman by May and Jackson before coming to Hinds in January of 1958. He and his wife, Carol Jean, reside in Eastside Dormitory.

Mississippi Alcohol Education Church Group To Hold Clinic On Campus

The Mississippi Church Council for Alcohol Education will sponsor a discussion clinic concerning alcohol and its problems beginning Wednesday, January 20, in the Hinds Junior College Auditorium.

Rev. J. S. Conner, an executive secretary of the council, will be discussion leader for the clinic. Programs will be held at 6:15 p. m. on January 20, 25, and February 1 in connection with the clinic.

According to reports, the clinic will be conducted on a strictly objective basis. There will be no designed approach toward condemnation and "propaganda" against drinking. The Alcohol Education Council offers a scientific study of alcohol and its problems only in the light of educating the public.

Dire Predictions For '60

A few weeks ago the beginning of a new decade was heralded with the sincere hope that it might be the beginning of a new year of peace and prosperity for all mankind.

This week saw the outbreak of demonstrations around the world with anti-Jewish slogans. With these attacks, the sparks of a dead Nazism were fanned and the fire of this false totalitarian ideology is once again rekindled.

From Russia's official communist voice, Newspaper Pragda, comes word that attempts to pour out more propaganda will be made to keep the state from losing ground. The talks of peaceful co-existence do not need to stop the growth of propaganda in favor of Russian ideology, the newspaper emphasizes.

This week Russians released word also that they intend to fire an I. C. B. M. missile which will fall somewhere in the Pacific Ocean, supposedly about 715 miles southwest of Honolulu. Moscow broadcasts stated that American and British tests have already contaminated the area.

Senators Mike Mansville and Hubert Humphreys have denounced this Russian move and say that it should be taken up with the United Nations. They suggest it may forfeit the need of a summit meeting.

We're not superstitious but it's interesting to note that the now hailed military genius Billy Mitchell (who successfully predicted the Second World War, the Japanese attack, and the advent of air power) predicted that World War III would begin in January of 1960. What's even more significant is the fact that the date he set is one day off from the beginning of Russia's tests.

When the Blessed Virgin is said to have appeared to the children of Fatima in France after the First World War, her urgent request was that the people of the world unite in prayers for peace. If not, she said, wars and strife would ravage the world. A sealed letter said to be from her was dictated to one of the children to be read to the world by his holiness, the Pope, in 1960.

As I've said we're not superstitious. We may choose to believe as we please regarding these dire predictions. But however we feel about them, a Christian world can not stand up to the powerful elements of Communism if we are not

Writer Describes This Week's Honor Student, Infirmary Worker With Personal Favor, 'Pride In, Prejudice For'

By NANCY CHAPMAN

Everybody knows there's only one "Pride and Prejudice," and it was credited to the name of Jane Austen long years ago. With all due respect to the brilliant Miss Austen, today's sophomore of the week story will be entitled "Pride In and Prejudice For"; for the subject of this week's story is one in which this writer has a special interest! With that thought in mind, this article is dedicated to today's sophomore of the week, Steve Montgomery.

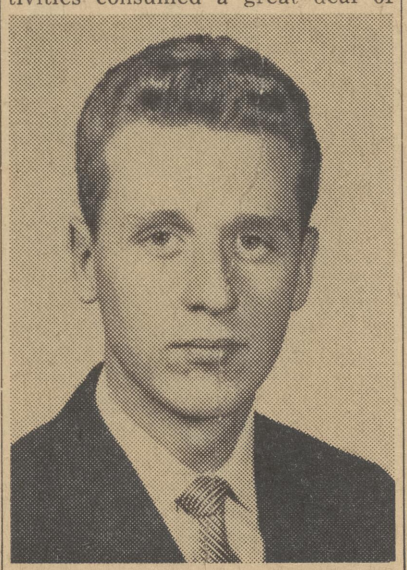
Steve, or "Steve-O" as he is sometimes called, was born in Port Gibson, Mississippi, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Montgomery. After attending twelve years of school in his home town, Steve entered Hinds Junior College with an impressive record of achievements.

During his high school days, he was quite outstanding, serving as junior class president, senior citizenship awardee, and winner of several positions in school Who's Who contests. Upon his graduation from Port Gibson High, Steve entered Hinds and continued his knack for accomplishment.

(If you by now suspect mere prejudice on the writer's part, here be convinced:)

In his freshman year, "Steve-O" won first place in the formal essay division of the Mississippi Southern Literary Festival with an essay entitled "Mona Lisa or Sputniks." Earlier in the year, he had been awarded first place in a division of the Mississippi Junior College Speech Festival.

Although his extra-curricular activities consumed a great deal of time, he managed to maintain a job in the school infirmary to help him gain practical knowledge of his chosen field of pharmacy.



STEVE MONTGOMERY
Infirmary Worker

The sophomore year at Hinds has been an even bigger one for Steve and his outstanding service. He is currently serving as Canterbury Club president, Circle K member, still maintaining his job in the infirmary.

He was a nominee for sophomore class president, and "Most Dependable," "Most Courteous," and "Campus Favorite" in the Who's Who contest.

Although studies and work keep him rather busy, Steve finds time for music and dancing, which he considers his favorite pastimes. In the choir's recent Christmas concert, he played the part of Joseph in a modern dance segment of the prorgram.

After graduation from Hinds, Steve will enter the Ole Miss School of Pharmacy. The Hindsonian staff wishes him continued success and good fortune.

Thus concludes the final chapter of "Pride In and Prejudice For," the attempt of a writer to prove that pride and prejudice are worthwhile feelings when a point is being stressed!

INTEREST POLE

Hindsonian Invites Students To Participate In Survey

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

"The most important task of the college paper is to inform students and others interested in the noteworthy events occurring on campus, and of off-campus affairs with which the students are concerned. The secomed letters to the editors. We've put our best into the making of the paper.

We're glad to do all these things, but we sometimes wonder what you think, or can offer in the way of suggestions to improve the paper. So, we decided to give you an opportunity in the Hindsonian to express your likes and dislikes. It's your newspaper and we're here to serve you, so we are sponsoring a survey to see exactly what you like and dislike about it.

By so doing we have an opportunity to get your reaction and possibly improve the publication and gear it more to student needs.

The survey is below. You may fill it out and place it in a specially marked box in the Public Relations Office any time before Friday.

The following week after semester tests I will publish the results in my column and let you know how the poll came out. Don't worry, if I get only one reply to the survey, it'll give me some sort of an inkling about how you feel. You needn't sign your name. Your identity need not be known. Simply fill in the survey and bring it to the office, and by so doing you will be expressing your views in your newspaper, The Hindsonian.

The faculty and staff of Hinds Junior College are also invited to participate in the survey.

"Without free speech self-government cannot exist. This is true because self-government is based upon the belief that most people will form good opinions if they are free to listen to many points of view. Enemies of freedom know this very well. When Adolf Hitler and the Nazi party came to power in Germany, one of their first acts was to destroy freedom of speech and of the press. The books that the Nazis did not like were gathered together and burned in huge bonfires. Newspapers could print nothing without the approval of the Nazi government."

This situation exists today in Russia, where the Communist government will permit no one to speak or write freely. Communist governments are afraid of free speech and a free press."

IMPORTANT TO INDUSTRIAL GROWTH

Training Technicians At Hinds

(Editor's Note) In the November-December issue of "Help Build Mississippi," official publication of Mississippi Power and Light Company, there is an excellent article on the technical training program at Hinds Junior College.

Reinforced by statistics, descriptions, and pictures, the article tells of the important role Mississippi's junior colleges are playing in supplying trained technical workers for Mississippi industry.

For every professional engineer, industry needs approximately five to seven engineering technicians. The technician is the man holding the key spot between the engineer and the craftsman in industry. He uses drawing instruments, gauges, applied sciences, mathematics, common sense and good judgment to turn the engineer's ideas into products.

In the past, the lack of trained industrial technicians has been one of the chief determents to Mississippi's industrial development program, but this is no longer the case. Mississippi is now not only keeping abreast of the demand for trained personnel, but we are also surpassing many of our sister states in this field.

Typical of Mississippi's new approach to industry is Hinds Junior College's Engineering Technical Training Center, located at Raymond, only 14 miles from Jackson. Hinds operates one of the South's most modern and efficient industrial training schools. A trainee can specialize in the field of office machinist technician, wood-working technician, radio and TV technician, electrical technician, engine technician, refrigeration technician, or drafting technician. Three years ago, under the auspices of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Hinds added courses in topographic and architectural drafting.

Machinist Training

To the increasing number of heavy industries moving into Mississippi, the machinist technician training program is the most valuable. In this field a trainee can specialize as metal cutter, lathe, drill operator and shaper, finishing inspector, metal works foreman, salesman, inspector, welder, checker mechanic, and tool and die maker.

When Vickers Incorporated established its new aerohydraulics machining plant in Jackson in 1956, Hinds conducted training courses for its future plant personnel, and is continuing to do so. Hinds will not only train personnel for an industrial operation, but it will also send an instructor, on request, into a plant to conduct on-the-job courses in special subjects. Al Beck, plant superintendent for Vickers, made the statement in an interview that Mississippi-trained technicians are able to stand with the best technicians in the country.

For the LeTourneau plant in Vicksburg, Hinds trained machinist who worked at the plant during the day, and attended school at night. Special night training is now being given for many other industries.

Well-Rounded Employees

Any industrialist knows that it takes more than efficient technical knowledge to make a valuable industrial employee. An employee must learn to deal effectively with both his professional duties and people and ideas. To build a well-rounded worker, the Hinds trainee, in his freshman year, studies English, mathematics, and science, mechanical drafting, political science, physical education, and the vocational-technical subject of his choice.

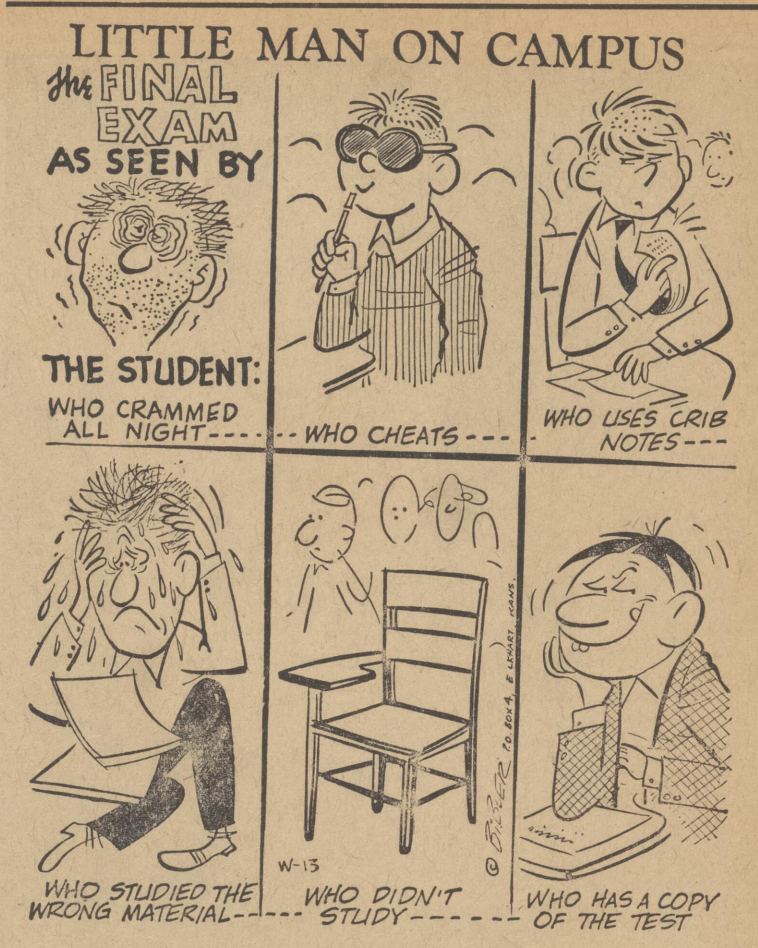
During the sophomore year he broadens his cultural background and knowledge of people through studying such subjects as English literature, American or European history, speech, physics, art, psychology, accounting. He also continues his engineering technician training in his chosen field. Special emphasis is placed on engineering communications. The technician learns to translate technical information and blueprints into workable procedures, the preparation of complicated reports and job orders, and business letter writing.

Pattern to Needs

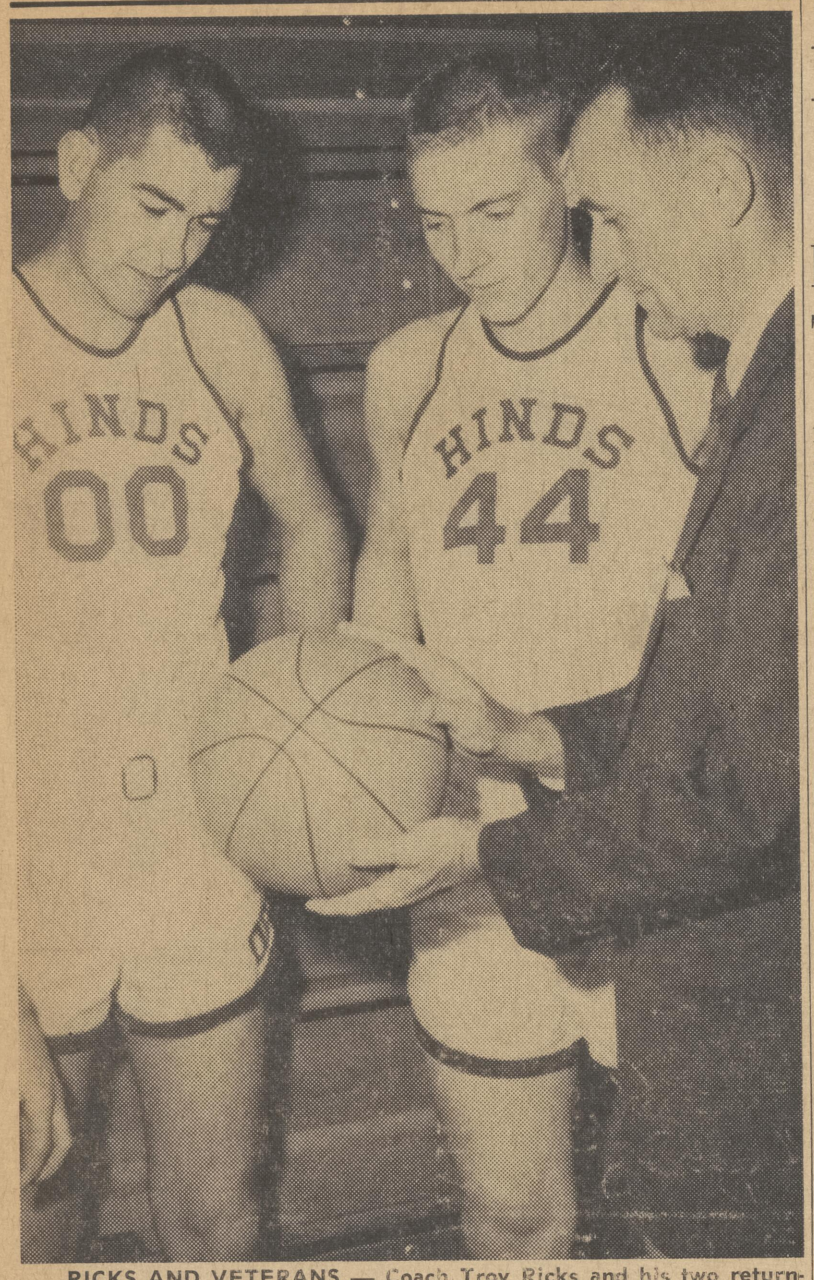
The policy of cooperation with industry is nothing new at Hinds. In its vocational-technical training program, Hinds has worked for many years with both industrial and labor leaders to determine what training is needed, and how many should be trained in given fields. John E. Gregg, former executive vice president of the Mississippi Manufacturers Association, said, "Industrialists have the highest praise for Hinds' technical program and its employees. It is my conclusive opinion that Hinds is contributing toward the fulfillment of the highly skilled labor force that is so very important to our industrial economy."

Of the large number of students trained at Hinds in the past few years, 80 per cent have secured employment in the Jackson area, and the other 20 per cent are working in industries located throughout the state.

The future is bright in Mississippi for industry seeking trained technicians. With new programs of training being established in all sections of the state, it will be only a short time before Mississippi will not be surpassed by any Southern state in the abundance of trained industrial personnel.



Hinds Eagles Seek Revenge Tonite When Faced With State Freshmen



RICKS AND VETERANS — Coach Troy Ricks and his two returning lettermen, Tommy Thompson (00) and Larry Dowdy (44) make plans for their encounter with the Freshmen of Mississippi State tonight. The MSU frosh has been the only five to put a blemish on the Eagle basketball record when they routed Hinds, 89-57, in a twin bill at the Jackson City Auditorium last month. Hinds will be looking for their twelfth victory against one loss while State has not yet tasted defeat. (Photo by Belding)

Hinds City League Team Marks Win

In the Jackson city league competition, Hinds Junior College won a two-point victory over Morgan Builders 63-61 last Saturday night in Jackson. For Hinds, Gene Harlow got 25 points, followed by David Graves and Kenneth Jones, each with 14. Mac Harris got 16 points to lead the losers.

This was the first victory of the second half for the Hinds team against one loss. Other teams in the league and their records are these: Mississippi College (2-0), Central School Supply (2-0), Jackson Jaycees (1-1), Morgan Builders (1-2), and Herrington and Bright (0-3).

The Hinds five consists of Howard Wood, Jerry Bert, and Charles Halbert, along with those already listed.

Rick's Cagers Prepare For Battle With Talented MSU Basketballers

The Hinds Eagles and the Mississippi State frosh battle again tonight in a 7:30 tussle in the Hinds gym. The Maroon freshmen, undefeated this year, hold one victory over the Eagles, that in Jackson's City Auditorium last month, but Hinds, a more experienced and educated team than before, will be seeking revenge for their lone loss of the campaign.

Coach Troy Ricks' cagers will be ready for this return battle and will have Tommy Thompson at the center position, Larry Dowdy and Norman Pace at the forward slots, and Joe Watson and Gerald Austin at the guard positions. State's freshman coach, Jerry Simmons, will be starting off with guards Mack Whyte (6' 4") of Jackson and W. D. Stroud (6' 1") of Forest; center Bobby Shows (6' 7") from Brookhaven; and forwards Joe Gold (6' 4") of Benton, Kentucky, and Leland Mitchell (6' 4") from Kiln.

"This is one of the strongest yearling teams ever assembled at Mississippi State," states Coach Simmons, "and I am trying to build the first year men into outstanding cagers for varsity use in years to come."

The Hinds five, winners of the south division and over-all runner-up of the state junior college loop last season, have shown a well-balanced versatile attack in their first 11 games of the season, but the MSU frosh still hold a narrow edge as far as the favorite role goes.

The Hinds Junior College cagers will travel over to Newton Friday night to battle Clarke Junior College in another conference tilt.

Eagle Cagers Collect Weekend Tilts To String Of 6 Straight Victories

The Hinds Junior College Eagles racked up their tenth and eleventh wins of the season this past weekend when they scored victories over the previously undefeated Perkinston Bulldogs and the once-beaten Pearl River Wildcats. The Eagles holding only one loss, had little trouble with these two top South Mississippi cage teams, and went on to defeat them 85-73, and 71-60 respectively.

In the Saturday night encounter with Perkinston, Larry Dowdy paced Hinds with 24 points. Adding to the total were Norman Pace with 15, Tommy Thompson 14, Lewis Vaughn 12, and Gerald Austin 10. Ted Long led the losers with 21 points. No more than four points ever separated the two teams in the first half, which ended in a 35-35 deadlock.

The second half saw the Eagles slowly pull away to reach their 12 point victory margin on Dowdy's pass interceptions and rebounds, along with his points.

Free throws made the difference Friday night when the Eagles pulled ahead of the Wildcats right before the half 31-29. Never behind in the second half but often threatened, Hinds used fast breaks and stolen balls to give Pearl River their second loss of the season. Center Tommy Thompson shared the scoring spotlight with Pearl River's Dave Votaw, each sinking 17 points.

Hinds hit 26 of 62 field goal shots for a percentage of 41.9, while the Wildcats made good of 24 tosses for 39.3 per cent. The Eagles hit 19 of 23 free shots to only 12 of 22 for Pearl River. Tonight the Hinds cagers face the Mississippi State freshmen in the second game of a two game series, which saw the Eagles face their only loss last month, 89-57.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Billy Cannon Gives Own Philosophy

By TOMMY NANCE

The following is an editorial taken from the January 2, Jackson Daily News, on Billy Cannon's philosophy of life. With the permission of the paper, we are reprinting it in the Hindsonian.

TOMMY

"Young people who may be led to believe that drinking intoxicants is smart and sophistacted, or that total abstinence is the mark of a "square", can profit by considering the attitude of one of the nation's greatest football players.

"Billy Cannon, native Mississippi and All-American halfback for the LSU Tigers, has made the following statement on the subject of drinking:

"When a football player is offside, his whole team is penalized.

"And it's like that when a man drinks alcoholic beverages; his drinking too often brings penalities that are costly, grievous and sometimes tragic to his family, his employer, his friends and neighbors, and in fact to all who are in teamwork with him in any way.

"The Bible says that 'if a man strives for masteries, he is not crowned except he strive lawfully.' It's like that in football. The team cannot win unless its members play the game according to the rules.

"I am a total abstainer from all alcoholic beverages because I don't want anyone to suffer by my being 'offside'."

(Signed) Billy Cannon

"The Tiger star's personal creed is being circulated by the Louisiana Moral and Civic Foundation of Baton Rouge. The idol of many American youngsters, Billy Cannon owes much of stardom to the fact that he stays in perfect physical condition 12 months in the year.

"Does anybody care to suggest that All-American Cannon is a "square" or a "pantywaist"?

We hope that each one of you reading this column will think about Billy Cannon's creed when faced with the problem of whether to drink or not to drink.

New York Seeks Bowl

New York City will be rivaling Philadelphia next year when bowl season comes around because they too have a bowl game. The Gotham Bowl, which is expected to rival the recently formed Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia, will be sponsored by the New York Mid-Winter Carnival Association headed by Robert Ready.

This post-season football game, approved by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, will be played in Yankee Stadium in New York on either December 10 or 17. By this action of New Yorkers. you can see that football fever is spreading not only in the South, but up in the North, too.

Scholastic Teams of 1959

Mississippi's Charlie Flowers led the balloting for the All-American academic football team of 1959. The team, which consists of those players who star both in the classroom and on the field, is sponsored jointly by the College Sports Information Directors of America and The American Peoples Encyclopedia. Flowers, a pre-law student, received 298 votes of the 4100 ballots cast by sports editors throughout the country.

The 1959 All-American Academic Football Team consists of ends, Don Usry of Army, and Mickey Mangham of LSU; tackles, Lou Cordileone of Clemson, and Robert Khayat of Ole Miss; guards, Mike McKeever of USC, and Maurice Doke of Texas; center Jackie Burkett of Auburn; and backs, Charlie Flowers of Ole Miss, Dale Hackbart of Wisconsin, Fran Curci of Miami, and Rich Mayo of Air Force.

To qualify scholastically for the academic football team, a player must have made an average of B or better during the last grading period.

Support Eagle Cagers

The Hinds Basketeers need your support badly and with it, the Eagles might develop into Hinds' first state JC basketball champions.

Hinds Eaglettes Clash With Highway Patrol Tonight Looking For 3rd Win

By GAIL RUSHING

The Hinds Junior College Eaglettes, fresh from their win over Russell Supply Company last week, seek their third win of the season tonight when they clash with the Highway Patrol.

Hinds has previously lost to the excellent ball handlers of Highway Patrol and will be fighting a grueling battle for a victorious revenge.

A combination of four sharpshooting aces, Kanita Stevens, Orlane Huff, Betty Jean Robbins, and Joannie Phillips, and a red hot defensive team composed of Martha Pharr, "Red" Shivers, and Gail Rushing have led the Eaglettes this season over several foes.

Other important members of the team are Mary Jean Fugate, Bert Wynn, and Bonnie Harding, who lead the team defensively; and Jackie Melsheimer and Janet Davis scoring stars.

Last week the Hinds six trompled over the Russell Supply Company girls with a 78-55 tally. Pacing the Eaglettes were Stevens, Huff, Robbins, and Phillips, with 19, 18, 16, and 14 points respectively. Leading the losers was Pat Ferguson, top scorer in the game, with 28 points.

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

Hinds Debaters Plan Meet With Co-Lin February 13

Semester end means no let-up for the Hinds Junior College debaters who are concentrating by day and night on early appearances.

Beginning as a first semester class in debating under the training of Mr. Pat Smith of the English staff, the group now is composed of a club of eight members who are continuing training after other members of the class terminated their work.

The first appearance of the team will be in assembly next Wednesday when they will debate the question, Resolved: That Congress should have the right to overrule Supreme Court decisions."

Their first competitive appearance is scheduled for February 13, when they will meet the Copiah-Lincoln team.

In their steady work the Hinds debaters have studied cases, and have journeyed to an Ole Miss Debate Workshop for training.

Professor Smith To Address Club Thursday Evening

The Lendon Players will have their first meeting of the new semester in the speech studio, tomorrow evening, January 28 at 7:30 p.m.

According to the constitution of the group, the purpose of The Lendon Players is to foster and develop better skills, better relations, and interest in the field of drama. Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the speech and drama department and sponsor of the group, has invited all old members and others interested to attend Thursday's meeting.

Guest speaker for the meet will be Mr. Pat Smith, campus English instructor and author. He will speak on the subject of playwriting.

Refreshments will be served following the business meeting.

Math Instructor Guest Speaker At Science Meeting

Miss Lurline Stewart, head of Hinds mathematics department, recently spoke to a group of Mississippi College science majors, including one of her former students.

She spoke to the Mississippi College Science Club on the subject, "The Binomial Theorem." In her audience was William Thomas, president of the club and one of Miss Stewart's former students at Hinds.

Throughout the speech Miss Stewart emphasized the importance of the Binomial Theorem, especially to physics and chemistry majors.

15 Students Complete JC Work, To Get Diplomas In May Ceremony

COL. G. M. McLENDON, Hinds Junior College President, was one of the distinguished colonels participating in inaugural cerermonies honoring Governor Ross Barnett.

List Includes 5 Evening Students; Young Men Outnumber Ladies 5-1

As the first semester comes to a close at Hinds, 15 students have completed their work and have fulfilled all requirements to receive their junior college diplomas. The group will receive their diplomas with other graduating sophomores in May of this year at the close of the 1959-60 school year.

Five have completed their junior college work by taking courses in night school.

According to Hinds registrar, Miss Mildred Herrin, the complete list of those who have made proper application for junior college diplomas is as follows:

Labonne Richardson, Stewart; Edgar H. Courtney, Jr., Vicksburg; Joe M. Long, Magee; Robert C. Roberts, Mt. Olive; Kenneth D. McClain, Clarksdale; Milton Lee Walker, Jackson; Suda Mae Jones, Jackson; Jimmie D. Chapman, Raymond; Ben Block Jones, Jackson; and Oreadus McDonald, Terry.

Night students receiving diplomas are James D. Dewett, Jackson; John R. Barr, Jr., Mize; Joseph Vernon Gillis, Jr., Jackson; Conrad Glenn Boleware, Carson; and Willie Talmadge McNair, Learned.

Circle K Sponsors Campus Projects For All Students

The Hinds Junior College Circle K Club is sponsoring the New March of Dimes drive for The National Foundation, on the campus.

During this week several projects have been slated to help raise funds. Teachers and staff members will have an opportunity to contribute through any of the four faculty-staff chairmen who will contact them.

The Kingston Trio's new recording for The National Foundation, "Molly Dee" and "Haul Away," a 45 RPM recording, will be on sale all this week for one dollar.

All proceeds from this week's events will be turned over to the Hinds County Chapter of The National Foundation.

Turnbull Speaks To Student Body Today In Chapel

Mr. W. J. Turnbull, engineer chief, Soils Division, U. S. Army Engineer Waterways Experiment Station, Vicksburg, Miss., spoke to the student body in chapel today. Phi Beta Lambda president, Jerry Horack, introduced Mr. Turnbull, who then spoke of the Russian picture.

* * *

Jackson chef George Nuzzo will prepare the spaghetti supper to be sponsored by Phi Beta Lambda in Raymond Lake Lodge Feb. 2 at 5 p.m. Tickets are on sale at $1.00 each, and shuttle service will be provided for the supper.

Blazer badges, handmade in Pakistan, will soon be seen on campus as a mark of Phi Beta Lambda members. The blue and gold badges will appear on P.B.L. blazer jackets.

Area High Schools Plan College Days For Senior Groups

At about this time every year, the schools in the Hinds Junior College area sponsor annual College Days, during which representatives from different colleges in Mississippi are invited to speak in behalf of their respective schools.

On Tuesday, January 26, President G. M. McLendon and Mr. Walter Gibbes, vocational coordinator at Hinds Junior College, spoke to the students of Central High School about the advantages to be had while attending this school.

On Friday, January 29, Miss Mildred Herrin and Mr. McLendon will talk to students from Canton, and on Thursday, February 25, senior students from Rankin County are invited to Pearl, where they will hear President McLendon and Irl Dean Rhodes, public relations staff member at Hinds.

Hinds Sophomore Critically Injured In Auto Accident

A 22-year-old Hinds Junior College student who was injured in an automobile accident, is in a "very critical" condition at the University Hospital in Jackson.

James Robertson, college sophomore from Rt. 5, Jackson, was injured last Wednesday morning when his 1959 Ford rammed into the side of a county-owned dump truck driven by Rodney W. Canoy, 24, of Jackson.

Canoy was treated for minor injuries. Robertson underwent surgery Wednesday for head injuries and a broken leg. Although his condition has improved, it is described by hospital officials as "very critical."

Robertson, a day student, was returning to Hinds for a Wednesday morning exam at the time of the accident.

24 Vicksburg Seniors Visit Campus On Tuesday Evening To See College Facilities

Twenty-four high school seniors from Vicksburg were guests on the Hinds Junior College campus yesterday.

Arriving by bus in the early afternoon they toured campus buildings and had conferences with college officials and faculty members.

CONCLUDING SESSION

Conner To Direct Final Meeting On Alcohol Education Program Monday

The Mississippi Church Council for Alcohol Education will conclude a three-session discussion clinic concerning alcohol and its problems Monday night on the campus.

The first and second sessions were held January 20 and 25. The final program will start at 6:15 p.m.

Rev. James S. Conner, executive secretary of the Mississippi Church Council for Alcohol Education, will direct the concluding session of the clinic.

The Alcohol Education Council offers a scientific study of alcohol and its problems only in the light of educating the public. The clinic will be conducted on a strictly objective basis.

There will be no designed approach toward condemnation and "propaganda" against drinking.

Clinic director Conner was born and reared in Hattiesburg, Miss. He graduated from Millsaps College and Emory University.

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION

Chattering animatedly to her dolls, she looks like any bright-eyed two-year-old. But her little legs are inert. For Mary Beth has an open spine — which means that somewhere during prenatal growth a segment of her spine failed to develop fully.

Mary Beth also suffers from hydrocephalus, or "water on the brain," but this often disfiguring disease is scarcely apparent in the child.

The medical future for Mary Beth is uncertain. There is no hope for a cure for her spinal defect. But she does crawl with unbelievable speed by propelling herself with her arms.

There are 250,000 Mary Beths born annually in the United States with significant birth defects. Each year some 34,000 infants with birth defects are still born or die in the first month of life.

Nothing can be done at this time for Mary Beth. But just as March of Dimes contributions led to the Salk preventive for polio, so will National Foundation research hasten the day when the tragic puzzle of birth defects may be solved.

Hinds Junior In Politics

The political dust and glamor of the new state administration and the new legislative session will begin now to die down.

State officials and those who supported and voted "the winning ticket" are beginning to sit down at their tables and start worrk. And all those unfortunates who now hold office have their work "cut out" for them during the next four years.

Both those who supported the Barnett faction and those who did not are united, at least, in one strong desire. This desire is to better Mississippi. To further agriculture and industry, to increase teachers' salaries, to raise the standard of living in the state, and to preserve segregation — these are the things all Mississippians look to in the 1960's.

And Hinds Junior College has enjoyed its share of the glory and glamor with the political turn-over in Mississippi.

The nationally famous Hinds Hi-Steppers were among others who strutted down Capitol Street during the recent inaugural parade and celebration for Governor Barnett.

Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, representative from Rankin County, has added politics to his career as public relations director for Hinds Junior College.

President G. M. McLendon, who is respectfully referred to as Mr. "Mac", may now be called Colonel "Mac." He is among those on the new Governor's private staff of colonels.

To Colonel "Mac", who has seen the progress of Hinds during his years as president to the position it now holds as one of the leadng junior colleges in the United States, we say it must be a grand feeling to be "on the inside looking out."

In Sympathy

The faculty and students of Hinds Junior College express their deepest sympathies to Mr. T. T. Beemon, biology instructor, and his family at the death of his mother.

Here are some interesting statistics which give you an idea where your New March of Dimes contributions go:

"During 1959, The National Foundation, supported by the New March of Dimes against birth defects, arthritis and polio, spent $16,500,000 in patient aid to more than 50,000 polio patients, many of them stricken in previous years."

A "responsibility pill," if ever invented, would solve many problems for alcoholics, according to one doctor.

But nothing can ever be a substitute for obligation resting on each individual to exercise his own free will.

God entrusts the precious gift of free choice to every human being for an entire lifetime. But with this great gift comes the responsibility of one day rendering an account of how it has been used.

To be able to choose good and avoid evil is a noble privilege which distinguishes you as a human being. A hundred times a day, you are making decisions that affect you for time and eternity. No pill will ever be found to replace that free choice.

When Lenin was asked how the Communist regime came to power in Russia four decades ago, he claimed that it became possible only through the failure of the "masses" to stand up for their own cause. Here is what he said:

"If there had been in Petrograd in 1917 a group of only a few thousand men who knew what they wanted, we never could have come to power in Russia."

A handful of brave Hungarians dared suffering and death a few years ago to insist on the return of their God-given freedom. They paid a terrible price, but these few electrified hundreds of millions all over the earth by their heroic boldness. And they gave Communism the greatest set-back in its history.

Who's Who Winner, Hinds Hi-Stepper In Hindsonian's Top Honor Position

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Tales still reach us of days when the student policy was "I'll do your math if you'll hem the skirt I'm making in home economics class." It's quite often that people are talented in a few phases but lack any ability whatsoever in other phases.

But it's mighty unusual to find someone who excels in just about everything. Martha Warnock does. Here's proof.

MARTHA WARNOCK
Who's Who Winner

The pretty Satartia lass in high school was a class officer and vice president of the student council. Besides being chosen Most Beautiful, she won the typing award and the homemaking award.

Sounds like a bookworm. No, the 5' 6½" brown-eyed beauty has plenty of time for swimming, bowling, horseback riding, and various other sports—not to mention a certain young fellow who claims a good portion of her time.

At Hinds Martha, an elementary education major, has been one of the leading Hi-Steppers for two years. She was elected this year to the homecoming court and was also elected secretary of the sophomore class.

When Who's Who ballots were tallied, Martha showed up as a Campus Favorite and one-half of the Cutest Couple. Jimmy Shirley, of Yazoo City, is the lucky other half.

Yes, Martha has made quite a name for herself at Hinds. She's an unusual girl, and she will be unusually missed. But it will be a long time before her markings here wear off.

Agriculture Club Buys Steers For Project

One of the most important projects of this year's Agriculture Club was the purchase of two steers.

These steers will be raised on the Hinds Junior College farm and sold in the spring. The club paid $165 for the steers. Proceeds of the sale will go into the club treasury.

On Friday, January 29, the club will hold its first meeting of the new semester. Planned for the meeting are the election of officers, a scheduled speaker, and the welcoming of new members.

All students taking agriculture or are interested in joining the club are invited to attend the meeting.

Mr. W. M. McKenzie, agricultural instructor, is sponsor of the Agriculture Club. Billy Denson of Lena is president of the organization.

'MEMO TO A COLLEGE TRUSTEE'

Bold Thinking About How To Organize, Run Liberal Arts

Bold new thinking about how to organize and run a liberal arts college is called for by Beardsley Ruml in a report, "Memo to a College Trustee," being published today by McGraw-Hill Book Company.

This provocative treatise, prepared for and transmitted by the Fund for the Advancement of Education, asserts that if American colleges managed their affairs more effectively they could — without raising tuition fees—improve the quality of education and nearly double faculty salaries.

Among the more striking points in the new "Ruml plan", which promises to arouse lively discussion on every college campus from New York to San Francisco and among past, present or future college students, are the following:

Courses Reduced

—Total number of courses should be sharply reduced, academic deadwood should be cut away, and a better balance established between large and small classes.

—The ratio of students to faculty should be increased and colleges, instead of priding themselves on having only eight or nine students per teachr, should accept a ratio of about 20 to 1 as normal.

—Colleges should devise better means for organizing the curriculum and not leave this function at the mercy of conflicting pressures from academic departments.

—A limited number of large and excellent lecture courses should be included in the curriculum, thus making it economically possible for every student to experience also some well-planned small seminar-discussion courses.

—The old-fashioned recitation session has no place in higher education and colleges should encourage more independent study by students under faculty guidance.

—The student's weekly classroom schedule should be cut from fifteen hours to twelve, leaving time for more adequate preparation and independent investigation.

Load Reduced

—Working conditions for faculty should be improved: weekly teaching load should be reduced to an average of about nine hours and ample time provided, including sabbatical leaves, for research, writing and professional development.

—College budgets should be so managed that, to the fullest extent possible, money paid by students in tuition fees should go directly for faculty compensation.

—Under the foregoing curriculum and budgetary arrangements, salaries of faculty members could be—and should be—practically doubled.

—For most colleges, the key to better quality education and to higher salaries is to combine an expansion of enrollments with a more efficient use of faculty time and of the college's physical plant.

In addition to the main recommendations as formulated by Beardsley Ruml, the report contains a section, "Achievement of the Possible," by the late Donald H. Morrison, provost of Dartmouth College, who died suddenly in March, while the book was on the press.

Well Known Writer

Ruml, who is perhaps best known to the public as the inventor of the 1943 national pay-as-you-go plan for income tax collection, has served as director of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial, dean of the social sciences and professor of education at the University of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and of R. H. Macy and Company, Inc. He is active in the affairs of the Committee for Economic Development and the National Planning Association.

More than $2,500 was paid by the local March of Dimes Chapter toward Patricia's treatment.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Hinds Suffers Loss Of Young

By TOMMY NANCE

The Hinds Junior College coaching staff will suffer a great loss next month when Coach Frank Young, head line coach of the Eagles for the past five years leaves the Raymond campus. He and his wife and two children will move to Pineville, Louisiana where he has accepted a position as head line coach at Louisiana College.

TOMMY

Both President G. M. McLendon and Joe Renfroe, athletic director and head coach, along with all the other members of the college staff expressed regret at losing Young, although happy to have Ivan Rosamond join the staff. "Frank Young is an outstanding coach, and we hate to lose him," commented Renfroe. "However, we are happy to have Rosamond join our staff."

Young played center for Delta State in 1947 and 1948. Following graduation, he was line coach at Gulfport High for three years. Before joining the Hinds staff in 1954, Young directed the interior football operations at Sunflower Junior College. After one season at Hinds, he was employed by May and Jackson for a year. He returned to Hinds in 1956.

We all wish Coach Frank Young the very best at his new position as head line coach at Louisiana College.

Judo Courses Offered

Courses in Judo, (also called jiu-jitsu and ju-jutsu), upon which Japan's national system of physical culture is based, are being offered at the Jackson YMCA each Monday and Thursday nights at 7 o'clock, beginning this week. A ten-week course is being planned. Anyone who is interested in taking the course should get in touch with the YMCA or phone Mike Cherbonnier in Jackson.

Three instructors will be on hand to show you the tricks of Judo. In Japan women as well as men often are taught its methods of trickery. Here in the United States, its tactics are compulsory for soldiers, sailors, and the police.

Rebels Rate Best

Coach Johnny Vaught's sleek, swift 1959 Mississippi Rebels were tagged the best SEC team of the decade by the Associated Press last week. Avenging its only loss of the season by routing Louisiana State in their Sugar Bowl rematch, 21-0, the Rebels copped 24 of the 65 ballots to gain this top honor. Placing second with 12 votes were the 1958 national champions, LSU.

The Rebels, not national champions, not even conference champions, were voted over such great teams as the 1958 LSU Tigers, the 1957 champs of Auburn, Tennessee's top 1951 eleven, the Georgia Tech team of 1952, Kentucky of 1950, and this year's Georgia kingpins.

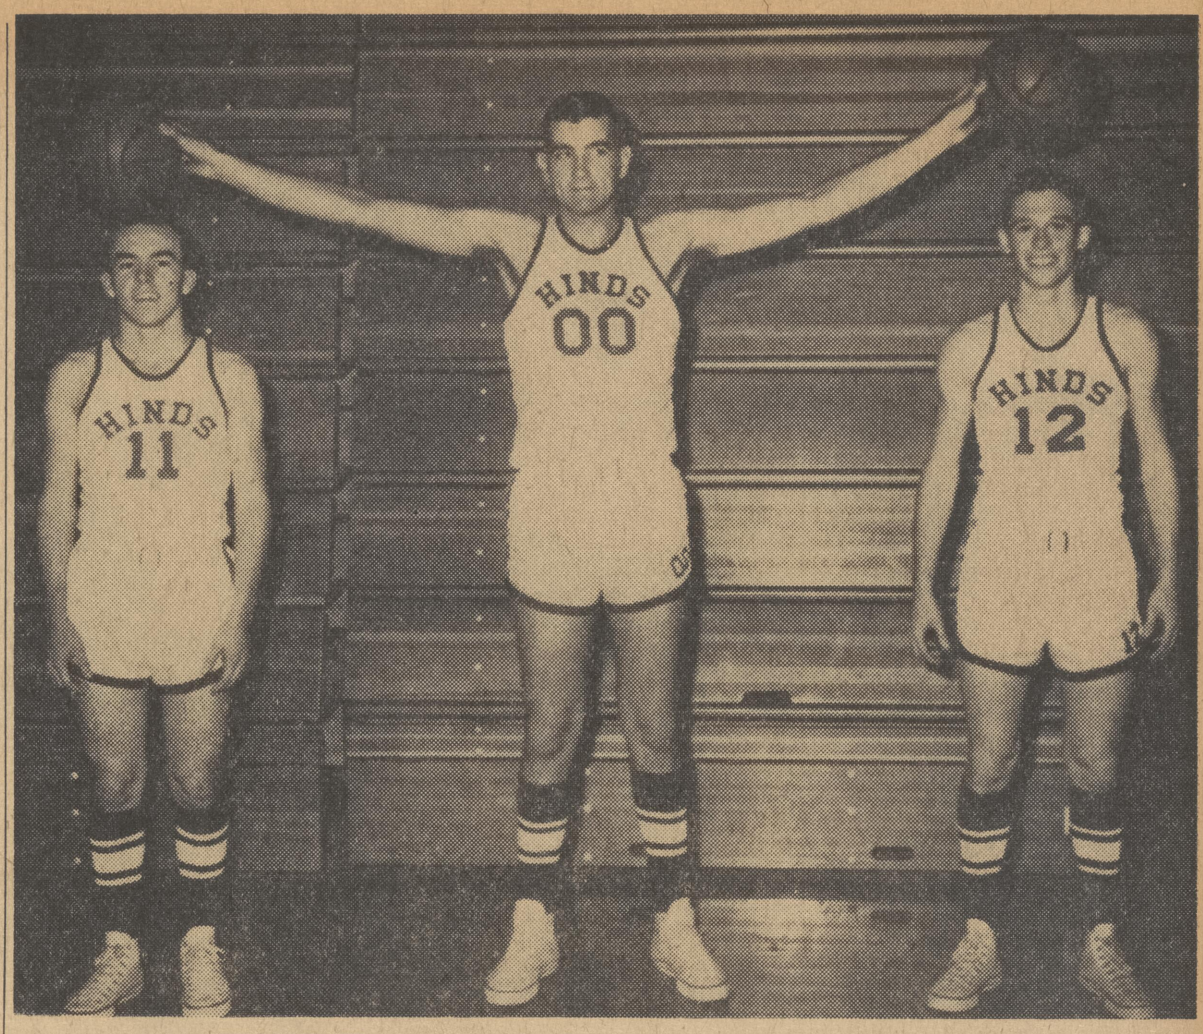
Southern Cagers Explode

This year's edition of the Mississippi Southern cagers is making a stretch drive toward the top of national "small college" ratings. With a record of 14-2, the Hattiesburg five just might cop this title and bring another top winner to the great state of Mississippi.

Through 16 games, three players are averaging better than 10 points per game. Don Curry, 6-4 senior forward from Aurora, Illinois leads with 17; John Migliazzo, 5-11 senior guard from Kane, Pa., 12.1; and Richie Goldberg, 6-1 sophomore guard from Brooklyn, N. Y., 11.7.

This Southern team, although exceptionally fast, will use fast breaks if given half a chance. For the most part, however, it has adapted both offense and defense to fit the problems presented by the particular opponent at hand.

We extend our best wishes and luck to another great Mississippi institution, Mississippi Southern College.



HINDS' TRIPLE THREAT—Three reasons why the Eagles are riding on top of the Mississippi Junior college standings are Tommy Thompson, 6-5 center from Winnsboro, La., and guards Gerald Austin, 5-7, and Lewis Vaughn, 5-10, both from Forest Hill. Hinds 5 Meets Warriors, Indians In Weekend Hardwood Battles

Hinds Junior College's unblemished record goes to the line this weekend when the Eagles entertain the East Central Warriors and East Mississippi Indians on Friday and Saturday nights at 7:30. Last night opened a three game home stand for the league-leading Raymond five when they battled the strong Copiah-Lincoln cagers.

The versatile Eagle cagers will be seeking their 15th and 16th wins of the season this weekend against only two setbacks in all games played. Both defeats were at the hands of the unbeaten Mississippi State freshmen.

Although the powerful Hinds squad is undefeated, the Eagles are in eighth place in team offense with 1,123 points in 15 games for an average of 74.9 per encounter. The defending South Mississippi Junior College basketball champs rank fifth in team defense with 1,057 points scored against them in 15 games for a 70.0 average.

Hinds has beaten East Central three times already this year but all by not more than three points, and East Mississippi fell into the Eagles' claws by a one point margin, 65-64, last month. "The success of the team thus far this season is attributed to 'a team effort,' states Coach Troy Ricks."

At the starting slots this weekend will be center Tommy Thompson, 6-5; forwards Larry Dowdy, 6-4, and Norman Pace, 6-0; and guards Gerald Austin, 5-7, or Joe Watson, 5-10, and Billy Rhodes, 6-0, or Lewis Vaughn, 5-9½. Center Dean Liles, 6-3, and forwards Bobby Coglan, 6-0, and Byrle Kynerd, 5-9, will also see some action.

East Central will be led by Sherrill Marshall, Jay Dyer, and Brooks Cox, while the East Mississippi Indians of Scooba will be paced by Miller Griffin and George Womble.

In the last Eagle battle, previous to the Co-Lin game last night, the Holmes Bulldogs went down to defeat for the second time this year at the hands of Hinds to the tune of 57-53.

Frank Young Leaves Hinds Staff To Coach At Louisiana College

Hinds Junior College line coach Frank Young has accepted a position as head line coach at Louisiana College in Pineville, La. Young will be replaced by Ivan Rosamond, line coach of South Big 8 champ, Laurel.

According to Hinds president, G. M. McLendon, and Joe Renfroe, athletic director and head coach, Young's resignation will be effective January 31 and Rosamond will join the athletic staff on February 1.

Both Hinds officials expressed regret at losing Young, although they seemed happy to secure the services of Rosamond.

"Frank Young is an outstanding coach, and we hate to lose him," Renfroe commented. "However, we are happy to have Ivan Rosamond join our staff."

Coaches Rose 11

Young, who has completed five football seasons at Hinds, was line coach at Hinds in 1954 when the Eagles won the National Junior Rose Bowl title 13-7 in Pasadena, Calif. He has compiled a record of 29 wins and 19 losses in five years.

Young won the state track crown in 1958 and took second place in the state in 1955, '57, and '59.

A native of Copiah county, Young was a member of the Hazlehurst football team before entering the United States Navy in 1943. He starred at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in 1946.

He played center for Delta State in 1947 and '48. Following graduation, he was line coach at Gulfport High School for three years.

Before joining the Hinds staff in 1954, Young directed the interior football operations at Sunflower Junior College. After one season at Hinds ,he was employed by May and Jackson as a sporting goods salesman for a year.

COACH FRANK YOUNG
Leaves Coaching Staff

He returned to Hinds in 1956. His graduate study was done at Mississippi College.

He is married to the former Roberta Selman of Hazlehurst. They have two sons.

Hinds Product

Rosamond, a Hinds JC product, graduated from Canton High, attended Ole Miss in 1946, and made all-state end at Hinds in 1947. He played at Wyoming in 1948 and returned to Mississippi Southern for the '49 and '50 seasons where he made all-conference end in the Gulf States Conference.

After serving time in the U. S. Air Force, he returned to Mississippi and entered the oil business. Rosamond has been a member of the Laurel staff for the past four years.

He received his B.S. and M.A. degrees from Mississippi Southern. His wife is the former Ann Bilbo of Pachuta. They have a two-year-old girl.

Coach and Mrs. Rosamond will live in a faculty apartment on Faculty Circle.

Eagle Cagers Collect 11th Straight Conference Win Without Single Loss

The versatile Eagle cagers collected their 14th victory of the season Tuesday night against only two setbacks in all games played when they toppled the Wolves of Copiah-Lincoln, 79-62, in the Hinds gym.

The Eagles, never behind more than six points in the game, held a slim 36-33 margin at halftime. With four minutes left in the first half Co-Lin went ahead 37-36 and the score see-sawed until the halftime buzzer.

During the first half the Hinds cagers were paced by 5-7 guard Gerald Austin, who seldom missed a field goal and sank 13 points in the initial half; and 6-5 center Tommy Thompson, who tallied 11 points to give the Eagles their lead. Speedster Jack Case of Wesson led the Wolves with 12 points in the first half.

The games' top scorers were Hinds' Tommy Thompson and Gerald Austin, and Co-Lin's Jack Case, all with 17 points. Joe Watson, who tallied 12 of his 15 points in the second half, and Larry Dowdy, with 13, were the other Eagles who reached the double figures. Jim Flatt, scoring 13 goals, sank seven free shots and three field goals to pace the Wesson five.

MODERN FACILITIES — Two Hinds Junior College students, John McKay and Steve Montgomery, make use of the modern facilities of the boys' dormitory. With the opening of the new dormitory early this semester even more conveniences will be available.

Inside Story On Dormitory Life From Daylight 'Til . . .

By CORKIE LYLE

"Boys will be boys." How true this old cliche applies to life in the heart of the boys' dormitories at Hinds Junior College. From daylight till midnight much activity is carried on in Hinds' three dormitories for boys.

Arguments about girl friends, letters from home, lack of time for assignments, and other everyday frustrations find their emotional outlet in harmless pranks. But the exuberant cries that at first drew the attention of everyone are now but everyday happenings that are necessities of life in the dormitory.

To accommodate the ever increasing enrollment two new dormitories are nearing completion, one for girls, and one for boys.

Handsome Building

The new dormitory for men is the handsome brick building at the eastern-most section of the campus. The "dorm" is modern in every detail, from the brick grillwork to the arrangement of four rooms connected by a small hall adjoining bath facilities. These bathrooms are unique with their tile floors and while ceramic fixtures.

At opposite ends of the balcony of the new buildings are apartments for the faculty advisers. These apartments are similar to the students' rooms, but have kitchen facilities.

According to Mr. McLendon, the disciplinary rules will be worked out with a house council composed of from three to five boys chosen from each floor as representatives. They will meet frequently to create a better relationship between the students and the faculty advisers.

Those students who are to reside in the new dormitory will be chosen by the administration on the basis of scholarship and citizenship. The occupants of the new dorm will be sophomores only.

Columnist Describes Former Student Sara Webb As, "Pretty, Particular"

(Editor's Note) The following article appeared in a recent edition of the State Times under the column "Up One Side, Down the Other," by Cal Turner about Sara Webb, former Hinds coed. The caption read, "Beauty, Books and Bacon."

Sara Webb is pert, pretty and particular.

She defends the right of the American college girl to find in her marriage a place for her education. In fact, says Sara, an education should help chase the monotony once the honeymoon has waned. A girl shouldn't completely give up Shakesphere for the prattle of any man, says Sara.

Sara responded quickly when we said too many college girls put their B.A. degrees in the kitchen sink, once the preacher pronounces.

"There are many ways to define an education," says Sara. "But a definition of the first order is that an education should train a person to think for himself, and to face the little problems and the big ones of everyday life.

"Just toting a textbook or taking up space in a classroom doesn't insure one of an education," she says. "It's an individual thing, since there are some people who get through college and still do not have an education. An education is a continuing thing. If a girl learns to use a skillet better than her mind, she may never burn the bacon, but she may forget how to read a book, or work her childrens' math."

Sara is a green-eyed brunette with eye-appealing dimensions. She walks as prettily as she talks, and likes to dance, play tennis, and read Hemingway. She is a junior at Millsaps and is majoring in English. She plans to teach, and hopes to write.

She has no immediate plan for Leap Year.

She was a Hi-Stepper when a student at Hinds Junior College and was reportedly as brainy as a girl could be.

Getting back to college and marriage, Sara believes one gets what one puts into each.

"Some girls want marriage and nothing else," she says. "But a girl should realize that an education will wear longer than pretty clothes, a love song, or a home on the range. No one can take it away from you."

As for Sara and marriage?

"Right now Shakespeare is sufficient," she says.

County-Wide Benefit Talent Show Features Hinds JC Students, Band

A county-wide benefit talent show was held in the Hinds Junior College auditorium Monday night with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

Students from Utica, Edwards, Clinton, Forest Hill, Raymond and Hinds Junior College took part in the program. Master of ceremonies was Mr. Walter Gibbes, vocational coordinator at Hinds.

Mr. Jack Treloar, Hinds Junior College staff member and Hinds county chairman for the March of Dimes, and Mr. Louis "Skin" Boteler, Raymond chairman, were in charge of the talent show.

Hinds JC representatives included Bill Matthews, piano soloist, and Buddy Pittman, vocal soloist.

The Hinds Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band, under the direction of Mrs Alon Bee and Mr. Al Rowan, climaxed the program with a series of dance routines.

Publication Captures 1st Semester Campus Events

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Diaries! Scrapbooks! Photo Albums! These can capture the most exciting and sentimental events of time gone by. And although these activities are things of the past, they remain alive, memories never to be forgotten.

Maybe you have let some of these memories slip by unnoticed. Take a look back over the first semester and see if you remember these.

JOAN

Students in line to get their meal tickets, books, schedules; teachers frantically trying to separate classes; a few homesick students packing their bags — yes, it was busy, confusing, tiring; but it was fun, and it was the first day of college for about 500 freshmen.

Highlight of the football season was the homecoming game, in which Kareemie Ellis, of Port Gibson, was crowned queen. Her court included Martha Warnock, Beebe Hilton, Lottie Leach, Delois Armstrong, Gail Rushing, Jewel McNair, Melanie Clements, and Jackie Melsheimer.

McLain Heads Class

In sophomore class run-offs Billy McLain was elected president; Albert Richardson, vice president; Martha Warnock, secretary; and Nancy Ruth Chapman, treasurer.

Freshmen named Billy Hunter their class president; John Wilda, vice president; Carolyn Middleton, secretary; and Kay Sumrall, treasurer.

"Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal" was the first contribution of the Lendon Players this year. Jerry Horack, as Dr. Hudson, and an excellent supporting cast offered one of the most enjoyable evenings of the season.

In a beautiful theme of "Pennies From Heaven" Nancy McKay and Mickey Coker were crowned Penny Fair queen and king. Sue Bell and Byrle Kynerd were princess and prince.

Highest honors of the year went to Billy McLain and Nancy Ruth Chapman, who were named Mr. and Miss Hinds Junior College in the Who's Who election. Twenty other students received honors in the election.

The Christmas dance was lovely and so was Jewel McNair, who was crowned Circle K sweetheart at the dance over a field of four other contestants. Miss McNair will attend all meetings of the Circle K.

Heartwarming Program

The scenery was beautiful, the lighting was excellent, and the choir was at its best. The Hinds choir presented a heartwarming Christmas program which did much more than add to the Christmas spirit. It was one of the choir's best performances.

GETTING READY FOR ANOTHER SHOW — The Hi-Steppers, under the direction of Mrs. Alon Bee, are preparing for spring horse shows, parades, convention performances and other special shows on the Hi-Steppers' spring agenda. The precision dance team is in demand for spring conventions on the Gulf Coast and Jackson every year.

Instructor Presents Recital Program In Hinds Junior College Auditorium

The Hinds Junior College Department of Music presented Miss Jean Packard, college voice instructor in a voice recital in the college auditorium, January 11.

Miss Packard's accompanist was George Walter from the LSU music faculty.

Miss Packard sang "Although Both Heart and Eyes O'erflow," and "Lord, to Thee My Heart I Proffer" by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Oh, Worse Than Death Indeed!" and "Angels, Ever Bright and Fair," and "O What Pleasure" by George Frederick Handel; "Morgentau" (Morning Dew), "Wiegenlied" (In Summer) by Hugo Wolf; "Vergebliches Standchen" (The Vain Suit) and "Wie Melodien Zieht Es Mir" (My Thoughts Like Haunting Music) by Johannes Brahms; "Ecco L'orrido Campo Ove S'Accoppia" (It Is Here Where the Wicked Pay Their Pennance) and "Ma Dall' Arido Stelo Divulsa" (When My Sorrows At Last Will Have Reached Their End) by Giuseppi Verdi.

Also she sang "Au Bord de L'Eau" (At the Water's Edge) and "Nell" by Gabriel Faure; "Il Pleure dans Mon Coeur" (Tears Fall in My Heart) and "Mandoline" by Claude Debussy; "The Daisies" by Samuel Barber; "Knock on the Door" by Bainbridge Crist; "Four Nights" by Ralph Vaughn Williams; and "Preciosilla" by Virgil Thomson.

College Receives Engine

Hinds Junior College was presented this week with a Plymouth six-cylinder engine and torqueflite transmission, given by the Chrysler Motors Corporation through Robinson Brothers, DeSoto-Plymouth-Valiant dealer in Jackson.

The engine and transmission will be used in Hinds' automotive mechanics course, which is directed by Mr. D. W. Lewis.

On the campus to make the presentation were J. Earl Rhea, assistant manager of Robinson Brothers; Earl Hamilton, District service representative for Chrysler Corporation; Roy Cash, assistant regional service manager for Chrysler Corporation; Ray Morgan and J. H. Myers, service managers at Robinson Brothers; and John Davis, Leroy Martin, Joe Cessna, Harmon Gill, and Tommy Duncan, mechanics at Robinson Brothers.

Accepting the gift were W. H. Gibbes, director of technical-vocational education at Hinds, and D. W. Lewis, auto mechanics instructor at Hinds.

All five of the mechanics who were present for the presentation were trained at Hinds Junior College. At present Robinson Brothers employs six Hinds Junior College men in the service department.

Hinds has supplied many trained auto mechanics and body men to automobile dealers in this section.

8 SCHOOLS ATTEND

Secondary School Science Faculty Workshop Held On College Campus

The meeting was opened at nine a.m. with registration in the science building. The general session began in the chemistry lecture room with announcements and introductions to the panel, which discussed the adjustments of secondary schools to the current revisions in the science curriculum of the universities and colleges of our state.

The panel consisted of Dr. Samuel F. Clark, chairman of the Department of Chemistry, University of Mississippi; Dr. M. B. Hunneycutt, assistant professor of biology, University of Mississippi; and Dr. Abbey Cullen, chairman of the department of physics, University of Mississippi.

Eight schools in Hinds, Rankin and Warren counties were represented at this workshop. The representation of the schools were Miss Bobby Collum of Brandon, biology, general science, chemistry; Mr. D. J. Thomas of Forest Hill, chemistry, physics; Mrs. Naomi Roberts, Yazoo City, general science and biology; Mr. William T. Brantly, Flora, general science, chemistry, physics, and biology; Mrs. Mary Neely, Clinton, math and physics; Mrs. E. S. Stewart, Utica, math and science; Mrs. Sue Mitchell, Byram, chemistry and biology; and Mr. Rex Bingham, Cooper, chemistry and physics.

After lunch, group discussions were held, and a general session followed with an address by Mr. R. C. Roberts, supervisor of Science, State Department of Education. The topic of the address was "The effect of changes in science curriculum of secondary schools—present progress and expected changes on a state-wide basis". The workshop was adjourned following the address.

John Wilda Heads Circle K Members For 1960-61 Year

New officers for next year's Circle K group were installed last Thursday at the group's regular meeting.

The officers are as follows: John Wilda, Milwaukee, Wis., president; Barry Marrioneaux, Plaquemine, La., first vice president; Rex Carson, Jackson, second vice president; Jimmy Davis, Canton, secretary; Charles Bobo, Natchez, treasurer; and, Billy Rhodes, Pelahatchie, reporter.

The officers-elect were elected by the members of the group at the last meeting, but will not actually take office until the fall of this year when the next regular session of school begins.

Newspaper Staff To Take Tryouts

All students who are interested in trying out for positions on the Hindsonian staff for the 1960-61 school year are urged to contact newspaper editor David Ethridge.

All prospective staff members are requested to write one editorial and submit it to the public relations office by next Wednesday, May 18, 1960.

A faculty committee will assist in selecting next year's editor, managing editor and assistant editor. Other staff members will be named at a later date.

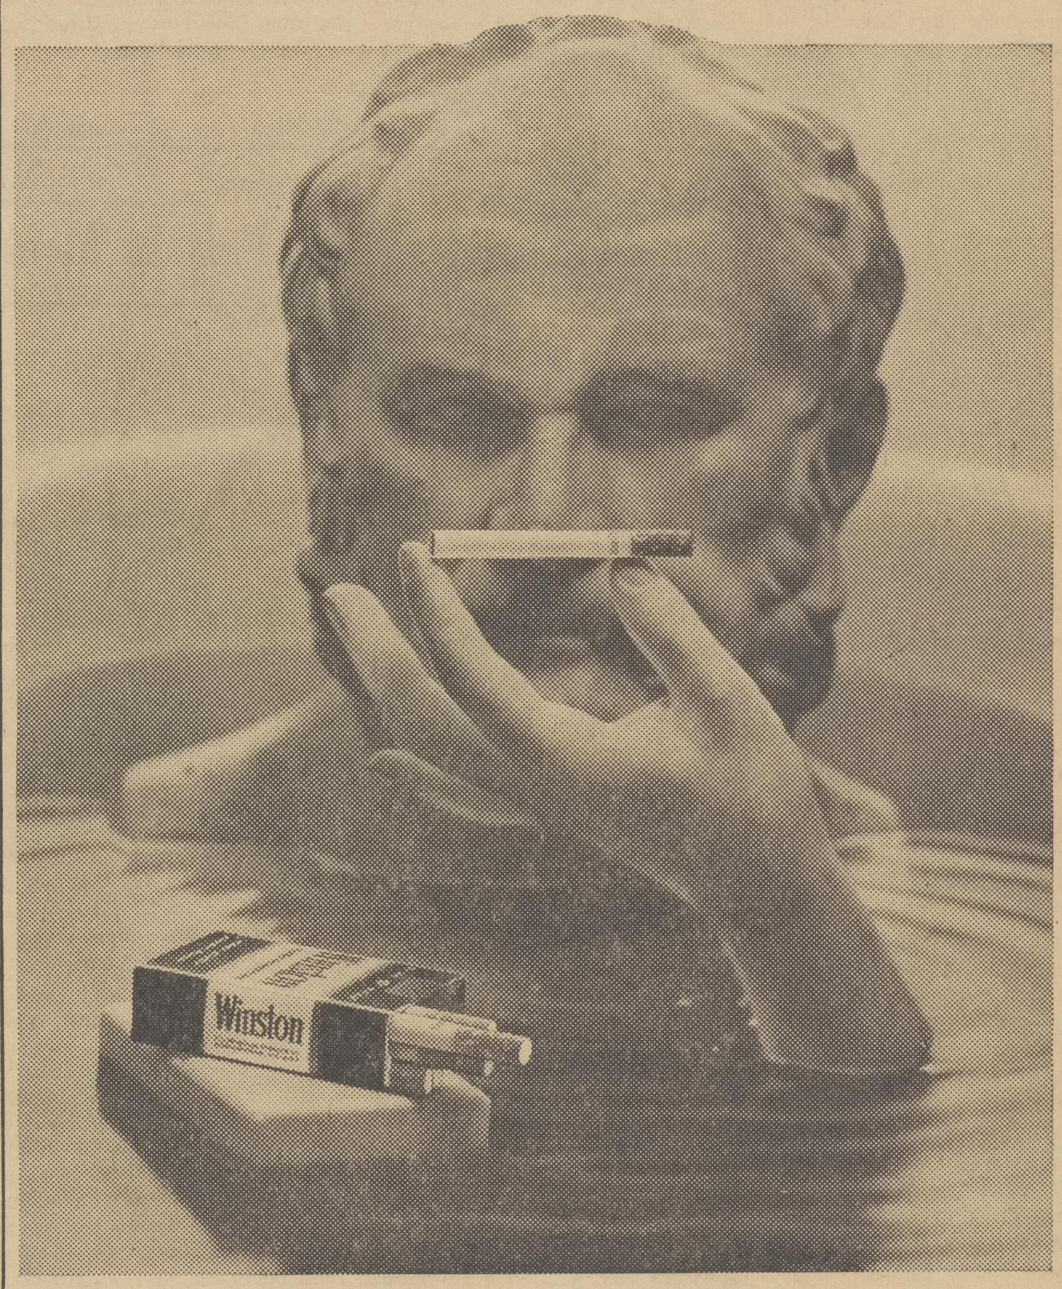
It's what's up front that counts



You can reproduce the experiment. It's easy as π. (Yes, you can do it in the bathtub.) Assuming that you have first visited your friendly tobacconist, simply light your first Winston and smoke it. Reasoning backwards, the discovery proceeds as follows: first, you will notice a delightful flavor, in the class of fresh coffee or of bread baking. Obviously, such flavor cannot come from the filter. Therefore, it's what's up front that counts: Winston's Filter-Blend. The tobaccos are selected for flavor and mildness, then specially processed for filter smoking. This extra step is the real difference between Winston and all other filter cigarettes. Besides, it's why Winston is America's best-selling filter cigarette.

"Eureka! Winston tastes good... like a cigarette should!"

Eagle Netters Win; Trackmen Take 3rd

Pharr, Huff Win Girls' Doubles In Final Net Games

Southwest Junior College of Summit walked away with two individual titles, and Hinds and Jones captured one each in the state junior college tennis matches held on the Perkinston campus last Saturday.

Winning the girls' singles, and boys' doubles, the Southwest aggregation fought off Hinds' representatives to advance to the finals. Hinds tallied in the girls' doubles; Jones' only win came in the boys' singles.

Coach Bill Oakes' Hinds crew were made up of the outstanding players from the regular season team. Representing Hinds at the annual meet were Dot Gatlin, Martha Pharr, Orlane Huff, Rex Carson, Henry Swann, and Roy Breeden.

In the girls' singles' semi-finals, Eagle Dot Gatlin of Madison captured a 6-2; 4-6; 7-5 win over Jeannie Ogletree of Jones. In the finals, Catherine Cutrer of Southwest hit a 6-2; 6-0 victory over Dot.

Martha Pharr and Orlane Huff went straight through the semi-finals and finals with wins over Jones Opal Young and Carolyn and Isabel Rossetti and Patti Harris of Perkinston respectively to give Hinds her only win.

In boys' action, Rex Carson defeated Jim Mullins of East Central in the semi-finals, 6-2; 6-2; but fell to W. M. Morton of Ellisville in the finals, 6-1; 6-0. Henry Swann and Roy Breeden lost in the quarter-finals to Southwest's John Brock and Jimmy Davis, who later went on to the finals to win over Phil Bolton and Lee Evans of Perkinston, 6-2; 6-3.

Hinds Instructor Enters Metarie Golf Invitational

By GAIL RUSHING

Mrs. Peggy Swett, Hinds girls' physical education instructor, participated in the 45th Annual Women's Southern Amateur Golf Championship Tournament at New Orleans last week. The tourney was held at the Metarie Country Club. It included 160 entries representing 16 states. Mrs. Swett was one of the eight entries from Mississippi.

With a score of 81, she qualified for the Championship Flight along with 31 other contenders. Polly Riley was medalist with a score of 72. The remaining golfers were divided into nine flights.

In her championship flight, Mrs. Swett had some tough competition. The defending champion, Judy Eller from Old Hickory, Tenn., is a member of the Curtiss Cup Team. Marge Burns of Greensboro, N. C., was a top contender as was Mary Mills, the Mississippi champion.

Mrs. Swett won her first game 2-1 against Mrs. E. J. Mittlebrone. Then Mrs. Swett was matched with Marge Burns, who at the end of nine holes had Mrs. Swett one down. Mrs. Swett was defeated 4-3. This entire match was played in a downpour of rain.

The winner of the Women's Southern Amateur Golf Championship Tournament was Judy Eller, the defending champion.

EAGLE TRACKSTERS — Two of Hinds' representatives in the state junior college track meet last Saturday on the Perkinston field were Howard Freeman, Jackson, and Mike Vinson, Brandon. Freeman, participating in the discus throw and the shot put, captured a third place in the discus throw for three of Hinds' total 40 points.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Co-Favored Eagles Fall In Meet

By TOMMY NANCE

Favorites do fall, and so was the case last Saturday down at Perkinston. Yes sir, the Hinds Junior College thinclads, co-favored with Sunflower to take the junior college state track crown, fell into third place, still a not-to-be-looked-down-upon position.

TOMMY

The Eagles went through the regular season without a single loss but when that all-important time came, the claws weren't out far enough, for the title went to the powerful Sunflower Trojans for the second consecutive year. Capturing the runner-up position was the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves, who fell within one-half point of the top position.

Coach Ivan Rosamond and his tracksters are due some highly deserving praise for they represented Hinds well and were always in there fighting for the best. Congratulations to the boys and all who have made the 1960 track season one that will be long remembered.

Rains Drown District Six

"Rain, rain, go away" was the familiar cry of the high school District Six baseballers last week, as the games for last Thursday were rescheduled for yesterday.

The win for the Central Tigers over Clinton yesterday assured the Berrymen of the league championship. Completing the standings are Provine, Murrah, Clinton, Yazoo City, Forest Hill, Pearl, and Vicksburg in that order.

State Ends Practice

Mississippi State, finishing last in the SEC for the past two years, has finished a highly successful spring practice, and nothing but the tough schedule puts a dark face on any of the players.

Called as one of the best practices ever by Coach Wade Walker, the determined Maroons wound up football until fall with a White victory over the Red sophomores, 22-8 before a crowd of 4,000, last Saturday.

Putting the damper on most of the players, though, is the rugged schedule that the Starkville eleven will face next year. Four schools which played in bowls (Ole Miss, LSU, Alabama, and Georgia) are on the list for opponents, plus Auburn, and Tennessee. Only time will tell how well the Maroons will make out but we all know it is bound to be for the best.

Next Stop: Preakness

The next stop for Venetian Way, recent winner in the annual Kentucky Derby, will be the Preakness on May 21.

He and at least four of the top contenders for the Derby will be seeking the $150,000-added Preakness at old Pimlico. Hoping the track will be dry as contrasted with last week's rain soaked Churchill Downs, Tompion, and Bally Ache will be vying for the national spotlight, come the last of May.

Blasingame Marries

San Francisco Giants second baseman, Don Blasingame of Corinth, has a new manager now-a-days. She is the former Sara Cooper, daughter of the late St. Louis Cardinals' catcher Walker Cooper.

Don and Sara were married recently in Reno, Nev. before the presence of a few of their friends. She was a finalist several years back in the Miss America pageant and will add very much beauty to Blasingame's life.

Before coming to the Giants last year, Don was a member of the Cardinal lineup. He is just another Mississippian that has brought fame back to his native state.

Sunflower Chalks Up 2nd Straight Track Crown With Win Over Co-Lin

By TOMMY NANCE

Chalking up their second straight junior college state track championship, the Sunflower Trojans edged past the strong Copiah-Lincoln thinclads 43-42 1/2 to win the annual event at Perkinston last Saturday.

Flying on the tail of the Wolves were the Hinds Eagles, who had not yet faced defeat before Saturday, and Perkinston, with a total of 40 and 36 1/2 points respectively.

Oddly enough, the Trojans collected only two firsts, but added their five seconds to pace them with a total of 43. Perkinston led the teams in first places with four, while Co-Lin and Southwest added three, and Hinds tallied two top positions.

Finishing up the scoring were the Southwest Bears and Holmes Bulldogs, with 20 each, Jones, 18, and East Mississippi, with 5.

Capturing the individual honors was Southwest's Ronald Hernandez. Setting the only two new records, he tossed the discus 147 ft., 5 in. to break the record set by Richard Price of Hinds in 1948 with a throw of 138 ft., 6 in. and pitched the shot put of 46 ft., 8½ in. to reset the old record of Ronnie Carrol, Hinds, of 46 ft., ½ in. set in 1957.

FIELD EVENTS

Discus: 1. Ronald Hernandez, Southwest; 2, Neil Williams, Sunflower; 3, Howard Freeman, Hinds — 147 ft., 5 in. (record).

Mile Relay: 1. Hinds (Wilbur Williamson, John Nall, Donny Ross, John DeWitt); 2. Sunflower; 3. Perkinston — 3:31.6.

Phillips Elected WAA Prexy For Coming '60 Year

On Tuesday night the Women's Athletic Association elected as officers for the 1960-61 year, the following: Joanie Phillips, Pearl, president; "Red" Shivers, Pearl, vice - president; "Bert" Wynn, Pearl, secretary; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, treasurer; and Dorothy Gatlin, Madison, historian. The two girls elected as sophomore representatives for next year are Maxine Womack, Jackson, and Bobby Jean Hester, Vicksburg.

For the past three weeks the members of the WAA have been engaged in a series of softball games. The Martha-Red team has on all occasions defeated the Lou-Wynn softball team. A hard-fought game was played on Tuesday of this week with the Martha-Red team winning by a score of 26-6. This ended the first series of the softball intramurals.

The objective of the WAA is to organize and stimulate a wholesome program of athletic activities for the girls of Hinds. Competition, along with the enjoyment and development of sportsmanship and character, are stresset in various activities.

Any college girl, passing her academic subjects, is eligible for membership. Each member pays annual dues of $1. Regular weekly meetings are held for the ten officers and monthly meetings for all members.

RED SOX LEAD

Local MRA Softball League Winds Up Schedule With Intramural Teams

Occupying the first slot for the second straight week in the MRA softball league are the Red Sox, captained by Jim Sansing.

Holding two wins and no defeats the Red Sox face the Yankees Thursday to defend their position. Next week's action will climax the season, with the Braves meeting the Giants on Monday, and the All-Stars playing the league champions in a best two out of three series on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Making up the Giants are Monroe Williams, captain, Roland Walker, Clifton Porter, Wade Lee Overby, Skip Burnham, Kenneth Lloyd, Gerald Keyes, Rudy Holcomb, Dave Gover, Rev. Clay Lee, Mr. Walter Gibbs, and Mr. Thomas Stricklin.

The Braves are represented by Billy Holley, captain, Robert Witty, Billy Rhodes, Jimmy Lewis, James McDill, Wiley Fisher, George Boone, Gerald Prince, Tommy Hurst, Shelly MacSwain, Mr. Rosser Wall, and Mr. R. L. White.

The following is the complete list of standings through Tuesday:

Softball League

Debaters Prepare For Tourney At Wesson Saturday

The Hinds Junior College debate team is daily making preparations for the Junior College Speech Festival which is to be held on the campus of Copiah-Lincoln Junior College at Wesson next week.

They presented a demonstrative program in assembly today.

In their steady work the Hinds debaters have studied cases and have journeyed to an Ole Miss Debate Workshop for training.

Mr. Pat Smith of the English Department is coaching the debate team.

Piano Instructor To Attend Music Teachers' Confab

Miss Marjorie McCord, Hinds' piano instructor, will fly to Louisville, Ky., to attend the annual convention of the Music Teachers' National Association to be held February 9-12.

Some of the features of the program will be Reynalde Reyes, concert pianist; Joela Jones, 13-year-old piano prodigy; Henry Cowell, a well-known composer; the Indiana Philharmonic Orchestra; and the Louisville Symphony.

Bell To Represent HJC In Cover Girl Pageant

Sue Bell, of Jackson, will represent Hinds Junior College in the 1960 Dixie Roto Campus Cover Girl contest, sponsored by the Times-Picayune of New Orleans.

Her recent honor, "Most Beautiful Girl at Hinds" entitled Sue to be the third annual entrant in the contest, which includes schools in Mississippi and Louisiana.

A ballot will appear in the issue of the Dixie Roto Magazine featuring a picture of each entrant. The girl receiving the greatest number of votes will be Dixie Roto's Campus Cover Girl for 1960. Her picture will be taken and printed in color on Dixie Roto's cover as soon as possible after balloting.

Sue, a many-times beauty contest winner, will also be featured in April issues of Saturday Evening Post, Holiday, Redbook, National Geographic, and in newspapers of major cities of the United States.

Jackson papers last week ran pictures of Sue and stories concerning her national recognition in connection with the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board's advertising.

Other honors she has won are as follows: Mississippi All-Star football queen 1959, Miss Putt-Putt of Jackson '59, second alternate in Miss Jackson contest '59, first alternate to Broiler Festival Queen '59, high school cheerleader, homecoming maid in high school, elected beauty and most stylish in high school.

Faculty Members Make Revisions In New Hinds Catalog

Data for the 1960 publication of the college catalog will be sent to the printer March 1.

Faculty members are making some revisions of material. It is anticipated that some new courses will be added for the 1960-61 edition to take care of the steadily increasing enrollment. New courses will necessitate additions to the faculty personnel.

Descriptions of new buildings now in the making will also appear in the new publication.

It is anticipated that within the upcoming session the new housing units for both men, and women will be opened.

New Dormitories Almost Ready For Students To Use

The upcoming completion of the two new dormitories will mark the end of the first stage of a two-stage building program for Hinds Junior College.

President G. M. McLendon announced this week that the boys' dormitory will be ready for occupation later this month and the girls' dormitory sometime in March.

Catholic Members Sponsor Skating Party In Jackson

The Catholic Youth Organization sponsored a— skating party in Jackson yesterday afternoon from 4:00-5:30. This event was open to other than members of the C.Y.O. who wished to attend. After the party they journeyed to a nearby restaurant for supper. About twenty-one students were present.

This Friday, February 5, at 7:15 Father Lorenzo Diamond of St. Mary's Parish in Jackson will be in Raymond at the Catholic Church for Mass. Confessions will be heard before Mass.

Annual Commencement Exercises For Graduating Sophomores Friday, May 27

The annual commencement exercises for graduating sophomores have been set for 11:00 a.m. Sunday, May 22, and 10:30 a.m. Friday, May 27. Speaker will be announced at a later date.

Participation of each graduate in both programs is required for receiving a diploma; however, all credits acquired at Hinds are transferable regardless of whether or not the student participates in graduation exercises.

All sophomores who are to receive a diploma and who maintain a "B" average throughout the entire second semester will be eligible for exemptions from final exams.

February 8 is the last day for registration and for changing schedules. Mid-semester tests are March 21-23, followed by spring holidays, March 24-25.

Jackson Student Wins '51 Mercury From Gaddis Motor

Hinds Junior College vocational student, Walton Floyd, won the 1951 Mercury Monday given to the March of Dimes by Gaddys Motor Company of Raymond.

Walton, a student at Hinds since January 11, is 25 years old and resided at 1594 West Capitol Street in Jackson. He is a machinist in the vocational department and is employed by the G. and O. Manufacturing Company in Jackson.

Test In Worthwhile Living

Final examinations are now finished for the first semester on the Hinds campus.

This is a good time for everyone to do a little thinking and give himself or herself a personal check-up to determine whether the fruits of labor have been brought to harvest thus far this year.

College life is no snap, but these are not the only examinations which we will have to face before our years on earth are but bygone rememberances.

The test which we will have to put to ourselves over and over again is in the field of worthwhile living.

In August of 1931, Owen D. Young gave the final commencement address to a graduating class at St. Lawrence University.

In the speech he suggested that each student enter upon an examination of himself or herself with five serious questions.

FIRST Have you enlarged your knowledge of obligations and increased your capacity to perform them?

SECOND. Have you developed your intuitions and made more sensitive your emotions?

THIRD. Have you discovered your mental aptitude?

FOURTH. Have you learned enough about the machinery of society and its history to enable you to apply your gifts effectively?

FIFTH. Have you acquired adequate skill in communication with others?

"Satisfactory results from this self-examination are essential to your success. You cannot fail on any item. However, if one be more important than another, I think they are stated in the order of their importance.

"Young people frequently start out quite aimlessly. They either drift from one place to another, or, having taken a place have not the initative or courage enought to lift themselves out of it.

"Be careful not to misplace yourself.

"Do not neglect the discovery of your aptitude, and finding it, do not fail to meet the sacrifices which may be necessary in the beginning to enable you to put it to effective use.

'Thanks' For Generosity

During the past few weeks a great many people have taken time out from their rigorous daily schedules to devote their energies to helping with a very worthwhile charity, The NEW March of Dimes, The National Foundation.

Now, as the month of Januarry has drawn to a close, the last dollars and dimes are enroute to the main office for distribution to aid work toward a new target in the prevention of birth defects and arthritis.

The drive, by all external measures, has met with overwhelming success and all those who had a part in bringing about this success are due a word of appreciation for their work.

To the faculty members and students of Hinds Junior College goes a fond "thank you" for your generous support.

Writer Labels Today's Youth As 'Beat' Crew

By DAY RATCLIFF

The older generation has informed us in many ways that we are "going to the dogs." The younger generation is now known as the "Beat" generation.

This "Beat" generation is not all the young people in college, but just a small part of those enrolled in schools all over the nation.

* * *

The following story was carried in the Southern Illinois University Egyptian.

"A beatnik received quite a shock from a member of the Office of Student Affairs recently.

An unclassified student was being advised for the winter quarter by a member of the staff and was wanting to take 14 hours from the same department. The staff member informed the student this was not possible.

* * *

Snapping his fingers, the student reportedly said, "Like man, I gotta have the 14 hours, cause, man, I'm gonna turn this world upside down."

The adviser leaned back and calmly replied, "Well, like man, you're still not gonna do it."

Sometimes, we expect to turn the world upside down with 14 hours in the same department.

* * *

"Well, like man, you're still not gonna do it."

It takes more than just 14 hours in the same department to make your life a success. It's up to you to make it for yourself.

Success is yours for the asking. All you have to do is to put forth a lot of effort and you can have it. So why not reach out and take it?

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Music, Dependability, Courtesy Best Describe Publication's Honoree

By CHARLOTTE PARKER

Music, dependability, and courtesy are the three words that best describe this week's honoree. These three words and the name Dot Brock seem to go hand in hand.

Dot, a Raymond lass, is a five year veteran of Hinds, having attended high school here for three years.

During both her junior and senior years, she was elected secretary of her class, and voted the Most Courteous girl.

As a freshman last year, she was a member of the Phi Theta Kappa, piano accompanist for the choir, and the Baptist Student Union Greater Council member.

This year she again serves as accompanist for the choir and is the devotional chairman of B.S.U. In the recent Who's Who elections, Dot was selected the Most Courteous Girl and the Most Dependable Girl.

Dot, a music major, plans to attend Louisiana State University and work toward a degree in music after completing her courses at Hinds.

With the wonderful traits of dependability and courtesy, we feel sure that Dot's goals will be reached.

We wish her the best of luck and success in attaining these goals.

Fiendish Killer Remains Free; Authorities Hope For Break

By CORKIE LYLE

A fiendish killer remained free Monday as funeral rites were held for the victim, a pretty young mother, who was a favorite of Columbus society.

CORKIE

The husband and three small sons of the victim were at church at the time of the murder. Returning home after the service, Mr. Irwin D. Tate found the body of his beautiful wife lying on the floor of the garage. She had been brutally murdered with a clothes hanger tightly wound around her neck.

Authorities are hoping to find an early break in the slaying, although they have very little to go on.

The French insurrection in Algiers ended ingloriously Monday with one of the two leaders in custody and the other in flight.

The last die-hards marched out of the barricades after getting a harsh army dictate to form a unit with the French Foreign Legion to fight Algeria's Moslem Rebels or go home and face possible trial for subversion.

Sporadic gunfire sounded Monday night on the black-out Israeli-Syrian border area where air and ground forces met in the fourth straight day of fighting.

Mortars and machine guns opened fire shortly before midnight from the Syrian side in the Jordan River section near the Sea of Galilee.

Governor Ross Barnett Monday afternoon proposed legislative appropriations of $3,700,000 for the expansion of industry, industrial research, and reforestation.

He announced to a joint session of the Mississippi legislature that this is the first phase of his program for the economic development of Mississippi and that bills will soon be introduced in the legislature to carry out the plan.

Former Governor J. P. Coleman said Tuesday that the Barnett-appointed Agricultural and Industrial Board is illegal.

"Everything the Board and the new director does between now and May 15 will be illegal," Coleman, now a member of the House of Representatives, said.

Coleman brought about the criticism as many of the 63-member group he appointed were replaced by the new Barnett administration.

Co-Lin Wolfpack 5 Deals Hinds First Conference Loss

Hitting on 55 percent of their shots from the floor, the Co-Lin Wolves handed the Hinds Eagles their first defeat in state junior college competition by recording a 90-94 triumph here Tuesday night.

The Wolves' victory followed by exactly one week a 79-62 win for the Eagles at Raymond who this night met a red-hot Co-Lin quintet. Although beaten twice by the Miss. State Frosh, Tuesday's loss was the first in the conference.

Co-Lin jumped off to a quick 7-1 lead, Hinds fought back to knot the score at 13-13 with nine minutes gone before the Wolves again rallied and were never pressed more than five points.

Guard Jim Flagg had 24 points, 14 in the first half, while Forward Robert Parsons, hitting on nine of 12 from the floor after intermission, led the Wolves with 26, 20 in the second half.

A trio of Eagles were in the double figures, Billy Rhodes with 18, Larry Dowdy with 16 and Tommy Thompson with 11.

Pres. McLendon Heads JC Legislative Committee

"Significant facts on education" released by President Garvin Johnston of the Mississippi Education Association show that public elementary and secondary schools receive a considerably less percentage of the overall tax revenue than it has been pictured.

President G. M. McLendon of Hinds Junior College is chairman of the junior college legislative committee for the state. With other advisory committees and the executive officers of the association, he is working toward securing all proposed aids to junior colleges.

Mr. Johnston, also President of Pearl River Junior College at Poplarville, released the "facts" in connection with the 1960 legislative program of the Mississippi Education Association. He said the theme of the new program is "Quality Education — the state's best economic investment."

He said State Tax Commission figures for 1957-58 show a total of $170,066,950 collected from all special and generarl tax sources.

For Public Education

"Of this amount, only 23.13 per cent, or $39,345,000 was invested in the support of public elementary and secondary schools," Mr. Johnston said. "That's a far cry from the upwards to 70 per cent many have been led to believe goes for public education."

Other educational expenditures during that fiscal year period brought the total percentage of the special and general tax collections to only 30.10 per cent. They included:

Institutions of higher learning, $7,304,250 or 4.29 per cent; public junior colleges, $1,415,000 or .83 of one percent, and all other educational activities (text books, vocational education, blind and deaf schools, vocational rehabilitation and crippled and exceptional children), $3,137,657, or 1.85 per cent of the total tax receipts.

The MEA program calls for sufficient funds to raise teachers salaries $600 a year.

STATISTICS SAY

Heart Disease Number One Killer In Mississippi, According To Director

By JEAN ROGERS

The number one killer among diseases in Mississippi is heart disease.

Director of public health statistics, Miss Margaret E. Rice, recently reported that 1,360 persons died of heart diseases during the third quarter of 1959.

The total number of Mississippi deaths from all diseases and accidents was 4,690. During the same period in 1958, the number was 4,680.

One of the reasons for the high rate of deaths from diseases of the heart is that the heart is the most vital organ in the human body.

There has been an increase in the number of infant deaths, while there is a decrease in death from tuberculosis. A slight rise is evident in deaths from pneumonia and accidents.

In Mississippi last year one death each resulted from strep throat, diptheria, acute polio, and measles, and two resulted from cases of whooping cough.

The only way the high death figures can be decerased is by each of us taking better care of ourselves externally and internally.

City League Teams On Top

By TOMMY NANCE

The Jackson City Basketball League action was hot last week with the two Hinds teams climbing into first place in the Women's A League and the Men's A League competition.

TOMMY

The Hinds Junior College lassies moved into a three-way tie with Highway Patrol and Pine Sol by jumping from a two-way tie in second into the top position. Each team is maintaining a 4-1 record.

In the Men's Open League competition, Hinds broke a tie with the Jackson Jaycees and hold sole possession of first place. The Eagles now hold a 4-1 record while the Jaycees and the Central School Supply teams are sharing second spot with 3-2 records.

The Eaglettes smashed Russell Supply, 43-27, in an all out rout after falling to the Pine Sol six two nights before by a narrow 46-43 score, to record their season record.

Dunn Named to All-American

Quarterback Perry Lee Dunn of Natchez, Mississippi was the state's contribution to the 1959 high school All-American first team.

Dunn and Duke Volmer of Memphis were the top picks in the mid-South, which placed five other players on the other six All-American teams. The other mid-South players are Bobby Robinson, McComb; Art Guepe, Jr., Nashville; Billy Waldrup, Blytheville, Arkansas; and John Vaught, Jr., Chattanooga, Tennessee.

All of the players, including those receiving honorable mention, will be eligible to play in the 12th annual prep All-America game at Baton Rouge, Louisiana in August.

Congratulations to Dunn and all the other outstanding high school boys who made this highly rated team.

State Golden Gloves

The 1960 Mississippi Golden Gloves Tournament opened yesterday in Jackson and will continue through Thursday, at which time the champions will be crowned. All the action will be held at the Jackson Municipal Auditorium.

The winners of both the novice and open classes will fight in the Mid-South tournament at Memphis later on this month. Five champions of the Mid-South last year will be appearing in this week's tourney. They are: Jim Ciccio, Cleveland, heavyweight; Henry Mosco, Cleveland, light heavyweight; Wayne Fleming, Houston, Middleweight; Paul Boler, Cleveland, featherweight and Lee Cannon, Lucedale, Alabama champion of last year and a quarterfinalist in the Chicago tournament.

Bennie Splain, novice Welterweight and a Hinds freshman, will be on the Jackson team competing with other cities.

City Leagne Team Takes Top Berth

The Hinds Junior College men's team, which participates in the Jackson City League, moved into first place last week with a 76-72 victory over Morgan Builders.

The Eagles, trailing by 15 points in the last period, rallied and tossed in 31 points in eight minutes to gain possession of first place. Eugene Harlow and David Gover led Hinds in scoring with 26 and 25 points respectively. Joe Lindegrin, William Nully, and Jerry Burt were also important factors in the Eagle triumph.

Hinds defeated Central School Supply, 62-52, and Morgan Builders, 63-61, for other wins during the season. Kenneth Jones, Charles Halbert, and Billy Holly were standouts in these wins.

Hinds Eagles Collect 2 Wins With Victories Over Conference Foes

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, top seeded in the Mississippi Junior College basketball standings, captured their 12th and 13th straight conference wins on the Eagle home court last weekend by edging past the East Central Warriors number two seeded, 89-84, and trouncing East Mississippi of Scooba, 82-60.

Friday night's action saw the Warriors, who have faced defeat four times at the hands of Hinds this year, take an early lead of 7-3 but soon it faltered and the Eagles gained a 40-36 difference at halftime. The second half started with a bang as East Central came from behind to tie the count and go ahead 58-56 with 7:35 gone in the half. Joe Watson, Lewis Vaughn, and Tommy Thompson paced the Eagles back into the lead with a 14 point outburst which gave the Raymond cagers a 70-60 margin. From then on the Hinds five coasted to victory.

Forward Larry Dowdy led the Eagles with 19 points, followed by Joe Watson, with 17, and Billy Rhodes and Tommy Thompson, each with 14. Sherrill Marshall and Brooks Cox led the Warriors with 25 and 21 points respectively.

Led by Dowdy, the Eagles racked up their second straight win in as many nights when Hinds turned back the visiting East Mississippi five, 82-60, Saturday. Five Eagles scored in the double figures with Dowdy leading with 20 points, followed by freshman center Dean Liles, 13, Norman Pace and Tommy Thompson, each with 12, and Joe Watson, 11.

Coach Troy Ricks' well-rounded offense and the hustle of the boys bettered the Hinds over-all record to 16-2 while the conference record is still unblemished with 13 wins.

Eagles Travel South For Weekend Games With Pearl River And Perk

Hinds Basketballers Look For Win After Conference Loss To Co-Lin

Traveling down south this weekend, the Hinds basketball five will be seeking their 14th and 15th conference wins at the hands of Pearl River and Perkinston. In previous battles, Hinds dealt Pearl River a 71-60 loss and Perkinston an even more convincing 85-73 loss.

Hinds will tackle the Wildcats in Poplarville Friday night, and go over to Perkinston Saturday night. Both clubs are strong contenders for the championship and should give Hinds a good showing.

Coach Troy Ricks will probably be starting off with Tommy Thompson at the pivot position, Larry Dowdy and Norman Pace at the forward slots, and Gerald Austin and Joe Watson at the guard positions. Pearl River's David Votaw and Perkinston's Ted Long will be pacing their respective teams when time comes for these important conference tiles.

The Eagles will carry a very impressive 13-1 conference record into these battles while the Wildcats and Bulldogs are supporting almost equally good records. Next Tuesday, Hinds goes to Summit for a second look at the Bears of Southwest. Previously, Hinds defeated Southwest, 84-58.

On February 25, 26, and 27, the South Division Mississippi Junior College basketball tournament will be held in Poplarville and on March 4 and 5, the Over-all State tournament will take place. The Eagles, runnerups in state competition last year, should be among the top teams in these two final tournaments which will decide the over-all champion.

Junior College Speech Festival Set On Copiah-Lincoln Campus Feb.13

College Students May Get Courses In Austria School

The University of Mississippi will sponsor its third annual program of summer study in Austria this year, Dr. Benjamine I. Harrison, chamber of the Department of Modern Lauguages, has announced.

Hinds Junior College students are eligible for this study program.

In cooperation with the University of Vienna, a six-week course will be offered at Strobl, Austria, near the famous music festival city of Salzburg. This program begins July 17 and ends August 27.

The student may earn six hours of credit. He has a choice of history, art and music courses taught in English, as well as courses in the study of the German language from the elementary to advanced levels. Complete cost of the Summer session is $220, Dr. Harrison said.

In addition to the formal study, Ole Miss will sponsor a seven-week study tour of Europe to be headed by Dr. Gertrude Lippert, Fulbright Scholar and professor of German a t Mississippi College, Clinton.

93 New Academic Students Register For 2nd Semester

Ninety-three new academic students, including two from Iran, are enrolled for the second semester, announces Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar. Of the 93, only 15 are girls.

Seven states are represented by the new students, Louisiana leading with seven students. Alabama is next with four; Florida has three; Maryland, Massachusetts, Georgia, South Carolina, and Arkansas each have one.

Summer Program To Offer Regular Courses Of Work

The summer school bulletins, soon to be off the press, announce the annual summer school at Hinds will open June 13, and continue through August 12.

Courses will be in charge of the regular college staff.

Students carrying the average load may earn 12 semester college hours. High school students may earn 1½ units on new work, or 2 units on review work.

Classes will be held in air-conditioned classrooms, and a full program of recreation will be open to all students.

Publication Editor Adds 5 New Staff Writers To Paper

Five new members were added to the second semester Hindsonian staff and several other changes appear on the new masthead as released by Editor David Ethridge today.

Sue Bell, of Jackson, Corkie Lyle, of Belzoni, Day Ratcliff, of Brandon, Gail Rushing and Sue Harvey, of Forest Hill, were the newcomers. Joan Williams has been promoted from feature editor to assistant editor.

Other changes include Corkie Lyle to columnist and Johnny Sumrall from staff writer to columnist.

For futher details see the revised masthead on page two.

The Hindsonian, Mississippi's only weekly junior college publication, won the 1958-59 trophy as the best junior college newspaper in the state.

Staff members on the publication meet at 2A period each Friday for assignments and each Tuesday night for make-up meetings.

Annual Staff Works To Complete Copy Deadline For 1960 Yearbook

Annual staff members have, since the beginning of this school year, been assembling the current yearbook and receiving student orders for the annual. So far this year, about 400 student orders have been taken.

At present, the annual is incomplete and the staff members are still working on it. The last material for the annual will be mailed to Dallas by February 18, and the students should receive their copies no later than the last of April or the first of May.

Sponsors for the annual are Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon, of the biology and math departments. The annual staff officers are Carolyn Sebren, Brandon, editor; Adonna Moore, Jackson, feature editor; Davis Llenos, Texas City, Texas, sports editor; Jim Poole, Columbia, art editor; Bobby Hall, Canton, business manager; Phil Ray, Calhoun City, photographer; Charlotte Tackett, Jackson, and Larry Little Vicksburg, freshman class materials; Katherine Renfroe, Canton, and Betty Ann Thornton, Yazoo City, sophomore class materials; and Sue Stevens, Port Gibson, and F r a n c e s Nelson, Vicksburg, in charge of club materials.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beemon have expressed pleasure in the quality of the work of the annual staff. "The annual staff this year has been very faithful," says Mr. Beemon, "and we expect this to be an excellent annual."

7 Institution From South Mississippi To Participate In Full Day's Activities

The sixth annual South Mississippi Junior College Speech Festival will take place at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College Saturday.

Seven colleges are scheduled to participate in the activities. They are Copiah-Lincoln, Southwest, Perkinston, Pearl River, Clarke, Hinds, Jones.

The contest will begin at 8:30 a.m. with registration. The question for debate is Resolve that Congress should have the power to over-rule decisions of the Supreme Court. Speaking for the negative will be Frances Nelson and Donnie Sheffield and for the affirmative Dannye Hunter and Richard Middleton.

The Hinds debate team and speech students will be accompanied by Mr. Pat Smith, English teacher and debate team sponsor and Mr. Fred L. Brooks.

The other members participating in the speech contest from Hinds are Nancy Ruth Chapman, extemporaneous speech; Steve Montgomery, original speaking; Belinda Hill, impromptu speaking; Nancy Hamil, after dinner speaking; Frances Nelsno, oral interpretation; David Ethridge, dramatic monologue.

The tentative schedule is registration followed by debate competition and individual events. Lunch will be served at 12:00, and an informal banquet will take place that night at 6:30 p.m., where the awards will be presented.

Debaters Brush Up Program For Top Competition

The Debate Team of Hinds Junior College will represent the college Saturday at the Junior College Speech Festival at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson.

The question for debate is: Resolved: that Congress should have the power to over-rule decisions of the Supreme Court.

The members of the debate team who will attend the festival in Wesson are: Woodrow Mathews, Utica; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; Don Sheffield and Nancy Ruth Chapman, Raymond; Dannye Hunter, Morton; Richard Middleton, Yazoo City; James Weir and Harry Rosenthal, Jackson.

Advertising's Role In Helping People On Tap In State

Advertising's role in helping people to lead their version of "the good life in Mississippi" will be explained during the industry's Advertising Week consumer education campaign February 14-20.

This national event, sponsored locally by the Advertising Club of Mississippi, an affiliate of the Advertising Federation of America, will describe how advertising provides news and information about products and services that make the life of we who live in Mississippi easier and more enjoyable.

"However we interpret it, the good life does not exist in this state and in our country," says Al Sorge, state chairman, and also a member of the national committee in charge of National Advertising Week—1960. 'Advertising informs us about the things that add to our leisure and broaden our horizons. This is not limited to gadgets that save time and effort, but also includes books, travel, music, sports and all the other things that add to the fullness and enjoyment of living."

Campus Needs Clean-up

With the "March winds" Mississippians have witnessed during the first weeks of February one begins to entertain the thought that spring is just around the corner.

Along with this season comes the traditional time of spring house cleaning and painting and fixing-up the garden and exterior of our houses.

It would be well at this time for Hinds Junior College to begin serious thoughts about some needed annual cleaning and fixing-up.

Things which are made by and used by man are subject to ordinary wear and tear, but if they are accorded proper up-keep and seasonal improvements they will remain a thing of beauty for many years to come.

What's more important to us is the fact that the visual observances of visitors usually makes a profound impression on them as to the value of Hinds Junior College.

No specifications have been made and no inquiries have been made into the cost of improving this campus' external appearance, but it does not seem that it would require a tremendus amount of money to do so.

There are several places on the campus where no grass can be seen. Instead the bare dirt of paths made by students has replaced the grass and is an eye-sore to everyone.

On this subject it seems that there are enough sidewalks on this campus to keep students off the grass.

Probably one of the other most important things which could be improved is the condition of some of the sidewalks.

Due to poor construction, or lack of adequate or proper soil, sidewalks sometimes are full of large puddles of water even two or three days after heavy rains.

Last fall a perent of one Hinds student, while visiting the campus, was said to have remarked that "It was nice to see so many students picking up paper to keep the campus clean."

You and I realize that these were not good spirited students of whom the visitor was speaking. In the fall the pecans start falling from trees at Hinds and it's not uncommon to see eight or 10 people with a bag picking them up.

We don't recommend that every student take it upon himself to clean the campus. We do think he ought of courtesy have respect for it and think before walking on the grass, or strewing loose trash on the campus.

Misfits Hamper Society

Several years ago the great humorist and wit Will Rogers wrote, "What this world needs is more dirty finger nails and cleaner minds."

Times don't change a people or the world and when changes do come they are most often evolutionary rather than revolutionary.

Yet today when Americans enioy a standard of living not even anticipated by King Solomon, it is disturbing to find so many people doing things which are not only wasteful but are actually hampering human improvement.

Wherever you go you will find people who are misfits of society and hamper it greatly through their own selfishness. And Hinds Junior College is no exception to the rule.

For their emotional outlet these misfits seek to break furnishings, windows, etc.; they seek to cheat on exams; they seek to enjoy their so called "harmless pranks" which seriously hamper other well meaning students.

Our motto is not Stamp Out Misfits. However, if you see such a person, remind him or her, "It is an offense against prudence, of course, to act without thinking; it is a much greater offense against prudence to think and not act." (Roy Regals).

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Education Major Gains Honor Spot As Campus Weekly Feature Student

By CORKIE LYLE

Curtains!
Lights!
Places everyone!
Cue!

All these theaterical phrases are familiar to the Lendon Players. And our sophomore of the week happens to be none other than the Secretary-Treasurer of that fine group, Bettye Lee Smythe. But this is not the limit of her many activities.

Bettye was a very active girl in high school. Among her many activities were a class officer for two years, a member of the Beta Club, Latin Club, Future Homemakers Association, and on the high school paper staff. She was also a member of the Forest High School Band, in which she was a majorette. In her junior year Bettye represented Forest in the American Legion Girls' State.

But Bettye's long list of activities did not end upon starting college. During the time she has been at Hinds Bettye has been active in the Westminister Fellowship, Lendon Players, Women's Athletic Association, Modern Language Club, Hi-Steppers, and served on the steering committee for Religious Emphasis Week. She was also a nominee for secretary of the sophomore class.

Believe it or not, but Bettye also has time to work in time for her many hobbies that include water skiing, dancing, reading, and listening to semiclassical music.

An elementary education major, Bettye plans to enter Lousiana State University after finishing

An elementary education major, Bettye plans to enter Louisiana at Hinds.

Good luck to you, Bettye. The staff of the Hindsonian wishes you the best of everything in the future. You are a girl who really deserves it.

Cubans Demonstrate Against Reds

By CORKIE LYLE

Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan went under heavy security wraps Saturday in his campaign to pull Cuba into orbit with the Soviet Union. Cuban officials denied any knowledge of his weekend program.

Presumably Mikoyan is spending his time in private meetings with Prime Minister Fidel Castro and lesser revolutionary leaders, whose hospitality was marred Friday by wild gunfire near the Fine Arts Palace housing the Soviet Exposition.

The impression developed that all the shooting which threw the exposition's opening into turmoil came from trigger-happy Cuban guards and police in efforts to break up an anti-Communist student demonstration at the nearby statue of Cuba's liberator, Jose Marti.

The F. W. Woolworth store in Greensboro, North Carolina, scene of attempts this week by Negroes to obtain service at the lunch counter, was closed Saturday afternoon.

No reason was given, but newsmen learned unofficially that there was a bomb threat.

The announcement of the immediate closing was made over the store's public address system as white youths paraded through the store carrying Confederate flags, and Negroes paraded around carrying American flags.

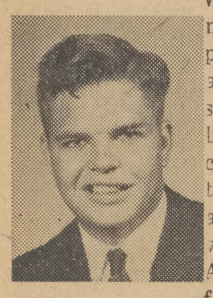
Freshman Claims Kin With Old Rebel

By JOHNNY SUMRALL

Walter Williams, last living rebel and soldier who fought in the Civil War, died a few months ago of pneumonia after a long battle to stay alive. He had lived for over a century through two world wars and the Korean war; he had seen America grow from a small country to a great power in the world.



He had seen the wheels of progress start to move, and the age of space come into being. His birth place was in Mississippi and at the time of his death he was 117 years old. When he was only seven, he moved from Mississippi to Texas.

Cousin To Rebel

A Hinds freshman, Sam Johnson from Florence, is a cousin to this last living Rebel. He traces his relationship through the family Bible which has been in the family for many years.

This Bible lists the birth date of each of Sam's relatives, their full names, and their places of birth. Just like in the olden days instead of having a birth certificate to prove how old you were you went back to the family Bible.

Celebration Coming

The celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the fighting of the Civil War is coming up this year. There will be many new books written about it, re-releases of such great movies like Gone With the Wind, and probably more personal records brought to light from old letters, and family Bibles.

Valentine Shows Affection, Love For Dear Friends

By DAY RATCLIFF

February 14, Valentine's Day, represents a day on which we show our affection for our loved ones. This day originated in the fourteenth century in England.

The English had an old custom of mating birds at this time of the year. Soon the custom was not only "for the birds." The young people of England started the custom of greeting the first person they met with a kiss. This person was to be his or her special love or valentine for a year.

Religious Background

Valentine's Day is not only folklore, but also of religious background. This day received its name from the Pope of Rome during the Claudian persecutions. Pope Valentine was thrown in jail because of his faith. While he was in jail, he cured the blind daughter of the jailkeeper. Later, when the authorities heard about this, Valentine was beaten with clubs and beheaded.

Valentine stood for the love of his faith in God, and he died for it. This day is in his honor, and in this day we honor our loved ones with special favors.

Baptist Student Union Sponsors Week On Campus To Discuss, Study Vocation

The Baptist Student Union at Hinds is sponsoring a Vocational Week on the campus this week.

According to Miss B. J. Frew, Baptist Student Union Director, the week is designed to help students to decide on the vocation which best suits their talents and needs.

The regular meeting of the B. S. U., held Monday night, had as its guest speaker, Mr. Grady Sheffield, manager of the Hinds Junior College Cold Storage Plant.

The Baptist Students urge all students to attend the meetings to discuss the pros and cons of many vocations.

MSU, Southern Release Schedules

By TOMMY NANCE

The Mississippi State Maroons and the Mississippi Southern eleven have released their football schedules for the upcoming year. MSU, who is having trouble finding a tenth foe will start off the season in Jackson on Sept. 24, when the University of Houston invades the Magnolia state.

TOMMY

The Cougars replace Florida as the inaugural opponent, but the Gators are due to return to the schedule in 1962. The Maroons have battled the Texans only once previously and were defeated 18-7 in 1956.

The remainder of the State schedule is as follows: October 1, Tennessee at Memphis; October 8, Arkansas State at State College; October 15, Georgia at Athens; October 22, Memphis State at State College; October 29, Alabama at State College; November 5, Auburn at Auburn; November 12, L.S.U. at Baton Rouge; and November 26, Ole Miss at Oxford.

Mississippi Southern College has announced a 10-game schedule for the coming season with four major colleges and two others who are seeking such classification as opponents.

The Hattiesburg eleven will face three new foes in Hardin-Simmons, Florida State University, and Arkansas State. Hardin-Simmons provides the first entertainment for the Southerners on September 24 at a site to be named.

Other season foes will be West Texas State at Hattiesburg on October 1, Trinity University at San Antonio on October 8, Florida State University at Mobile on October 15, North Carolina State at Hattiesburg on October 22, Abilene Christian at Abilene on October 29, Arkansas State at Jonesboro on November 5, Louisiana Tech at Hattiesburg on November 12, Memphis State University at Hattiesburg on November 19, and Chattanooga at Chattanooga on November 24.

Memphis Hosts Golden Gloves

The Mid-South Golden Gloves tournament will be held in Memphis on Tuesday through Thursday this week. Mississippi, holding one of the best, well-balanced teams in the history of the event, will be represented by 16 fine young men.

Members of the Mississippi team are Wayne Flemming, Greenville, open middleweight; Jerry Medders, Greenville, novice featherweight; Clyde Weeks, Greenville, novice welterweight; Murray Roark, Greenville, open flyweight; and Jimmy Miller, Meridian, novice flyweight.

Bobby Joe Smith, Jackson, novice lightweight; Roger Ingram, Greenville, novice heavyweight; Herbert Young, Jackson, open welterweight; Tommy Arnett, Hattiesburg, novice bantam; Kenneth Davis, Hattiesburg, open bantam; Robert McGraw, Greenville, novice light-heavy; Jerry Foshee, Jackson, open light-heavy; Richard Buie, open heavyweight; Jack Ingram, Greenville, open lightweight; Bobby Usey, Hattiesburg sportsmanship award winner; and Cliff West, Hattiesburg, novice middleweight.

Grapefruit League Opens

Arizona and Florida will share the spotlight in the baseball world soon when the exhibition games in the Grapefruit League begin March 12.

Four teams will be training in Arizona—the Indians, Cubs, Red Sox, and the Giants—while the rest will be located in the Sunshine State of Florida. In St. Petersburg, the only site with two major league teams, the Yankees and Cardinals begin their practice; the Redlegs will be at Tampa, Phillies at Clearwater, Braves at Bradenton, Athletics at West Palm Beach, Pirates at Fort Myers, Senators at Orlando, and Orioles at Miami.

CIRCLE K BALLGAME

The Hinds Junior College Circle K Club has extended a challenge to the Mississippi College Circle K members in a basketball game to revenge the Eagle loss that Hinds suffered in the football classic.

The Hinds club members battle the Bandits in the Eagle gym tomorrow night at 6:15 and all students are invited to attend. A 25 cent fee will be charged to everyone and the proceeds will be divided between the two clubs for the betterment of the campus.

Mighty Eagle Cagers Host Holmes, Clarke In Last Contest On Campus

Basketeers Look For Wins After Twin Losses To Southwest, Perk

The Hinds Eagles entertain before a home audience for the last time this season when Holmes and Clarke invade the Raymond campus for weekend tilts on Friday and Saturday nights. After this week, Hinds plays only one more regular season game with Jones down in Ellisville on February 16.

The Eagle cagers will be ready for these return battles and will have Tommy Thompson at the center position, Larry Dowdy and Norman Pace at the forward slots, and Joe Watson and Gerald Austin at the guard positions.

On Friday night, Hinds tangles with the Holmes Bulldogs. The Eagles have previously beaten the Bulldogs 57-53 in conference competition and 61-57 in tournament play. Saturday night's game with Clarke will be a rematch of the 91-64 slaughter that Hinds gave the Newton five on their home court.

Other junior college games this weekend are: Friday—East Central at Sunflower, East Mississippi at Northwest, Peral River at Clarke and Northeast at Tyler, Texas. Saturday night's games include East Central at Northwest, East Mississippi at Sunflower, and Copiah-Lincoln at Holmes, along with Hinds' tussle with Clarke.

The Perkinston Bulldogs and the Itawamba Indians lead the conference in team offense with an average of 87.9 and 86.3 points per game respectively. In team defense Pearl River and Jones hold top berth with 69.3 and 69.3 points. The Eagles place ninth in offense and third in defense.

The following is the conference standings through Monday night.

CONFERENCE STANDINGS

STILL REMAIN NUMBER 1

Ricks' Team Suffers 2 Dfeats By Bears, Bulldogs

Hinds Junior College's faltering Eagles dropped their second straight encounter Monday night as they bowed to the Southwest Bears 70-69 at Summit. The other Hinds lost was dealt by the strong Dogs of Perkinston, 101-74, on the south Mississippi home court.

The score was tied 10 times in the first half with the Bears gaining the lead at intermission on a 35-34 score. Southwest tallied as much as a nine point difference but the Eagles came surging back to take the lead 63-62 on two free throws by Dean Liles with two minutes left to go. From then on the lead see-sawed back and forth.

Leading scorers for the Eagles were Larry Dowdy who tossed in 22 points and Tommy Thompson and Lewis Vaughn added 14 and 11 tallies apiece. Pacing the Bears were Willis Smith, 17, Ronald Ellzey, 16, and Tommy Wall, 14.

Eagles Fall to Perk

Last Saturday night, the Hinds Eagles, holding first spot in the Mississippi junior college basketball standings, went down to defeat at the hands of the Perkinston Bulldogs to the tune of 101-74. The Bulldogs were leading most of the game and built up a 54-33 margin by halftime.

Tommy Thompson, Gerald Austin, Larry Dowdy, and Lewis Vaughn all scored in the double markers. John Long, Andy Russo, each with 23 and 22 points respectively, led the Bulldogs while Gayle Thomas and Bill Upchurch each tallied 16. This win for Perkinston gave them revenge from their 85-73 lost previously.

The only win the Raymond cagers collected this weekend was the 75-66 victory over the Pearl River Wildcats. Tipping in 20 points was Gerald Austin, who led the Eagles, followed by Lewis Vaughn 15, and Tommy Thompson, 13.

The Wildcats were paced by Dave Votaw, with 16 baskets, Edd Ginn, 13, and Sam Pace and Grady Hickman, both with 12. The Poplarville five trailed 31-29 at intermission.

Campus' Various Religious Groups Conduct Workshop Programs At Vesper Meeting

Vesper services are held in the college auditorium each Wednesday night at 6:15.

The workshop programs are conducted by the various religious groups on the campus. They are the Baptist Student Union, Newman Club, Wesley, Westminister, and the Young Women's Christian Association.

Every student and teacher on the campus is invited to come and worship for a few moments.

Eight Inches Deep, And Didn't It Snow . . .

TUESDAY CEREMONY

National Honorary Society Issues Invitations To 24 Hinds Students

Twenty-four students have received invitations this week to membership in Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary society.

Phi Theta Kappa has for its purpose promotion of scholarship, development of character, and cultivation of fellowship among students of junior colleges of America.

At the time of his election a student must be within the upper ten per cent of the regularly enrolled student body of the college division. Freshmen receiving invitations are from the "special honors" list, having earned a quality point average of 2.6 or above in their first semester of college work.

Sophomores must have had a quality point average of 2 or above on all past college work.

In addition to scholastic qualifications, a student must be judged of good moral character, and of recognized qualities of citizenship as seen by the active members and faculty committee who constitute the election committee.

The following are those who have been nominated to membership: Rita Anderson, Bolton; Sallie Baker, Jackson; Donald Barnes, Vicksburg; Clifford Boyce, Jackson; Donald Butts, Jackson; Rex Carson, Jackson; Rose Earnest, Slate Springs; Joe Ferguson, Jackson; William Ferguson, Raymond; Dorothy Gatlin, Madison, Patricia George, Natchez; Doris Hale, Natchez; Sara Ann Halsell, Jackson; Alice Herin, Edwards; Belinda Hill, Brandon;

Florence Ives, Canton; Rita Lott, Jackson; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; Lynn Pennebaker, Edwards; Gail Rushing, Jackson; Anne Spencer, Water Valley; Stanley Stricklin, Jackson; Dallas Walker, Braxton; and Joan Williamson, Jackson.

The formal initiation service will be observed in the college auditorium at 7 o'clock Tuesday, February 23.

Leading in this service will be Ouida Henderson, president of Gamma Lambda chapter. Assisting her will be Dorothy Brock, vice president; Lenda Herrington, secretary; and Gray McLain, treasurer; and the other active members: Robert Lloyd, Beebe Hilton, Nancy Ruth Chapman, Martha Pharr, Glenda Barlow, Genie McBride, and Gary Hathorn.

Hi-Stepper Boss To Judge North Carolina Pageant

Hinds Junior College Hi-Stepper director, Mrs. Alon Bee, was invited this week to serve as one of the judges in the 1960 Miss North Carolina Pageant.

Sponsored by the Charlotte Junior Chamber of Commerce, the statewide beauty pageant at Charlotte, N. C., has gained national recognition for beautiful young ladies.

Mrs. Bee received the invitation from Albert R. Munn, pageant judge chairman. The Miss North Carolina Pageant is scheduled for July 20-23.

Allison, Reid Lead Canterbury Panel At Camp Confab

Dr. C. F. Allison of Sewanee and Mrs. Robert H. Reid of the National Division of College Work led the annual Canterbury Conference February 12-14 at Rose Hill, an Episcopal Church supported camp between Canton and Pickens. The meeting was open to all college faculty and students who are associated with the Episcopal Church. A total of sixty-three persons attended the annual event.

Dr. Allison is known for his brilliant presentations of ideas at conferences as well as for his classroom work. He is assistant professor of ecclesiastical history at the School of Theology at the University of the South.

Mrs. Reid was formerly a missionary to Alaska and is now associate secretary of the Division of College Work. She holds a B. S. degree in Education from Temple University and a master's degree in Christian Education from Union Theological Seminary. For four years she was a student worker with the Episcopal chaplain at the University of Texas.

Representing Hinds Junior College at Rose Hill were Pat George of Natchez, and Corkie Lyle of Belzoni.

New Eyepiece To Improve Hinds Teaching Facilities

The science department has added to the equipment, a new eyepiece that enables the student and instructor to look into the microscope at the same time—thus the instructor can point out the things the student should see.

Also, window ledges have been installed in the lab so that protozoa, amoeba, and other plants and growing things may be planted and observed by the students.

Snowy Weather Delays Speech Show For Week

Debate Tutor Primes Students For South Mississippi Speech Festival

The sixth annual South Mississippi Junior College Speech Festival was called off, because of the weather, and re-scheduled for Saturday at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College.

Seven colleges are scheduled to take part in the activities. They are Copiah-Lincoln, Southwest, Perkinston, Pearl River, Clarke, Hinds, and Jones.

The contest is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. with registration. The question for debate is Resolved that Congress should have the power to over-rule decisions of the Supreme Court.

Negative, Affirmative

Speaking for the negative for Hinds will be Frances Nelson of Vicksburg, and Donnie Sheffield of Raymond, and for the affirmative Dannye Hunter of Morton, and Richard Middleton of Yazoo City.

The Hinds debate team has already battled the Mississippi College debate team twice. The local debaters came out of the first debate with a draw and won the second debate.

The other members participating in the speech contest from Hinds are Nancy Ruth Chapman, extemporaneous speech: Steve Montgomery, Port Gibson, original speaking; Belinda Hill, Brandon, impromptu speaking; Nancy Hamil, Carthage, after dinner speaking; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, oral interpretation; and David Ethridge, Vicksburg, monologue.

Smith, Brooks Assist

The Hinds debate team and speech students will be accompanied by Mr. Pat Smith, English teacher and debate team sponsor, and Mr. Fred L. Brooks, speech teacher and president of the Mississippi Speech Association of college and junior colleges and high schools.

The Hinds students will leave from the Hinds campus by bus Saturday morning. They will return Saturday night.

Boone Speaks To Faculty Members On Man, Industry

Mr. Wallace M. Wall, instructor of mechanical drawing and vice-president of the Hinds Faculty Club, presented the speaker at a recent bi-monthly meeting of the faculty organization.

The speaker, Mr. Johnny W. Boone, head of the Department of Trade and Industrial Education in Mississippi, spoke on the theme, "Man Has What Man Makes," and presented some of the challenges that Mississippi presents to enterprising citizens to produce to the best of one's ability, to raise standards of living, and to live wholesome lives in an area of ample resources and cooperative effort.

In addition to Mr. Wall, other faculty club members are Miss Lula Mae Fowler, president; Mrs. Neva Sprayberry, secretary; and Mr. L. K. Clark, treasurer.

Advertising Aids Everyone

NATIONAL ADVERTISING WEEK
Advertising Helps You Enjoy The Good Life In MISSISSIPPI

With the observance of Advertising Week, February 14-20, it seems appropriate to give some thought to the role of the advertising man in modern life and the satisfaction of advertising as a career.

Few will deny that we have achieved a "good life" in this country and in our state far exceeding that of any country since the beginning of time. There are many reasons for it, not the least of which is a national desire for self-betterment.

This is where advertising makes its contribution. It helps to keep us dissatisfied. It prods us into wanting better things, better experiences, a fuller, more enjoyable existence. This is not confined merely to gadgets like washing machines and television sets, but also includes books, stereophonic records, travel, and sports of all kinds. Even culture, it seems, progresses faster when aggressively sold.

The professional advertising man gains his satisfaction out of the part he plays in maintaining this urge to self-betterment. He is a salesman for a better way of life, materially speaking. Now, in an age when we seem able to produce almost anything in any quantity, opportunities in the field of advertising are greater than ever.

Your Ideas Are Needed

In case you, as an individual, have not cultivated the habit of creative thinking, you have missed a rare and unforgettable experience!

"Ideas change the world." Good ideas which are forcefully put forth change the world also, but for a positive good. God Himself gave these ideas to you. Whether they are few or many, small or great, He expects you to put them into circulation — not keep them to yourself.

"To think is to live," said Cicero. By developing your creative power you will realize how much you personally are needed and wanted in God's plan. Instead of "half-living", you will live fully, joyously, and freely, knowing that the world is a better place for your having been in it.

It would seem that when a nation or country is deprived of its God-given rights, the people will stand up and are willing to fight and die to preserve them. But in a time of plenty when no rights are denied a group of people, all too often do they become lazy and fail to carry out the responsibility of safeguarding their freedoms by creative thinking and action.

Christ asks each of us, "What is it you think in your hearts?"

The more you learn to think for yourself, the more care and resourcefulness you will show in activating your good ideas in order to help and satisfy yourself — in order to make the world a better place in which to live.

"One cannot embrace the wonders of a land without becoming aware of its problems and without being willing to help in their solution."

Even Nature has tried to deceive man, or so says the Southern California's Daily Trojan.

These are the facts: "the daisy always has an even number of petals. If you start out in the normal manner—"He loves me"—you're bound to end up with, "He loves me not."

Feature Twirler Claims Weekly Honor Award By Student Paper

By SUE BELL

Beauty, talent, and brains, all of these outstanding qualities combined with a winning personality make up our blue eyed, blonde charmer, Lynn Watts.

Rarely indeed, do we find such a dazzling array of abilities bestowed upon one girl. But we are not the first to recognize this rare combination.

Lynn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Watts, Jr., of Wiggins, Miss., is a 1958 graduate of Wiggins High School, where she first captured many titles. The titles were as follows: school beauty, wittiest girl, president of F.H.A., and assistant drum major.

Things have been different at Hinds, but again Lynn has ranked high in many respects. A feature twirler with the Hinds Band for two years, president of the Lamp Lighters' Club, a member of the Lendon Players, and a member of both the B.S.U. and Y.W.A. councils, Lynn has contributed much to Hinds.

Her list of achievements is long. Lynn, a Home Economics major, will continue college next year at Mississippi Southern. This will mean for her a college education completed in three years and at the early age of only 19.

In conclusion one can see that Lynn Watts has been a very active person at Hinds.

Mississippi Hit By Heavy Snowfall

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

Snow in Mississippi is "scarce as hen's teeth." But when it does snow, Mississippians waste no time before making good use of it.

JOAN

Last weekend one word was dominant over the entire state of Mississippi. That word was "snow."

Children showed their approval by playing all weekend in the snow, but adults were not to be seen much inside the house either.

On street after street of Jackson's residential sections, children, teenagers, parents, and pets were busy in the snow, playing, eating snow cream, having snow fights, and building snowmen.

From age two to ninety-two, there were those who were stacking snowmen, digging out old ties and hats, and touching up their creations with carrots, buttons, etc. A good bit of artistic ability showed up in some of the snowmen.

One snowman I saw was dressed like an old man, sitting head bowed, in a rocking chair. Another creation was "Miss America," complete with flowers and all that.

Several front lawns displayed Papa Snowman, Mama Snowman and Baby Snowman.

One of the most clever exhibits I saw was a snowman dressed like a modern-day beatnik, with shade glasses and an ivy-league cap pulled over his forehead.

But the most amazing one of all was a snowwoman, chiseled to perfection — completely of snow, every feature was perfect. Her hair hung in curls, her face looked real, and she was dressed in a billowy skirt, bustles and all, and a handkerchief in her hand.

The sad part, thongh, is to see the snow melting, snowmen melting, too. But that's exactly what happened early this week. And it will probably be a long time before Mississippians will have another opportunity to build a snowman.

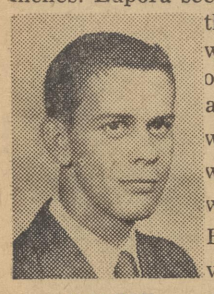
Mississippians Make Use Of Snow

By CORKIE LYLE

The heaviest snowfall during a 24-hour period for the month of February since 1901 pounded most of Mississippi Friday and Saturday. The snow fell in every part of the state except the Gulf region.

Jackson was blanketed by eight inches. Eupora seemed to have had the most snow with 11 inches. other readings across the state were Greenwood with 7, Yazoo City with 8, Rolling Fork 9, Greenville 4, and Stoneville with 6.



CORKIE

The thermometer dipped near the zero mark on Saturday. Yazoo City reported the lowest with a 4 above zero. Other records were from 6 degrees to 32.

Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black turned down a new bid for a stay of execution for convict-author Caril Chessman who for eleven years has fought against death in California's gas chamber.

Black rejected Chessman's latest legal maneuver in a 22-word ruling.

"Finding no substantial federal questions presented by this record, the application for certificate of probable cause and stay of execution is denied," he said.

Chessman, whose case has captured world-wide attention, is scheduled to die in San Quentin prison next Friday for kidnapping, robbery, and sex crimes.

The bodies of five men identified as U. S. airmen from the World War II Liberator bomber "Lady Be Good" have been found 440 miles southeast of Benghazi, it was disclosed Sunday.

The plane was found last year in the Libyan desert where it had crashed during the war. The plane had lain undiscovered there since the war.

The bodies were discovered Thursday by an American oil exploration worker, James Buckhaus, of Wyoming. They were lying 85 miles from the plane.

It was confirmed that the bodies were from the crew of the plane, lost 17 years ago returning from a bombing mission over Italy.

The finding of the bodies lifted some of the darkness in the desert mystery.

Queen Elizabeth II stayed inside Buckingham Palace Saturday for the second straight day as the hour grew closer for the birth of her third child.

Outside the palace gates crowds braved the light rain and bitter cold to watch and wait. Television sound trucks and cameras were in place, with cameras on scaffolding and cranes pointing at the palace from across the street.

A group of some 150 Negro students staged a "sit-down strike" in three five and ten cent stores Saturday in North Carolina to protest segregation at lunch counters. The counters were closed immediately.

The students, most of them carrying books to read, sat at the lunch counters quietly reading or engaging in quiet conversation. There were no further demonstrations.

Wesley Foundation Sponsors Films On Religious Problem

The Wesley Foundation of Hinds Junior College is beginning a series of film strips on different religious beliefs. This Monday night at 6:15 in the music auditorium, the first of these films will be presented.

"One Love-Conflicting Faiths", a film on marriage between a Protestant and Catholic, is the title of Monday night's show. All denominations are invited to attend this inspiring film.

Sudden Snow Hits Mississippi, Sunny South This Week

By DAY RATCLIFF

Mississippi and the sunny South have been hit with a sudden snow storm. This delightful little trick of weather caused a great deal of excitement at Hinds over the week-end and early this week.

The snow started late Friday afternoon and didn't end until Saturday afternoon. The students who stayed at Hinds for the week-end enjoyed snow-cream and snowball fights.

Monday morning was even better than the week-end. At the end of the 2A period we noticed a large snowball fight between boys and girls. We also heard a certain student comment that he liked to snow-fight all the girls.

Monday morning the sun shone brightly on the slightly used snow. So we can say that we took advantage of it while it lasted.

Jackson Sophomore G. Hathorn Heads Engineering Organization As President

Gary Hathorn, sophomore from Jackson, is president of the college engineering club. Elected Friday at the organizational meeting of the students who have selected engineering as their major, Gary states that the club will meet and sponsor student demonstrations, talks by leaders in industry, field trips to points of interest nearby, and occasional programs at the college assembly.

The first assembly program is scheduled for Wednesday, March 2.

Mr. Wallace Wall, instructor in mechanical drawing, one of the club's faculty sponsor, spoke to the members at their meeting last week explaining the purposes of the organization.

Other sponsors are Mr. F. J. Stephenson, instructor in physics and machines, and Miss Lurline Stewart, head of the Department of Mathematics.

In addition to the club president mentioned above, other elected officers are Robert Lloyd, Vicksburg, vice president; Rose Earnest, Slate Springs, secretary; and Percy Payne, Tylertown, reporter. ter.

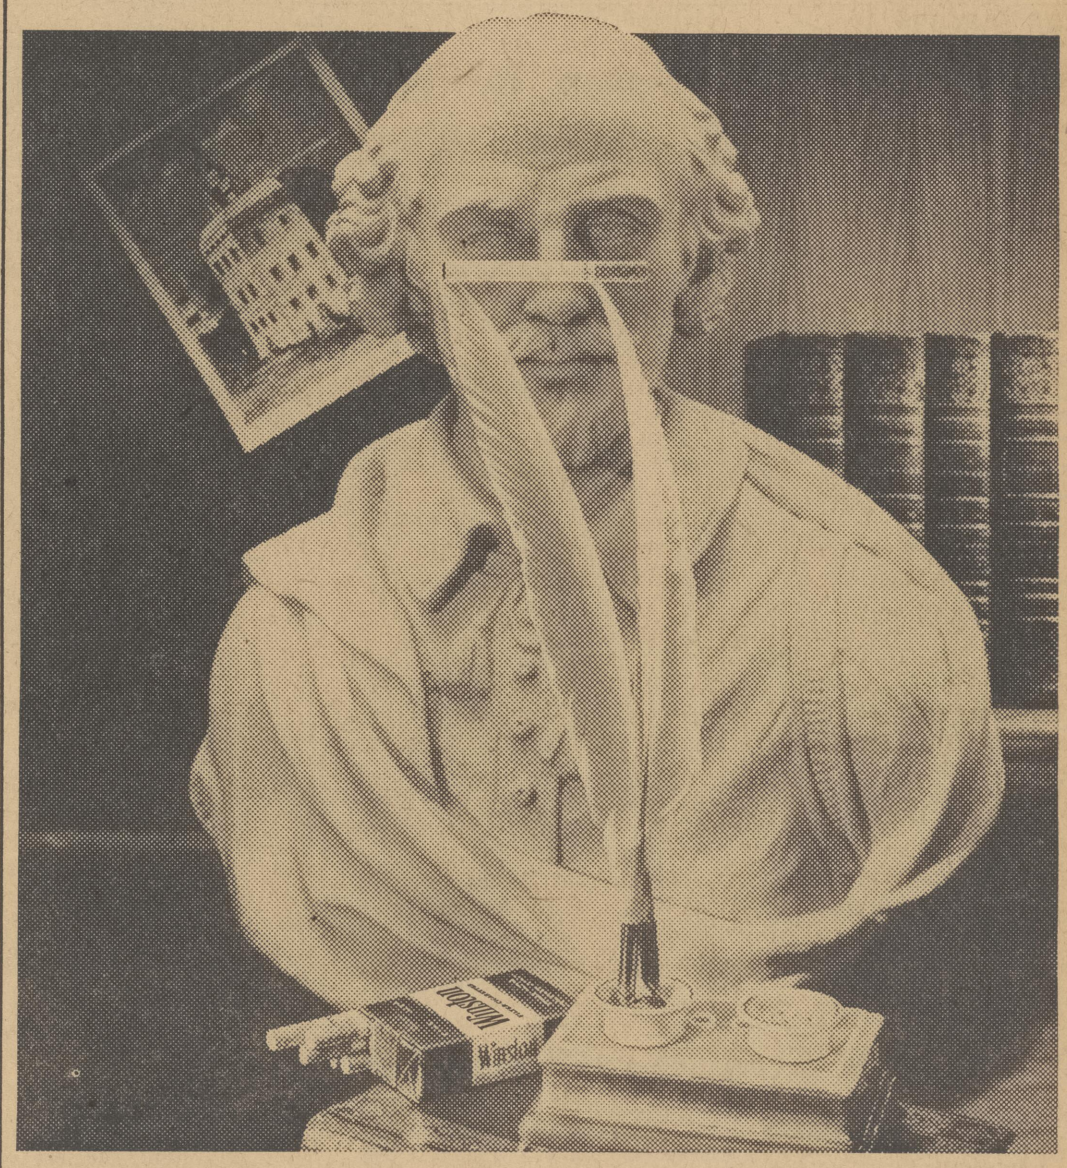
But soft! What taste from yonder FILTER-BLEND...



IT'S WHAT'S UP FRONT THAT COUNTS

This filter, be it e'er so pure and white
Must needs give flavor too, full clear and bright
Else would the trusting smoker, filled with hope
Again be dashed, dejected be... and mope.

And thus we come to Winston's obvious truth
It's what's up front that counts—and 'tis, forsooth
In that the fine tobaccos, in the end
Are by exclusive process—Filter-Blend—
Become the tastiest taste that e'er hath played
Across your dancing taste-buds, man or maid!

Be ye not slow, therefore, to test the wit
Of what we say: that Winston, friend, is it;
For that with ev'ry smoke ye do delay
Ye are not gath'ring rosebuds while ye may!

Hinds Basketeer Season Reviewed By Paper Staff's Sports Writer

By TOMMY NANCE

This year's edition of the Hinds Junior College basketball team climbed into the top spot in state junior college competition early in the season and held first place through the rest of the year.

Beginning with three straight tournament wins over East Central, Holmes, and again over the Warriors of East Central, the Hinds bounceballers copped the first athletic trophy of the current school year by taking top honors in the Holmes Holiday Tournament.

After adding two more victories to the Eagle string, the undefeated Raymond cagers faced the Mississippi State frosh in a double header with the varsity of Mississippi State and Louisiana Tech but went down to their first defeat, 89-57.

Revenging the only Eagle setback, a new win streak began with a three point margin victory over the Decatur five, for the third straight time this season. Other wins during this streak came over East Mississippi, 65-64; Southwest, 84-58; Sunflower, 95-61; Pearl River, 71-60; and Perkinston, 85-73.

If at first you don't succeed, try and try again. But the Hinds cagers still needed another try after the Eagles suffered their worst setback on the birdsmen home court, 101-69, at the hands of the freshmen of Mississippi State.

Clark, Holmes, and Copiah-Lincoln were the next victims of Hinds as the Eagles racked up their twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth victories of the season. The Eagles had little trouble with the Clarke five as they tore into the Clarke defense with a 91-64 score.

The high-flying Eagles turned back the East Central Warriors for the fourth time this season as they took a 89-84 decision in the Raymond gym. The second weekend tilt saw East Mississippi fall to defeat, 82-60, before a much more experienced Hinds five.

More recent games saw Hinds lose to Co-Lin, Perkinston, and Southwest, while capturing a single win over Pearl River.

Olympics Held In Squaw Valley

By TOMMY NANCE

The once cow-grazed meadow at Squaw Valley, California has turned into a sportsman paradise for the 1960 Winter Oympic Games. With the threat of floods, as rain poured into the valley early of last week, gone, 800 athletes representing 30 national teams will be ready for this Thursday's opening.

TOMMY

It will be the first Olympic competition held in America in 28 years and, probably because of this, problems have arisen in the last several days which have meant trouble. The roof of the new 4 million dollar ice arena developed leaks, an avanlanche completely blocked the main highway from San Francisco; and the torrential rains, which were dumped on the buildings as well as ski runs and ice rinks, tormented the officials with a thought of floods. These were only a few of the problems which the workers had to figure out.

The Squaw Valley layout, except for cross-country courses, is tucked into a tight, 640-acre complex at the western end of the valley. The opening ceremonies, officiated by Vice President Nixon, will take place in the central ice arena. Among the other many facilities are: speed-skating oval, spectator centers, ice hockey rinks, administration building and score tabulation center, press building, officials' housing, practice rink, Olympic Village, ski jump, chair lift, ladies' giant slalom course, ladies' slalom, Pomalift, ladies' downhill, men's slalom, chair lift, men's giant slalom, men's downhill, chair lift, tram, and chair lift. The cross-country events take place at McKinney Creek, 12 miles from the valley.

The United States will be in the running as New York's Carol Heiss tries for her fifth world title in the ladies' figure skating. Another good bet for an American gold medal is Colorado Springs' David Jenkins, also a world champion figure skater.

The Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley will be seen by more people than ever, and once again a wonderful show is promised.

Wilt Loses Ground

Just as the surprising snow storm in central and southern Mississippi caused Brookhaven's Panthers to forfeit the consolation game to Meridian in the overall Big Eight Championship, the absence of injured Wilt Chamberlain might cause him to lose his scoring leadership in the National Basketball Association to Cincinnati's Jack Twyman.

Twyman, who tallied 38 points last Friday night as the Royals beat the Detroit Pistons, 133-101 for their second consecutive victory, has accumulated 1,945 points to Chamberlain's 2,137. A total of 192 points is the only thing standing in the way of Twyman's leadership in the NBA, and if the Cincinnati Royals continue as they have in the past few games, there might be a new scoring leader.

All-Star Game Set

The date, August 5, has been set for the 11th annual Mississippi All-Star High School Football game, sponsored by the Jackson Touchdown Club. Hinds Memorial Stadium or Tiger Stadium may be the possible site for this upcoming event. In case the construction has not begun on revamping the Memorial Stadium, the contest will be held there, otherwise, it will be held in Tiger Stadium.

Dr. John Evans was named chairman of the 1960 game by club president, Jim Neal. Jim Roden, Jackson sports writer, will serve as publicity director during the coming year.

M.R.A. Tourney

The Men's Recreational Association, headed by Coaches Eddy Rogers and Earl Leggett, will be in the middle of their intramural basketball tournaments next week, when the Falcons, Owls, Eagles, and the Hawks battle for the championship.

The teams have been practicing for several weeks and should be ready for this final tournament.

All members of this association are urged to attend the very important upcoming meetings on every other Tuesday night at 6:00 in the boys' physical education classroom in the gymnasium.

Eagles Win Over Bulldogs To Take 18th Season Win

The Hinds Junior College Eagles copped their 18th win of the campaign, when they tore into the Goodman five Friday night 73-63. Led by Larry Dowdy, the Eagles had built up a ten point difference and at halftime led 40-30.

Second half action saw the Ricks five suffer as the Bulldogs climbed within smiling distance but the scoring of Billy Rhodes and Gerald Austin kept the Raymond cagers in a comfortable lead.

Statistics-wise, Hinds hit 32 of 68 shots from the field for 47 percent, while Holmes hit 29 of 72 and 40 percent. Holmes was paced by Guy Davis, 17, Harbuck, 16, and J. E. Cwindle with 14 points.

Other results of the weekend are: East Central—98, Sunflower—87; Clarke—73, Pearl River—71; Tyler, Texas—108, Northeast—81; and Northwest—96, East Mississippi—94.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards...as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant...and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

Phi Theta Kappa Pledges Participate In Program

17 Freshmen, 4 Sophomores Take Vows For Gamma Lambda Membership

In a setting of candlelight and soft organ music, in the college auditorium, the formal initiation ceremony of Phi Theta Kappa pledges was observed last night at 7 o'clock.

Seventeen freshmen and four sophomores took the membership vows administered by Ouida Henderson, president of the local chapter. Dorothy Brock, vice-president, lighted the torch symbolic of the light of learning. Lenda Herrington, secretary, presented each new member with a white flower as a token of purity of life, a Phi Theta Kappa ideal. Gray McLain, treasurer, read the scripture for the service.

Other active members taking part in the initiation rites were Robert Lloyd, Beebe Hilton, Minna Farrar, Nancy Chapman, Martha Pharr, Glenda Barlow, Genie McBride, and Gary Hathorn.

Freshmen receiving membership were Rita Anderson, Sallie Baker, Clifford Boyce, Donald Butts, Rex Carson, Rose Earnest, Joe Ferguson, Dorothy Gatlin, Patricia George, Sara Ann Halsell, Belinda Hill, Florence Ives, Frances Nelson, Gail Rushing, Anne Spencer, Dallas Walker, and Joan Williamson.

Sophomores initiated were William Ferguson, Alice Herrin, Doris Hale, and Lynn Pennebaker.

At the close of the service, Mrs. Carol Jean Benton, Phi Theta Kappa alumna, sang the national song of the organization, and refreshments were served to friends and relatives of the honorees.

Students To Get JC Diplomas Must Make Application

Students wishing to take junior college diplomas at the end of the current session (May 27) MUST make their applications by Tuesday, March 1. Orders for the May diplomas will be entered with the company on Tuesday, March 1. The next order following the March 1 order will be for the summer graduates (order to be entered in June). Making an application for a diploma consists of checking requirements for graduation in the registrar's office and depositing a $10 Graduation Fee to cover the cost of the diploma, cap and gown with the business office.

Students ACTUALLY TAKING DIPLOMAS in May will be entitled to exemption from their final examinations at the close of school provided their semester average in a given subject is not below "B". Graduation exercises are scheduled for Sunday, May 22 (11 o'clock in the morning) and Friday, May 27 (10:30 in the morning). Participation in exercises is ESSENTIAL to the receiving of diplomas and for exemption privileges.

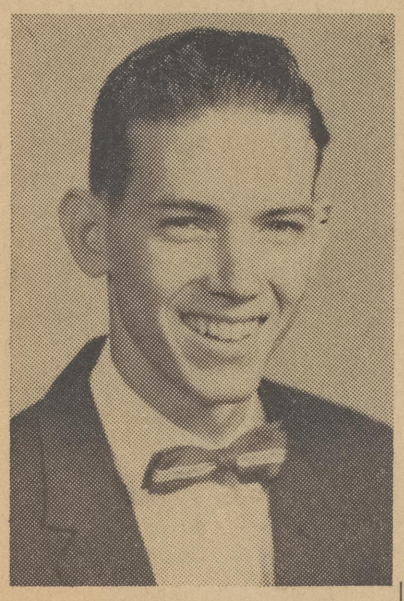
James Robertson Continues To Recover From Automobile Wreck



JAMES ROBERTSON Continues To Recover

James Robertson, 22-year old Hinds Junior College sophomore who was critically injured in an automobile accident, January 22, is progressing very well.

Robertson, a day student, underwent surgery for head injuries and a broken leg. His mother, Mrs. J. E. Robertson from Rt. 5, Jackson, says that she appreciates the interest, visits, and telephone calls and reports that he is getting better.

Robertson was returning to Hinds for a Wednesday morning exam when his 1959 Ford rammed into the side of a county-owned dump truck driven by Rodney W. Canoy, 24, of Jackson.

Canoy was treated for minor injuries.

Local Students Tie For Second Place In South Mississippi Speech Festival

In the recent junior college speech festival held at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College, Perkinston copped first place in over-all events with a three way tie involving Hinds, Southwest, and Jones gaining second place honors.

Third place went to Clarke Junior College of Newton.

Representing Hinds at the festival were Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; Donnie Shffield, Raymond; Dannye Hunter, Morton and Richard Middleton, all of whom participated in the debating.

Other members in the speech contest were Nancy Ruth Chapman, extemporaneous speech; Steve Montgomery, original speaking; Belinda Hill, imprompu speaking; Nancy Hamil, after dinner speaking; and David Ethridge, monologue.

Hinds placed second in two divisions, with Nancy Ruth Chapman in extemporaneous speaking, and David Ethridge in dramatic monologue. Placing third were two other Hindsonians, Steve Montgomery in original speaking, and Nancy Hamil in after dinner speaking.

Is Speech Festival Farce?

This past weekend the South Mississippi Junior College Speech Festival was held at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College at Wesson, Mississippi.

The festival itself was previously scheduled for the Saturday preceeding the actual meet, but because of heavy snow it had to be postponed for one week. With the postponement, nine qualified judges, all skilled in the arts of speech and debate, had to decline their invitations to judge because of previous commitments for that week.

In their place was substituted nine other judges, only one of whom actually was a speech teacher.

Saturday night, when the final banquet was over, the weary Hinds delegation rode home from the festival without debate trophy, over-all individual events cup, or one individual award.

All the awards had been given, and Hinds was not on the receiving list. For this reason, this editorial is not written to gain either sympathy or praise, only to point out a few facts which to us are appalling.

On a college level, one would not think of having referees for athletic events who were not qualified and thoroughly skilled in the nature of their work. In a music festival, only those who have attained the knowledge of their profession are acceptable for judges.

If this is so, why must speech events be different? Cannot we see that the real purpose of such competition is not for glory, but for students to gain valuable experience from the occasion? Is it not obvious that a farce with well-meaning but naive judges does more harm than good?

The state speech teachers from the junior colleges in the state meet in Jackson each December before Youth Congress to draw up rules for the spring speech festival.

When judges are not acquainted with these rules, when they are not familiar with the area of speech, when only one judge in nine is a speech teacher, is it possible to render a fair decision?

The Hinds debate team has been working faithfully since last September gathering material and engaging in preliminary debates, under the capable direction of Mr. Pat Smith, campus English instructor. They have won contests with Mississippi College, a skilled senior college group which has debated throughout the south.

Several of the debate judges at the festival had never even seen a debate. One judge was quoted as saying that she judged the debate solely on presentation. (We should know it is not presentation that wins a debate. It is the number of points you make in defense of your side of the question.)

Mr. Fred L. Brooks, president of the Mississippi Speech Association and head of the Hinds speech and drama departments, said, "Before I went to the festival, I would not get my hopes too high, because I didn't know what kind of competition we'd have. After I saw the competition, I firmly believe we deserved to get the overall individual events award."

In the after dinner speech category the judge stated that she agreed that the Hinds representative had the best speech and the best presentation, but because she rolled her eyes and projected her voice softly, she was ruled third place winner. (It might be pointed out that she did so for emphasis in her speech as it was satire of different personalities.)

There are many other clear cut cases which we will not go into. Our final question is simply, was the festival a farce?

In light of the facts stated above we can reach but one answer. It hurts not only the loser, but the people who were wrongly judged winner. It does so because they firmly believe this to be true and will have a sad day of awakening when they reach senior college.

Ike Disembarks Upon American Goodwill Mission

By CORKIE LYLE

President Eisenhower told his fellow Americans Sunday night they can be resolute and unafraid — that the national defense is an indestructible "trustworthy shield of peace."

CORKIE

Eisenhower spoke out in support of the defense program in a nation-wide radio-TV address on the eve of his departure Monday morning on a goodwill mission to four South American countries.

He had some assurances for these nations, too. He said he realizes they have many perplexing problems and that he is ready to discuss them on the trip.

President Eisenhower will visit Brazil, Uruguay, Chile, and Argentina.

Negro and white youths played softball together in Punta Gorda, Florida, Sunday for the first time, before racially mixed spectators, mostly girls.

Some 50 Negro youths appeared at the Bayfront Park and played with 30 white youths without incidents, police said.

City officials were reported unhappy about the event but didn't know how to stop it.

A pretty Welsh brunette said last Sunday a much-publicized race between identical twin brothers—to decide which would lead her to the altar—was a hoax.

Jean Gowans, 19, gave this account: "We dreamed the whole thing up. It was a hoax from the start. We wanted to put Bangor, my hometown, on the map but we only expected the story to get in local Welsh papers."

Instead, the announced 104-mile race between Vaughn and Howard Clarke was given world-wide attention.

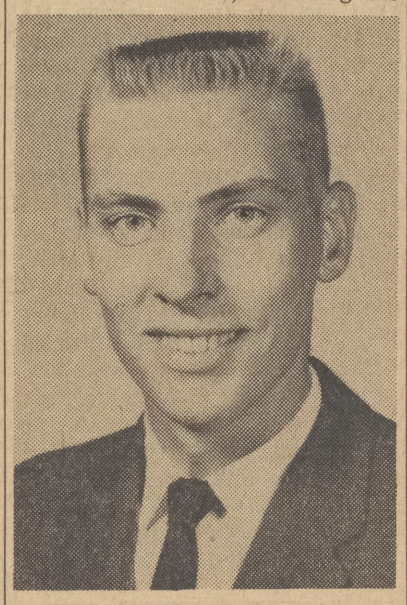
Basketball Star, M R A President Seeks Ball Scholarship For Future

By TOMMY NANCE

Take a flat surface area, around 50 by 94 feet, add two backboards with baskets, and produce a leather-covered ball, and you will have a place called home for this week's honoree, Larry Dowdy.

Larry, from Kevil, Kentucky, began his basketball career up in the Blue Grass country when he starred as captain of his high school team in his junior and senior years and was chosen Most Valuable Player in a district tournament.

Being offered scholarships from six different states, including his own, he chose Mississippi and Hinds Junior College as his first college home. When asked why he picked Hinds, Larry stated, "I wanted to come south because of the warm weather and I liked Hinds".



LARRY DOWDY
Basketball Whiz

This is Larry's second year on the hardwood floor for the Eagles. Last year he was a member of the Hinds south division champs and runner-up for overall state champions. He has been high scorer for the Eagles this year with a 14.7 point average and will be among the top performers in the final tournaments this week and next.

Besides being active in sports, Larry is president of the Men's Recreational Association, a member of the Circle K club, a member of the Baptist Student Union and vice-president of the Raymond Baptist Church training union.

Majoring in veterinary medicine, Larry likes to spend his leisure time in playing basketball, skiing, and swimming.

When asked where he will continue his college education, Larry said, "My future plans are incomplete. I'm hoping for a basketball scholarship but haven't made up my mind where I would like to go. I would like to finish my veterinary study at Auburn."

The Hindsonian staff takes great pleasure in honoring Larry as its Sophomore of the Week, and wishes all the best to such a deserving person.

Lendon Players Travel To Southern

By JOHNNY SUMRALL

It's getting so these days you just can't give anything away. Last week we tried to give away two free records by running an easy contest. We had only one entry to our contest and so this lucky person won a free record, but of course we still have one more left over. Because of this lack of response we have decided to discontinue giving away two free records a week.

JOHNNY

The Lendon Players journeyed to Hattiesburg Thursday, to see Mississippi Southern's production of Oklahoma. Eighteen students from Hinds saw the production and enjoyed it to the fullest. Charles Wall, a former student of Mr. Fred L. Brooks, played one of the leading roles.

Network, Independent Radio Stations Serve To Inform

By JOHNNY SUMRALL

A radio station to many people is their only means of keeping up with what's going on in the world. Many people fail to read their daily newspapers because of lack of time. The radio station plays an important part in the community by keeping people informed about the weather and local happenings.

There are two different kinds of radio stations. The network station sticks to network programs which are carried over all the nation and a station of this kind usually has a lot of public service announcements.

The independent station is mainly music and news with regular newscasts and weather reports. They also play rock and roll music where a network station does not.

Independent Station

WRBC is an independent station, and the remainder of this story will attempt to tell you a little about the running of an independent radio station.

Bill Gilbert, WRBC radio announcer, said "the D.J. does not have any particular schooling for the job. He must be able to use his voice in various ways for different types of things.

Basically a salesman on the air, he must use his voice to sell a product which the consumer can't see. He also must know his music."

The basic staff members of a radio station include manager, accounting department, salesmen to sell air time, disc jockeys, traffic clerk, and program director.

Manager Is Boss

The manager must see that all departments of the radio are kept running smoothly and that the overall sound on the air sounds good. The overall sound on the air means simply the sound that you hear coming over your radio.

The accounting department keeps the records concerning bills paid and bills not paid. They also send out statements each month to people who owe them money.

The salesmen go to the various businesses and sell air advertising. The selling job is one of the hardest of all because the salesman doesn't have anything to show or prove that advertising on the radio is profitable.

Play Records

The disc jockeys or radio announcers are the ones who play the music, try to sell products which can't be seen, and keep the public informed with information on the latest weather and news.

The traffic clerk takes sales orders as they come in, and assigns them a schedule to be heard on the air. He also determines how many times an order will be heard in a fifteen minute period. He makes out the program log to show the D.J. when he is to make a certain advertisement.

Program Director

The program director's job is to keep up with the programming and let the D.J. know what is expected of him. He compiles a local survey and picks music to be played.

Ratings of the various radio stations are taken usually twice a year. These ratings let the radio station know where it ranks among other local stations. It also gives the radio station a rough estimate of how many listeners it has daily.

The records that a radio station plays are all given to them by the various record companies. The new records received are placed on the extra list and if the station gets enough requests for them over a two week period, they are put on the survey.

February 22, Birthday Of George Washington

By DAY RATCLIFF

On February 22, 1732, there was born a child destined to be one of our nation's greatest leaders. This child was George Washington.

There are many legends told of his childhood experiences. The story of the cherry tree is the best-known and best-loved of any of these legends of the "Father of our Nation".

The life of Washington was one of adventure and excitement. His family was well-known on the frontier. Washington was a very active person. He made his first survey at the age of fourteen. On his sixteenth birthday he was employed by Lord Fairfax to aid in surveys of his holdings beyond the Blue Ridge.

In return for his services, Washington was to receive one doubloon and sometimes six pistoles a day. A doubloon was valued at fifteen dollars.

His services as a public and military official began with his election as the surveyor of Culpepper County. He took the oath of office on July 20, 1749, at the age of seventeen. Before he was twenty he held the rank of major. Two months later the Governor commissioned him a lieutenant colonel in the Virginia Militia. Over a year later Governor Dinwiddie commissioned him as colonel and commander-in-chief of all the Virginia forces. He was only 23 when he was commissioned.

Washington was a great leader during the American Revolutionary War. He offered to equip and send 1,000 men to Boston. He also drilled a Virginia Volunteer Company.

He attended the First and Second Continental Congresses. By a motion made by John Adams, he was made the Commander of the Continental Army in June of 1775. Fourteen years later another honor even greater than this one was bestowed upon him. On April 30, 1789, he took the oath for the office of President of the United States. His eight years as president were not easy ones. A young nation was being built and he had to guide it.

In the year 1797, he refused the third term as president and retired to his plantation, Mount Vernon. Two years after his retirement, on Saturday, December 14, 1799, at twenty minutes past ten at night, the first President of the United States died.

Henry Lee honored him by saying, "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

3 Hinds Teachers To Attend State Science Institute

Three Hinds faculty instructors, Miss Genevieve Williams, Mr. J. R. Wall, and Mr. Richard Atkins, will attend the meeting of the Institute of Junior College Science Teachers which will be held at the University of Mississippi Continuation Center on February 26 and 27.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss the science departments of junior colleges of the state and to improve and correlate all these departments.

State Department Of Public Health On Hinds Campus

The x-ray unit from the State Department of Health was on the campus all day today in front of the college gym. They operated the x-ray unit from 8-12 a.m., and 1-4 p.m., and 6-8 for night students.

Mrs. Rachel Robinson, infirmary nurse, helped with the x-rays. She urged each student and teacher to have an x-ray made. There was a good turnout for the x-rays by the students and teachers.

The State Department of Health said that if the students haven't heard from them by two weeks they are considered physically sound.

Dowdy's 14.7 Average Rates Top 25

By TOMMY NANCE

The Hinds Junior College Eagles might not have a leader like Napoleon on their basketball team, but they still have his army. The roaring Eagles completed the season with a very impressive 16 - 3 conference record and an equally impressive overall record of 19 wins against only five losses.

TOMMY

Larry Dowdy, pacing Hinds with a 14.7 point average, is the only Eagle representative in the Mississippi Junior College top 25 scorers. He holds the number 22 position.

Northeast's Vincent Del Negro, having already clinched the point championship by a wide margin, supports a 33.0 average, while his closest competitor is Sherell Marshall of East Central with 23.6.

The rest of the top ten still stands a chance of drastic movement since all are within five points separating third from tenth. Holding the third slot is Northwest's Kenny Hunt. John Long of Perkinston remains in fourth, Itawamba's Steve Frick is fifth, sixth place is occupied by Jim Flatt of Copiah-Lincoln, seventh position sees Andy Russo of Perkinston, and the last three are Gayle Thomas, Perkinston, Donnie Hoskins, Itawamba, and Lothian Smallwood, Clarke, in that order.

Dallas—Football Town, U.S.A.

The competition is going to be rough for Dallas' three major football teams—the Texans, the Rangers, and the Southern Methodist eleven—but the owner of the Cotton Bowl has no gripes.

Dallas' new additions are the Dallas Texans, professional football team in the American Football League, and the Rangers, who are in the National Football League. These teams won't interfere with college games for they will play on Sundays. With the gaining of two professional leagues, Dallas is certainly the football capital of the South.

Provine Gains Hollis Rutter

Hollis Rutter, who has built championship football teams in Eupora and Morton, will become the new head Coach at Provine High School in Jackson, replacing Tap Godbold.

Godbold, who resigned to enter the business world, will be succeeded by Rutter as next year's Ram tutor. Rutter, former coach at Morton High School, has served as assistant coach and head coach of the North All Stars in the Mississippi All-Star High School grid classic held in Jackson in recent years.

We want to extend our best wishes to Rutter and next year's Ram eleven toward a successful football season.

Ranger Boys Win B-BB Title Over Pelahatchie Chiefs

Leading all the way, the surprising Raymond Rangers upset the potent Pelahatchie boys by a score of 67-62 in the Hinds Junior College gym last Saturday night to take away the District Six B-BB championship. The Pelahatchie girls copped the feminine crown with a 42-29 win over the Pisgah six to make the night not a total loss for the Rankin Countians.

Pacing the surprisingly strong Rangers were Mike Gary, with his expert outside hitting, and Jimmy Mason, hitting from the inside. Adding to the Raymond cause was Ronnie Manning, who tallied 10 points, and led the hometown crew to a 38-34 halftime lead.

Gary hit the nets for 21 points, while Mason and Manning each tallied 19 and 10 points respectively to gain top scoring positions for Raymond.

Pelahatchie was led by Will Wade, with 19, followed by James Massey with 12, and Graham Taylor with 10.

The Pelahatchie girls pulled out to a 10-4 first period lead. At halftime the score was 26-11 and after three periods, the Rankin County lassies still maintained the lead with a 35-18 score.

Margaret Hudgins paced the winners with 15 while Evelyn Pace and Carol Rhodes tallied 13 and 12 points respectively. Dotti Harrell was high scorer for Pisgah with 19.

Raymond boys making the dream team of the tournament were Jimmy Mason and Mike Gary. Ann Stingley was the only hometown lassie to get a berth in the girls' division.

Eagles Prepare For South District Tourney; Face Southwest Friday

Hinds, East Central Top Seeded In Tournament Play This Weekend

By TOMMY NANCE

The Hinds Junior College Eagles have been preparing for the South Mississippi Junior College Basketball tournament for the past two weeks and will be ready to defeat their title this weekend, when they are faced with Southwest, Friday night.

Action will get underway Friday night in Poplarville, when the Eagles clash with the defending over-all champs, Southwest, at 7 o'clock. Following the Eagle game, Jones and host Pearl River will be seeking first round wins at 8:30.

Saturday action sees the winner of the Hinds-Southwest tilt against Copiah-Lincoln at a 7 o'clock encounter and Perkinston faces the Jones-Pearl River winner at 8:30. The finals and consolation game are scheduled for Monday night at 7 and 8:30 o'clock respectively.

The Hinds cagers were voted top seeded in the South tournament, with Jones, Perkinston, and Copiah-Lincoln following in that order.

The North division tournament will be held in the East Central gymnasium this weekend with Sunflower and Itawamba opening on Thursday night, followed by the East MississippiNorthwest and East Central-Holmes games.

Northeast, the only team winning a bye for the tournament, faces the East Mississippi-Northwest winner Friday night. The East Central-Holmes winner will be seeking a semi-final win over the Sunflower-Itawamba winner in the other Friday night meeting.

The North division will wind up its games on Saturday night when the semi-final winners clash at a the semi-final winners clash at an 8 o'clock game. No consolation game will be played in the northern division.

The top-seeded teams in the North Division are East Central, Northeast, Northwest, and Itawamba.

Millsaps- Choctaw Rivalry Is Ended After Ruckus At Basketball Game

The Millsaps-Mississippi College athletic rivalry has been terminated officially now. This announcement was made last week by Dr. M. C. White, Millsaps athletic chairman, when he sent Dr. A. E. Wood, Mississippi College athletic chairman, a letter withdrawing all contests between the two schools.

Dr. White stated that the recent flare-up, which resulted after a basketball game in Jackson, has created a very unwholesome atmosphere that should not be tolerated in Christian institutions. He also claimed in order to preclude further incidents, which might possibly end in tragedy, the rivalry that has developed between the two schools should end, and all the Major-Choctaw contests in the future will be cancelled, including tennis matches.

We certainly believe that if two fine institutions such as these cannot play against each other and enjoy the sport, these contests should be cancelled in order to keep the quality high of the respective schools. We also hope that in a short period of time, arrangements can be made and the rivalry will be renewed.

Pres. McLendon, Staff Members Attend College Kentucky Meet

Denton, Herrin, Davis Participate In American Association Meeting

As a member of the Administrative Committee, President G. M. McLendon is an active participant this week in the meetings of the 40th Anniversary Convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges.

This group is convening in Louisville, Kentucky, with headquarters at the Sheraton Hotel.

Also attending from the local campus are Miss Mildred Herrin, college registrar; Miss Gertrude Davis, dean of women; and Prof. A. L. Denton, guidance director.

Committee meetings, work sessions, board of directors' meetings, and a dinner for state consultants and professors of education were scheduled for Monday, prior to the formal opening of the convention yesterday.

Some of the speakers for the general sessions and their topics are Dean E. G. Williamson, University of Minnesota, "Obligations of Junior Colleges for Guidance;" Dr. Ralph Tyler, director, Center for the Advanced Study of the Behavioral Sciences, "The Teaching Obligation;" Prof. Cyril O. Houle, University of Chicago, "Obligation for Community Services."

Dr. William K. Selden, Executive Secretary National Commission of Accrediting, "Current National Issues in Accreditation;" and the Anniversary Banquet speaker for Friday night. Arthur S. Fleming, secretary, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

In addition to hearing the major addresses, delegates will have opportunities to take part in small group discussions led by persons having special experience and competence in the subjects under consideration.

The convention program for tomorrow opens with a special Phi Theta Kappa breakfast at 8 o'clock. As a member of the convention banquet committee, Mr. McLendon was requested to secure favors and door prizes typical of Mississippi for the occasion.

For door prizes, a large frame picture representative of Mississippi was contributed by the J. A. Olson Picture Frame Company of Winona; a Shearwater pottery vase by Mrs. Peter Anderson of Ocean Springs; and a magnolia-decorated ceramic tray and an autographed copy of the Mississippi State song by Josie Gautier, owner of the Singing River Hobby Shop of Gautier, Mississippi.

Favors contributed by the A & I Board were 600 one-hundred dollar bills of Confederate money, 600 Rebel Flag match books, and 600 colored picture folders of Mississippi.

Feature Twirler To Appear In '60 Baton Magazine

Ann Winstead, feature twirler with the Hinds Band, was recently selected to appear in the 1960 National Edition of Who's Who in Baton Twirling.

Saturday, February 13, at the National Open Winter Twirling Festival held in Jackson, Ann won two trophies, First by winning in her age division and next by capturing the Grand Championship.

The contest was sponsored by the United States Twirling Association and all southern states were represented.

Poetry Group To Publish Student's Outstanding Work

The Hindsonian was notified this week that the American College Poetry Society's third semesterly anthology of outstanding college poetry is now being compiled for publication this summer.

Contributions must be the original work of the student (who shall retain literary rights to the material), submitted to Alan C. Fox, care of the Society, with the entrant's name, address, and school on each page. Poems, which may deal with any subject, may not exceed 48 lines, nor may any individual submit more than five poems. Entries which are not accepted for publication will be returned if accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope, but they cannot be otherwise acknowledged, nor can the Society compensate students for poetry which is published. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 30, 1960 to be considered, and the decisions of the Society judges are final.

Public Relations Convention To Be Held Next Month

Information has been received in the college public relations office concerning regional meeting of the American Public Relations Association scheduled in Biloxi, April 1-2.

Dr. Leo C. Muller of MSCW is the district director of the group. He writes that "significance of the role of public relations, publicity, and development play in the future of higher education . . . these regional meetings are very much worth while."

The Buena Vista Hotel will serve as headquarters for the April meeting.

Plans are underway for Hinds to be represented by some members of the Hindsonian staff.

Brooks Announces Cast For 2-Act British Comedy

Mr. Fred L. Brooks, Jr., head of the Speech and Drama department, has announced the plans of the Lendon Players to present their spring production, YES AND NO, a two act and epilogue, British comedy by Kenneth Horne.

The date of the play is set for April 1, 1960. The admission will be fifty cents for students and one dollar for adults. The committees are incomplete. The assistant director is Veronica Roberts, Hattiesburg.

The cast is as follows: Mrs. Webb —Jennie Howell of Vicksburg; Rev. Jarrow—Jerry Horack of Jackson; Emma Jarrow — Alice Boyd of Utica; Sally—Mary Grace Cathy of Jackson; Joanna—Lynn Watts of Pickens; Rev. Bayshott — Sibley Walters of Vicksburg; and Adrian—David Ethridge of Vicksburg.

2 Hinds Students Attend Meeting In New Orleans

Two Hinds students are attending the Annual Missions Conference in New Orleans, February 26-28. They are Jack Wallen and Ken Barlow.

The conference is for all Baptist students in surrounding states. The delegates will visit all home mission points and will have conferences with various representatives from home and foreign mission boards.

Language Group Views New Films On Mexico Area

The members of the Modern Language Club, sponsored by Miss Hilda Ree Davis, enjoyed a trip through Mexico Monday night by means of "Highways to Mexico," a film taking onlookers through different routes of this fabulous country.

Bullfights, exotic temples, and ancient ruins characterized the trips through Guadalajara, Tenochtitlan, Mitla, and Cuernavaca. At the famous Lake Xochimilco, tourists were directed by way of flower covered boats through the beautifully cared gardens.

Team Deserves Praise

Sports columnists in newspapers throughout the state, last week, boasted of the drive and stamina of the mighty Hinds Eagle basketball team and played our boys up as the number one team in south division play.

This week, it would seem that our ivory tower has been shattered, for we are now no longer defenders for the state junior college title.

Even so, this is sometimes the kind of defeat which we will have to face.

And when the praise and recognition has gone, as Hinds students we can point to our team for this season with a deep sense of pride and compassion for the slightly less than terrific job they've done this year.

In gymnasium play our record has been the surprise of the season for many sports fans as we swept through 19 victories and dropped onliy five games.

But our record is not nearly so fine, until we discover the obstacles which had to be overcome for the season. Our Eagles had no single gunner or glory-tosser to rack up points by the dozens.

Instead we depended upon the unity of the team, the spirit, and working ability of the group, which put us where we got.

Overall, the Hinds team had the smallest group as far as height is concerned of any other junior college in the state. But a damper couldn't be put on them, as their spirit, determination, and drive more than well proved.

Coach Troy Ricks and his Eagles deserve due praise for their fine record this year.

"For when the One great Scorer comes
To write against your name,
He writes not if you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

Mid Semester Approach

For those students who are prone to wait till the last minute to do their cramming for mid-term exams, it may come as a shock that those nights of "burning the midnight fuel" are not in the too-far distant future—two weeks off to be exact.

Quite seriously, though, all of us, new and old students, should begin a personal check of ourselves, to see just what we've done as far as study is concerned this semester.

"What if semester tests are only two weeks off?" you may ask. If we make a conscious effort now we may be pleasantly surprised to find what a difference it will make in our grade average for this, the first nine weeks of the second semester.

Don't misunderstand this, we're not suggesting what should or should not be done. As students, only we ourselves can determine this.

However, instead of a full five days of tests, there will be only three days for tests in every subject we are taking, as the last two days of the week are our spring holidays. Tests begin on March 21 and college students will have four full days of holidays beginning on the 23rd.

Most sophomores who plan to graduate this May already know that by maintaining a B or better average in all our subjects we may be exempt from finals. If this is our goal it will be a little late to start at this on the last of April.

Earth Tremors, Fire, Giant Wave Plague Morocco

By CORKIE LYLE

Two giant earth tremors, fire, and a tidal wave wrecked the south Moroccan port of Agadir Monday night. Officials feared the death toll was 1,000 or more. French military authorities said at least 700 persons had been killed.

There was no official estimate of casualties as the reports of destruction mounted almost minute by minute.

The tital wave apparently swept some 300 yards into the stricken city of 40,000 persons following a shattering earth tremor just before midnight. Another came two hours later, and fires broke out while rescue work was in progress.

The lunch counter segregation flareup broke out in South Carolina and Florida Monday.

Negro attacks on an old Southern custom—lunch counters for whites only—showed no signs of a letup.

In Nashville, Tenn., 80 persons, including 76 Negroes, arrested in a fist-slinging episode during the weekend, went on trial Monday.

At Denmark, South Carolina, 14 Negro youths were arrested Monday on disorderly conduct charges when a group of between 25 and 40 Negroes, most of them students at Vorhees College, sought to get service at a drug store lunch counter.

Chileans turned on a rousing reception for President Eisenhower Monday. Pouring out in unexpected numbers—estimated ranging from 500,000 to 700,000—the crowds greeted his motorcade with shouts and by throwing flowers all over his car.

The thousands massed along roped-off Alameda Bernardo O'Higgins, the broad main thoroughfare named for Chile's Irish-fathered independence leader they raised full-throated cheers at sight of the President's famous girn.

Foreign diplomats said today tension on Israel's borders appears to be easing despite the recent concentration of Egyptian troops in the Sinia Desert.

They said the troop movements apparently were precoutionary, with no visible evidence to suggest they were anything but defensive.

The United Arab Republic has warned the United Nations Security Council that "grave consequences might ensue" if Israel persists in maintaining troops in the demilitarized zone on Egypt's border.

Honor Club President, Hi-Steppr Gets Hindsonian's Weekly Honor

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

She hasn't won a great many titles. Neither has she been widely acclaimed. But certainly she has brought honor and respect to herself by being a scholar and a downright good citizen. That's Ouida Henderson.

OUIDA HENDERSON
PTK President

At Provine High School Ouida was vice president of her homeroom class, a member of the Provine Chorus, and a member of the girls' championship intramural basketball team. She also took roles in the Provine productions, "Annie, Get Your Gun" and "Pygmalion."

In her freshman year at Hinds the secretarial science major was a member of the Hi-Steppers, the college choir, and the honorary society, Phi Theta Kappa.

This year she, whose hobbies are music and sports, is one leading Hi-Steppers and is president of Phi Theta Kappa.

Although her name may never appear in headlines, she will always be one of those conscientious, hard-working people who inconspicuously is the backbone of her surroundings. And to all who know her Ouida will remain a real friend.

Circle K Dance Is Great Success

DAY RATCLIFF

The Circle K Club sponsored a dance February 25, featuring the Red Counts, all of whom attend Hinds Junior College. The admission to the dance was twenty-five cents per person.

The members of the Circle K Club decided that the dance was such a success that they would like to continue having the dances on Thursday night every other week. The next dance is scheduled for March 10.

We hear that the choir has been invited to Byram to give a special program.

We also hear that Ann Winstead, feature twirler with the Hinds Band has received recent honors at the National Open Winter Twirling Festival which was held in Jackson, Saturday, February 13. Congratulations to you, Ann. May success follow you.

The Lendon Players and Mr. Fred L. Brooks, Jr. have announced the coming production of their spring play, YES AND NO.

This delightful British comedy consist of two acts and an epilogue. It is slated for April 1, 1960.

Good luck in rehearsal, kids.

Are We Off The Beam In Education?

By STEVE MONTGOMERY

For the next few minutes, I would like to talk to you on a subject that has me in a quandry, and I am trying to seek a way out of it. I dare to lay my subject before you because I believe some of you are in the same quandry or have been or perhaps will be sooner or later. How many times have you heard a college student say, "Well, I can't see how this subject is going to benefit me after I graduate," or maybe, "Well, I just can't connect this subject with my major." The very fact that our students today cannot apply this college subject to the outside world indicates one or perhaps two things. Either something is lacking in our educational system, or in us as students. What is this Lack? I feel that our system is so standardized and methodized in teaching procedures that today's college student is not being taught to think for himself. He is being patterned by methods —conformity to mediocrity. It is highly possible that a person could go through our colleges without even having an original thought or becoming able to express it if he has it.

Nothing is more revolting than a society of standardized minds, even if they are standardized on a rather high level. It appears that Russia is working for this type of society—a society which oppresses and soon indoctrinates the mind so that it cannot or does not think for itself. The people of America must not want this methodized teaching, or we will no longer be a free nation. Instead we will be taking a short cut towards dictatorship.

Before we can actually put our finger on the exact deficiency in our educational system, we should first define what is meant by system, and then define and examine the true goals for which we are aiming. Actually, the system should be geared to teaching students to think and in the classroom the system should be one of motivation and not subjugation. Now let's define our goals. I believe that education should be the culmination of an eternal process of adjustment of the physically and mentally developed human being to this world, and more important, to God. Another goal of education could be defined as the development of man's power of thought by challenging his natural curiosity and opening the doors to a wider world than he has known. He should be challenged to pass through the portals and search for truth and meaning in life.

Now that we have some idea of the goals we are working for, let's go on with the examination of these goals. Let's look at them through two basic philosophies that we have heard bandied about—often without much distinction made in them. They are naturalism and progmotism. First, let's take naturalism into consideration. The naturalistic philosophy is built as the common belief that there is order in nature, and that this order can be depended upon. It can be expressed unphilosophically in the common saying, "Let nature take its course." Relate this philosophy to the student and his pup through the opened doors, and you will find that instruction should be inductine. This inductiveness can be based on the naturalistic advice that teaching make fullest use of the self-activity of the student, telling him as much as he wants to know, but encouraging him to discover as much as possible for himself. A student takes more pride in knowledge which he works for and certainly understands it better than that knowledge which is chewed, digested, and fed him in teaspoons at irregular intervals. This first-hand knowledge is the basis of intellectual life; the secret of the mediocrity of this world lies in the second-handed acquisition of knowledge. The sooner the student realizes that second-hand knowledge is a necessary evil, the better off he will be. At least he will not be wonwill be. At least he will not be wandering around in a fool's paradise, laboring under the delusion that he is being educated.

Now let's examine progmatism, a doctrine which has received wide recognition in our educational thought today. This doctrine is one that is grounded in individual difference in students. Under this system, each student is taught as an individual. A class should not be as one gigantic mind, but as individual minds with varied capacities.

In many classrooms today, the methods of teaching resemble those methods used in the working of an IBM machine. The students are given certain material to memorize and digest, and then they are told to spit out the answers on a methodized test, a test which has been standardized and approved, if not proven. No original thought whatsoever.

Student Reviews Personality Parade

By NANCY HAMIL

It would seem that with the second semester of school on the Hinds campus well under way you've probably reached a few conclusions about some of the personalties which you see around you every day. So, just go on feeling as you do, and imagine that you are sitting in the grill and passing in review before you are some of your fellow students with whom you rub shoulders everyday and about whom in your inner mind you are trying to fathom what they are really like and what they are doing there with you. Are they drinking deep of the sweet waters of the Pierian Spring or just lapping in the waters that spill over. Let's take a closer look at the characters in the passing parade.

Here comes one obviously too old for high school and too young for a university or a four year college. He has become one of us because he feels that he can learn all he has not learned in twelve years in public school and all that he needs to know about life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness in two years at our junior college. How wonderful! His head, vision filled, never lets him realize that even in the placid, undisturbed waters of a junior college he is a tiny, insignificant character. He is not a big shot as he was in high school. His ego has been deflated. He is in a fog.

Now do all students feel the junior college is only a dense fog to plunge through as quickly as possible? How do you or I feel about this situation?

COUNTRY GIRL

Let's look now at a country girl, if there are any left, who has not mastered the art of making herself beautiful. She dares not spoil either her complexion or her health. She wears not silk or fine linen, but she is precisely clothed in innocence. Seeing her gaze, wide-eyed, at ultra-modern furniture or seeing her frown as she takes her first bite of instant potatoes in the school cafeteria, will make anyone smile to himself, if not outwardly. She either giggles with uncontrolled delight or stares into infinite space when aproached by one of the opposite sex. When she approaches her assignments, intriguing and deep, they are drudgery for her and also her professor.

We see quite a contrast in the small-town student who has a strange "forced" appetite for learning. This student's parents, who never received a college diploma have dreams built around their offspring becoming lacquered over with college prestige. Of course, they must expect to be notified about any variety of, shall I say, escapades or would it be wild adventures. He would not dare to remember the times he, Freddie Freshman, moved Sammy Sophomore's furniture completely out of the room into the shower. The shaving cream wars and the tooth-paste tubes filled with Noxema caused no confusion at all! But the time he sewed lace on his roommate's underwear—well, the aftermath is unrepeatable. Nobody ever asked him where he learned to sew. It was only as he blindly groped for the alarm in the morning and heard a book hit the floor with a thud that he remembered his English test.

PASSING PARADE

Have we seen all the characters around your college campus? Well, it is comforting to sit here and pass them in review. It's downright fun to develop our imaginations to such a degree and actually relax in the process. How do I fit in? I wonder. Do you wonder, too? I feel that somehow looking at you and knowing me that we don't. We are just watchers of the passing parade on our campuses. But, I'll let you make the final decision. How do you fit into this panorama that sweeps from Paint-Pot Peggy to Plain Jane and from Silly Sam to Touchdown Ted?

Pictured above is Hindsonian columnist, Johnny Sumrall of Jackson, as he interviews Jackson disc jockey, Billy Gilbert, while visiting the radio station. Johnny observed the techniques and devices being used to broadcast news and music over the waves. In the picture at left, Johnny is shown examining the teletype, the machine which is the source of all the news received at the radio station.

Northeast, Pearl River Win Loop Titles

Tigers Trip East Central For Win In North District

The second seeded Northeast Tigers bopped the top seeded East Central Warriors in the finals of the North Mississippi Junior College basketball tourney this past weekend to capture the divisional title. Vincent Del Negro, leading scorer in the state junior college conference, sank 40 points at the Northeast five tore into the host by an 87-74 count.

Taking an early lead, the Tigers moved out in front 22-16 with 8:30 left in the initial period and then went on to build up a 41-29 lead by halftime. The second half was all Northeast's as they held on to their lead the whole period.

Following Del Negro in Northeast's scoring was Bob McCarley, with 23 points. All the other Bengals tallied below the double figures. Brooks Cox, Sherrill Marshall, and Jay Dyer stole the scoring show for East Central as Cox hit for 24 points, followed by Marshall's 23 and Dyer's 10.

Semi-Final Action

Semi-final action saw everything go along as expected as Northeast, which received a first-round bye, chalked up its first tourney win with a 92-80 victory over the Rangers of Northwest and East Central won over the helpless Itawamba Indians, 95-81.

In the opener the Tigers built up a 5-0 lead and were never behind for the rest of the contest. They led 48-38 at intermission. Second half activity saw the Warriors pull within seven points of the Tigers, but soon faded and fell further behind.

East Central Wins

Following Friday night's opener, the East Central cagers added their second tourney win to their list by trouncing the Indians from up Fulton way to a 95-81 margin.

Itawamba led briefly at the beginning but the Warriors immediately leaped ahead and gained a four point difference by halftime, 40-36.

Hinds Concludes Season With 19-6

By TOMMY NANCE

TOMMY

Just as the parents of a young bride claim that they have gained a son instead of losing a daughter, Hinds Junior College has added a very successful basketball season to their record instead of losing the South Mississippi Junior College basketball championship.

You probably already have heard students stating that the Eagle cagers were too sure of themselves in their opening tourney game in which they lost a four point deficit to Southwest, a team in which they had previously beaten by a twenty-six point margin. But we truly believe wholeheartedly that the Hinds five played their best as they did all through the season when they represented their college.

Of course we all wish the team could have gone further in the tournament but nevertheless the coach, manager, and all players should be congratulated for their work, spirit, and representation of Hinds Junior College as they played other state teams. We know they showed favorable spirit toward themselves and the school during the year. Congratulations are due again to such a fine group of young men.

Ball Parks Aren't Ball Parks

Today's ball parks aren't just ball parks any more. They contain more than a field for playing and stands for the spectators. The Chicago White Sox are adding a picnic area, the New York Yankees already have a fancy saloon, and the Cincinnati Reds have added a gymnasium.

In Chicago's Comiskey Park, the White Sox customers will be offered a limited menu in the new area, which is designed for organized groups. However, if space permits, anyone may bring his own sandwiches and enjoy the game through a wire screen at field level.

The Yankees, pioneers of this new fad, dreamed up this idea and formed a Stadium Club, whose members and their guest are permitted to entertain at a swank restaurant bar on the mezzanine while watching the ball game on television.

New Gridiron Coach At Central

The coach of the Big Eight Basketball Champs, Bob Stevens, will take over as head football coach for the Central High Tigers next year. He is replacing Coach Curtis Pop Allen, who is finishing his eleventh year of coaching this year.

Playing outstanding ball at Copiah-Lincoln and Mississippi Southern during his college years, Stevens began coaching at Meadville High before coming to Central.

Pearl River Surprises Southwest With 71-59 Monday Night Victory

By TOMMY NANCE

Rallying early in the second half, the Pearl River Wildcats gained the lead and were never behind the Southwest Bears to capture the South Divisional tournament, 71-59, Monday night in Poplarville.

The Wildcats and Bears will meet the North Divisional Champs, Northeast and East Central, this weekend to decide the over-all state champion. The site of the tourney hasn't been selected as of Monday.

Both teams, shooting with great accuracy from the floor, played even-steven ball the first half with Southwest controlling the intermission score, 37-32. The second half was a completely different story as far as the lead went for the Wildcats took the lead on four straight baskets and were never behind.

Leading the Coach Horace Holmes' Bears were Willis Smith and Tommy Wall, both contributing 19 and 15 points respectively. Dave Votaw, Ed Ginn and Elmer Cook sparked the Wildcat attack with 16, 19, and 14 points each.

The Wildcats growled with the 50.8 per cent field goals on 31 of 61 shots. The Bears suffered one of the coldest nights on the hardwood floor with only a 36.7 per cent average on 25 of 68 shots.

The backboards were controlled by the host Pearl River cagers as they racked up 51 rebounds. Votaw led the poplarville five with 16 rebounds while Cook and Ginn added 14 and 12 respectively. Southwest got only 35.

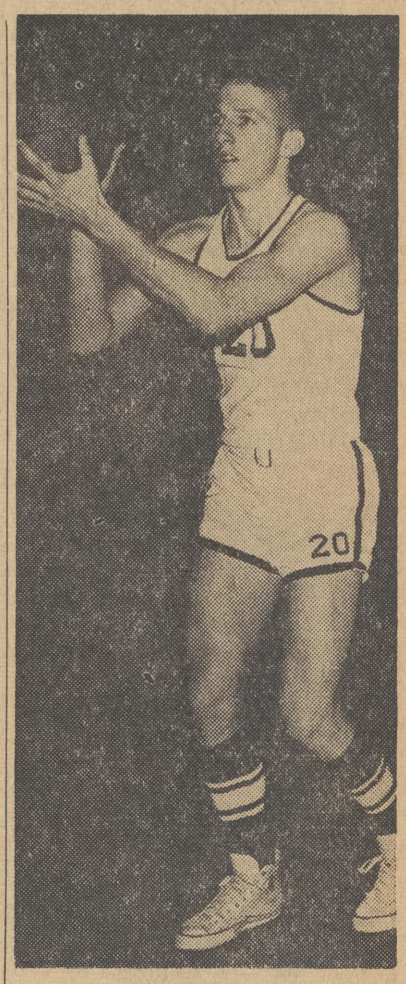
Semi-Finals

Southwest and Pearl River, pulling another couple of upsets, fought their way into the South Divisional finals by tripping Copiah-Lincoln, 91-78, and Perkinston, 71-68, respectively.

In the opener, Southwest had five players in double figures scoring to down the Wolves as Donald Joiner tallied 24, followed by Willis Smith with 17 and Tommy Wall, 16. Jack Case contributed 26 goals for Co-Lin while Robert Parsons and Jim Flatt each netted 20 and 15 points.

In the second contest of the crucial semi-finals, Pearl River had to fight off a desperate closing minute rally by Perkinston to reach the final berth. Led by Grady Hickman with 18, Ed Ginn, 16, Dave Votaw, 15, and Sam Pace, 13, the Pearl River five led most of the game.

John Long scored 27 and Bill Upchurch, 17, for the losing Bulldog cagers.



BILLY RHODES
Pelahatchie Ace

The number one and two seeded teams in the south division fell to defeat on opening night, Friday, as Southwest surprised the Raymond Eagles with a 68-64 edging and the Pearl River Wildcats knocked over the Bobcats of Jones, 82-71.

Playing an equal first half, the Bobcats and host Pearl River Wildcats battled to a 32-32 deadlock by intermission. Both teams came back into the second half with fighting spirit and battled down to the final minutes but the Popularville five poured on the steam at the last minute and came out victorious.

EAGLES FINISH SEASON

Southwest Edges By Hinds Eagles For Berth In Semi-Finals, 68-61

First night competition in the South Mississippi Junior College basketball tournament saw two major upsets as the surprisingly strong Southwest Bears defeated number one rated Hinds Eagles, 68-64, and the second seeded Jones Bobcats tasted defeat at the hands of host Pearl River, 82-71.

Jumping into the lead at the start, Southwest's defending state champions matched the Eagles for every basket and took a halftime lead 32-28. During the initial half the lead changed hands six times and was tied on four occasions.

The Raymond five jumped into the lead in the second half and held on to it until Tommy Wall sank a free throw, with 7:30 left, to knot the score at 54 apiece. With only 30 seconds left in the game, the Eagles began closing the six point gap which the Bears had built and came within two points of knotting the score but a foul with three seconds left put the game on ice for Southwest and gave them their four point victory.

Austin Leads With 15

Sharp-shooter Gerald Austin paced the losing Eagles with 15 points while Billy Rhodes and Joe Watson followed closely behind with 12 and 10 respectively. Tommy Wall and Willis Smith copped the scoring title for the Bears with 19 and 15 points. Ronald Ellzey and Jimmie Davis also contributed 12 and 11 points to the winning cause.

Hinds tallied 25 of 66 field goals for a 37.9 average while the Bears were popping the nets with 27 of 55 and an average of 49.1 points.

VOLUME 26—NUMBER 19 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1960

Claremont Quartet To Appear On Hinds Campus

The Claremont Quartet, composed of Marc Gottieb and Valdimir Weisman, violinist, Willam Schon, violinist and Irving Klein, cellist, will appear at Hinds Junior College on March 17, at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Members of the Claremont Quartet have each achieved individual recognition as soloist and chamber musicians of outstanding ability. The ensemble was formed as a result of the merging of two close mutual musical friendships of many years standing.

New York Home

Marc Gottieb and Vladimir Weisman were brought up and educated together in New York City. William Schoen and Irving Klein began mumusicians decided to pool their talents.

Mr. Gottlieb was born in Leipzig, Germany, and began his early studies with his father, a teacher at the Gewandhaus. He entered Juilliard School of Music and had Louis Persinger as his only teacher until graduation. His New York debut at Times Hall was followed by a recital at Town Hall and appearances at McMillin Theater and other concert halls.

He formed his own trio, and as a member of several string quartets he tours extensively throughout the United States, made recordings, and appeared on the radio. He joined in organizing The Claremont Quartet in 1953.

The Claremont Quartet made a highly successful tour of colleges in the Gulf South States in 1959. In the fall of 1959 they toured extensively in Alaska.

The program of the Claremont Quartet at Hinds Junior College will include the following:

Quartet No. 23 in F Major (K 590) by Mozart; Quartet No. 6 by Quincy Porter; and Quartet No. 8 in E Minor, Opus 50, No. 2 by Beethoven.

The admission to the performance will be $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students.

An Ole Miss representative will be on the Hinds Junior College campus March 17 to interview prospective University of Mississippi students.

The representative will speak and show the advantages the school has to offer to students majoring in any field.

Planning Engineer Speaks To Campus Engineering Club

Friday, March 4, the Engineering Club met with Mr. J. D. Phillips, System Planning Engineer of Mississippi Power and Light Company, as guest speaker.

Mr. Phillips' talk was divided into three parts: the work of a system planning engineer; types of engineers involved in the process of generating and transfer of electricity; and the personal opinion of an engineer's education.

His work consists of studying ways to improve service more efficiently. The four types of engineers involved in the process of generating and transfer of electricity are: chemical engineer, civil engineer, mechanical engineer, and electrical engineer.

Choir To Present 3 Programs Off Campus In March

The Hinds choir, under the direction of Mr. J. L. Reeves, has scheduled two trips during March and one trip during April.

The Hinds Singers will appear on March 13, at the McDowell Road Baptist Church and on March 20, North Greenwood Baptist Church in Greenwood.

The choir will appear on April 2, at the Junior College Choral Festival at Decatur.

Hinds Students To Move Into Campus' New Dormitories Soon

FEATURE TWIRLER Adonna Moore, of Jackson, strikes a lovely pose as she goes through one of the many routines she has exhibited at half-time football performances, parades, and special appearances.

New Structures Almost Ready For Campus Use

Two new dormitories on the Hinds Junior College campus are now completed, one for men, and one for girls. These add to the campus facilities accommodations for 130 students and five faculty personnel.

The two-story structures in modernistic design are of reinforced concrete and masonry and are fronted with porches the length of the buildings enclosed with solar screens of ceramic tile.

The interiors are unique in arrangements of four-bedroom units, each complete with small foyer, large fan, ceramic-tiled bath, spacious cabinets and closets with folding metal and ratox doors, circulating hot water heating, and flourescent lighting. Each building has an intercommunication system, and telephones.

Bedrooms have built-in study and dressing tables, bookshelves, wardrobes and cabinets, large double windows with venetian blinds.

Rooms are furnished with single beds and innerspring mattresses, bedside tables, and colorful desk and lounge chairs, also waste paper cans.

The girls' dormitory has a laundry furnished with automatic washer, and dryer, large sinks, and ironing boards.

Sophomores assigned to the new buildings are carefully selected by administrative committee on the basis of scholarship and citizenship records.

The men are moving into their new facility this week. Plans are underway for the girls to move immediately after the spring holidays.

Plans are now laid out for beautification of grounds and completion of driveways about the buildings as soon as weather conditions permit.

Monday afternoon the college Board of Trustees with President McLendon, the architect, and the contractors toured the two buildings for inspection approval.

Gunter Speaks To Agriculture Club Friday Morning

Mr. Sam Gunter, representative of the American Dairy Association, is scheduled to speak to the Agriculture Club of Hinds Junior College Friday morning at 2A period.

Mr. Gunter is expected to speak about his occupation; explaining the different phases of the dairy industry and the importance of milk in the lives of all people concerned.

Several speakers have appeared at the Friday morning meetings this year to explain to the club members the different opportunities and problems of the chosen occupation of each speaker. Among these speakers were Charles Shotts, of the Mississippi Forestry Commission, elaborating upon the different conservation plans in use today by the commission, and improved methods since the beginning of conservation, and Tom Virden, supervisor of the First District.

Baptist Students Raise Money For Summer Mission

The Baptist Student Union has for its goal in their summer mission campaign to raise $75 to contribute to the state-wide BSU movement to sponsor five missionaries this summer.

The members of the BSU, along with the help of other students who wish to co-operate, each have a savings bank in which they put a nickel every time they buy a coke, candy, etc.

At the regular BSU meeting Monday night, March 7, a student from Mississippi College showed slides on mission work in Puerto Rico.

The climax of the BSU summer missions campaign goal will be a Hobo Day scheduled for April.

Pledges Receive Recognition

On Tuesday of the past week Phi Theta Kappa pledges for the second semester participated in a formal initiation ceremony in the college auditorium.

Four sophomores and 17 freshmen took their vows for Gamma Lambda membership before an audience of friends and relatives.

When we look at the record we see that this is the largest group ever to be invited into this national scholastic society on the Hinds campus. Even more commendable is the fact that this year saw the largest number of freshmen ever to be initiated.

It is indeed satisfying to realize that with all the other progressive steps taking place at Hinds to keep it among the best junior colleges in the nation, it has not fallen behind in the respect of training students with a fine scholastic standing.

All those who have shown their "stick-to-itiveness" in the field of academic study are to be congratulated.

During the first semester of this year, students on the list of honors numbered 64. This record speaks for itself and puts Hinds high on the list among those who are doing their best to "keep-up" not only in the field of physical growth, but also in the field of gaining sound academic values.

The World Is Within Us

"So may the outward shows be least themselves;
The world is still deceived with ornament.
In law, what plea so tainted and corrupt
But, leaving season'd with gracious voice,
Obscures the show of evil? In religion,
What damned error but some sober brow?
Will bless it, and approve it with a text,
Hiding the grossiness with fair ornament? . . . "

The foregoing was taken from Shakespeare, The Merchant of Venice, III, ii. The lines were spoken by Bassanio when he chose the coffin rather than sacrifice his beliefs.

The world is within us. And the value which we place upon life will largely determine what life will be for us, as well as, in what light the world will judge us.

Looking about us, every day we see people who have vastly contrasting attitudes about life. Who can say who has been most succecssful in living. We are but finite beings in a world of infinite proportions. We can neither justly criticize nor praise another,. because we cannot know all his or her circumstances.

Our life, though it is affected by and has an effect upon others, is a very personal thing. We can turn away from others in whom we are not pleased, but try as we might, the only way to lose sight of ourself is by refusing to treat life as a reality. Perhaps this is why statistics show that about one out of 10 Americans suffers from some serious mental disorder.

But, we, as human beings, have a minute bit of infinity —a perfection—within us, which sets us apart from everything else we know. For this reason, after we have concluded what our relative values upon life, if we are forced to sacrifice a bit of these, we lose a bit of our infinity, our perfection.

In Deepest Sympathy

The Hindsonian staff and the students and faculty of Hinds Junior College extend their most sincere sympathy to Mr. B. D. Spraberry, campus science and mathematics instructor, in the recent loss of his father, Mr. L. Z. Spraberry of Calhoun City.

The staff and faculty also express condolences to Mrs. Marian J. Welch in the recent bereavement of her mother-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Williams of Jackson.

Negro Students Attempt Sitdown At Xenia, Ohio

By CORKIE LYLE

CORKIE

About 30 Negro college students from two colleges in Xenia, Ohio, entered one of the best restaurants in town Saturday and were ordered out by the co-owner.

Several of the students refused to leave. They remained seated, even after the manager turned out the lights and said the restaurant was closed for the day.

The students were from Wilberforce University, a privately endowed college, and Central State College, a state-supported school. Both have predominantly Negro enrollments.

The sit-down was the first demonstration in Ohio since the series of protests against segregated restaurants started in the South.

An Air National Guard RF-84 crashed near Jackson Sunday while its pilot made a miraculous escape from the burning wreckage.

The jet fighter was en route to Birmingham, its home base, when it developed mid-air troubles at 7500 feet, caught fire, and finally dug into the earth in a field about six miles southwest of Jackson near Forest Hill.

Lt. Don Meadows, the pilot, ejected himself from the burning aircraft and landed in a field about four miles from the wreckage.

A ring of law enforcement officers, armed with clubs and guns, Sunday thwarted an attempt by some 2,000 singing, shouting Negroes to hold a protest meeting at the Alabama capitol.

However, the tense situation almost exploded into violence as the Negroes marched across the street from a Negro church toward the historic, white-columned capitol and were met by officers and some 10,000 jeering whites.

Fire trucks, with sirens blaring, rushed to the scene and firemen threatened to turn powerful water hoses on the milling crowd if it didn't disperse.

Pushed back by officers, the demonstrators later left the church in groups of 10 or more and walked slowly toward their homes. There were no reported incidents of violence.

At least four Mississippians were accidental death victims during the weekend.

But the toll climbed higher as expected. Searchers found a car Sunday in the water-filled gravel pit near Columbus and its owner Robert Beard of Columbus, was missing.

Those who were killed in other accidents were Mandy Fields of Meridian, Earl Wayne Logan of Houlka, Cecil Lessell of Saltillo, and Charles Dale Winters of Calhoun county.

Elvis Presley came from the Army Monday to Memphis. He was "all shook up."

The rumpled-haired rock and roll singer was happy. "I've been waiting two long years for this day," but he admitted he had butterflies in his stomach instead of his hips. He is due to make another movie soon.

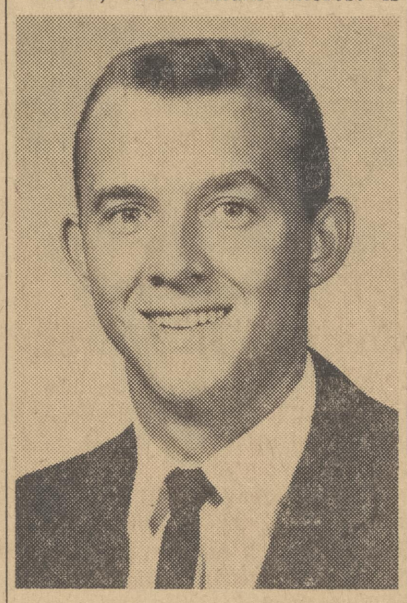
Circle K Officer, B S U Member Receives Weekly Sophomore Honor

By CORKIE LYLE

Basketball scholarship, Mississippi hospitality, climatic conditions, and the need for an education attracted our sophomore of the week to Hinds Junior College, David Gover of Bronston, Kentucky.

David, whose main interest is basketball, was captain of his high school basketball team in his junior and senior years. He received honorable mention on the All-Kentucky All-State Basketball team. In high school David was a member of the Soil Conservation Club and was a representative to a Youth Center at the county wide meeting representing Burnside High School.



DAVID GOVER
Basketball Whiz

Since entering Hinds, David has been a very active student. He is vice-president of the Circle K, member of the Baptist Student Union, a member of the Baptist Student Union Greater Council, member of the Men's Recreation Association, and he was on the varsity basketball team as a freshman.

As for David's plans for the future, he states, "I have a basketball scholarship to Union College in Barbourville, Kentucky. I plan to major in physical education with a minor in biology. After getting my B.S. degree, I plan to work on my Master's degree at Western Kentucky in Bowling Green."

We of the Hindsonian staff wish David every success and happiness in his future study and life.

College Trustees Adopt Resolution About Magers

The Hindsonian has been notified that the Board of Trustees of Hinds College and President G. M. McLendon adopted the following resolutions, February 5, 1960, honoring Hinds' former Dean of Men, Mr. C. C. Magers.

Whereas, C. C. Magers, Dean of Men, at Hinds Junior College passed away suddenly at the University Hospital, Jackson, Monday, January 11, 1960, and

Whereas, he has been a member of the administrative staff of the College for four years, and one of the State's outstanding educators, and

Whereas, he was an able administrator, a wise and generous counsellor, an ever-ready helper, a clear visioned and far-seeing planner, a delightful personality, and a devout Christian gentleman; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Board of Trustees of Hinds Junior College hereby expresses its deep sense of the great loss the College and the cause of Education have sustained in his untimely and sudden death; that we recognize him as one of Mississippi's outstanding men and valued citizens; that we have lost a faithful friend, and the College has lost a wise counsellor and competent teacher; and be it further

Resolved, That we sincerely sympathize with his family in their great bereavement; that a copy of these resolutions be sent to them, to Hinds Junior College, and to the press; also that a page of our Minute Book be set apart as a token of respect to his memory.

The resolutions were signed by Mr. F. M. Greaves, President, Board of Trustees, Mr. J. E. Aldridge, Secretary, and Mr. G. M. McLendon, President of Hinds Junior College.

Treloar Participates In Southern Turf Grass Conference At Memphis

Mr. Jack Treloar attended the Southern Turf Grass Conference which was held at the Gayosa Hotel in Memphis, February 21-22. The purpose of this conference was to interest all the southern states in growing proper grass for parks, golf turfs, and ornamental purposes.

Outstanding speakers were heard on topics of building and maintaining golf greens, fertilizing ornamental turf areas, and controlling undesirable turf plants.

After the speeches the conference guests went to the Memphis Country Club and observed the proper use of grass.

Mr. Treloar also attended the convention of the Mississippi Swine Growers and Mississippi Holstein Association February 23-24. The main hi-lights of the convention, which was held at the Mississippi State University, were reports, workshops, and speakers.

Claremont String Quartet To Stage Campus Workshop

The Claremont String Quartet will give a workshop at 2:00 p.m. in the music auditorium on Thursday, March 17.

This workshop is open to all who care to attend.

The workshop will consist of a lecture demonstration on the string quartet as a performing medium and on the literature written for string ensembles.

FOR THE EDITOR

Representative To Be On Campus

Dear Editor,

Usually by this time of year graduating students have had an opportunity to purchase class rings. Thus far this year no mention of class rings has been made; therefore, I have done some checking on the issue, on my own.

Some of the faculty members have told me that there probably would not be enough students interested in the matter to warrant looking into it.

I believe that every student that is graduating this semester should have the opportunity to see the selection and decide for himself if he or she would be interested in purchasing a ring.

I took it upon myself to contact jewelers in the Jackson area, and there will be a representative on campus Monday, March 14, at 10:05 a.m. in the auditorium to discuss the matter with those students that would be interested in the purchase of a class ring.

Sincerely,

Fred Wilda

Cage Tourneys Take Spotlight

By TOMMY NANCE

High School basketball tournaments high-lighted the sports scene in Mississippi this past weekend with the A-AA division finals and B-BB finals being completed in both girls and boys games.

TOMMY

The Clinton Arrows walked away with the Boys' A-AA championship by defeating Florence 81-72, as they had done in the district and sectional tournaments. The Forest Bearkittens stole the show in girls' competition in A-AA league play by walloping Leakesville 61-31 in the Pearl gymnasium.

B-BB activity saw the North Central boys whip the Pelahatchie Chiefs 75-53 to gain top honor in their respective division. Pine Grove lassies trounced the Tremont six 73-40 for the State B-BB Girls' title.

Over-all state basketball finals will be held in Jackson's City Auditorium Saturday, March 12, with the B-BB and A-AA girls playing for the state crown at 2:30, and the B-BB and A-AA boys meeting at 7:30 for the over-all championship.

Auburn's Eaves Gets Title

Auburn's Joel Eaves was named Southeastern Conference basketball coach of the year by the United Press International this past weekend. He was picked over Whack Hyder of the NCAA-bound Georgia Tech five and Adolph Rupp of the Kentucky Wildcats.

In his 11 seasons, Eaves' teams have won 162 games while losing only 79. The 1959 season was his best yet, for the Tigers built up a 20-2 record for the season after dropping the final two tilts of the season. Before those losses, they had a 30-game winning streak going. At present they have won 32 straight at home.

Eaves preaches accuracy and it pays off. His Tigers keep shuffling until one gets a good shot. In the past two seasons they have made more than 50 per cent of those shots.

Rose Bowl Looks

The Big Ten football conference has recently voted to divorce itself from the Rose Bowl completely, and undoubtedly this action will put a standard on its football recruiting sales pitch.

Individual teams in the conference voting against another contract with the new Big Five of Stanford, California, Washington, UCLA, and Southern California, were Minnesota, Northwestern, Illinois, Ohio State, and Wisconsin.

The Rose Bowl committee now looks for opponents for the upcoming Rose Bowl classics on New Year's Day and the South may be just the place they are looking. Georgia Tech has already scheduled a game with Southern California in 1961 and other Southeastern universities will probably fall into competition with this region in later years.

Before the Big Ten contract with the Pasadena Bowl, many southern teams became recognized as grid powers on the strength of their showing in the Rose Bowl. Alabama, Duke, and Georgia were a few of these dream teams to play in this grand daddy of all bowl games.

Grapefruit League

Covering the Grapefruit League at this time of the year is going to be a big chore since most of the players are still holding out for a bigger and better pay check.

The New York Yankees have been lucky so far since only Mickey Mantle and Tony Kubek are the only holdouts for the 1960 season. The Cincinnati Reds have all of their team members signed for the '60 pack as of last week when the only holdout, Paul Sanchez, inked the dotted line.

Out in Arizona Cleveland Pitcher Bob Lemon is beginning to show promising hope for the Indians and the Pittsburgh Pirates have had their temporary hopes demolished as rookie outfielder John Weekly has suffered a severe dislocation of his right ankle.

Rebs, LSU Get Pay Check

The University of Mississippi and Louisiana State have received their income for the 1960 Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans and it amounts to $165,00 for each team.

This was the largest amount for any team to receive for this bowl and sets the mark at $4,917,443.20 paid for 26 years. The Mid-Winter Sports Association also reported that orders have come in already for the 1961 and 1962 New Year games. One man wrote from Ogomosho, Nigeria, West Africa to receive tickets for the 1962 game.

Miller Gets Top Award

The Central High Tiger teammates have named Butch Miller and Hugh Shearer as honorary basketball captains for the 1959-60 season.

Butch, a 6-2 senior, won the Jackson city scoring race this past year by sinking 500 points for a 19.2 average. He ended the season hitting a 46 per cent field goal mark and a 76.4 free throw percentage. Miller and Shearer paced the uptown Tigers to their first over-all Big Eight Championship in 16 years.

Coach Bob Stevens, who has taken over the position as head football coach at Tigerville, described Miller, a two time All-Big Eight selection, as "the best all around player I've ever coached.

Cinderella Wildcats Win Junior College Cage Tourney Over Tigers

Northeast Falls In Final Minutes To Powerful Pearl River, 64-63

By TOMMY NANCE

The 1960 Mississippi Junior College "Cinderella" team, Pearl River Wildcats, swept past the Number One North Division cagers, Northeast Tigers, in Summit this weekend to capture the over-all Junior College Championship, 64-63.

The Pearl River five had to come from behind in this second half to edge out the Booneville lads, for the Tigers held a narrow 30-27 lead at intermission.

Poplarville's Sam Pace set the game on ice for the Wildcats when his free throws with 1:57 left in the game gave the Southern Champs a 64-62 edge. Vince Del Negro, the nation's leading junior college scorer, had a chance to tie the game up with 1:45 left to go, but missing his first shot and making the second the score stood at 64-63 until the final buzzer.

Del Negro's 32 points was enough to lead the pack in scoring but he was the only bengal to tally in the double figures. Sam Pace led the Wildcat attack with 17 points, while Grady Hickman and Dave Votaw followed closely behind with 16 and 14.

Del Negro also sparkled on the boards with 22 rebounds accredited to him. Dave Votaw collected 13 for Pearl River.

Semi-Final Tilts

Semi-final action saw two tough battles go down in the wire with Pearl River collecting a 76-75 margin victory over the Warriors of East Central, and Southwest's Bears falling to the powerful Northeast cagers, 80-79.

In the opening tilt Pearl River managed a 35-32 lead over East Central at halftime, and never fell far behind in the second stanza. Paced by Sam Pace, 19, Grady Hickman, 14, and Jack Bush and Ed Ginn, with 13 and 11 respectively, the Wildcats withstood the Warriors for an important semi-final win. East Central's Brooks Cox was the only outstanding scorer for the Warriors with 29 buckets.

The night cap battle saw the Tigers, led by Del Negro, Bobby McCarley, and Johnny Mitchell, with 29, 27, and 12 points apiece, capture a berth in the finals by edging out Southwest with a slim one-point victory. The Bears were paced by Tommy Wall and Willis Smith, with 26 points apiece.

Eaglettes Match Badminton Game Against Millsaps

On Thursday night, March 10, the Hinds Junior College Eaglettes will serve as hostess to the Millsaps Girls' badminton team.

A series of highly competitive games will provide entertainment to all persons interested in coming. The games will begin at 6:00 p.m. in the new girls' gymnasium.

Everyone is cordially invited. Show your school spirit and support the Hinds Eaglettes Thursday night.

The Women's Athletic Association has been sponsoring several intramural tournaments this past week in ping pong, badminton, doubles and singles; and shuffleboard doubles.

As of yet, there are no winners, but a couple of the tournaments are now in the final games. The tournaments have provided a lot of keen competition and fun for all WAA members.

Chapel Programs Provide Variety In Entertainment

To achieve variety and interest in chapel programs this year, student participation has been stressed and various school organizations have participated in the programs.

The most recent chapel program was presented last week by the Engineering Club, sponsored by Miss Lurline Stewart, Mr. Wallace Wall, and Mr. Frank Stephenson, and consisting of reports by Engineering, Physics, and Mathematics majors.

Ten members of the club participated in the program. After the devotional given by Albert Richardson, Gary Hathorne, president of the club, introduced the program and the speakers.

Percy Payne spoke on Mathematics; Loren Miller gave a speech, written by Denton Bates and Braxton Jenkins, on Electrical Engineering; Rex Carson spoke on Civil Engineering; Bob Franks talked about Chemical Engineering; Jimmy Hataway spoke about Drafting; and Jerry Beach gave a speech on Physics.

Here are a few quotes from the speeches:

"All of us study some mathematics whether we are mathematics majors or not."

"With experience the mechanical engineer may increase his salary up to $9,000 per year."

"Industrial Drafting is the connecting link between the ideas of the engineer and their reality in the world in which we live."

"Without the engineer and his right arm the draftsman world progress would come to an end."

Hindsonian Staff Visits Vicksburg To See Melodrama, 'Gold In Hills'

By CORKIE LYLE

The Hindsonian staff members and their chaperones attended the production of "Gold in the Hills," a melodrama sponsored and produced by the Vicksburg Little Theater aboard the antique river steamer, Sprague, Tuesday night.

Before embarking upon the mightiest of the river boats, the staff traveled through Vicksburg and the National Military Park. Many stops were made at the interesting and beautiful park monuments.

After seeing the sights, the staff then journeyed to Tuminello's Kitchen, a nationally famous restaurant, for a supper fit for a king. Among the meals chosen were seafood platters, fillet mignon, and steaks with all the trimmings.

The sights seen, the staff returned to the auditorium for the production of the melodrama. Among the cast of "Gold in the Hills" was Hind's student, Frances Nelson of Vicksburg. Other students who appear in the cast at intervals are Linda Bovay, of Vicksburg, and David Ethridge, of Vicksburg.

Staff members making the memorable trip were Sue Bell of Forest Hill, Sue Harvey of Forest Hill, Day Ratcliff of Brandon, Joan Williamson of Byram, Beebe Hilton, of Jackson, Gayle Rushing of Forest Hill, David Ethridge of Vicksburg, Corkle Lyle of Belzoni, Nollie Cochran of Terry, Tommy Nance of Jackson, Johnny Sumrall of Jackson, and chaperoning the group were Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes of Pearl, and Mr. Pat Smith of Mendenhall, members of the college staff.

Claremont String Quartet To Present Program In Hinds Auditorium Thursday

A string quartet, composed of four instrumentalists, that explores the highest forms of musical expression to bring about a dynamic integration of artistry will present a program in the college auditorium tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Mr. Leslie Reeves, head of the music department, reports that the Claremont Quartet, composed of Marc Gottlieb and Valdimir Weisman, violinists, William Schoen, violinist, and Irving Klein, cellist, will bring an unusual program of string music to the campus.

Sponsored jointly by the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation in the Library of Congress and the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges, the program will be as follows: Quartet No. 23 in F major (k .590) by Mozart; Quartet No. 6 Quincy by Porter; and Quartet No. 8 in E minor, Pous 50, No. 2 by Beethoven.

Admission will be $1 for adults and $.50 for students.

Successful Tour

The Claremont Quartet made a highly successful tour of Colleges in the Gulf South States in 1959. In the fall of 1950 they toured extensively in Alaska.

"Their achievements in balance, style and fine tone," one critic wrote after their recent appearance at the Library of Congress, "places them in the ranks of those fine chamber ensembles that have become so much a part of our life in the last few years."

Members of the Claremont Quartet have each achieved individual recognition as soloists and chamber musicians of outstanding ability. The ensemble was formed as a result of the merging of two close mutual musical friendships of many years standing.

Pool Talents

Marc Gottlieb and Vladimir Weisman were brought up and educated together in New York City. William Schoen and Irving Klein began their musical association in Cleveland where they attended the same school. After realizing the closeness of their musical tastes and ideas, the four musicians decided to pool their talents.

Gottlieb was born in Leipzig, Germany. He began his early studies with his father, a teacher at the Gewandhaus. Later, in America, he entered Julliard School of Music where he had Louis Persinger as his only teacher until graduation.

His New York debut at Times Hall was followed by a recital at Town Hall and appearances at McMillin Theatre and other concert halls. He formed his own trio, and as a member of several string quartets, he toured extensively throughout the United States, made recordings, and appeared on radio.

He joined in organizing the Claremont Quartet in 1953.

Vladimir Weisman was born in New York, and began studies when he was seven years old at the Music School Settlement. When 10, he was accepted as a student by Rafael Bronstein, who prepared him for a professional career.

His Town Hall debut at 16 was followed by many appearances in recitals, as soloists with orchestras, and on radio. Musical activities as soloist and concert-master have carried him three times from one end of the country to the other.

He has been a member of the Indianapolis and St. Louis Symphonies as well as many chamber music organizations. For two musically-enriching summers he was awarded scholarships at Tanglewood, and at Pierre Monteux's Domaine School in Maine, to study with Naoum Blinder. His studies with Dr. Blinder were continued in San Francisco.

Quartet Violinist

William Schoen, violinist of the quartet, was born in Czechoslovakia and brought to the United States as an infant. He received his early musical education in Cleveland. He held the Rochester Prize Scholarship for four years at Eastman School of Music.

Women's Council Names 4 Members As New Advisors

New members elected last week to the Women's House Council are Nancy Ruth Chapman, Becky Dawson, Carolyn Sebren, and Johnnie Ruth Tinsley.

Selected by their housemates to represent their respective floors, Nancy Ruth and Carolyn will represent Westside, and Becky and Johnnie Ruth, Main Rormitory.

The Women's House Council will assist faculty house residents and the dean of women in sponsoring in the spring term house routines of study hours, library privileges, light extensions, as well as special social privileges accorded the graduating sophomores in the spring term.

House council meetings are held weekly, and house meetings for all dormitory girls are called at intervals.

Baptist Student Union Members Present 'Sermon-In-Song' With 3 Main Divisions

At the regular Baptist Student Union meeting Monday night, March 14, the program consisted of a sermon-in-song.

The three main points which were brought out were (1) the meaning of the love of God, (2) the extent of the love of God, (3) the results of the love of God.

Those participating in the program were the following students: Duwane Kennedy, Jackson; Genie McBride, Byram; Nancy Hamil, Carthrage; Bill Taylor, Jackson; Tommie Thompson, Winnsboro, Louisiana; Linda Bratton, Bruce; Martin Bittick, Jackson; Dot Brock, Raymond; Carol Jean Benton, Raymond.

Newspapers Serve Purpose

In this month's issue of the Junior College Journal, there is an article by John H. Herrington, titled "The Junior College Student Newspaper — Educational Black Sheep or Blessing?"

In the article the author gives the junior college publications adequate praise for their work, but points out that "although it is generally agreed the newspaper should concern itself with real educational problems, few college publications achieve this standard."

When the author began to check closely some 4,124 articles in samples of 133 issues of junior college newspapers which received Medalist or All-American ratings and Second-Class or Second-Place ratings, he concluded the following:

"Approximately 37 per cent concerned General Education; 24 per cent were related to Guidance. Fourteen per cent of the articles were related to combined objectives of Community Service, Preparation for Advanced Study, and Vocational Education, in that order, although 25 per cent of the items were not related to any of the foregoing objectives."

After all the statistics were in, there were some conclusions to be reached. Recommendations were as follows:

"1. The student newspaper at the junior college should continue to serve effectively the educational objectives of General Education and Guidance.

"2. Through greater cooperation of the faculty and resourcefulness of the student staff, more coverage should be provided by the paper for the junior college objectives of Preparation for Advanced Study and Vocational Education."

In closing the article, the author stated, "At least with reference to the study reported here, it can be stated that junior college newspapers are emphatically blessings rather than "black sheep" to the educational program."

Face Your Problems

Phychologists tell us that everyday frustrations are inevitable in our lives. They point out further that, even though this is true, our success at overcoming these daily worries helps determine, to no small degree, how much we will get out of life and how well we will adapt ourselves, with our fellow men, to our environment.

In college we have added worries, both physical and mental, which impose quite a strain on the average student. How can we get all our studies finished in the given number of hours? Is it always possible to get the correct amount of calories? Do we spend enough time in physical recreation? These are some of the questions which plague students each day.

In order to gain much from our educational opportunities we must see that there is a balance between our hours of work, play, rest, and diet, etc. And only we, the students, can achieve this balance.

College is a breeding place for the frustrations which we sometimes say . . . "seem impossible to cope with." When we are tempted to play down our opportunity and make a change for our own betterment, it is wise for us to remember that the world is everywhere the same, only the circumstances are different.

"Don't move when things get tough. As long as you have one friend, stay and build. Grow roots. People and pressures shift, but the soil is about the same everywhere. If you can't make what you believe in where you are, it is doubtful that you ever will, no matter where you are."

(Paul Baker, professor of drama and director of the theater, Baylor University.)

Miss Brandon, Penny Fair Queen Adds Sophomore Honor To Her List

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

The recipient of this week's Sophomore of the Week honor is a lovely lass from Brandon, Nancy McKay, who has a list of accomplishments rarely achieved.

Since her graduation from Brandon High School in 1958, Nancy has compiled a continuous list of titles. Among these are included the Miss Brandon 1959, and the Rankin County Miss Hospitality titles.

NANCY McKAY
Brandon Beauty

After starting school at Hinds, Nancy continued her honor-catching habits. Last year for example, she was the girl half of the cutest couple, and this year she captured the Hinds Penny Fair Queen title.

While getting top spot in a great many contests, Nancy has had several near misses. Among these she can count a final five position in the 1959 Mississippi Mississippi contest, a final ten spot in the state Miss Hospitality contest, first alternate in the Rankin County Forestry Queen contest, finalist in the Oil Queen contest, and, on campus, runner-up for most beautiful in the Who's Who contest for 1959.

Nancy is a Home Economics major, and a member of the local Lamplighters Club. At present she is undecided as to where she will complete her education, but she believes that it will be at M.S.C.W. or Mississippi College.

Nancy lists her favorite pastimes as swimming, sewing, cooking, and horseback riding, in that order.

Guess what, fellers? She's engaged! Nevertheless, the Hindsonian feels privileged to acknowledge Nancy McKay as Sophomore of the Week.

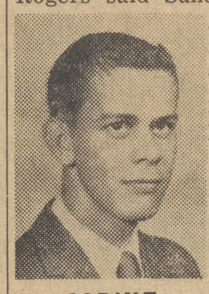
Attorney General Gives Support To Integration

By CORKIE LYLE

Attorney General William P. Rogers said Sunday the need for additional federal legislation to deal with integration in the House of Representatives.



CORKIE

Sen. Richard McCulloch had asked the attorney general to give his views on the Senate's action in tabling Section 1 of the administration bill. That section would make it a federal offense wilfully to use force or threats of force to obstruct orders of federal courts in school desegregation cases.

"I believe it is of the utmost importance that Congress enact this section," Rogers said.

Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff faced a disheartening second murder trial Sunday because two members of the hung jury wouldn't compromise.

Outwardly, the jury appeared compatible and appeared to get along well during the three-month trial. But juror Genevieve Lang said the opposite was true.

"We could have voted Carole free at any time," she said, "but we were trying to get these other two—they refused to listen to the law, conditions and degrees—to go along on Finch.

"If they would have voted with us, we would have settled for second degree on Finch and freed Carole. We never voted on second degree, though, we just voted on guilty."

Satellite Pioneer V sent a signal back to earth Sunday night from 409,060 miles out in space.

It thus set a record for long-distance communication, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

A NASA monitoring station in Hawaii made contact with the outbound satellite at 8 p.m. The signal was excellent, the Hawaiian station reported.

An earthquake of medium strength killed a woman and injured several persons in the southern Yugoslavian province of Macedonia.

The center of the quake was at the little town of Tetovo, 22 miles west of Skoplje, capital of Macedonia. At Tetovo, 12 persons were taken to a hospital for treatment of injuries suffered from broken glass and flying tiles.

In the village of Dobi Dol, district of Tetovo, a woman was killed in the collapse of her home. This was the only casualty reported.

A textile factory's big hall at Tetovo was seriously damaged, and inhabitants had to be evacuated from a number of other houses which were damaged.

Two Americans, one of them a candidate for Congress, were seized by Cuban police and held for 10 hours of questioning before their release early Saturday. John R. Taylor, 28, a candidate for congress in Stillwater, Oklahoma, and Roger Sharp, 25, news director of TV station KOTV in Tulsa, Oklahoma, were arrested Friday while Sharp was taking pictures inside the Agrarian Reform building in Havana.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS — Several members of the general electricity and wiring class, led by Mr. Tom G. Slay, test and replace fuses in the control boxes at the football stadium. This is just one of the many campus jobs these studnts fulfill.

MANY OPPORTUNITIES

Openings To Library Workers Available

By SUE HARVEY

In 1957, it was estimated that 10,000 more librarians could be employed. This is a not-to-be-passed-up opportunity for young people interested in this type of work.

According to the most recent census, there are 55,750 men and women serving in America's libraries. Of this total, about 16,000 librarians and teacher-librarians serve in elementary and high school libraries.

To rank as a professional in most library jobs requires study in an approved library school. This ordinarily means five years of college study, four to meet requirements for a bachelor's degree, and a fifth year or more of study in library science.

The starting salaries of librarians compare favorably with those of other professions in allied fields. For the new librarian of ability, promotion is usually rapid. He may expect to earn from $4,500 to $6,000 in a few years.

Equally important, library work assures a high degree of security—along with good working conditions, sick leave, vacations, and retirement protection.

Few professions—few fields of any kind—offer such a wide variety of work situations as does librarianship. There are four major types of libraries—public, school college or university, and special.

What must you have in human capabilities to be a librarian? There are certain qualifications you should develop—a liking for people and a desire to be helpful; an attachment to books and curiosity about them; tact, energy, initiative, good health. You must be willing to work hard at your education for librarianship and look forward to working at a good, fast pace as a librarian. To be a successful librarian you should be constantly alert to new ideas and change.

Libraries which fall short, possibly for lack of community support, possibly for need of a progressive administrator—offer the finest challenge to young people. You . . . as a librarian . . . can achieve anything you want in the library . . . for the people it serves.

Scholarships Offered To Students Of Optometry

The University of Houston College of Optometry is offering BETTER VISION scholarships. The BETTER VISION scholarships are $500 tuition awards for first-year optometry students at the University of Houston.

There will be at least one scholarship awarded in the following states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma South Carolina, and Texas provided that there are qualified applicants. Women may apply for any of the state BETTER VISION scholarships. In addition, there will be at least one BETTER VISION scholarship specifically designated for a woman student.

Providing the BETTER VISION scholarships are optmetrists, optometric laboratories and suppliers, and ophthalmic manufacturers who are interested in the University of Houston and in furthering the optometric profession through education. The scholarships will be awarded on the basis of financial need, scholastic abiliy, and admission to the University of Houston in Optometry.

The recipiens of the BETTER VISION scholarships are selected by the faculty scholarship committee. To be assured of consideration, applications must be received by April 15, 1960, but the faculty scholarships committee will meet again during the summer to consider scholarships not previously awarded. Applications will be accepted and considered as long as there are scholarships not yet awarded.

Dowdy Rates All-State Team

By TOMMY NANCE

Spring has sprung and time has come to say good-by to another basketball year. This season has had its moments, some good and some bad, but the old phrase, "Wait till next year" still lingers on in many of the minds, except down Pearl River way.

TOMMY

Climaxing every season of junior college basketball is the naming of the All-State team, composed of the best junior college players in the state and nation. We, here at Hinds, are very proud of our basketball team and particularly of one player, Larry Dowdy.

Larry has been named to this year's All-State Junior College team. Being a member of this ten-man team brings honor to Larry as well as to Hinds, and we all want to extend our heartiest congratulations to this fine deserving player.

Grapefruit Circuit Opens

The starting of the exhibition season brings a new sport into all American hearts each year. Labeled as the American pastime, baseball is now warming up for the upcoming season. The official opening of the Grapefruit league occured in Florida last Saturday and a few wins were registered by the major teams.

In Sarasota, the Cincinnati Reds fell in the 15th inning to Chicago's White Sox, 4-3. Joe Hicks, rookie outfielder, drove in the winning run with a bases-loaded single off Raul Sanchez with none out in the bottom of the 15th.

The St. Louis Cardinals used Daryl Spencer's three straight singles to gain a 3-1 victory over the New York Yankees. Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher of last year, played third base and drove in the lone Yankee run with a first inning single off Larry Jackson.

In other Florida opening games, the Philadelphia Phillies gave the Milwaukee Braves a 2-1 beating as Ken Walters doubled to center with one out in the ninth inning to break a tie. The Detroit Tigers captured a 9-6 win over the Washington Senators in a two-hour, 46 minute struggle.

The Baltimore Orioles and the Kansas City Athletics took wins over the Pittsburg Pirates and Los Angeles Dodgers respectively with 3-1 and 8-4 margins.

B-BB Captures Crowns

Both boys' and girls' teams gained the over-all state high school crown last weekend in Jackson with respective wins over their A-AA oppositions.

The Pine Grove sextette defeated the Forest Bearkittens, 74-50, as individual scoring records tumbled with Pine Grove's Romia Rickles connecting for 53 points and Forest's Carolyn James for 42.

The strength and superiority of the North Mississippians, who finished the season with a perfect 46-0 record, didn't show until the third quarter when they connected for 17 points and held Forest to six. Their two-season record now stands at 92-1.

In boys' action the Necaise Clan or better known as North Hancock dumped the Clinton Arrows, 63-55 for the state's boys' title. Gaining the lead for good in the second quarter, North Hancock rolled on to a 33-27 halftime lead.

Pacing the winners were Doug Necaise with 20 points and Donald and Wayne Necaise, with 14 and 12 points respectively. Doug Hutton led the way for the Arrows with 17 goals while Sidney Odom and Ed Bufkin connected for 14 and 12 each.

It was North Hancock's 45th win in 47 games and its first over-all championship in history. This was the Arrows' second trip to the finals in six years and the second time they failed to bring home the big trophy.

MC On All-American

Mississippi College's Tommy Covington gained a second team berth on the United Press International's All-American small college basketball team, thus achieving the highest honor that a Choctaw team has gained since the college broke away from big time sports.

Covington, 6-1 sharp-shooter from Center Hill, paced the Choctaws to a national scoring record during the past season as the Clinton cagers hit the nets for an average of 114.2 points per game. He was the leading scorer for the team as he averaged 28.9 points and copped the fifth place among small colleges scorers.

Mississippi placed another member on the second team as Mississippi Southern's Don Curry was chosen. Both Covington and Curry were edged out of the first team by Jim McDonald of West Virginia Wesleyan.

We want to extend our heartiest congratulations to Tommy and the rest of the Choctaws for so well representing Mississippi and this area.

Newell Named Coach of Year

The Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association has named California's Pete Newell as "Coach of the Year".

Newell, 44, is in his final season of basketball coaching as he will become university athletic director at the beginning of the next season.

Newell's Golden Bears won the NCAA championship in 1959; and with a 24-1 record, the Bears are co-flavored with Cincinnati in this year's NCAA tournament.

Since the award was started in 1947, Newell is the second West Coach to be picked. Phil Woolpert was chosen in 1956 with San Francisco.

Rosamond Announces Upcoming Cinder Schedule For Tracksters

Eagles Travel To Perkinston For First Cinder Meet On April 2

Hinds Junior College head track coach Ivan Rosamond has announced an eight meet cinder schedule for the Eagle thinclads this spring.

Rosamond, who has replaced Frank Young as head track coach and assistant football coach, will be setting his charges to bring back the state junior college track championship to Hinds. Last year the Eagle tracksters placed second to Sunflower in the state final meet.

The Eagle schedule begins with the Perkinston meet on April 2 and finishes with the over-all state junior college finals at Perkinston on May 7. Other meets during the upcoming season are April 5—Sunflower at Hinds, April 9—Southwest at Hinds, April 16—Jones at Hinds, April 19—Holmes at Hinds, April 26—Sunflower at Moorhead, and May 3—Perkinston at Hinds.

Several boys already have begun practice and Coach Rosamond urges all of those who are interested in track to contact him this week. "The first meet will be the second week after spring holidays and we will have only one week to work together", states Rosamond.

The Eagles will be without the services of Thad Talley, Theron McGregor, Bill Henley, Gary Clement, Sunny Burden, Henry Schwab, Colbert Irby, and Roland Rodriquiz, for all graduated or transfered to other colleges. Several hopefuls are in line for this year's cindermen, coming from high schools and others transfering from other colleges.

Most all track events will be represented by Hinds boys if the material is good enough. Events held in a state junior college track meet are 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, 220 and 120 yard low hurdles, mile run and relay, high and broad jumps, discus, pole vault, shot put, and javelin throw.

Junior College All-State Basketball Team Given By State JC Coaches

The 1960 edition of the Mississippi Junior College All-State Basketball team has been announced by junior college coaches, writers, and officials. Only two Mississippians, Tommy Grant, and Sherrell Marshall, were chosen on this dream team which consists of ten of the top cage stars in the nation.

Vincent Del Negro and Kenny Hunt, Northeast and Northwest standouts, were the only two returnees on this year's team. The Mississippi Junior College Basketball champions, Pearl River, placed Dave Votaw on this talented group. Larry Dowdy of Hinds, John Long of Perkinston, Jim Flatt of Copiah Lincoln, Sherrell Marshall of East Central, Steve Frick of Itawamba, and Jay Boland of East Mississippi were other players chosen for this honor team. All are sophomores except Boland.

Proving their outstanding ability, the top ten players averaged better than 19 points throughout the season. The second ten which consist of Brooks Cox, East Central, Bill Callison, Sunflower, Ned Harbuck, Holmes, Jim Hooten, Northwest, Bobby McCarley, Northeast.

Willis Smith, Southwest, Sam Pace, Pearl River, Jack Case, Co-Lin, and Andy Russo and Bill Upchurch of Perkinston, averaged better than 16 tallies per game.

Northeast's Del Negro was the only unanimous pick as he led the state and national junior college scorers for the second straight year with 1018 points in 31 games for an average of 32.8.

Earl Leggett Joins Hinds Athletic Staff As Coaching Assistant For Renfroe

Earl Leggett, a former All-SEC tackle who plays professional football for the Chicago Bears, has been named part-time coach and scout at Hinds Junior College.

Leggett, who is an ex-Hinds and LSU grid star, will aid the Eagle athletic staff in off season as a scout and assist with spring football drills, according to athletic director and head coach Joe Renfroe.

A native of Jacksonville, Florida, Leggett joins Renfroe, basketball coach Troy Ricks, and newly named assistant football coach and head track tutor, Ivan Rosamond. In 1952 and '53, he made all-state honors at Hinds and received All-American Junior College laurels in 1953. In the 1954 he was a member of the Little Rose Bowl championship team.

EARL LEGGETT
Professional Football Player

Playing with the LSU Tigers in 1955, Leggett enjoyed a top season and made All-SEC honors, but in the 1956 season, he suffered a fractured ankle and saw limited action.

The Chicago Bears signed Leggett in 1957. He has completed three seasons with the Bears. In 1958 and '59 the Bears took second place in the western division.

Married to the former Bobbie Wroten of Harriston, Leggett has two children, three year-old Earl, Jr., and two year-old Dana Carol.

Badminton Championships To Be Decided Soon In Girls' PE Classes

By GAIL RUSHING

For the past month, the girls' physical education department has been the scene of vigorous activity as the girls teamed together to try to capture the badminton championship.

With each class period having two separate brackets, winners' and losers', the classes will collide soon and a winner of the over-all tournament will be decided. The tournament is being played under the double elimination rules and teams, which though suffering early losses, still have a chance to gain the coveted trophy.

The tournaments are well underway now, and some of the class periods have crowned their winners. Those in the winners' bracket are: Hassel Ross — Melanie Clement, 2A-3 TT; Martha Ann Adams —Sara Brown, 3rd MWF; Peggy Downs—Ella Gill, 7th MWF. The losers' bracket consist of Sara Halsell—Maxine Ware, 2A-3 TT; Carolyn Middleton—Geraldine Conn, 6th MWF; and Jo Ann Johnson—Linda Herrington, 5-6 TT.

Those teams that haven't completed their tournaments are in their finals now and should be completed by the end of this week. Members of these teams are: Rita Lott—Orlane Huff vs. Lottie Joe Leach—Mary Jean Fugate; Janet Davis—Pam Guchereau vs. Pat Seymour — Martha Pharr; Ruth Darden—Jane Patrick vs. Bonnie Harding — Lerona Gay; Bo Go—Bobbie Jean Hester vs. Louise Phillips—Dot Brock; and Lynn Watts—Maxine Womack vs. Suzy Pettit — Rebecca Brummit.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards...as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant...and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

VOLUME 26—NUMBER 22 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 1960

Lendon Players To Give 'Yes And No' Friday Eve At 8 In Auditorium

JUST A LITTLE PRACTICE — Lynn Watts (right) of Wiggins, who plays Joanna, and David Ethridge of Vicksburg, who plays Adrian, polish up on their lines in the Lendon Players' spring production "Yes and No" Friday night. Curtain time is 8 p. m.

Drama Instructor Fred Brooks Set To Direct 2-Act Comedy By Horne

Yes And No, a two act-epilogue British play by Kenneth Horne, is scheduled for presentation in the college auditorium Friday night.

The curtain will rise at 8:00 p. m. The cast personnel includes three males and four females dressed in modern attire.

Directing the play is Mr. Fred L. Brooks, head of the speech and drama department at Hinds. Assistant director is Veronica Roberts of Hattiesburg.

The committees are as follows: Sound—Norma Sandifer, Jackson; Properties—Linda Bovay, Geraldine Conn, and Joe Lindigrin, all of Vicksburg; Publicity—Maxine Womack of Jackson; Makeup—Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; Maurine Black, Carrollton; Katherine Curry, Holly Springs; and Mag Jones, Carson.

Play Ushers

Ushers are Maxine Womack, Jackson; Bettye Smythe, Forest; June Burt, Florence; Joe Lindigrin and Geraldine Conn, both from Vicksburg.

A short synopsis of the play reveals the action. Act I takes place on Wednesday and Thursday and shows what might have happened if Jo had said "No". The action of Act II takes place on the same two days, showing what might have happened if Jo had said "Yes."

The epilogue reverts again to Wednesday and shows what actually happened. The characters in the play are described as "seven of the most genial, the most refreshing, and the most amusing of fuddie-duddies."

Entire Cast

The cast is as follows: Jennie Howell of Vicksburg as Mrs. Webb; Jerry Horack of Jackson as the Reverend Jarrow; Alice Boyd of Utica as Emma Jarrow; Mary Grace Cathy of Jackson as Sally; Lynn Watts of Wiggins as Joanna; Sibley Walters of Vicksburg as the Reverend Bayshott; and David Etheridge of Vicksburg as Adrian.

Reading Classes Designed To Meet Learning Skills

Hinds Junior College, in common with most senior colleges and universities, has a reading and study skill improvement program for students. The contest of the reading classes indicates that it is concerned with a wide range of learning skills.

While the core of each meeting consists of instruction and practice in some facet of reading, other activities include systematic practice of study skills, taking examinations, vocabulary development, note-taking, discussion of problems and techniques related to concentration; preparing for examinations, and critical reading and listening. Individual aid is given students with difficulties in spelling, and other content courses.

Students Screened

All students are screened diagnostically to determine level of reading skills, vision, and hearing.

The course is designed to improve speed and comprehension of students and especially those students who read so slowly as to find it difficult to carry on college work successfully. Most students find it relatively easy to double their initial rates of reading by the end of the term's work.

Different Speeds

As must be expected, improvements in both speed and comprehension differ remarkably from student to student since these improvements must depend in large part upon the student's beginning habits, his intelligence, and, probably most important of all, his motivation.

The Hinds Junior College course is designed as a skills course. Its methods are intended to be applied to its students with as much flexibility as its instructor can devise. Its goals are simple and practical ones, and they are largely achieved as tests at intervals reveal.

Male Students Desiring Dormitory Rooms In South Side Should Apply Now

All male students desiring to live in the new Southside Dormitory during the 1960-61 session may apply at the Dean of Men's office in the Administration Building. In order to qualify, you must be a sophomore and have a good citizenship and academic record.

Earnest To Head Baptist Student Union On Campus

At the regular Baptist Student Union meeting Monday night, March 28, officers for the 1960-61 school year were elected. They are as follows: president: Rose Earnest, Slate Springs; vice-president: Jimmy Davis, Canton; enlistment chairman: Percy Payne, Tylertown.

Devotional chairman: Ann Spencer, Bruce; secretary: Shirley Hebron, Jackson; Christian citizenship chairman: Becky Legg, Jackson; publicity chairman: Jerl Watkins, Jackson; stewardship chairman: Janice Gibson, Utica; missions chairman: Carolyn Middleton, Memphis; music chairman: Linda Bratton, Bruce.

YWA president: Ann Burnham, Brandon; Sunday School representative: Bruce Creel, Howeapath, South Carolina: Training Union representative: Tommy Davis, Howeapath, South Carolina; social chairman: Larry Kennedy, Mendenhall; Editor: Belinda Hill, Brandon; faculty advisor: Sara Taylor, Laurel.

These officers are going to an Officers Retreat in Tupelo April 8, 9, 10. They will attend conferences in order to learn what is expected of them in their offices.

There they will also hear inspirational speakers.

Staff Members To Attend Public Relations Meeting

Two Hinds Junior College staff members will attend the mid-south district convention of the American College Public Relations Association at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi March 31-April 2.

Pat Smith, English instructor, and Irl Dean Rhodes, public relations staff member, will leave the campus Thursday afternoon to attend the convention. The general theme of the meeting will be "Regional and National Cooperation in Higher Education."

A get-acquainted party is slated Thursday night. Friday morning activity includes an address by Dr. R. C. Anderson, director of SREB, entitled "Improving the Public Image of Higher Education in the South," and a panel on "The National Defense Loan Act," headed by Gerald Elbers, NDEA, U. S. Office of Education.

Features Pray

The Friday luncheon program will feature Francis C. Pray, vice president of college relations, CFAE, entitled "Seven Giant Steps." One of the three afternoon sessions will be an address "Viewing College Public Relations from Where I Sit" by Eugene D. Rutland, The Commercial Appeal.

The observer - questioner after Rutland's speech will be Irl Dean Rhodes from Hinds.

A seafood jamboree and the president's address by M. G. Osborne, Jr., ACPRA president, is scheduled for Friday night.

How We Do It

Four panels on "How We Do It In Communications" and a Problem Seminar is on the agenda for Saturday morning.

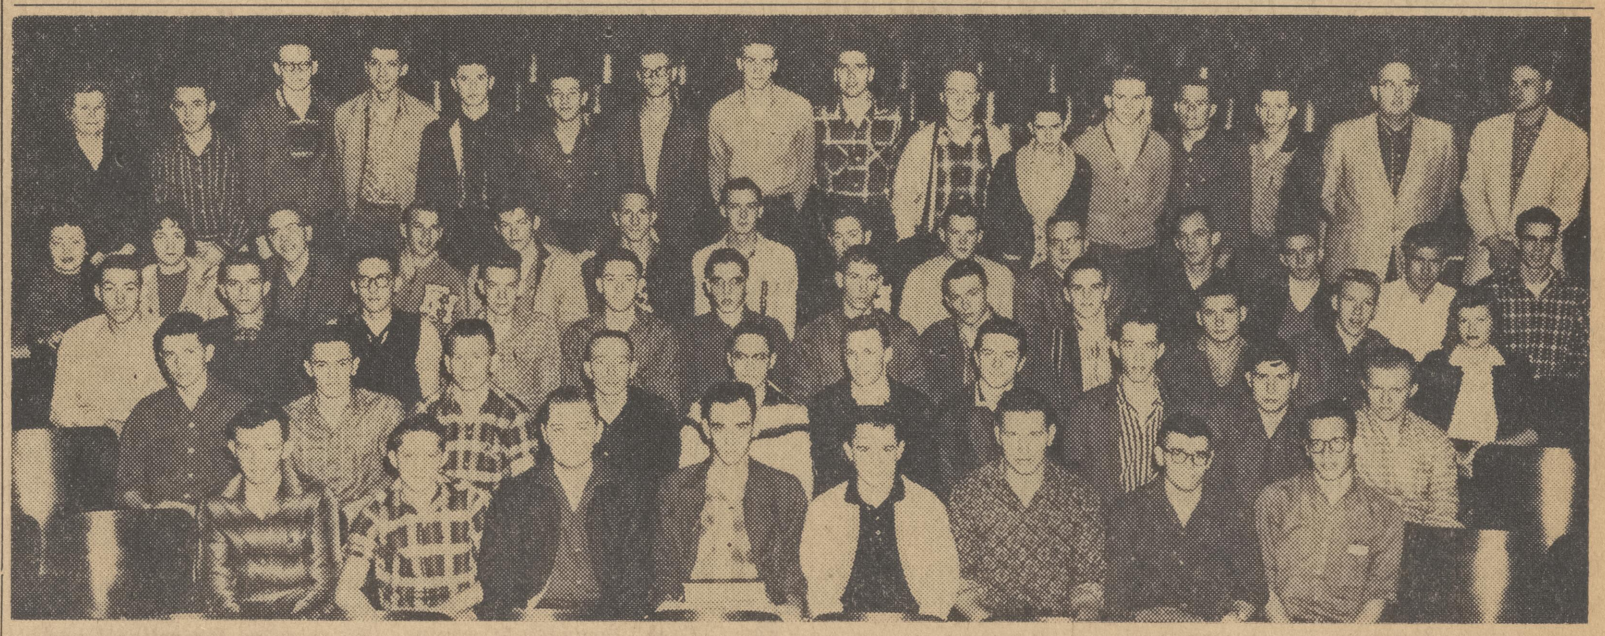
Byram, Raymond, Terry, Utica To Stage Career Day On Hinds Campus Thurs.

Hinds Junior College is staging its first annual Career Day for high school seniors from the surrounding area tomorrow afternoon on the campus.

Four near-by schools will be represented for this event. They are Utica, Terry, Byram, and Raymond. The program will begin at 1:00 p.m. in the auditorium and will be continued throughout the afternoon in various classrooms about the campus. Several tours through the many buildings at Hinds have also been planned.

The various groups will be under a counselor who is a specialist in his field. The counselors will speak to the students on the advantages and the courses in the profession in which they are considering.

This is the first time that Hinds has sponsored such a program to acquaint those students who plan to attend college with facilities for a two year course or undergraduate school.



ENGINEERING CLUB — The Hinds Junior College Engineering Club poses for a campus photographer at a recent meeting. Club sponsors are Miss Lurline Stewart, Mr. Frank J. Stephenson and Mr. Wallace Wall. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in various phases of engineering, science and mechanical drawing.

Survey Shows Group's View

In the past few months, political aspirants to the White House have been hard at work campaigning for the state primaries which precede next year's presidential election.

Every four years the United States turns from foreign diplomacy and focuses its major attention on the presidental election and home politics. Since this time is approaching, we thought it would be interesting to question campus political science students and present a political preference survey in the Hindsonian.

Approximately 125 students in Mr. J. R. Harris' political science classes participated in the survey. The results are as follows:

For President

John Kennedy (Dem.) 41; Richard M. Nixon (Rep.) 26; Lyndon Johnson (D) 18; Adlai Stevenson (D) 9; Stuart Symington (D) 5; Wayne Morse (D) 3; Nelson Rockefeller (R) 5; and Hubert Humphrey (D) 2.

The question was asked, "If voting for president of the United States, would you vote for the political party or for the individual candidate?" Students voted 25 for the party, and 96 for the candidate.

In the survey 26 students said they would vote for the Democratic nominee regardless of who is nominated by the Republican Party, and 94 said they would not.

When asked whether they would stick with the party even though they were not satisfied with the party's choice for a nominee, 102 answered no, while 23 answered yes.

Concerning the Democratic convention in July at Los Angeles, 63 voted in favor of a Mississippi delegation walk-out if the platform on civil rights is not acceptable to the South. Fifty-seven voted against a walk-out.

Prohibition laws are now adequate said 36 students. However, 83 students disagreed. They said the way in which State prohibition laws are handled and enforced are not adequate.

Forty students answered yes when asked if further steps should be taken to pass laws to change the present status of the alcoholic question in Mississippi. On the other hand, 82 advocated no change and answered "no."

For the final question 71 students voted in favor of local option liquor by the counties of the State. The negative side was taken by 51 who were not in favor of local option.

Conclusions

Certain conclusions can be reached in regard to this survey. Those which seem most obvious to us are the following:

In Hinds Junior College, where Catholic students are in the minority, John Kennedy, a Catholic, polled the largest number of votes.

Richard Nixon came in second, but taking into consideration the total 78 votes for possible Democratic nominees it appears that after the Democratic convention the other votes may be strongly united and in favor of the Democratic nominee.

Voters still prefer the candidate's individual appeal rather than voting for the party because of affiliation. Most students feel that steps should be taken to adequately enforce or change prohibition laws in the state.

The last question is not so easily answered — that of local option on liquor. While the majority of political science students seem to be in favor of it, the vote was close, 71-51.

Exactly what tangible value does a survey of this type have? Possibly none, but it may aid in our evaluation of certain questions which we will all have to face someday.

Students Enter New Dorm

Just before mid-term test week, Hinds new boys' dormitory was opened and several students were allowed to move into this ultra-modern facility.

With the addition of this motel-type boys' dormitory, and an equally up-to-date new girls' dorm shortly to be opened, Hinds Junior College has taken another step forward toward progress.

The addition of these new buildings does not add only to the physical enhancement of the campus, but also to the furthering of a successful student-faculty relationship. Those who are permitted to live in the new dormitories must be sophomores with high records of scholarship and citizenship. Real credit, then, is due the students who are privileged to take up residence in these new facilities. And along with these new privileges comes added responsibilities and challenges we believe these students will meet with satisfaction.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Future Airline Stewardess Reaps Sophomore Honor

By CORKIE LYLE

"Lovely to look at!" What better words could we use to describe our sophomore of the week, Nancy Gookin of Jackson.

Nancy, a member of the Alta Woods Baptist Church, is a member of the Baptist Student Union, Baptist Student Union Greater Council, The Hi-steppers, Modern Language Club, and mission chairman of the Y. W. A.

Before entering Hinds Junior College, Nancy attended Provine High school in Jackson. At Provine, she was a member of the library club, library assistant, golf club, girls' Hi-Y, volley ball league, speech club, and reporter of golf club.

Nancy has many and varied hobbies. She places horse-back riding as her favorite, followed by reading, and listening to Pete Fountain albums.

Nancy has chosen the occupation of an airline stewardess for her future. She plans to attend college only two years and then enter air line school. She plans to work for Delta Airlines, because they serve Jackson and other Mississippi cities.

NANCY GOOKIN
Jackson Lass

Nancy lists as her favorite food filet mignon, steak, and fried chicken with all the trimmings. She also likes to munch on an apple during her spare time.

"My love for traveling caused me to pick a career that included a lot of it. That's the reason I want to be an airline stewardess. I certainly don't want to make a long career out of it; I just want to be a stewardess long enough to get it (the traveling) out of my system.

We of the Hindsonian wish every success for Nancy in the future, because we know she'll really be "flying high."

Colvard Named New MSU President

By CORKIE LYLE

The Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning announced Monday the election of Dr. Dean W. Colvard, 46, dean of agriculture at North Carolina State College, as president of Mississippi State University.

CORKIE

Conferences with Dr. Colvard had been in progress since the Board met at Starkville last Thursday, the Board said. These culminated in the decision by Dr. Colvard to accept a four-year term as president of Mississippi State University.

He succeeds retiring Dr. Ben Hilbun as president of the Starkville institution on July 1. Dr. Hilbun will become president emeritus and continue to work with the university until this fall.

Great fires set by mobs raged northeast of Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Monday night as white police battled with Negroes and militant Negroes fought both police and other Negroes. It was the fiery, violent climax to South Africa's "day of mourning."

Widespread violence and arson erupted when the militant leaders sought to enforce a work boycott against other Negroes in protest against the killing of 72 persons shot down by white police a week ago.

One Negro policeman was reported killed and two others injured in clashes outside Johannesburg.

Negro leaders have cancelled plans to hold a city-wide sit-down protest against segregation SUNDAY because of promises from Las Vegas civic officials that discrimination would be abolished there.

The sit-down demonstrations were called off after Negro representatives met with civic leaders, including Nevada Governor Grant Sawyer.

Mayor Oran Gragson told the organizers of the protest he had been promised by downtown merchants and operators of the plush strip hotels that they would ban segregation in casinos, show rooms and cocktail lounges.

A civil court conviction of 43 Negroes for trespassing in North Carolina Monday has laid the groundwork for a possible United States Supreme Court decision on lunch counter demonstrations.

Attorneys for the students have announced that the convictions and fines at Raleigh will be taken to the supreme court if necessary.

The appeal involves constitutionality of North Carolina's trespass law which says in effect a merchant may serve the customers he wishes to serve. Other Southern states have similar statutes.

The Hinds Junior College Choir is still visiting many churches in our fair state of Mississippi. On April 2, the choir will attend the Mississippi Junior College Choir Festival at Decatur. On April 3, the choir will visit the Forest Hill Baptist Church and then journey to the Mt. Olive Baptist on the following Sunday.

April 24 finds the choir at the Quitman Methodist Church. The last trip of the year sees the choir appearing at the Canton Methodist Church. Besides these coming appearances, the choir has appeared at many other college festivals and church programs.

We here at Hinds should be very proud of our choir for the fine way they have represented our college.

MOST POPULAR PLACE

Eagles Nest Favorite Hinds Campus Hang-Out

By DAY RATCLIFF

The most popular place on any college campus across the nation is probably a snackshop or coffeeshop.

Well, it's no different at Hinds than at any other college in the nation. It, too, has a snackshop or coffeeshop, known as the EAGLE'S NEST, or more commonly as the Grill.

The Grill is housed in the cafeteria building which was built in 1951. It is under the general supervision of Mrs. Margaret Kimball. The ladies in charge, who see that the students are taken care of, are Mrs. Elizabeth McNair, Mrs. Lucille Jones, Mrs. Flora Boyd, and Mrs. J. E. Finger.

You may be wondering how the Grill got the name of THE EAGLE'S NEST. Well, the faculty decided to let the students give it a name. An election was held and the name THE EAGLE'S NEST came as a result of it.

Whether it's called THE EAGLE'S NEST or the Grill, we enjoy it. It gives that extra lift that we need in the middle of nine-weeks exam week or just any time. It's a place to hear the latest gossip and jokes. Most of all it's the place where the girls can find most of the boys. The boys? They go to the Grill to eat.

Wesley Group Sponsors Religious Film

The Hinds Junior College Wesley Foundation, under the leadership of Clay F. Lee, is sponsoring a film entitled "Big Man On The Campus" next Monday night at 6:15 p. m. in the music auditorium.

This type of film, which is known as a "talk-back" film, will be of special interest to all religious denominations. Many films of this type have been used before panels and discussion groups but this is the first time that one has been presented on the Hinds campus.

The Wesley Foundation extends to all the students on the campus a cordial welcome to enjoy the film and other Wesley meetings each Monday night.

Upcoming events for the foundation include group discussions, films, and a spring party and supper.

Hinds' Art Department Strives To Serve Student

By SUE HARVEY

Two years ago Hinds Junior College dropped its high school program and devoted itself exclusively to a junior college level of training. This was a big step, but the Art Department took this in stride and now attempts to offer courses parallel to other colleges in Mississippi.

Mrs. A. L. Denton, head of the Hinds Art Department, says, "The Art Department attempts to teach the basic principles necessary for using art in everyday life or continuing art training." This means those art students who don't want to continue their art training in a senior college, can find their places in business enterprises such as the Southern Bell Telephone Company, State Department of Education, Kenningtons, and the Emporium — the same as former graduates of Hinds have done.

Classes Offered

Offered are three beginning classes, one history class, one commercial class and one advanced class. For further information regarding these classes, consult your catalogue.

This nine weeks art students are working toward an exhibition which will demonstrate progressive steps in the development of a particular interest in art. The second year students are following lines of their own interest as they learn to use more advanced methods of water color and oils.

Having had previous training for many years, Parvis Kiani, who is from Iran, is one of our most advanced art students. He is also Hinds' most skillful portrait painter.

Under the guiding hand of Mr. McLendon a Fine Arts building is planned for the near future at which time adequate building facilities will enable the college to hire additional art teachers. With the addition of this building Hinds will have passed another milestone.

National Academy Tells Of Positions In Broadcasting

The following information was forwarded to The Hindsonian by way of a letter from the president of National Academy of Broadcasting, Inc., Washington, D. C.

There are many openings for career minded young men and women in the field of broadcasting.

The National Academy of Broadcasting likes to train graduates of junior Colleges and place them in positions as staff announcers, directors of women's and children's programs, public relations specialists, traffic managers and continuity writers. Stations in all parts of the country employ their graduates.

Those who enter with college credits in music, speech, foreign languages and English may complete their professional training at NAOB in two instead of the usual three semesters.

Raymond 5 Honored At Banquet

By TOMMY NANCE

Raymond High School honored its district champion basketball team and coach last Friday night in the school cafeteria. The occasion was a completion of a very successful cage schedule in which the Rangers won their first championship of District Six basketball in the history of the school.

TOMMY

Coach Jimmy Russell was presented an engraved watch in recognition of his outstanding work by Mr. William M. Moss, principal. Receiving honor jackets were all of the members of the ten-man squad.

Acting as principal speaker, and presenting a film showing highlights of the 1959 Chicago Bears' season, was Earl F. Leggett, defensive tackle of the professional Bears. Special guests were President G. M. McLendon and Coaches T. A. Ricks and Ivan Rosamond, basketball and football coaches at Hinds Junior College.

New Cage Coach At Holmes

Holmes Junior College in Goodman will be under the direction of a new basketball coach for the next cage season when Jim Murrell high school coach at Cleveland, takes over the reins.

Replacing Donald Phillips, who plans to enter private business at Tupelo, Murrell has played starting guard for four straight years at Delta State. He did graduate work at the University of Kentucky and played high school basketball at Irvin, Kentucky.

The new Bulldog mentor is married to the former Maxine Woods of Cleveland. They are the parents of a three-year-old son.

Something new has been added to the national pastime of baseball for the upcoming season and the Chicago White Sox are the responsible ones.

When the Chicago nine took the field in a recent exhibition game in Florida, new traveling uniforms with the players' names on the back were worn by the team members. In four-inch letters were the individual players' names.

Most of the players were grumbling and the second baseman Nellie Fox said, "We look like semi-pros." Manager Al Lopez overlooked the fussing and stated that some players grumbled when numbers were added to uniforms years ago.

Orleans Loses Franchise

There will be no Southern Association baseball in the city of New Orleans this next year for the Pelicans have dropped their contract and forfeited their schedule. Gaining this franchise is the Little Rock baseball fans.

The Travelers, as the Little Rock team will be known, will begin play with the league's other seven teams on April 16. That leaves only 25 days for the newly-formed corporation to find a manager and players, repair the Traveler ball park and raise $25,000.

Twelve players will come to Little Rock as part of the deal with New Orleans. The roster will be filled out with players promised by other minor league teams and major league clubs. A committee was appointed to place calls to all farm directors of major league teams.

Congratulations to the city of Little Rock for restoring their minor league baseball team, and good luck to all the members of the newly formed Travelers!

MRA All-Stars Explode As They Take 103-89 Win Over Faculty

Joining hands in sponsoring a faculty-student basketball game last night were the Men's Recreational Association and the men teachers. Coach Eddie Rodgers sponsored the M.R.A. All-Stars to a 103-89 victory before a sparsely crowded gym.

In the 6:30 tussle the M.R.A. five was paced by Charles Trest, George Boone, Tom Irby, Johnny Carter, Butch Carruth, J. C. Purvis, and Donald Oakes. Pat Turnage acted as manager, while Coaches Larry Dowdy and David Gover set up the plays.

The team representing Hinds teachers consisted of Coach Rogers, Bill Oakes, Coach Troy Ricks, Coach Earl Leggett, Wallace Wall, Richard Adkins, Thomas Strickland, and Edward Wall.

During the halftime a cake drawing was held and Eddie Ray Gordon, Florence, and Poogie Burnside of Jackson held the lucky tickets. The benefit was a big success and all the profits went to the Men's Recreational Association.

This ball game and cake drawing was just one of the many things that this newly formed club has sponsored during the past school year. A pre-Thanksgiving hayride earlier in the year was held and it was also a huge success.

These proceeds are going to the club for the fixing up of the newly remodeled club room. This room, where the old high school dressing room was located in the boy's gym, has been cleared out and repainted by the members of the club.

After all is completed in the new club room, it will consist of a television set, weight lifting outfits, ping-pong tables and many other games in which the members may enjoy throughout the week. Membership is open to all Hinds boys who have a high citizenship record.

Local Students Attend Ole Miss 'Play Day' Soon

At the University of Mississippi "Play Day" on April 8-9, Hinds will be represented by five star girl athletes. The girls are Lou Johnston and Martha Pharr, sophomores; "Red" Shivers, "Bert" Wynn, and Jackie Melshimer, freshmen.

These girls will be in competition with the representatives from all the other colleges and universities in Mississippi. The "Play Day" consists of all competitive sports taught in the college P. E. classes. Each member from Hinds will play on a separate team which will be drawn up prior to the "Play Day."

The two days of competition will be climaxed by a banquet on Saturday night honoring all winners.

Hinds Tracksters Face Perkinston In Saturday's Initial Cinder Meet

Dean, Nall Only 2 Returning Men On Rosamond's First Eagle Squad

By TOMMY NANCE

With the national pastime, baseball, banned from the Hinds Junior College campus for the upcoming season, the major spotlight has turned to the cinders. The Eagles have always supported a strong track team and this year will certainly be no exception.

Bad weather and nine week exams have hindered workouts for the tracksters but Coach Ivan Rosamond says the boys should be ready for this Saturday's meet with Perkinston.

The team will be strong in quality and quantity, for some 20 boys have reported for practice, although only two returnees will be seeing action. Leading the pack are Leon Dean and Johnny Nall, both are returning from last year's team. Other boys out are Jerry Streva, John Dewitt, Howard Freeman, Wilburn Williamson, Byrle Kynerd, Pat Turnage, Don Gleason, Mike Vinson.

Tom Irby, Tommy Hudson, Don Ross, Wendall Campbell, John Bradshaw, Bennie Splain, Wally Lee, Pat McDaniels, Richard Swarthout, and Earl Hicks.

Last year during a victorious cinder schedule, three new school records were set. New marks set by Eagle tracksters include the pole vault, the 880 yard run, and the 440 yard run.

Thad Talley racked up both the former records, vaulting some 12'6" and upsetting a 12' jump pulled off by Newman in 1940, and breezing the cinders to the tune of 2:00.5 minutes in the 880 yard run, resetting a 2:03 accomplished by Faulkinberry in 1952.

Miss Jean Ware, representing the Mary Gardner Home Demonstration Club, won the Hinds County Forestry Queen Contest Tuesday night at ceremonies in the Hinds Junior College auditorium.

Miss Terry Wood, representing the Oak Forest Home Demonstration Club was selected as first alternate. Chosen as second alternate was Miss Janice Gibson, representing the Broadmoor Home Demonstration Club.

Miss Nancy Ruth Chapman, a student at Hinds Junior College, represented the Palestine Home Demonstration Club in the annual event.

Other contestants were Misses Martha Ann Chadwick, Amanda Smith, Mary Wilcox, Sally Foy, Mary Edith Toles, Carrie Lynn Land, Marty Mellon, Lynn Rowe, Gloria Mobley, Donna Kerby, Alice Matthews, Mary Margaret Cowart, and Lavone Sanders.

Mr. Walter H. Gibbes, co-ordinator of vocational education at Hinds Junior College, was master of ceremonies.

Miss Ware will represent Hinds county in the Southwest Mississippi Forestry Queen Contest later this month.

Judges for the contest were Miss Elsie Priestley, Mrs. Cordill White, and Mrs. Jimmie Holifield, all of Canton, Mississippi.

Mr. Curtis D. Fulgham, Hinds area forester, was in charge of the contest.

Also on program was the annual women's style show with Miss Mary Gardner, Home Demonstration Agent of Hinds County, in charge.

Music for the ceremonies was provided by Mrs. Gary Rees and Miss Kathy Kilby. The Terry Home Demonstration Club was in charge of decorations.

College President George McLendon Visits In Kentucky

President G. M. McLendon has spent the past three days in Kentucky inspecting junior colleges for nation accreditation.

He left Jackson municipal airport Sunday by plane for Loretto, Kentucky. While there he will inspect Loretto Junior College in his official capacity as a member of the Board of Directors for Junior College Standards of the United States.

Some time in the near future Mr. McLendon will make other trips to check and assist in making other junior colleges nationally accredited.

He will return to Raymond tonight.

Registrar Herrin Releases Summer School Schedule

Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar of Hinds Junior College, has announced the schedule for the summer school to open June 13.

Courses are offered for both high school and college level. Some of the courses offered for college students are: English, business, mathematics, and science. High school students may take advantage of such courses as English, mathematics, shorthand, and social studies.

Two Hinds Staffers Attend 3-State Public Relations Meeting On Coast

Two Hinds Junior College staff members were in Biloxi last weekend attending the meetings of the Mid-South District Convention of the American College Public Relations Association.

Irl Dean Rhodes, college publicity director, and Pat D. Smith, English instructor, left the campus Thursday afternoon to participate in the meetings which were under the direction of Leo C. Mueller of the Mississippi State College for Women.

Among the outstanding speakers of the convention from the U. S. Office of Education were Gerald Abers and Carroll B. Hanson.

A program seminar was scheduled with the following experts serving as consultants: Marvin G. Osborn, Jr., national president of ACPRA; Francis C. Pray, vice-president—college relations, Council for Financial Aid to Education; G. E. Mattison, vice-president, Ketchum, Inc.; Eugene D. Rutland, Memphis newspaperman.

Four panels dealing with regional and national cooperation in higher education, the financing, public relations policy and techniques in communications were held.

Among those serving as observer-questioners for the panels were Mrs. Maurine C. Twiss, of the Ole Miss Medical Center and Irl Dean Rhodes of Hinds.

The Buena Vista Hotel was headquarters for the convention.

Yearbook Editors Dedicate Annual

CAMPUS LIBRARIANS — Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee, librarian and Mrs. Virginia Riggs, assistant librarian, celebrate the observance of National Library Week on the Hinds campus. They encourage all students to take advantage of the facilities in the Hinds library.

Staff Describes Miss Davis As 'Worthy Lady'

". . . Her life has been devoted to the Christian guidance and care of young people. She will long be remembered for her kind and gentle voice, and a personality as radiant as the summer sun. . . ."

So wrote the editors of the 1960 Eagle, the Hinds Junior College yearbook, in dedicating the annual to Miss Gertrude Davis, Dean of Women.

The yearbook, which contains 136 pages, was issued to the students last week by the Eagle staff. The annual staff is as follows:

About 400 students and faculty members of Hinds Junior College have purchased annuals this year. The annuals have been "off the press" and in the hands of students since the latter part of last week. According to editor Carolyn Sebren, "the distribution is a slow process."

Pick Up Annuals

She has made the suggestion that all students and faculty members who have purchased an annual this year please try to come by the science department and pick them up as soon as it is possible. Some students left only a deposit of two dollars toward the cost of the book. These students are reminded also, that the $2.50 balance is due when they obtain their annuals.

Mr. T. T. Beemon, head of the Hinds biology department, and his wife, Mrs. Emma Beemon, campus mathematics instructor, were sponsors for the annual this year. Mr. Beemon says that the yearbook would not have been possible without the "splendid cooperation" of the entire staff.

NATIONAL DATE

College Welcomes Library Week; Open New Worlds, Wake And Read

"Open wonderful new worlds—wake up and read." That's the theme of National Library Week which is in progress all this week on the Hinds campus and throughout the nation.

National Library Week is a citizens' movement to focus attention on the vital role of the printed word in our national life. The Week is a time for all media of communication to join with libraries, schools and civic groups in a coordinated effort to stimulate lifetime reading habits, and to encourage the use and support of libraries of all kinds.

National Library Week is the annual climax of many reading-promotion efforts by libraries and other organizations. It is observed in more than 5,000 communities in all 50 states.

The events of National Library Week—April 3 to 9—have a dual value. They highlight the need for a "better-read, better-informed America," and they encourage both individual and group action to bring this about.

Choir To Present 'Mister Roberts' On Thursday Nite

The Hinds Junior College choir is sponsoring a motion picture, "Mister Roberts," in the college auditorium tomorrow night at 6:30 p.m.

"Mister Roberts" is a Warner Brothers release and is in color. It is also an Academy Award winner. The movie has been described as a "delightful comedy about the crew of the USS Reluctant and their executive officer, Mister Roberts."

The choir committee working to help sponsor the program includes the following: Martin Bittick, Burt Matheny, Linda Bovay, Carmen Guevas, Lyllian Lee, Alice Herin, Ida Mae Ainsworth, Jerry Puckett, Leon Dean, Frank Parker, and Jerry Horton.

All proceeds from the movie will go toward sponsoring a trip for the choir which will be taken about the first week-end in May.

Admission to the feature will be 60c for all students.

Language Group To Hold Bi-Weekly Meeting Thursday

The Modern Language Club of Hinds Junior College will hold its bi-weekly meeting tomorrow afternoon, at which time a spring party will be held.

Miss Hilda Ree Davis, language instructor at Hinds, states that enjoyable entertainment and refreshments will be had by all.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the club should contact Miss Davis or the club president, Rita Anderson. The club's purpose is to acquaint members with the customs and history of the foreign countries and especially to promote good will through correspondence with students of foreign lands.

State BSU Officers Retreat Held At Tupelo, 300 Students To Attend

Three hundred Baptist students, officers in their local organizations, coming from 30 campuses over the state, are expected to attend the annual State Retreat for BSU officers to be held at Tupelo, April 8-10.

"Imperfect—But Dedicated" will be the theme of the Retreat. The program will include inspirational messages, conferences, a debate, special music, and presentation of summer missionaries.

The Retreat is sponsored annually by the Student Department of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board with Rev. Mr. Winders, director.

Students attending from Hinds Junior College are as follows: Rose Earnest, Ann Spencer, Belinda Hill, Carolyn Midleton, Rebecca Legg, Ann Burnham, Shirley Hebron, Janice Gibson, Jimmy Davis, Percy Payne, Jerl Watkins, Larry Kennedy, Bruce Creel, Tommy Davis, and Albert Richardson. Miss B. J. Frew, BSU director at Hinds, will accompany the students.

Rose Earnest, Ann Burnham, and Jimmy Davis have been elected messengers by this group to vote for the state BSU officers in the election which will take place at the Retreat.

Library Serves Campus

"Libraries," says Robert Frost, famous American poet, "are in the same game I'm in. That's the game of surrounding people with books. Getting people coated with books."

And "getting people coated with books" is the purpose of National Library Week, now in progress on the Hinds campus and throughout the nation. But this is not as ominous as it may sound to some students. Since the inventions of the first alphabets and the beginnings of the first rough words on ancient sandstone, man has progressed chiefly through the use of books.

At Hinds we are fortunate to have a library which will compare favorably with that of any junior college in the state. On hand to serve the students are Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee, head librarian, and Mrs. Virginia Riggs, assistant.

This week is a living tribute to Miss Rowzee, especially, for her years of dedicated and relentless work in the field of library science. Her work has touched many students and given them encouragement and needed help in the many routine chores involved in study through the use of the library. She received her first degree from MSCW, and took her Master's in library science from LSU. Sometime later she came to Hinds and has since served in her present capacity as head librarian.

Miss Rowzee is a remarkable person and a vibrant personality on the campus. She is willing and ready to be of service to the students and faculty. We feel as though she must take a tremendous amount of pride in her work.

We take a great deal of pride in having you at Hinds, Mrs. Rowzee, and feel that you are an asset to the college!

New Yearbook Praised

This past week students of Hinds Junior College at last saw the long awaited day to receive their yearbooks come to pass.

The Hinds Eagle for 1959-1960 is indeed a worthwhile book and a tribute to those people who helped to prepare it. Every person at Hinds should feel proud of a publication such as this. It serves not only as something to look back on in years to come with fond remembrances, but also as a constant tribute to a good school for all others who page through it. Yes, it holds the important position of a personal and permanent delegate to speak with unspoken words the praises of Hinds.

Nothing human in perfect, and we all make mistakes. But the mistakes in our annual this year are minimum, and do not affect the over-all good quality of the Eagle. We feel sure that it would compare favorably with other junior college and senior college annuals in the state.

This year's annual will represent us well! Much praise is due to Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon, sponsors of the annual, and to Caroline Sebren, editor, as well as to the entire staff.

You've done a good job!

In Sympathy

Deepest sympathy is extended to President G. M. McLendon and his family from the editor and staff of the Hindsonian and the students and faculty of Hinds Junior College, in the recent loss of his brother, Mr. Frank McLendon.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Women's House Council Member Chosen For Sophomore Honor

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

What are girls made of? Legend says they're made of sugar and spice and everything nice. And most of them are—especially one Genie McBride. She's sweet as sugar, she adds spice to all her surroundings, and everyone will agree that she's one of the nicest things around. That's why Byram High School hated to lose her.

While at Byram, Genie was a member of the Junior Classical League, Beta Club, president of the F.H.A. Club, and secretary of the Student Council, as well as her senior class. She was awarded the D.A.R. Good Citizenship award, the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award, and upon graduation, the Citizenshop Award.

But Byram's loss was Hinds' gain, and at Hinds Genie has left her mark, too. In her freshman year she was a member of the choir, WAA, BSU Greater Council, and Women's House Council.

This year she is secretary of the choir and a member of the House Council, BSU Executive Council, YWA, and Phi Theta Kappa. Both years she has accompanied the Girls' Ensemble.

She's quite an all-round girl, but says her favorite hobbies are playing the piano, reading a good book, and just being outdoors. Come June, Genie will be outdoors aplenty, cause wedding bells will be ringing for her. And Vaiden, Mississippi, will be calling for an outdoor girl.

The surging Mississippi River, on a wild spring rampage along a wide stretch of western Illinois, pounded through major levees north of Quincy Monday, covering thousands of acres of fertile farmlands.

It was the first major break in the protective wall near Meyer, Illinois, about 25 miles north of Quincy, and sent mountains of water cascading across an estimated 30,000 acres of corn and wheat land.

Further flooding downstream threatened, authorities said, but temporary relief was indicated, due to the levee break, near Meyer.

It destroyed a fellowship hall and kitchen, along with 10 other rooms of the structure which was completed in 1948.

Letter To Editor Asks About Local Golf Prospects

Dear Editor:

This is about the time of year when schools begin to organize their golf teams for competition. However, upon checking, I found out that Hinds was not planning to start such a team.

After talking with Mr. Benton, dean of men, I was assured that if I could find a sufficient number of male students interested, he would give his permission and help toward such an organization. This would mean that enough for one or two teams would have to sign up—from 8 to 10 people.

All who are interested in trying out for a team should contact Mr. R. C. Benton in the near future. If the team is organized, the group will probably come into competition with other colleges in the surrounding area.

Sincerely,
Charles Griffin

Recreational Activities Kick Off At Campus Lake

By SUE HARVEY

At Raymond Lake, something is going on both summer and winter. This is assured by a nine hole golf course, fishing, boating, and swimming facilities, as well as a lodge and bath houses.

The lake itself was created some twenty years ago as a part of the W.P.A. under Roosevelt's administration. It was one of the five such man-made waterways in Hinds county—the remaining four were placed each in a separate supervisor's district of the county. For a number of years the lake was leased to the Optimist Club and used for a summer camp for underprivileged children. At some time during this period the water was stocked with a variety of fish.

Lease Expires

By 1955 the lease had expired and Hinds Junior College once again took over operations. Coach Louis Boteler was placed in charge of the lake. In the fall of 1956 the lake was drained, all fish removed, and the rough fish killed. The lake was then completely re-stocked, but it was not until June of 1958 that people were allowed to fish there once again.

Since 1955, improvements at the lake have been tremendous. The college has renovated the lodge so that it can now easily accommodate a party of 50 people. A modern kitchen was added, and tables and chairs were provided. At the lakeside a sand beach was made and new piers built.

Golf Course

In 1958 a nine hole golf course was placed on the territory surrounding the lake. Construction of the entire tract was under the supervision of Mr. Sonny Guy.

Latest improvements on the lake include bath-houses for men and for women, the installation of a cyclone fence, and work on the golf course.

At present, facilities for boating, golfing, and picnicing are in use. Mr. Jack Treloar, who is in charge of the operations of the lake, said he is not yet ready to announce specifically, the opening day for swimming, but it will be after May 1.

Methodist Group To Stage Annual Social On Monday

The Wesley Foundation of Hinds Junior College has been planning for its annual spring party for several weeks and has set the date as April 11.

All members are urged to come and enjoy the food, recreation, and fellowship. A bus will leave Main Dormitory at 4:00 p.m. to carry the students over to the college lake, where games and an inspiring program has been planned.

Rev. Clay Lee invites all campus students to come and enjoy the regular services of the Wesley Foundation each Monday night at 6:15 in the music auditorium.

Campus Celebrates National Library Week; 'He That Loves Reading Has Everything Within His Reach,' Godwin

By DAY RATCLIFF

There is an old Chinese saying, "Something is learned every time a book is opened." This statement can not be true unless you read a little too. As Clifton Fadiman once said, "civilized man is a reader."

Each year the nation celebrates National Library Week. Mississippi has joined in this celebration for the past two years. This year National Library Week is April 3-9. Hinds Junior College is helping celebrate this week, too.

Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee, who is the librarian here at Hinds, has recently told us that 252 new fiction and non-fiction books were recently added to the library. These books range in subject matter from the WORLD ALMANAC, 1960, to Arabs.

Our library is very efficiently run by Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee, the head librarian, and Mrs. Virginia Riggs, the assistant librarian, along with four student assistants, Ann Burnham, Peggy Downs, Ann Spencer, and Sandra Wilkerson.

William Godwin once said, "He that loves reading has everything within his reach. So, why not reach for a book.

Salem's amazing new HIGH POROSITY paper "air-softens" every puff.

Invisible porous openings blend just the right amount of air with each puff to give you a softer, fresher, even more flavorful smoke.

Created by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company

An important break-through in Salem's research laboratories brings you this special new HIGH POROSITY paper which breathes new freshness into the flavor.

Each puff on a Salem draws just enough fresh air in through the paper to make the smoke taste even softer, fresher, more flavorful. If you've enjoyed Salem's springtime freshness before, you'll be even more pleased now. Smoke refreshed, smoke Salem!

"Masters" Gains Golf Spotlight

By TOMMY NANCE

Why are all the great golfers reporting to Augusta, Georgia, this week? Well, it's time for the Masters. To those who know little and care less about golf, the Masters is only a tournament played under the dogwoods and pines in the hamlet of Augusta.

But to those greats such as Ben Hogan, Slamming Sammy Snead, and Cary Middlecoff, the Masters isn't just a golf tournament, it is symbolic of fine sentiments and great traditions. "Traditions, sentiments, and reminiscences—that's the Masters," states Sports Illustrated.

TOMMY

About one hundred golfers will report in at Augusta this week for this ever important tourney. Among the greats will be Snead, Demaret, Hogan, Palmer, and Bayer. The Masters is assured to provide enjoyable entertainment to the players and patrons alike.

Here on the Hinds Junior College campus, we may not have any greats, such as Hogan and Snead, but the college offers a nice and clean nine-hole golf course for all students to enjoy. So let's get out and enjoy spring and use the facilities that Hinds has to offer.

Hinds Site of Rebs' Practice

The deadline for player nominations for the 1960 Mississippi All-Star High School Football Game has been set for Monday, April 11. No nomination will be accepted after 6:00 p.m. on this date.

With all nominations sent in and the task of making the teams, composed of 33 players each side complete, a release will be made soon as to who the lucky 66 boys will be.

The two squads will report for training on Sunday afternoon, July 31, with the Yanks working on the Millsaps campus and the Rebels working here on the Hinds field.

If you know of any player, who is outstanding at his position and deserves to be on this selection, make your nomination soon. The All-Star grid classic is only a once-in-a-lifetime event and for a good player to be left out is as bad as not having this wonderful game at all.

Jr. Rose Bowl Head Named

Richard D. (Dick) Wall, Pasadena manufacturing executive, has been named general chairman of the 1960 Jr. Rose Bowl Committee. This was announced recently by the sponsoring Pasadena Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

The 1960 classic, 15th of the post-season clashes which determines the national junior college championship, will be played in the Rose Bowl on Saturday, December 10, previously announced by the Jaycees.

Wall, vice chairman last year, has announced that films of the 1959 Jr. Rose Bowl, in which Bakersfield College defeated Del Mar College of Texas, 36-14, are available for showing to service and fraternal groups and may be obtained by calling the Pasadena Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

MC Releases Grid Slate

Mississippi College has released its 1960 gridiron menu and a visit to the south of the border will highlight the football season. The Choctaws will meet the University of Mexico in Mexico City for the final game of the coming season.

Following the season opener with Livingston on September 24, the Braves travel for the next three games. Austin College, Howard, and Southwestern of Memphis will be host schools for each battle.

On October 22, the Baptists will meet Sewanee. Following a vacant spot on the schedule, the Chocs host Hendrix November 5. Plus another unfilled spot and the season final, the Clinton eleven will have completed another gridiron schedule.

We want to extend our best of luck to the Mississippi College Choctaws.

MRA Opens New Rec Hall To Members

The Men's Recreation Association room will be opened this week. It will be equipped with weights, ping pong tables, shuffle board, table games, and television. It will serve as a general meeting place for the MRA.

The following recreational equipment may be checked out at the MRA center: horseshoes, tennis rackets, golf clubs, archery equipment, ping pong equipment, footballs, basketballs, etc.

This center will be open to members only. To qualify one must be a resident student of one of the men's dormitories at Hinds Junior College, and have a good citizenship and academic record. Membership dues are $1.00. Students interested in joining the MRA should contact Larry Dowdy, Donald Oakes, or Skip Burnham.

Girls' Intramural Tournament Ends With Champions Wearing Crowns

After four weeks of tournament play, the Women's Athletic Association Intramural Tournament closed its final matches on Thursday night. The titles competed for were: Ping Pong Champion; Badminton (singles); and Badminton (doubles).

Winning in the Ping Pong bracket was "Red" Shivers, defeating Martha Pharr 21-10 in the final playoff.

The victors in the Badminton bracket (doubles) were Janet Davis and Martha Pharr, defeating Joanie Phillips and "Red" Shivers in a best two out of three match with the final bout score 15-12.

Climaxing the night's round of finals, "Red" Shivers defeated Martha Pharr 11-5 for the Badminton singles crown. This also was a two out of three match.

All the girls participating prior to the final showed good sportsmanship and added greatly to the overall interest of the tournament.

This week the WAA will begin competition for a champion bowman in the girls' archery tournament.

Hinds Tracksters Collect 2nd Win Of Season With Meet Over Trojans

Eagles Prepare To Meet Bears In Saturday's Feature Contest

The Hinds Junior College cindermen, under the direction of Coach Ivan Rosamond racked up their second straight track victory yesterday on the Eagle field with a 67½-64½ margin.

Winning nine out of 12 events, the Hinds tracksters captured the meet with the last event, one-mile relay. Rosamond's charges took the 440 yard relay with a time of 45.1 and the mile run, as Mike Vinson tore the cinders with a 5:18.8 timing.

The Eagles captured first place in the 100 yard dash, 880 yard relay, 880 yard run, 220 low hurdles, mile relay, high jump, and discus throw. Wally Lee and Donny Ross cinched the high jump with a five foot, four inch jump, while Howard Freeman tossed the discus a total of 118 feet, seven inches.

The Sunflower Trojans from up Moorhead way tallied first place in the 440 yard dash, 120 high hurdles, 220 yard dash, pole vault, shot put, and broad jump. Gene Pope jumped 20 feet, 6¼ inches to win this event.

Hinds tallied six second places and six and one-half third places for their final total and Sunflower racked up nine second places and seven and one-half third places.

The pace-setting cindermen of Hinds face the Bears of Southwest this Saturday when the Bears invade the Eagle campus for the second track meet of the current season for Hinds. Other upcoming meets for Hinds include Jones on April 16, here; Holmes on April 19, here; Sunflower at Moorhead on April 26; and the final state junior college meet at Perkinston on May 9.

Do You Think for Yourself?

Instructor Smith Addresses Scroll Gruop At Provine

Mr. Pat Smith, instructor of Hinds Junior College's English department, was guest speaker for the Quill and Scroll Club of Provine High School. The Quill and Scroll Club consist of "A" and "B" students in English and journalism, last week.

The topic of the talk was "Adventure in Creative Writing". The meeting was attended by approximately fifty students and several faculty members.

Awaken Unto Spring

To awake on a cool spring morning, to have the fresh air pass through your nostrils, to see the green grass glisten with dew, and to hear the wind breeze through the towering trees—these are sure signs of spring.

Yes, spring is here, credibly the most talked about and cherished season of the year.

Books and thousands of poems have been written about this popular season of the year, but words cannot explain the thrilling experience of spring. Here at Hinds it means everything from the beginning of track season to swimming and skiing at the lake and Commencement exercises.

Suddenly spring is thrust upon us and we burst into a new life.

Tennyson said, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Many a romance started in the springtime when the birds were joyfully singing in the tree tops.

"The spring comes truly when, between the rains,
The stiff new wasps ascend the window panes."

For Hinds, it's bees we'll be seeing buzzing around the columns, and it won't be long!

Spring showers make the plants grow faster and the sod turn greener.

"You have to believe in happiness, or happiness never comes—
Ah, that's the reason a bird can sing—
On his darkest day he believes in spring."

It is a gay and happy season if we do not succumb to Spring Fever.

"Come gentle spring!" ethereal mildness! come."

If you let it, spring will give you a boost in your work, whether it be school work, athletics, or other fields of endeavor. Somehow, you will not only improve in body and mind, but in spirit also. Even though spring brings the school year closer to an end, you should still have a greater determination to wind it up in a position to be of service to your fellowman.

Show a "rising" attitude! There is always time to broaden your learning and thinking along the line of greater development in everything that you attempt.

And as spring comes it brings the inspirational Easter season, representing the Resurrection of Christ.

The season of spring, handiwork of God, is truly a refreshing and spiritual renasence of new life and hope. —(Guest Editorial).

Build With Blueprints

"Stop bothering me with blueprints and build something!" That was the advice Governor Alfred E. Smith gave 30 years ago to one of his chief assistants. This practical approach, based on sound principles, accounted in no small measure for the many accomplishments of the "Happy Warrior" himself.

Mere theorizing, passing resolutions or complaining accomplishes little. "Build something" with your "blueprints."

"Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only." (James 1:22).

Future Teacher, Lendon Player Gains Week's Top Sophomore Honor

By DAY RATCLIFF

Red hair and brown eyes—what a combination! This describes Alice Boyd of Utica. In my interview with Alice, she said that she stands five feet and seven inches and "weight is evenly distributed within four corners." Alice is the third child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd.

This bubbly country lass (she lives on a farm and loves it) was quite active in high school. To begin with, she was president of the Y-Teens, district president and state song-leader of the Future Homemakers of America, president of the Youth For Christ, member of the Glee Club and Girls' Sextette, singing first soprano, and participated in the junior and senior plays. She also was president of her 4-H Club and was given the highest honor any 4-H member can receive—Livestock Maid for the Hinds County Livestock Show.

ALICE BOYD
Utica Lass

4 Productions

While at Hinds, this young lady has been in four productions presented by the Lendon Players. She sings second soprano in the Choir and the Girls' Ensemble. She is a sophomore representative for the Choir. Besides taking active part in B.S.U., Alice tutors two grammar school children a week in math and English.

With all her accomplishments, Alice has but one dislike—STRING-BEANS. Her pastime, entertaining children will help her in her chosen vocation for she plans to teach the first grade. Alice plans to enter Mississippi College to finish her education.

"The secret of my happiness is not in doing what I like, but in liking what I have to do," said the talkative red-head.

Alice, we want to wish you much success in the world. We know that you'll get it.

Baby Received At Stonewall In Package

By CORKIE LYLE

Authorities indicated Sunday in Meridian that a baby mailed from Detroit, Michigan to Stonewall, Mississippi, may have been alive when it was placed in a box in the Michigan city April 2. It reached the Clarke county community on April 8.

CORKIE

District Attorney Paul Busby of Meridian said "everything is being done by county, state and Federal authorities to determine where, when and how the child died."

A Negro woman, Dorothy Reed Davis, formerly of Stonewall, who now lives in South Carolina, to whom the package was addressed at Stonewall, told Ruth Davis, Negro, a kinswoman, "she knew of no one who would send a corpse to her in the mail."

William Stanciu, an aspiring actor who tried to follow in the footsteps of the late Errol Flynn, died in Hollywood Sunday—about twenty-four hours after he shot himself in front of Beverly Aadland, Flynn's last flame.

Beverly, a 17-year-old night club entertainer, told police Stanciu, 21, forced his way into her apartment at punpoint and raped her early Saturday. She said he threatened to kill her, then sobbed: "I love you too much . . . I can't kill you!" and shot himself in the head.

Her story was bitterly denied by the dead youth's brother Kenneth, 22, another would-be actor whose professional name is Shawn Tenner.

He told the Associated Press: "Why would Billy want to rape her? He and Beverly have been going together every night for six weeks. Everybody in town knows that."

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of four youthful Mississippians and one Negro adult over the week end as five persons were killed in one-car accidents.

Two died when their car hit a bridge abutment; another died when his car hit a culvert; a third when his car slammed into a tree; and a Negro hit a stump and set his car afire, injuring him fatally.

Robert L. White, 15, and Homer E. McMichael, 18, died in an accident on Highway 51 near Grenada at 2 a.m. Sunday when their small Hillman, a British-made car, rammed a bridge abutment. They were presumable returning to their homes in Greenwood.

Others killed in accidents were Robert Lee Chambers of Jackson, Robert Earl Moss of Laurel, and the Negro.

An airline hostess' bobby pin was credited in Brisbane, Australia, with helping to avert the crash landing of a plane carrying 17 persons Monday.

The airliner was enroute from Brisbane to Sydney when the pilot, Capt. William Jennings, discovered the nosewheel was jammed.

Jennings borrowed the hostess' bobby pin and short-circuited the electrical system of the nosewheel by placing the bobby pin across the electrical points.

Then he performed a series of dives and finally shook the nosewheel loose.

SOUTHERN THEATRE HEAD

Opportunity Knocks For Students

Hinds Junior College students have an opportunity to participate in Mississippi Southern's second annual Summer Theatre, under the direction of Robert M. Treser, theatre head.

Following a most successful first season last year, the Summer Theatre is scheduled to run for 11 weeks this season, beginning on June 7 and running through August 21.

Seven plays will be presented, one each week with each play running for five performances, Tuesday through Saturday evenings in the air-conditioned Southern Playhouse and campus.

One aim of the program is to provide the student with experience in many widely varied types of plays. A variety of authors and plays will be presented — some classics, some experimental, and some Broadway successes.

Any person interested in theatre who is also eligible for admission to the regular program of Mississippi Southern may enroll in the Summer Treatre. Applicants must be graduates of an accredited high school. Formal course back-ground in theatre is not required—though it does help—but a sincere interest in learning and working in theatre is necessary.

Those students accepted for the program and successfully completing it will receive 16 quarter hours of credit from Mississippi Southern.

For complete information concerning Southern's Summer Theatre, write to: Mr. Robert M. Treser, Director of Theatre, Box 178, Station A, Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

Annual Phi Theta Kappa Talent Show Features 13 Show Acts, Hilton As MC

The Phi Theta Kappa presented their annual faculty talent show last night in the Hinds auditorium. Acting as mistress of ceremonies was Beebe Hilton, Phi Theta officer.

Starting off the show of 13 performances was Mr. Walter Gibbes, Leslie Reeves, Jack C. Treloar, and R. L. White, who were introduced as the "Songbirds". While singing "Five-Foot Two" and "Has Anybody See My Gal?" the men were accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Kimball.

Miss Judy Herring was the next attraction on the show as she played a piano solo, followed by Mr. Reeves' readings. A modern dance routine was given by Ann Stevens. Mr. John Adams, Genevieve Williams, Marjorie McCord, and Thomas Stricklin joined together to harmonize the old favorite "Springtime".

Next on the agenda were solos by Miss Jean Packard. A majorette routine, dramatic reading, and a wife-husband singing followed in that order. Miss Nell Taylor performed before a well-pleased audience with her majorette routine to "Yellow Rose of Texas". Mr. Pat Smith gave a modern day beatnik reading on "Thesus and Minotaur". The wife-husband act was given by Mr. Fred Brooks and Sue.

Rounding out the program were solos by Mr. Walter Gibbes, a Minnie Pearl act by Mrs. Ella Goodwin, a band performance by Mr. Rowan, Jerry Puckett, Martin Bittick, and Richard Thames, and a "Three Little Pigs" play, with B. J. Frew, Wallace Wall, Jack Treloar, and Rosser Wall as the principal actors.

The chorus was composed of Coach Renfroe, Bill Oakes, Coach Eddy Rodgers, Miss Mildred Herrin, Coach Earl Leggett, Miss Gertrude Rowzee, Coach Ivan Rosamond, and Mrs. Kimbell. Miss Gertrude Davis acted as narrator of the skit.

Miss Hilda Ree Davis, Miss Lula Mae Fowler, and Mrs. Katherine Denton were in charge of stage and costumes.

Lenda Herrington Wins Class Honor On College Campus

Lenda Herrington, Raymond, has been named class representative, traditional honor on the Hinds campus for the graduating sophomore chosen at the end of the second six weeks term on the basis of scholarship.

Lenda's grade point average for the first semester was 3., and her record through the first term of the second semester is "straight A's."

Lenda was born on December 17, 1940, at Vimville, Mississippi. In high school she was a member of the Y-Teens, Beta Club, basketball team and Hi-Steppers. At Hinds, she has been a member of the Phi Theta Kappa for two years and secretary in her sophomore year. She was also voted most intellectual in her sophomore year.

As class representative, she will give the student address to the graduates and visitors on the morning of graduation, May 27.

I Sing Of Arms And Like FILTER-BLEND, Man,

For if you dig a modern filter cigarette
It figures that it's what's up front that is the most
Like pure Flavorsville, orbit stuff, and all that jazz;
And only Winston swings with FILTER-BLEND up front,
A real gone combo of golden, rich tobaccos
Selected and processed like for filter smoking;
That's why, dear cats or even squares, it's understood

Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!

Doubleday Introduces Baseball

By TOMMY NANCE

TOMMY

The year was 1839, the place was Cooperstown, New York, and the cause was baseball. For it was on this year and this place that Abner Doubleday proposed changes in the old game of "town ball" and "round ball" which resulted in the creation of a virtually new game called baseball.

Doubleday is credited with introducing the diamond-shaped field, 90 feet on each side; with assigning players to definite positions (although he had 11 men on a team); and with establishing the name "baseball". He introduced America's national pastime and therefore he has been named the father of baseball.

Everywhere in the East, boys were playing Doubleday's game and in 1845 the first baseball organization was formed. This was the Knickerbocker Baseball Club of New York. With the addition and changes of a few of the rules, interest in the sport grew tremendously and by 1858, the National Association of Baseball Players was formed by 25 clubs from various parts of the country. Nearly 100 clubs were represented in the association in 1865.

Baseball Goes To College

Baseball spread into the colleges and universities but remained an intra-mural game until 1866, when the Harvard class formed a college team, which played Yale and Princeton. Another important date in the history of baseball was the year 1869, for it was in this year that the first professional team was organized. It was known as the Cincinnati Red Stockings.

In 1871 eight professional clubs formed the National Association of Professional Baseball Players. Five years later through the tireless efforts of Henry M. Chadwick, the first great baseball writer, and with the aid of Pitcher Albert Spalding, the present National League was founded. The present American League wasn't formed until 29 years later when both leagues consisted of the present eight teams.

'60 Baseball Previews

Now the year is 1960, the places are Florida and Arizona, and the cause is spring training. Spring is the time of year when all the major league teams gather their equipment and journey to the lands of warmth and sunshine to get ready for the upcoming season.

This year is certainly no exception and all sixteen clubs are readying for their 154-game schedule. Many new things steal the scene this year, for the Chicago White Sox have new uniforms with the individual player's name on the back, the San Francisco Giants will move into their new home, called Candlestick Park, and more than 600 night games will be played during the season. The newly approaching season should prove to be one of the very best.

Braves In The National

With Red Schoendienst back into the lineup, and a brand new Milwaukee manager, we predict the Braves to capture the National League pennant. Milwaukee was heavily favored to win the title last year but failed and mostly it was the cause of the absence of Schoendienst. Now he is back plus an excitable, imaginative, talkative Charlie Dressen as a new manager.

Capturing second place, in our opinion, is the San Francisco Giants. Taking advantage of their new home and baseball-minded fans, the Giants should take second and possibly might edge out the Braves for the division championship. The San Francisco fans should be thankful for the well-rounded pitching staff and impressive lineup that will face all their opponents throughout the year.

Dodgers Make Third

The Los Angeles Dodgers, after winning the pennant last year, should drop to third position although two full major league teams could be fielded from the roster, and still have fine players on the bench. Too many rookies are cluttering up the Dodger lineup and should prove more dangerous than good.

Finishing up the first division will be the Pittsburgh Pirates. Since opening day of last season, no team in baseball has changed less, on the surface, than the Pirates. Making use of their fine pitching staff, built around Bod Friend, Vernon Law, Harvey, Haddix, and the relief star, Roy Face, the Pittsburgh club might climb even higher.

Somebody has got to finish in the bottom division and our pick is that the Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago Cubs, and Philadelphia Phillies will fall in that order. The Reds are gaining strength but not enough to climb back into the top four, while the Cardinals, Cubs, and Phillies are still working on their rookies and should come up with something in the near future.

Yanks Regain Title

Many say the Yankees are dead, and their replacements are not in the same class, but our prediction states that New York will again show some life and regain the championship which they lost last year to the White Sox and Indians. If the sick list doesn't grow too big and if those old pros start hitting as they did in the good old days, the Yankees will be the 1960 American League pennant winner.

The top rater in many of the eyes of sports writers is the Chicago White Sox. They won the title in a weakened league last year but their attack and vigor might place them on top by the end of the coming season.

Third Slot

Cleveland and Detroit will bounce around for third position and one might just over take the Yankees but let's stop dreaming, you Tiger fans, and really get down to predicting. The Indians have inherited some new key men and Frank Lane believes he has a pennant winner, but only time will tell.

The Detroit club still has troubles at the shortstop and first base positions and that should be plenty of reason the Tigers won't get further than third or fourth position. "Car Land" also lacks that drive for the top, since Detroit hasn't won the pennant since 1945 and hasn't even been a contender for 10 years.

Rounding out the American League will be the Orioles of Baltimore, Kansas City's Athletics, the Red Sox of Boston, minus Jackie Jenson and most of Ted Williams, and last but least, poor old Washington Senators.

(SPORTS EDITORIAL)

With warm weather here to stay and all of nature's little creatures coming out from hiding, many changes take place on a college campus. The birds begin their spring serenade, the redbud trees blossom out with buds looking like cherries, and boy meets girl to form those little friendly partnerships.

All in all, everyone is happy, not because vacation time is only six weeks away, but because we obtain that annual sickness, spring fever. This college campus is an exception to the rule this year. Yes, you say, we have all of the above characteristics, but think back over what has been left off. Yes, you got it! Baseball. That American pastime.

About this time each year, many boys spring from their hideouts onto the baseball field and those here at Hinds are no exceptions. But this year there is no place to spring, for the all-time sport, baseball, has been forgotten by many junior college officials and those boys, who are exceptionally good in the sport, have been left out.

We believe that although it is too late to form a club this season, steps should be taken now to have a baseball nine next year.

For the time being, those interested in the sport will have to be satisfied with their own intramural clubs or join one of the Jackson City League softball teams.

Hinds Tracksters Look Toward 3rd Win In Tri-Meet

The Hinds Junior College track team, holding two wins in two consecutive meets, faces the charges of Co-Lin and Holmes this Friday at 3:30 in Eagle Stadium.

This week's meet will be an acid test for the Eagles after copping track wins over Perkinston and Sunflower. The meet, scheduled with Holmes last Saturday, was called off because of rains and a wet track.

Leon Dean and Johnny Nall are the only returning lettermen on the Hinds squad but a very big turnout was had for previous matches. Dean runs in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and the relays, and Nall races in the mile and one-half mile runs and the relays. Last year in junior college track competition, Hinds' tracksters won runner-up honors in the state cinder meet.

Newcomers to the squad this year are Jerry Streva, Morgan City, La.; Howard Freeman, Jackson; Byrle Kynerd, Raymond; Don Gleason, Houma, La.; Tommy Irby, Goshen Springs; John Dewitt, Pearl; Wilburn Williamson, Houma, La.; Pat Turnage, Jackson; and Mike Vinson, Puckett.

Tommy Hudson, Pensacola, Fla.; Wendall Campbell, Pensacola, Fla.; Donny Ross, Augusta, Ga.; John Bradshaw, Pearl; Walter Lee, Madison; Bennie Splain, Jackson; Pat McDaniels, Jackson; Earl Hicks, Jackson; and Richard Swarthout, Jackson.

The remaining track slate is as follows: April 15—Triangular meet with Holmes and Co-Lin at Raymond, April 19—Holmes at Raymand, April 26—Sunflower at Moorhead, April 29—Copiah-Lincoln at Wesson, May 3—Perkinston at Raymond, and May 7—State track meet at Perkinston.

Hinds Net Team Visits Decatur

On Tuesday afternoon, April 19, the Hinds Junior College tennis team will journey to Decatur for a return match with the netters of East Central.

Member of the girls' team that will be participating on Tuesday are Orlane Huff, Martha Pharr, Dot Gatlin, and Gail Rushing.

The boys' team is composed of Henry Swann, David Gover, Roy Breeden, Robert Witty, and Warren Lott.

The Eagles will be trying to cash in on another victory, as they defeated the East Central team on the home courts last week by a close margin of 5-4.

Provine Rams Win Hinds County High School Cinder Championship

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

In the Hinds County track meet on the Hinds campus last Wednesday, the Jackson Provine Rams came home first in six track events and won two field categories to win easily over five other Hinds county schools for the Hinds County track meet championship, with a total of 60 points.

Placing second with 43 points total was Utica, followed by Jackson Central with 42, Terry with 31, Jackson MSD with 21, and finishing last was Raymond with 14 points.

The first place winners were Provine in the 100 yard dash, 880 yard relay, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, 220 yard dash, mile relay, shot put, and the high jump; Utica, in the 120 yard high hurdles, 180 yard low hurdles and discus throwing; Central in the pole vault; Terry in the mile run and broad jump; and Raymond and Jackson MSD finishing with no first places.

There were no records broken in the meet, but as an overall picture, this year's meet was certainly equal to those of previous years in competitive spirit and sportsmanship.

Local Students Attend "Play Day"

The girls representing Hinds at the University of Mississippi "Play Day" this past weekend did a very fine job.

As the girls registered on Friday afternoon, they were given nametags representing different countries. The girls from Hinds were as follows: "Red" Shivers—Japan; Lou Johnston—Israel; Jackie Melshimer—Panama; "Bert" Wynn—Finland; and Martha Pharr — Sweden.

Each girl participated, within their "countries," in a series of sports including: softball, volleyball, badminton, ping-pong, shuffleboard, and recreational games.

At a banquet on Saturday night the winners were named and presented with ribbons. As two countries had to combine for the softball and volleyball games, there was a combined winner. In this case, there was a tie in the combined overalls between Japan and Israel versus Panama and Finland.

VOLUME 26—NUMBER 25 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1960

Local Group To Entertain 3-State Circle K Meeting

Climaxing their work during this semester, the Hinds Circle K group will host the first annual official District Convention on the campus this Friday through Sunday.

President Billy McLain, other officers, and committee men are this week putting the finishing touches on planning for the April 22-23-24 event.

Distinguished visitors for the affair include International Circle K president, Robert A. Maxwell, District Officers, and State Tax Collector, William Winter.

The convention includes the Louisiana, Mississippi, and West-Tennessee district of Circle K International, and both junior colleges and senior colleges will be present.

The convention will actually begin Friday with registration from 4:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. The first session will be held the following day at 11:00 a.m., with James Whitehead, Lt. Governor from the Louisiana Circle K division presiding. The session will include the International greeting, the treasurer's report, and the Circle K International report.

Nominate Officers

After lunch the convention will resume with Ken Owens, Lt. Governor of the district presiding. In this session there will be an address by Mr. Don S. Harper, chairman of committee on Circle K, along with panel conferences with different Circle K Clubs moderating. At 3:30 p.m. district officers will be nominated for the coming year.

Saturday night there will be a formal banquet, with Mr. Arnold Pyle, District Kiwanis Governor, as guest speaker.

Early Sunday morning, after breakfast, a devotional service will be held. Following this service, house delegates from each of the schools will take seats for the regular business meeting. During the session new district officers will be elected.

Following the noon luncheon, new officers will be installed and awards will be presented to winning schools and individuals.

The Circle K meet will culminate after a final address by International President, Robert A. Maxwell.

RUSHING NEW OFFICER

Campus Publication Wins Top Honors

The Hindsonian, campus newspaper of Hinds Junior College, captured the overall Junior College Press Association award on the Jones campus April 16, for the second year in succession. East Central and Northeast Junior College were rated second and third, respectively, in the overall newspaper judging.

Gail Rushing, Forest Hill freshman at Hinds, was elected State Treasurer by the representatives of eight of Mississippi's junior colleges. Other officers were the following: Jerry Wilbanks of Northwest, elected president; Neil Williams of Sunflower, elected vice-president; Barbara Collins of Jones, elected secretary, and Miss Rushing elected treasurer.

The Hinds Junior College paper was also awarded first place in news stories and second place in cartoons. The cartoons must be drawn by some member of the staff that releases the paper.

At the general session, amendments and revisions were made to the Mississippi Junior College Press Association Constitution. These factors dealt with the installment of a treasurer, primarily.

Judges for the annual event were F. W. Buckley of Mississippi Southern College, Charles Deevers of Mississippi College, and J. W. West, editor of the Laurel Leader-Call.

A fall workshop will be held in the time between October 1 and November 15. This conference will be held on the Hinds campus.

Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, head of the Hinds Junior College publicity department, was elected to be a member of the group in charge of rewriting and revising the Association's constitution.

Students representing Hinds at the conference were Gail Rushing, Sue Harvey, Tommy Nance, David Ethridge, and Corkie Lyle. Miss Nell Taylor and Irl Dean Rhodes were chaperones to the young journalism group.

Modern Language Members Stage Spring Outing At Raymond Lodge

Holding its annual spring party yesterday afternoon at the Hinds Junior College lodge on Raymond Lake was the Modern Language Club, sponsored by Miss Hilda Ree Davis.

Several interesting games, among them charades and magic mop, were enjoyed by the members of the club and their guests attending the gala affair. After the amusements everyone enjoyed a picnic supper.

Highlighting the party was the breaking of the pinata, a Mexican custom used on holidays. Pinatas are filled with goodies and candies that are picked up by the players of the game.

Rose Earnest and Anne Spencer were in charge of the food, Corkie Lyle and Tommy Nance developed the recreation, and Joan Williamson was head of monetary supplies.

Miss Hilda Ree Davis is sponsor of the Modern Language Club.

Southern Bell Telephone Company To Send Interviewer To Hinds Campus In May

Southern Bell Telephone Company will have a representative on the campus Tuesday, May 3, for the purpose of interviewing girls interested in obtaining clearical or secretarial positions with the company in Jackson.

Any girl who wishes to secure an interview must apply to Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, on or before April 28, in order to schedule the interview.

Air Force Group To Be On Campus Friday Morning

On Friday, April 22, a team of Air Force officers from Montgomery, Alabama, will be on the Hinds Junior College campus to give information about the Aviation Cadet program and the many other career fields open to college personnel. The team will be located in the Recreation Building from 9:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Basic requirements for Aviation Cadet training are: the applicant must be from 19 to 26½ years of age, single, have at least a high school education, and must be in good physical health.

County 4-H Club Members Gather On Local Campus

Several hundred Hinds County 4-H Club students were on the Hinds Junior College campus Tuesday as guests throughout the day. The groups arrived aboard county buses and remained on the campus from 9:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.

The club members used several rooms on the campus for discussion groups. The primary aim in visiting Hinds was to plan the work for the coming year.

Miss Mary Hall, Hinds County Home Demonstration Agent, was in charge of the annual event.

TEXAS BOUND

Gamma Lambda Delegation Leaves For Phi Theta Kappa Convention

Having left the campus by bus at midnight last night, the Gamma Lambda delegation is well on the way to San Antonio, Texas, for the national convention of Phi Theta Kappa, celebrating this year its 30th year as the national junior college honorary society.

The Hinds delegation to the convention includes Miss Mildred Herrin, college registrar and faculty sponsor of Gamma Lambda; Bill Ferguson, Raymond; Robert Lloyd, Vicksburg; Gray McLain, Jackson; Linda Herrington, Raymond; Rose Earnest, Slate Springs; Anne Spencer, Bruce; Belinda Hill, Brandon; Dorothy Gatlin, Madison; Martha Pharr, Vicksburg; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; and Dallas Walker, Braxton.

MILDRED HERRIN

Bus drivers are Robert Lloyd and Perry Payne.

First In State

Hinds Junior College, the first public junior college in Mississippi to initiate a Phi Theta Kappa Chapter, is now in its 24th year, having previously sent representatives to three other Texas conventions — one in San Antonio, one in Tyler, and one in Houston. This year it is promoting the election of Hinds Freshman Belinda Hill as national historian of Phi Theta Kappa.

This year's convention, scheduled for April 21-23, opens on Thursday with registration at the Hilton Hotel. It includes various meetings and business sessions, plus a night in Old San Antonio, La Villita (including a Mexican supper), a banquet, a dance, a swimming party, a Bar-B-Que Dinner, and a Fiesta Flambeau (night parade).

The climax of the convention will be the election of national officers.

Hindsonian Wins Award

This past weekend the Hindsonian had the distinct honor of being named the number one junior college paper in the state of Mississippi.

It is with a deep and sincere humility that we accept the judges' decision.

Such an award as this does not merely happen. For us it was the culmination of a year's activity and we are indeed pleased to have been able to play a part in bringing this honor to Hinds Junior College.

This award would not have been possible without the help of the entire staff, sponsors, and the helpful advice and criticism of our loyal readers.

A special bill of thanks is due to our printers, Keith Press of Raymond. In the critical breakdown on the scoring sheet at the press conference, the Hindsonian placed the perfect score of 100 on printing. One judge remarked that it was the best printed of any of the junior colleges and senior colleges that it was comparable only to one newspaper of which he knew in the state.

To our staff, to our readers, for their loyalty and constructive criticism, to the Hinds faculty and administration for their understanding and patience, when we sometimes went out of bounds, and to our printers, for their helpfulness and general quality of work, we wish to express our sincere thanks.

Circle K Club Worthwhile

The Hinds Circle K group will sponsor the First Annual Official District Circle K Convention on the campus this weekend.

The entire group has been working diligently during the past semester planning and organizing for this three states event.

The Circle K is an honorary service club, pledging its members to high standards of scholarship and citizenship. Each year on countless campuses through the nation, such groups work toward unity and progress with their individual schools. But aside from the purely obvious benefits to the group, there is still another and that is the building and strengthening of amiable character traits in young citizens.

The entire Hinds group deserves due credit for the work they have done not only in preparing this convention, which will give adequate understanding to those attending of the worth of Hinds as a fine institution, and also because of their williness and constant attempts to make Hinds Junior College a better place for all of us.

The Circle K is an International group, and the emphasis is on the individual. "For in the end, it is the individual man who counts — the uses to which he puts his talents and his intellect and the role he is prepared to play in community with his fellow-men."

In Deepest Sympathy

Seven Persons Lose Lives In Accidents

By CORKIE LYLE

Seven violent deaths were reported Saturday in Mississippi's long Easter weekend.

CORKIE

There were three wrecks, two pedestrain fatalities, and one drowning.

Those losing their lives over the holidays were Carolyn Williams, 17, of Itta Bena; Robert Green, 72, of Chapel Hill; Freddie Lee Wells, 8, of Hattiesburg; Andrew Harris Donald, 48, of Philadelphia; Ben Thomas, 55, of Tunica; A. C. Parker, 43, of Brandon; and Andrew L. Donald, 76, of Preston.

New violence erupted in the South Saturday as Negroes carried their 10-week-old campaign into the Easter weekend.

A white man knocked a Negro off a lunch counter stool in a Savannah, Georgia, variety store, breaking his jaw. At Raleigh, North Carolina, a white youth picketing with Negroes, the second incident of the kind in as many days, was struck by a white man.

The Savannah violence occurred during mounting racial tension in the coastal Georgia city where merchants reported a Negro boycott was hurting Easter business.

The world's Christians of many creeds and colors, united Sunday in celebrating the centuries-old, but ever-radiant drama of Christ's Resurrection.

In lands everywhere, services of thanksgiving, processions, and messages of joy hailed Christendom's greatest triumph.

Dawn's first light was the cue for voices of millions to rise in jubilant Easter hymns, and for church bells to ring out the joyful tidings.

Pilgrims from all over the world gathered in Jerusalem to hail the holy day. And in Rome, tourists and pilgrims mingled with Romans to hear the Easter Sunday message of Pope John XXIII.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

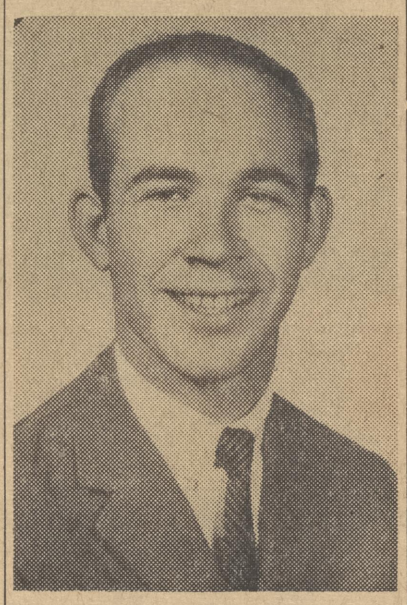
First Impressions Quotation Not True Of Sophomore Medicine Major

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

"First impressions are usually bad impressions," or so the saying goes.

But in the case of this week's sophomore award winner this saying doesn't hold true, for a first impression of Fred Wilda reveals many good points. His enduring sense of humor and his respect for all, helps to win frineds for him wherever he goes.

Fred, the youngest son of a government employee, came from Milwaukee, Wis., to begin his college education here. Before coming to Hinds, he was a member of the Army Air Force and worked for several years as a civilian member in the helicopter division. After graduation, he states he will probably "go back North again."



FRED WILDA
A Southern Yankee

Enticed With Hinds

Fred was so impressed with Hinds that he enticed his older brother to come back with him to start his college work at Hinds.

While Fred has been here, he has been an active member of several clubs, including the Westminister Fellowship. He was also elected treasurer of the Future Business Leaders of America (Phi Beta Lambda).

In addition to his co-curricular activities, Fred has worked in Jackson on off-days and weekends. He is working toward a degree in one of the fields of medicine and, in accordance, has worked both at the Mississippi Cerebral Palsy Hospital and Wright and Ferguson Funeral Home.

Strives to Service

He feels that if he can do something in his work to be of service to others it will go a long way towards making him a personal success. In his words, he strives to "practice the golden rule."

Our Northern friend is no stereotype when it comes to enjoyment of life. He can enjoy horse back riding and going on picnics (prefers beach parties) as much as wearing full dress to a local concert or play. Fred's hobbies are photography and traveling. When asked about dislikes, Fred replied, "Southern girls who discuss the Civil War."

Regardless of whether you return to "Yankee land" after this school year or not, we wish the very best of luck to you in all your undertakings.

PURVIS KIANI'S STORY

Iranian Student Studies College Art

By SUE HARVEY

From Tehran, Iran comes five feet, six inches of neatly dressed Parvis Kiani, the son of a West Point graduate who is now serving Iran at the top of the military ladder. Parvis has black hair, sparkling dark brown eyes, and a stabbing keenness about him that makes him such an interesting person to talk with.

The word painting usually comes to one's mind when Parvis is mentioned. His elementary school art teacher launched his career when he placed Parvis' first water color on the blackboard. Parvis taught himself for several years and developed a pleasing technique, but he still lacked some of the basic fundamentals of art.

So, at the age of 18, he began studying under a famous painter in Iran. He then entered the University of Tehran, majoring in art.

He had almost completed a year at the University, when his study was interrupted by a chance to continue his education in the United States.

Parvis is now in his sophomore year at Hinds, minoring in art and majoring in architecture, a branch of art in which Parvis can make enough money to support a family.

After Hinds, Parvis would like to enter Auburn University and complete his education

Parvis Kiana has two things everyone, especially a painter, needs—patience and preserverance. Combined with the rest of Parvis' virtures, such as intelligence, sense of humor, and wisdom, can anything result except a Parvis Kiani?

English Department Meets Varying Needs Of College Freshmen, Sophs

The English offerings at Hinds Junior College have been planned to meet the varying needs of first year college students—both those who plan to continue their college education and those who plan to terminate their college work with either the freshman or sophomore year.

The English Department attempts to take each student as he is when he enters college and develop him as much as it is possible during the year or years he is at Hinds. In the plan for developing each student, the department strives to prepare him to take his place in society and be able to spell and write good, intelligent sentences.

In order to meet the needs of the students entering Hinds Junior College, the freshman English course is planned for various levels.

Placement Tests

After staff members have graded the entering placement tests given during Orientation Week, the majority of students are assigned to English 50, the regular composition course, carrying three hours of credit, which may be transferred to any other college.

The other students are placed in either English 48 or 49 in which additional hours are given to intensive work in sentence structure, grammar, and punctuation. Each of these courses offers three hours of credit which may be used to meet requirements in freshman English for graduation at Hinds Junior College.

The placement tests include a vocabulary test, and a test on the mechanics of expression—spelling, punctuation, capitalization, and grammatical usage. These tests aid in identifying students who need special help with English. If, during the first two weeks of a term, a teacher finds that a student has not been assigned to the proper section, that student may be reassigned upon the recommendation of the English staff.

Effective Expression

English 50, the first semester of Freshman Composition, is designed to familiarize the student with the nature and power of the English language, and with the techniques of correct and effective expression. During the semester the student writes many themes in an effort to practice the principles he has learned.

English 51, the second semester of Freshman Composition, focuses upon the types of discourse. The student reads and analyzes literary selections and uses many of these as useful models for his own writing. The chief emphasis in writing is on expository writing.

Special Emphasis

English 48 and 49 both offer a comprehensive review of grammar. In English 48, special emphasis is given to the writing of good sentences. In English 49, the student uses a book of elementary expositions as a basis for his reading and writing.

Not only does Hinds Junior College offer special opportunities for the student who is deficient in English, and for the average student, but also for the student who is especially gifted with creative ability.

From the class in Creative Writing, and also from active membership on the college newspaper staff, students have gone out to win recognition in literary fields, and to steady employment in magazine and newspaper circles.

Smith, Students Attend Southern Literary Meeting

Mr. Pat Smith, Hinds English Instructor, accompanied by Nollie Cochran and John Wilda, of Terry and Milwaukee, respectively, will attend the annual Southern Literary Festival at Baylor University in Waco, Texas, Thursday and Friday.

The festival, the largest to date with 19 southern colleges participating, will officially begin Thursday evening with the presentation of the opera "Don Carlos," by the Baylor Music Department. Activities Friday will consist of panel discussions by some of the south's top writers and teachers of creative writing.

Panel discussions during the day will include the novel, short story, poetry, playwriting, college journalism, and college literary magazines. Also to be discussed by the panel is the teaching of creative writing.

This year's festival activities will conclude Friday with the presentation of William Falkner's "As I Lay Dying" by the Baylor University Drama Department.

Columbus discovers the Winston Hemisphere

"Flavor, Ho!" The Admiral Shouted As He Sighted FILTER-BLEND

From the Captain's Log...

One Day Out. Weighed anchor and set sail in search of a filter cigarette that really tastes like a cigarette. Crew thinks this is wild goose chase.

One Week Out. Have sighted many filter cigarettes and smoked same. Crew still thinks the world is flat.

One Month Out. Discovered New World of smoking pleasure: Winston! It is the only cigarette with a modern filter plus Filter-Blend — rich, golden tobaccos not only specially selected, but also specially processed for filter smoking. Crew now thinks this is a pleasure cruise.

One Year Out. Crew has mutinied. Refuses to go back to the Old World (non-Winston Hemisphere). I agree. Therefore I am founding a colony called Filter-Blend. Colony's motto will be:

Winston tastes good...like a cigarette should!

Spring Sports Become Active

By TOMMY NANCE

Spring sporting activity has been underway for two or three weeks now and the Hinds track and tennis teams have been making some excellent showings. Two important meets were held yesterday when the Eagle netters traveled to Decatur to meet the East Central Warriors in a return match and the Hinds cindermen participated in another one of their scheduled contests.

TOMMY

The Eagle tennis team, coached by Mr. Oakes, is supporting a one match win as of Monday and is exceptionally strong in the girls' division with Martha Pharr, Orlane Huff, Dot Gatlin, and Gail Rushing playing the important roles. Composing the boys' team that will represent Hinds in the following contests are Henry Swann, David Gover, Roy Breeden, Robert Witty, and Warren Lott.

Much praise is due to the wonderful track team that Coach Ivan Rosamond has fielded for the previous meets and if everything goes along as expected, the next state junior college track championship trophy will be located in one of the Hinds trophy show cases.

Rosamond, with only two returning lettermen, Nall and Dean, has distributed his power equally well and come up with some title competition. In field competition Hinds has Byrle Kynerd in the pole vault ing events; Howard Freeman, who won both titles in which he participated last week, in the shot put and discus throw; the high jump is taken care of by Wally Lee; and the broad jump is done by Wilbur Williamson of Atlanta, Ga.

On the cinders are some of the finest junior college stars in the south. With John Dewitt running in the 880 yard run, 440 yard relay, 100 yard dash, and mile relay; Wilbur Williamson entering the 440 and mile relay teams; Leon Dean sprinting in the 220 yard dash; Mike Vinson taking the long one mile run; and Pat McDaniels and Wendell Campbell participating in the low and high hurdles respectively; the Hinds track team is one of the best rounded in the state.

AL Opens Late

Showing red faces and giving excuses are the American League officials as they finally opened the 1960 American League baseball schedule Monday. Throwing out the ball in Washington's inaugural game was President Eisenhower, interrupting a golf vacation at Augusta, Georgia.

The Senators and Boston Red Sox collided in Griffin Stadium before an estimated 27,000 fans for this late opening. The real competition began yesterday, though, for Detroit tackled Cleveland, Kansas City met Chicago, and New York and Washington faced Boston and Baltimore respectively.

This is one of the first times that professional baseball teams have split their opening games as they have this year and it has really caused a lot of red faces and weak excuses.

Tennis Team Loses

Returning to school late Tuesday night was the down-ridden tennis team of Hinds. The Eagle netters faced defeat with a 4-2 count against East Central. Only Dot Gatlin and Rex Carson collected wins for Hinds.

MRA Set Dateline

Coach Eddie Rodgers recently has announced that membership into the Men's Recreational Association must be made before Saturday and no one will be admitted after then. To join, you must contact Coach Rodgers or Mr. Benton.

The club has just opened a recreational room, where ping-pong games and weight lifting may be enjoyed by all members. Also, tennis rackets and golf clubs may be checked out for use in the afternoons.

Hinds Track Team Reaps Honors In Win Over Holmes, Southwest

Local Cindermen Collect 9 Out Of 15 Track Events In Meet

Winning nine of 15 track events in yesterday's meet with Holmes and Southwest in Eagle Stadium, the Hinds Junior College Eagles captured their fourth straight cinder win of the season with an impressive 62 1/3-43-2/3 for Holmes and Southwest respectively.

Winning in the mile run, 440 yard dash, 120 high hurdles, 880 yard relay, 880 yard run, 220 yard dash, 220 low hurrles, mile relay, and the broad jump, the Eagles had little trouble copping the top honor.

Hinds took second place in the 440 yard relay, 880 yard relay, shot put, pole vault, high jump, and the discus throw. Third place tallies went to the Eagles in the 100 yard dash, shot put, and discus for their total points.

ANOTHER WIN

Bulldogs, Copiah-Lincoln Fall To Claws Of Rosamond's Tracksters

Monopolizing practically all of the first place scoring, the Hinds tracksters took ten of the 15 events for first place in the triangular junior college meet held on the Eagle field last Friday afternoon.

Copiah-Lincoln's Wolves barely edged past the Bulldogs of Holmes when a tie resulted in the final event, mile relay. Hinds tallied a total of 64 points, far outscoring second place winner Co-Lin with 36 and thirdly Holmes' 35.

The Eagles, winning their third meet in as many starts, captured first places in the 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile run, 440 yard relay, mile relay, shot put, high jump, discus throw, and broad jump. Co-Lin copped top honors in the 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, and the 880 yard run, while Holmes tallied first in only the 100 yard dash. A tie between Hinds and Holmes resulted in the pole vault competition for first place.

Cindermen from Hinds' squad making double winners were Howard Freeman and Wilbur Williamson. Freeman, a product of Jackson Provine, racked up in the shot put and discus throw. Hailing from Atlanta, Georgia, Williamson won in the broad jump and the 440 yard dash. Williamson also ran on the Eagles' winning 440 and mile relay teams.

Another outstanding sprinter in the Eagle camp was John Dewitt, Pearl prep star of former years. Dewitt raced to victory in the 880 yard run as well as contributing to the success of the 440 and mile units. He was edged out by Holmes' Al Canton in the 100 yard dash.

WAA Holds Softball Game On Campus With Shivers' 9-8 Win

Softball is springing up all over the Hinds Junior College campus and the Women's Athletic Association isn't going to be left out. The WAA held its first game of the season yesterday afternoon and the team of Martha Pharr and Red Shivers came out victorious with a 9-8 score.

Scoring eight runs in the first inning, the team composed of Pharr, Shivers, Joan Phillips, Ruth Darden, Bobbie Jean Lester, Jeannette Davis, Maxine Womack, Orlane Benson, Norma Sandifer, Sara Hawthorne, and Linda Bovay, went scoreless in the second and third stanzas but tallied their last run in the fourth.

Captains Lou Johnston and Bert Wynn led their team of Bernell Boler, Pat George, Catherine Rice, Gail Rushing, Jackie Melshimer, Jeannie Howell, Linda Williams, Bettye Smythe, Peggy Hegwood, Mary Thompson, Martha Rhodes, Dorothy Gatlin, and Mary Thomas with two runs in the first and second innings and three and one respectively in the final ones.

Owls Lead MRA Softball League With Perfect 3-0 Team Record

With baseball season budding out, the local Men's Recreational Association has formed a softball league for members of the club. Starting the season last week, the Owls collected three wins to lead the league, with the Hawk nine pacing toward second with a 1-2 record, followed by the Falcons with a 0-2 score chart.

Members of the Falcons include Tom Irby, Skip Burnham, Bill Holly, Clifton Porter, Monroe Williams, Jimmy Barlow, Wayne Overby, James McDill, Robert Whitty, Robert Williams, Dale Stogner, and Wiley Fisher.

Rounding out the Hawks are Percy Payne, Johnny Carter, Larry Dowdy, Butch Carruth, Rudy Holcomb, Clennis Braxton, Ronnie Kreger, Rufus Searcy, Donald Harvey, Eugene Harlow, Larry Kennedy, Charles Best, and Gerald Prince.

Charles Trest, J. C. Purvis, Roland Walker, Jim Sansing, Billy Gray, George Boone, Gerald Keyes, Jackie Bowden, Edward French, Thomas Hurst, Billie Denson, Robert Lloyd, and Hayward Neely make up the top winning Owls.

This airplane is actually a flying classroom. The course taught in it is Air Navigation, under real conditions. The students are young men who have been selected as possible future leaders of the Aerospace Team. Graduation after 32 weeks of training will win each of the students the honored silver wings of an Air Force Navigator and an Officer's Commission.

For certain young men, this training can open the way to a bright career of executive potential. Right now the Air Force is scoring impressive technological advances in the fields of navigation, guidance and tracking, electronics and radar. And here is where its highly trained and experienced Navigators will be expected to take over command positions of increasing responsibility.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet, you must be between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. And you must want to build an exciting, interesting career in the Aerospace Age. If you think you measure up, we'd like to talk to you at the nearest Air Force Recruiting Office. Or clip and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

VOLUME 26—NUMBER 26 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1960

Frosh Girl To Direct Foundation

A Hinds freshman from Raymond was elected president of the Hinds Wesley Foundation for the 1960-1961 school session at the regular meeting of the organization last Monday night.

I. M. Beasley will head the slate of officers for the coming year, assisted by the following other new officers: Tommy Nance, Jackson, vice-president; Ann St. Clair, Jackson, secretary; Rita Anderson, Bolton, program chairman; Gay and Kay Collins, Jackson, publicity; Ina Mae Ainsworth, Florence, Music; Rex Carson, Jackson, M.S.M. representative; Marian Sherrill and Rob Hardy, Jackson, social chairmen.

May 16 is the installation date for the newly elected officers.

Baptist Students Support Project For Fund Raising

The Baptist Student Union has as one of its projects the sponsoring of a fund raising drive to help support the summer missions program.

The purpose of this program is to send five student missionaries from Mississippi: one to Nigeria, one to Oregon and Washington, one to New York and Pennsylvania, one to California, and one to Ohio.

Banks, in which you drop your pennies and other contributions, have been placed about the campus and with various individuals.

The total goal of the BSU's of Mississippi is $3,600.

Miss B. J. Frew is the local Baptist Student Union director on the campus.

Publication Staff Invites Students To Paper Confab

Regular staff members and prospective Hindsonian members for the coming school year are urged to meet in the public relations office Friday at the regular activity period.

All persons interested in working on the paper will hear discussions about the type of columns and stories to be run in next year's Hindsonian. Also to be discussed is the annual banquet and the choosing of staff positions. Open discussion on the subject of the editorship will be the main topic.

Awards, given to students who have put forth an effort in writing and show an interest in the field of journalism, will be brought under consideration and voted upon by the staff.

Registrar Releases Exam Card For Second Semester On Campus

Voice Students To Be Presented In Music Program

Billie Jean Dawson, alto, from Opelousas, La., and Lee (Buddy) Pittman, baritone from Panama City, Fla., will be featured in a voice recital on May 2.

Miss Dawson will be accompanied by Genie McBride and Mr. Pittman by Bill Matthews. Both voice students will sing two groups of songs, including selections from Italian Masters, Early English numbers, German Romantic numbers, and others.

The recital will be presented by the Hinds Junior College Music Department at 8:00 p.m. in the music auditorium.

Graduating Sophomores With 'B' Average Exempt From Exams

Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar of Hinds Junior College, has announced the schedule for the final examination.

According to school policy, no examination early. This applies to an entire class examination as well as to individuals.

A graduating sophomore — one actually taking a diploma and participating in commencement exercises — is eligible for exemption from the final examination in a subject where at the end of the semester preceding graduation (the second semester of the 1959-1960 session in this case) he has achieved a semester average of "B" or better.

The schedule is as follows:

Friday, May 20
8:15-10:05—6 TT
11:00-12:50—5 TT
1:45- 3:35—6 MWF

High School Group Science Workshop Set For Saturday

On May 7, a science workshop will be held on the campus of Hinds Junior College.

The workshop will be composed of junior high and high school science teachers of Warren, Hinds, Yazoo, Madison, and Rankin Counties.

A panel discussion will be held at 10:00 a.m. with Dr. M. B. Honeycutt, professor of biology; Dr. Sam Clark, professor of chemistry; and Dr. Abbie Cullen, professor of physics leading the question and answer session.

The topic of the discussion will be "The Necessary Curriculum Changes in High School and Junior High Schools to Meet Changes in the Curriculum of Colleges and Universities in Mississippi."

Miss Genevieve Williams, Mr. R. Adkins, Mr. Frank Stephenson, Mr. T. T. Beemon, and Mr. Rosser Wall, all members of the Hinds Junior College science department, will be official hosts to the science group.

Piano Instructor To Judge Mississippi Music Contest At Belhaven On Saturday

Miss Marjorie McCord, Hinds piano instructor, will be one of the judges at the state piano contest to be held at Belhaven College, Jackson, on Saturday, April 30.

Other judges for the competition will be Jonathan Sweet, Millsaps College; Dr. Mark Hoffman, University of Mississippi; Miss Ester Oebich, University of Mississippi; and Dr. Grady Cox, Mississippi College.

Circle K Meet Concludes With 10 Colleges Present

The annual convention session of the Mississippi, Louisiana, and West Tennessee District of the Circle K International was held on the Hinds Junior College campus April 23 and 24.

The convention was the first time in the history of the Circle K, in this district, a meeting has been held on a junior college campus.

President Billy McLain of the Hinds chapter called the meeting a great success.

Convention Highlights

Highlights of the meeting were the talent program and the executive session.

Presiding over the executive session was District Governor Dick T. Bennett of Mississippi College at Clinton.

Schools sending representatives to the annual affair were the following: Louisiana College of Alexandria, La.; Southeastern Louisiana College of Hammond, La.; Tulane University of New Orleans, La.; Southwestern Louisiana College of Monroe, La.; Mississippi College of Clinton, Miss.; Mississippi Southern College of Hattiesburg, Miss.; Belhaven College of Jackson, Miss.; McNeese State College of Lake Charles, La., and Hinds Junior College of Raymond, Mississippi.

PTK AT THE FIESTA

Gamma Lambda Delegation Returns To Hinds With Top Travel Award

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

After a night at the Fiesta, a ride down the San Antonio River, a Battle of Flowers parade, several business meetings, and the annual Travel Award, Hinds' Gamma Lambda delegation of Phi Theta Kappa is back on campus.

These traveling honor students reported the most exciting point of the trip to be their night at the Fiesta (La Villita), which compares with New Orleans' Mardi Gras.

Another highlight was the Battle of Flowers parade, featuring bands and twirlers and honoring the queen of the annual Fiesta.

On a boatride down the San Antonio River the students saw the unusual beauty of the tall-tale state and even got a look at the Arneson River Theatre on the banks of the San Antonio.

They enjoyed various parties, visited curio shops, and finally viewed one of the most famous tourists attractions of the country, The Alamo.

On the more serious side, they attended various business meetings of the convention. It was at one of these meetings that Hinds was awarded the Travel Award, which is given on the basis of the number of students in the delegation, the number of miles traveled to the convention, and the attendance of other school groups which each chapter had previously challenged to attend the convention.

Mississippi's entire delegation, which included Perkinston, Gulf Park, and Copiah-Lincoln, had the second largest delegation present at the convention. Texas was first.

Medical Therapist Addresses Hinds Junior Students

A University Medical Center Physical Therapist combined wit and worthwhile information in an address this morning to the student body assembly.

Mr. Ben Piazza, head of the Physical Therapy Department of University Medical Hospital, Jackson, spoke on "Physical Therapy" in connection with health.

Is Federal Aid Good?

During the past few years the United States has been divided in a heated battle concerning federal aid to education. There are, of course, those who take both sides of the question of whether federal aid is good or even necessary.

Some who are in favor of the federal aid, chiefly the National Educational Association, make dire predictions about what will happen to our educational system if the federal government does not come to its aid. The fact remains that their prophecies have never come true. Most people are in sympathy with under-paid teachers, but the source of revenue to make pay raises possible is not the federal government. It seems to be forgotten that, as many authorities have pointed out, "There is no such thing as federal aid without federal control."

And, this bring up the question of federal control and its effect upon intergration, among other things. Also, we cannot ignore the socialists who cry for federal aid to schools. They know the American people can never be expected to willingly turn their control over schools to Washington, but see in federal aid a means of federal control.

In a country founded on the principle of God-given rights and religious freedom, there are forces at work in the federal government to keep all mention of God out of our schools.

When this country was scared into passing the National Defense Education Act by Soviet sputniks, the bureaucrats gained the upper hand. The Act, itself, has received much recent notice because of its loyalty-oath requirement.

In trying to "keep-up" with the Russians, one of the chief purposes of the National Defense Education Act, as the name implies, is to award scholarships to students who specialize in subjects which will help us out-sputnik the Russians. John T. Flynn, American news analysis, pointed out statistics to show the abuses of this fact when he said, " . . . federal bureaucrats awarded five scholarships at one university for advanced study in folklore! Another college got two scholarships in child development . . . There were a batch of scholarships to other colleges for such necessary defense objectives as ceramics, studies in theater, dramatic arts, and home economics!"

Prevent The Catastrophy

A sign over a garage in New York reads: "We Specialize In Collisions." This grim notice seems to sum up the modern tendency to wait until a disaster occurs and then try to "pick up the pieces."

How much more sensible it would be for all of us to specialize in "preventing" catastrophe.

Every day we read or hear someone say that we are living in the best years ever known to man, we're in civilization's "hey-day." Yet, at the same time we know that one out of every ten people has some serious mental difficulty, crime and vice are very prevalent, and appalling as it may sound, every glass of milk in this country contains traceable amounts of stronium 90, a radioactive substance created by nuclear explosions.

"What's wrong with us?" we ask. "All we want out of life is a little enjoyment and security." Maybe we go overboard on the enjoyment kick. We have our God-given rights, but we also have our corresponding responsibilities.

In Deepest Sympathy

The editors and staff of the Hindsonian and the faculty and student body of Hinds Junior College extend their deepest sympathies to Miss Gertrude Davis in the recent death of her cousin, Miss Nan Little of Caseyville.

Come on! Pull it!
Give it all you got!

These numbers and yells are famaliar to Leon Dean, this week's sophomore of the week. Leon is one of the fastest boys on the Hinds Junior College campus.

Leon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dean of Utica. While in high school, Leon was very active in sports and clubs. He was a member of the football and track teams, in which he lettered for four years. But sports were not the only endeavors of Leon—he was just as active in school functions and clubs. He was a member of the Future Farmers of America, the Utica High School Glee Club, and a four-year member of the 4-H Club.

LEON DEAN
Track Star

But at the end of Leon's high school career, he did not quit his good athletic abilities. He decided to attend Hinds Junior College. Leon has been football manager both years he has attended Hinds. He has been a track star for two years.

Leon was a member of the Hinds track team that was runner-up to Sunflower in state junior college competition last spring. But again Leon's abilities are not kept on the athletic fields. He is an active member of the college choir and the Baptist Student Union. He is also a member of the Youth for Christ group.

With the state track competition beginning on May 7, it is expected that Leon will put forth his best in undertaking the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Leon will also be a member of the relay teams.

As for Leon's future, he states, "I will probably attend Mississippi College at Clinton. As for my future I have not made up my mind as to what my future will be, but I will do only the things that are pleasing in the sight of God."

The Hindsonian staff would like to take this opportunity in expressing best wishes and high hopes for Leon Dean in the future.

Police Action Brings Quiet To Coast

By CORKIE LYLE

Tough police action brought an uneasy quiet Tuesday to Mississippi's famed Gulf Coast and the city of Biloxi. A total of 15 persons were injured in two days of racial violence.

CORKIE

"I think we can handle this," said Police Chief Herbert McDonnel.

The fighting—a running series of widely separate attacks including shotguns fired from ambush — started Sunday when 100 Negroes led by a bespectacled Negro physician tried to use the public beach on the Mississippi Sound.

An equal number of white men and youths attacked the Negro swimmers who fled. But the tense atmosphere led to dozens of incidents in which at least 15 persons were injured.

Senator James O. Eastland apparently was leading a fight Tuesday to unite Mississippi Democrats against any extremist actions which would bar the National Convention to the state delegation.

Eastland met with Governor Ross R. Barnett and Circuit Judge Tom Brady of Brookhaven, close ally of the administration, and the three presumably agreed on full participation, in the nominating convention in Los Angeles.

Nelson, Bovay In Showboat Melodrama 'Gold In Hills'

★ ★ ★

By DAVID ETHRIDGE

"Our little play will bring to you
The kind of plots our fathers knew,
When good and evil never were diluted;
When heroes were all white within,
And villians all were black as sin,
And heroines were always persecuted."

So begins the prologue that introduces the famous melodrama "Gold In The Hills."

"The play's the thing." From all appearances, at least two Hinds students believe this statement to be true; for they have been practicing the foregoing words of wisdom advanced by Mr. Shakespeare for some time.

Frosh In Play

By now, you've probably guessed that the two people of whom we speak are Linda Bovay and Frances Nelson, both of Vicksburg. They are presently playing the role of little Barbara in the Showboat classic "Gold In The Hills", aboard the sternwheeler Sprague, which is docked at the Vicksburg waterfront.

The play, itself, is quite a tourist attraction. The famous melodrama boasts the fact that people throughout the U. S. and some foreign countries have witnessed the performance.

What can be more fun than attending an old fashioned melodrama, cheering the hero and heroine, and hissing and throwing peanuts at the villians? Nothing unless its seeing a melodrama aboard an authentic old riverboat.

Younger Daughter Role

Frances and Linda are roommates this year and both play the role of the younger daughter of an elderly, righteous farmer-father. Beginning this past March and continuing for an entire month on a weekly basis, the two alternated in the role. Now, the play is scheduled to run through September on Friday and Saturday nights only and the two continue to play their parts.

Sometimes being too close promotes friction. These Hinds freshmen don't have this worry as one was in Vicksburg appearing in the play while the other was at Hinds studying, and vice versa.

Linda, who has appeared in the Showboat production for the past two years, was among the cast who took the trip to Pittsburgh for its bi-centennial celebration.

Another Role

Frances played the part of Edith Vanderlop in the ballroom scene two years ago. This year she has one of the supporting actresses roles.

The talented two have had much experience in the field of theater. They were both Lendon Player members at Hinds and have appeared in the fall production. They were both in their senior play. In addition, they are active members in the Vicksburg Little Theater, and were last year in the Summer Little Theater for young people.

MISS JEAN PACKARD
To Wed

Voice Instructor To Wed Earl Gray In June Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wesley Packard of Conway, Ark. announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jean, to William Earl Gray, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gray of Waynesboro.

Miss Packard is a graduate of Conway High School and received a bachelor of arts in voice from Arkansas State Teachers College, Conway. She received a master of music in voice from Louisiana State University, where she was a member of the Sigma Alpha Iota Music sorority. At present, she teaches voice at Hinds Junior College.

Mr. Gray, a graduate of Waynesboro High School, received his bachelor of music in organ from Louisiana State University. While there he was a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music fraternity; and served on the student council as president of the junior class from the music school. Further study was done with Ernest White, concert organist, in New York City. At present, he is the minister of music at First Methodist Church, Columbia.

The wedding will take place June 7 at the First Methodist Church, Conway, Ark.

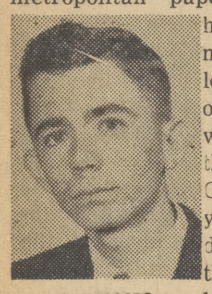
PRESS BOX VIEWS

Hinds Graduate Makes Good

By TOMMY NANCE

Glancing through several daily metropolitan papers, you might have seen the name, Thad Talley, appear quite often. To those who are new on the Hinds Junior College campus, you probably don't know anything about Thad, but to those who were here last year and who have known him previously in Canton, you know that when his name is mentioned, the subject must be track.



TOMMY

Not that he is only known in the sport, track, but he has set his name up in lights around most school cinders. Tally, who was a product of Canton High, Ole Miss, and Hinds, is now making good, as usual, on the Furman University track team in Greenville, South Carolina.

He has recently paced his mates to a 79-62 win over the Georgia Tech tracksters by winning the 440, 880, the two-miler, and the pole vault. Thad vaulted 12 feet, six inches and ran the two-mile for the first time ever in 10:29.8. His best 440 has been 49.5 seconds and he has turned in a 1:53.1 half-mile. Earlier in the season, he set a record in the half-mile for the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 1:56.2 run.

While at Hinds last year, Thad set two marks for the Eagle score book by vaulting some 12' 6" and breezing the cinders to a tune of 2:00.5 minutes in the 880 yard run, resetting a 2:03 accomplishment by Faulkinberry in 1952.

We of the Hindsonian staff want to extend our heartiest congratulations to Thad and wish him the best of luck in the coming years.

Ole Miss Repeats

The University of Mississippi won its second straight SEC Western Division baseball championship Saturday by defeating Alabama 8-2 and has gained the right to meet the Eastern Division winner for the conference championship.

Losing only its first conference game, 5-4, to LSU, the Rebels now hold an 11-1 conference mark. Only two games with Mississippi State remain on the season schedule. We want to wish the Johnny Rebs the best of luck in the over-all conference championship games and hope they remain SEC diamond champs.

Central On Top

The Central High Tigers of Jackson are well on their way to their first district six baseball championship in four years. Holding tight to the crown for the past few years have been the Murrah Mustangs, but this year the Bengals are holding on with an 8-0 record, while the northside diamondeers are pacing second with a 6-2 average.

Thursday's tussle between Central and Murrah will probably decide the district title, for the season is heading down the home stretch and only a few more games are left on the agenda for both teams.

Finishing up the standings are the westside Rams of Provine, two and a half games out of first; Clinton, three games out; and Yazoo City, Forest Hill, Pearl, and Vicksburg, following in that order.

Varsity Netters Victorious Over Jones Bobcats

The Hinds Junior College tennis charges of Coach W. C. Oakes defeated the Jones Bobcats of Ellisville 3-1 on the Hinds courts yesterday before spring rains cancelled most of the single action.

In the opening girls' matches Martha Pharr and Orlane Huff teamed together for the Eagle netters defeat Gay Bond and Margie Glass, 6-2; 6-3. Gail Rushing and Dorothy Gatlin also took a win over Sarah Jean Johnson and Audrey Smith of Jones, 6-0; 6-1 to conclude the girls' action.

Hinds took another win in the boys' doubles with Henry Swann and Roy Breeden scoring their only win with Warren Morton defeating Rex Carson, 6-2; 6-2 in the boys' singles.

Hinds Trackmen Prepare for Final Meet Before State Championship

Eagles Look For 18th Track Cup In Next Week's Deciding Contest

Idle since last Friday, the Hinds Junior College tracksters face the important meets this weekend when they face Co-Lin and the Jones Bobcats in a triangular cinder contest at Wesson on Thursday. On Saturday, the Eagles journey to Canton for the annual Canton Junior College Invitational meet.

Thursday's match with the Wolves and Bobcats will be one of the deciding meets for the season, for the victor will probably come out on top in next week's state final at Perkinston. Previously the Eagle thinclads have vowed with Jones and Copiah-Lincoln and have come out on the top end of the score.

Canton's Invitational is a running mate to the famed Canton Rotary Invitational for high schools. This will pit Coach Ivan Rosamond's cindermen against teams from Holmes, Sunflower, Perkinston, and Co-Lin.

Standings Listed, M. R. A. Softball

With identical standings, the Owls, captained by Charles Tress, and the Falcons, captained by Tom Irby, are in a two-way tie for first place in the Men's Recreation Association's softball league. The Hawks, capained by Percy Payne, are in the cellar.

4 Instructors Help Organize Meeting On College Math

Miss Lurline Stewart, Mr. Frank J. Stephenson, Mr. B. D. Spraberry, Mrs. T. T. Beemon, and Mr. Douglas, all members of the Hinds faculty spent Saturday on the campus of Mississippi State University where they participated in an organizational meeting for teachers of college mathematics.

The chief purpose of the organization is to concentrate on the problems in teaching mathematics that are common to both junior and senior colleges.

The selected chairman of the group is Mr. Arthur Ollivier of Ole Miss.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the University in conjunction with the junior college workshop scheduled in the fall.

Miss Stewart is serving this week on the evaluation committee for Byram High School for Southern Association accreditation.

Hinds Choir Leaves For 4-Day Tour Bound For Coast, Florida

MR. LESLIE REEVES
Takes Choir Trip

Singers To Perform In Columbia At City's First Methodist Church

The Hinds Junior College Choir left today at 4:00 p. m. on its tour to Florida. The trip will consist of a performance in Columbia at the First Methodist Church, a night in Biloxi, and then basking and bathing in the sun and water in Pensacola, Florida.

Thursday and Friday will be spent in Pensacola and Saturday, the choir will stop back at Perkinston Junior College to enjoy the State track meet.

The choir raised money for the trip through various projects. Selling hot dogs, presenting a movie entitled "Mr. Roberts", and sponsoring a dance were a few of these money making jobs.

Members of the choir that are making the trip are as follows:

Ina Mae Ainsworth, Florence; Don Barnes, Vicksburg; DiAnn Bartee, Byram; Martin Bittick, Jackson; Cecille Bonney, Satartia; Linda Bovay, Vicksburg; Alice Boyd, Utica; Linda Bratton, Bruce; Suzanne Bright, Jackson; Duard Burnside, Caboul, Mo.; Marguie Cater, Port Gibson; Linda Chapman, Jackson; Nancy Ruth Chapman, Raymond;

Benny Chappell, Vicksburg; Emily Crews, Canton; Lillian Cockrell, Quitman; Ruth Darden, Baton Rouge, La.; Billie Jean Dawson, Opelousus, La.; Maxine Eldridge, Jackson; Pat Farris, Jackson; Carl Foster, Vicksburg; Ella Gill, Tunica; Michael Guidry, Houma, La.; Tommy Guilbert, Vicksburg; Shirley Hebren, Jackson; Alice Herin, Edwards;

Ione Johns, Pelahatchie; Lillian Lee, Forest; Chris Lewis, Raymond; Johnny Lovitt, Jackson; Bill Matthews, Raymond; Larry McWilliams, Madison, Fla.; Ann Parker, Jackson; Frank Parker, Jackson; Buddy Pittman, Panama City, Fla.; Ronnie Roberts, Hattiesburg; Ann St. Clair, Jackson; Sue Stevens, Port Gibson; Bill Taylor, Jackson; Sammie Thomason, Jackson; Wren Way, Vicksburg, and Dorothy Brock, Raymond.

Rex Carson Wins President's Post With PTK Group

Rex Carson, Jackson, elected Monday as president of Gamma Lambda Chapter, will head the campus group of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society for junior colleges, for the 1960-61 session.

Phi Theta Kappa membership invitations are extended to those students regularly enrolled in the college division carrying a cumulative average of at least fifteen hours per week, who rank within the upper scholastic ten per cent of the student body, and receive unqualified recommendations for moral character and citizenship from the officially designated faculty committee and active Chapter members.

Other officers elected for the new year are Belinda Hill, Brandon, vice-president; Rose Earnest, Calhoun City, secretary; Gail Rushing, Jackson, treasurer; and Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, reporter.

Miss Mildred Herrin, college registrar, is the faculty sponsor of the Gamma Lambda Chapter, Phi Theta Kappa.

NEWS IN BRIEF

NAACP To Test Coast Segregation Laws

By CORKIE LYLE

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will carry the Negro struggle for Gulf Coast (Biloxi) swimming privileges to the court,, a Negro leader said Saturday.

CORKIE

"The NAACP is definitely in it," said Dr. Gilbert Mason, following a two-day visit at Biloxi by Robert Carter of New York, a NAACP attorney.

A race riot occurred last weekend when approximately 100 Negroes attempted to swim on the "whites only" beach. Mason indicated no further swimming attempts would be made by Negroes, pending legal action.

Anti-government rioters shouting "freedom! freedom!" battled military police Monday outside City Hall in Istanbul, Turkey, where leaders of the Atlantic Pact were holding crucial pre-summit talks.

The outbreak was the latest of a series in the past five days in which 14 persons had been reported killed. Authorities confirmed only one death.

A cordon of military police in red and white helmets beat the rioters back from City Hall, holding them about 300 yards from the building. Their shouts were heard clearly inside.

The 1960 legislature faced a heavy log-jam of unfinished work as it opened its final week of work.

Teacher salary increase — one of the principal planks in the campaign last summer and one of the first bills introduced at this session — is still locked up in a conference committee.

Men's Recreational Association Sets Pace With Top Growth, Participation

One of the most popular and fastest growing clubs on campus, the Men's Recreational Association has recently established a new recreational center in the boys' gymnasium, and instituted a wide-ranging recreational program for student members.

A few months ago, the MRA had no such recreational center. They solved this problem by clearing out a room previously used for storage, and using it for their equipment. With this task completed, they next installed seating facilities and a modern lighting system, then painted the entire center.

The center was then ready for the necessary athletic equipment. First, for the prospective body-builders, came 260 pounds of weights, followed by three regulation ping pong tables, paddles and balls. The club was then used, but still more equipment was added: thirteen new golf sets, punching bags, and softball equipment. This added equipment is all new and belongs to the club — not to the school. Now plans are underway to install two new soft drink machines in the center. In charge of all this equipment is Bobby Laster of Duck Hill.

The MRA has also recently started a softball league, with the respective teams playing among themselves. The original league was abolished because of too many people wanting to play; thus the new league, consisting of the Red Sox, Yankees, Braves, and Giants, was begun. The different clubs play regularly scheduled games during the week. On Mondays and Wednesdays the games start at 3:30 p.m., and on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the games start at 4:00 p.m.

Since the first of the year, the total membership has climbed to 98 which, incidentally, is not surprising. The membership fee is only one dollar for each member.

The club meets every other Tuesday at 6:00 p.m. to discuss and plan future activities, such as a weekly ping pong tournament. Under the guidance of co-sponsors R. C. Benton and Eddie Rodgers, the club is now planning a fishing trip to Grenada as a close of the current year.

Ex-Instructor To Visit Hinds Next Wednesday May 11

A representative of Mississippi Southern College, Hattiesburg, will go on the campus next Wednesday, May 11, to interview prospective students.

Mr. Aubrey Lucas, the Southern spokesman, is a former Hinds Junior College reading instructor.

All students who wish an interview with Mr. Lucas have been asked by the administration to schedule it through Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

Hinds Baptist Student Union To Place Emphasis On Home; Mrs. Herring Makes Talk

This week the Hinds Baptist Student Union is placing emphasis on the Christian home. At the regular BSU meeting last Monday night, Mrs. M. F. Herring spoke on the subject listed above.

Pamphlets, posters, and articles concerning Christian ideals of dating, courtship and marriage have been distributed about the campus. Also two books about the Christian home are available in the BSU office.

Only We Can Make Beauty

"There is beauty in the bellow of the blast,
There is grandeur in the growling of the gale,
There is eloquent out-pouring
When the lion is a-roaring
And the Tiger is a-lashing of his tail!"

W. S. Gilbert, The Mikado

* * * * * * * *

There are those people who say that all nature is beautiful. These people are called transcendentalists. They have a beautiful theory, but it is not practical. Who can see beauty in the grotesque cancer germ as it painfully extracts life from its victim?

There is a clear cut line between good and evil, even though the line may seem to be for the betterment of the majority rather than individual cases. But there is a beauty in things of nature, especially at this season of the year. It inspires people on to the greatness of their ambition.

To quote the old cliche, "A place for everything and everything in its place," is a good rule to follow. There is such a thing as respect for the soil under your feet as much as it is for a church, the house of God. But when we, as human beings, tend to force the elements of life out of their proper perspective and respect only things which demand respect, we are in for grave consequences. We are forgetting a basic law of survival, that life will work for our benefit only so far as we work to make it a process of continual growth and betterment.

This principle is applicable to every one of us. Until we realize the utter futility of expecting to get something for nothing out of life, we may just as well beat our heads against a stone wall!

Choir Climaxes Activities

At 4:00 p. m. today, the Hinds choir left by bus for their final tour this school year. Wednesday night, they will give a concert in Columbia at the First eMthodist Church.

After this they will travel on and spend the night in Biloxi. Thursday they plan to drive to Pensacolt, Fla., where they are expected to spend a glorious two days basking in the sun and sand and enjoy a well deserved joy-trip after a good year.

On their return trip Saturday, the group will stop off at Perkinston Junior College to witness the State Junior College Track Meet in which Hinds will be participating.

The choir is to be commended for its fine work during the past year. They have, indeed, made a good showing in representing the college. The care and resourcefulness of the individual members has made this trip possible for them. They have worked to gain the money for this trip which will culminate the school year for them.

A special note of praise goes also, to Mr. Leslie Reeves, for his fine and conscientious work, Miss Jean Packard, and the entire choir and ensemble.

Congratulations

Word reached the Hinds campus today that Joe Stephenson, Hinds freshman student, has passed final qualifying tests for admission to eWst Point Military Academy. Congratulations to Joe, his father, Mr. Frank J. Stephenson, college Physics instructor, and his mother, Mrs. Stephenson, college staff member. This is a well deserved honor and it speaks well for both Joe and his parents.

College Choir Leaves For Florida Today

By JOHNNY SUMRALL

BELIEVE IT OR NOT: if you read this column upside down you won't get anything out of it.

"Florida here we come" was the cry of the college choir as they made plans to leave this afternoon on their tour. Enroute they will appear at the First Methodist Church in Columbia tonight. Then they will proceed to Biloxi and spend the night. After leaving Biloxi they plan to go to Pensacola, Fla. and spend Thursday and Friday there. They start back Saturday and stop at Perkinston Junior College for the track meet. Sunburned and tired, they will return to Hinds Saturday.

Two Hi-Steppers Share Spotlight In Weekly Sophomore Honor Spot

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

You can go anywhere and have a good time, and you can go anywhere and get into trouble. The main thing in life is happiness and you can find it only within yourself. Happiness has to be worked at, nurtured." So goes the philosophy of fun-loving Alice Herin, brown-haired, blue-eyed sophomore from Edwards.

This energetic five feet, four's worth of Hinds Hi-Stepper says her hobbies are horseback riding, swimming, dancing, water-skiing, skating, and tennis.

A psychology major, she is a member of the choir and Phi Theta Kappa honor fraternity.

After finishing college she plans to either teach or counsel.

So good luck to you, Alice. May your fondest dreams come true.

Twenty - year old Delois Armstrong, Hi-Stepping beauty from Forest Hill, shares honors with Alice Herin for this week's sophomore of the week.

The 5' 6½", green-eyed lass, whose hobbies are piano and basketball, boasts a long list of honors in high school, as well as here at Hinds. In high school she was a member of the Beta Club and assistant librarian. She was elected a state officer of the Rainbow Assembly and chosen Miss Rainbow of the Forest Hill Assembly.

Delois, who has been a Hi-Stepper for two years, was chosen Homecoming maid this year and was nominated for Circle K sweetheart.

She is assistant organist for the Van Winkle Methodist Church.

Delois plans to attend Mississippi College next year with a major in sociology.

Mississippi College will be fortunate to gain this versatile girl, who has certainly left her footprints on the Hinds Campus.

POETIC TIDINGS

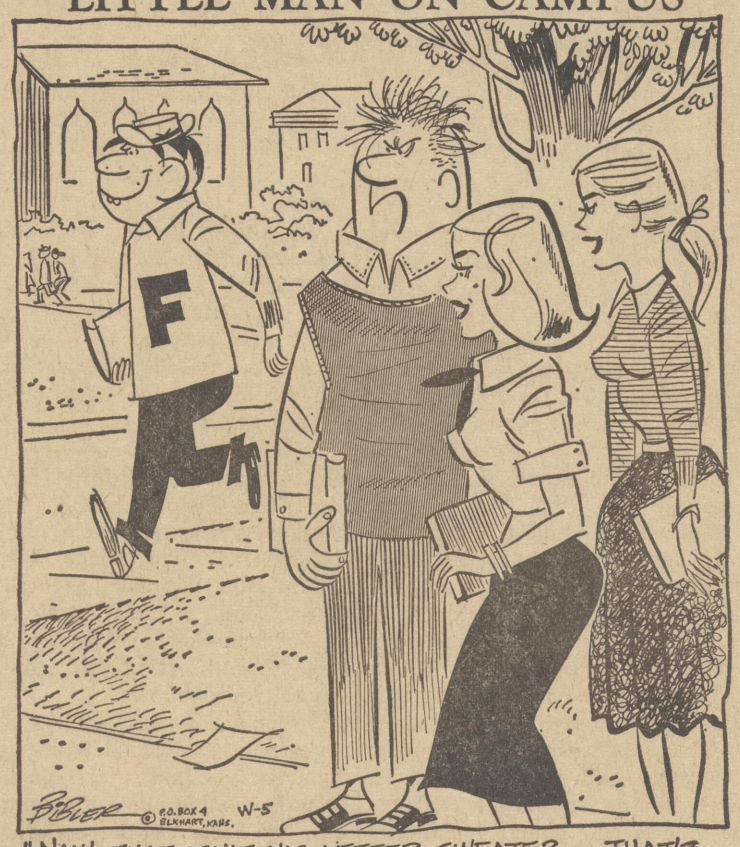
By WAYNE TROTTER

Yea, sometimes I remember
The town where I was born,
The place that has endeared itself to me.
And I know as I wander,
That someday I'll return,
Once more its many wonders there to see.

To walk once more in gladness,
O'er streets of dusty brown,
To watch the happy children playing free;
And maybe tread in sadness,
For friends who've left behind,
A memory that's cherished tenderly.

And yes, I know I'll go once more,
To that enchanted spot,
Where four boys built a house up in a tree;
I'll look to see if it's still there,
And I know if it is not,
Its absence will require a part of me.
But if the Lord demands my soul,
Before I wake it back,
I want to tell the people I'd have come
To join the many millions,
Who yearly hit the track,
And head for that exotic spot called "home."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS



"NAW, THAT ISN'T HIS LETTER SWEATER — THAT'S HIS GRADE AVERAGE."

A MOTHER'S DAY TRIBUTE—

A Parable For Mothers

The young Mother set her foot on the path of life. "Is the way long?" she asked.

And her guide said: "Yes. And the way is hard. And you will be old before you reach the end of it. But the end will be better than the beginning."

But the young Mother was happy, and she would not believe that anything could be better than these years. So she played with her children, and gathered flowers for them, and life was good, and the young Mother cried, "Nothing will ever be lovelier than this."

Then night came, and storm, and the path was dark, and the children shook with fear and cold, and the Mother drew them close and covered them with her mantle, and the children said, "Oh, Mother, we are not afraid, for you are near, and no harm can come," and the Mother said:

"This is better than the brightness of day, for I have taught my children courage."

And the morning came, and there was a hill ahead, and the children climbed and grew weary, and the Mother was weary, but at all times she said to the children, "A little patience and we are there." So the children climbed, and when they reached the top, they said, "We could not have done it but for you, Mother." And the Mother when she lay down that night, looked up at the stars, and said: "This is a better day than the last, for my children have learned fortitude in the face of hardness. Yesterday, I gave them courage. Today I have given them strength."

And the next day came strange clouds which darkened the earth—clouds of war and hate and evil, and the children groped and stumbled, and the Mother said: "Look up. Lift your eyes to the light." And the children looked and saw above the clouds an Everlasting Glory and it guided them and brought them beyond the darkness. And that night the Mother said:

"This is the best day of all, for I have shown my children God."

And the days went on, and the weeks, and the months, and the years, and the Mother grew old, and she was little and bent. But her children were tall and strong, and walked with courage. And when the way was hard, they helped their Mother; and when the way was rough, they lifted her, for she was as light as a feather; and at last they came to a hill, and beyond the hill they could see a shining road and the golden gates flung wide.

And the Mother said: "I have reached the end of my journey. And now I know that the end is better than the beginning, for my children can walk alone, and their children after them."

And the children said, "You will always walk with us, Mother, even when you have gone through the gates." And they stood and watched her, as she went on alone, and the gates closed after her. And they said, "We cannot see her, but she is with us still. A Mother like ours is more than a memory. She is a Living Presence."

RUSHING REPRESENTS HINDS

Campus Lovelies Seek Beauty Crowns

By GAIL RUSHING

Six lovely Hinds girls are contestants for various city titles which will eventually lead to Miss Mississippi and perhaps to Miss America crowns. Though junior colleges haven't yet become famous for their Miss America's, this year Hinds Junior College has a grand opportunity for the Miss Mississippi title.

Two lovely girls, Jo Peshon and Betty Land, are among the top contenders for the Miss Jackson crown. Miss Peshon, well-known dancer in the Hi-Steppers, will use a modern jazz dance for her talent in the contest.

Miss Land, distinguished by her cascade of glowing red hair, will also use some combination dance routine.

A contestant in the Miss Brandon contest is the pert Deloris Robinson. Miss Robinson, a vivacious brunette, will give her interpretation of "Steam Heat" in a lively dance performance.

The lovely-to-look-at Myra Andrews is a top-notch contender for the Miss Pearl title. With her winning smile and "Cha-cha-cha" performance, Miss Andrews is sure to catch the judge's eye.

Another brunette Hi-Stepper, Miss Kay Sumrall, enters the Miss Clinton contest as a "Beatnik". Perhaps her talent role is that of a "Beatnik" but there surely is nothing "beat" about the way she looks.

Pretty Carolyn Acuff was in the Miss Vicksburg contest on Saturday night. Though she did not gain the title, she represented Hinds well with a vocal performance, "Ma, He's Making Eyes At Me".

This year for the first time in the state pageant's history, a junior college will send a representative. Miss Gail Rushing will be Hinds Junior College's entry. She has planned a song-dance routine, in which Mrs. Alon Bee has given assistance.

Tulane Compliments Local Circle K

Dear Editor,

This letter is to express the appreciation of the Tulane delegates to the recent Louisiana-Mississippi-West Tennessee Circle K District Convention for the hospitality extended them at Hinds Junior College.

The College administration and staff, members of the North Jackson Kiwanis Club, members of the Hinds Circle K Club and other Hinds students, and residents of Raymond combined to make us "feel at home" during our stay. Please convey to them the thanks of James Leveque, James White, Philip Wrangle, Mr. Max Barnett (our Kiwanis advisor), and myself for their efforts.

Allow me to express my gratitude for your personal efforts on our behalf.

We shall always remember the worthwhile and enjoyable time we had at the first official District Convention up at Hinds Junior College.

Yours truly,
Kenneth Paul Klaiman,
President, Tulane Circle K

Hinds Freshmen Writes Song For Recording Star

Two Hinds freshmen, Johnny Sumrall, Jackson, and Jack Waller, Florence, have written a song, "That's Where I Long To Be", and have retained publishing rights for ultimate recording and release.

The song is scheduled to be recorded by Harry Lee, singer of the currently popular "Lynda, Lynda", within the next two or three weeks, on the Ace label.

The song is the second written by the pair. The first is now under consideration by the company.

Lyle Heads Local Canterbury Club For Coming Year

Officers for the coming school year have been elected by the Canterbury Club. Corkie Lyle of Belzoni will head the group.

The Canterbury Club is the group of Episcopal communicants on the local Hinds Junior College campus. This group is one of the many Canterbury Clubs on local college campuses throughout the nation.

Other officers of the local club are James Turnage of Belzoni, vice-president; and Sue Stevens of Port Gibson, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oaks are sponsors of this group.

Kentucky Derby Takes Spotlight

By TOMMY NANCE

All sporting eyes turn to Louisville this weekend for the 86th consecutive Kentucky Derby to be held at the Churchill Downs.

TOMMY

The eyes are in Kentucky and on one horse especially — Bally Ache. Owned by a Toledo, Ohio parts manufacturer.

Bally Ache with his jockey, Bob Ussery, will be the number one choice on most score sheets.

His most precious opponent will be Venetian Way. Named after local highways by his owner, who started in this country as a butcher, switched to the junk business in the city of Chicago, and later made enough money in the machinery business to retire to Miami Beach. Venetian Way was preceded by Lincoln Road.

One of the most dangerous of all the runners to Bally Ache will be Tompion. Coming back from winning the Santa Anita Derby, Tompion captured the seven-furlong Forerunner at Keeneland. Ussery and his Ache will be most afraid of this brilliant medium-sized brown colt who is just under 16 hands.

We know that the '60 Derby will prove to be as big a success as all the others have in the past, and we extend the best of luck to each and everyone who has any part in this annual event.

Hollywood: Behind the Lights

Many have said that the coming of the Dodgers to Los Angeles was the biggest thing in the way of sports that had happened to this film capital. These people also think that sports was an unknown word until the Easterners arrived, but all of these beliefs are as false as the umpire's glasses.

Taking a look behind the scenes of several outstanding actors and actresses, a person will find that sports play a very important part in many of their lives. Take for instance, Charlton Heston. He typifies the modern generation of mature, Hollywood sportsmen, for he excells in the sport of skin-diving Another star who loves sports is Ginger Rogers, who is an outstanding tennis player.

Race horses take up plenty of time with Fred Astair, Harry James, and Betty Grable; while James Cagney owns Morgans, Ronald Reagan has jumpers, and Dan Dailey is master of hounds at one of California's hunting clubs.

All in all, Hollywood was full of sports and sports-loving people even before the World Champion Dodgers arrived.

Chargers Still Look

The newly formed American Football League's Los Angeles Chargers is still looking for some players, even after a tryout, which was opened to all comers.

Those who might have been dreaming all their lives to be on a professional football team came in all shapes and forms. Some were piano tuners; some undertakers; and some even watchmakers. They were clad in everything from old jerseys to B.V.D.'s

Out of many hopeful prospects, only three were kept. But all the others went home with a certificate to prove that they had tried out for the team.

Hinds Eagles Travel To Perkinston For State Cinder Meet Saturday

Climaxing one of the finest cinder years in Hinds Junior College's history, Coach Ivan Rosamond's track men journey down to Perkinston Saturday for the State Junior College Track Meet.

The Eagle thinclads will run up against many of the top returnees from last year's meet. State Champions Sunflower will be seeking their second straight title and only their third in the history of the series. Other top teams that will be trying for top space are Copiah-Lincoln, Holmes, Southwest, Perkinston, Jones, and possibly East Mississippi of Scooba.

Jobie Harris' 1940 track team at Hinds was the beginning of a long winning streak for the Eagle thinclad team. Hinds has won every state cinder meet with the exception of five since that time, although there were four years during World War II that the Mississippi Junior College conference did not have any track competition.

Representing Hinds at the state meet this year will be Leon Dean, sprinter in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and the mile relay; Wilbur Williamson, who excells in the 440 yard dash and broad jump; John Dewitt in the 880 yard run; Mike Vinson in the mile run; Wendell Campbell in the 120 yard high hurdles; Pat McDaniels in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Byrle Kynerd jumps in the pole vault and runs in the mile relay; the shot put and the discus throw will present Howard Freeman and Wendell Campbell; Wally Lee tallies in the high jump.

Eagle Thinclads Take Win Over Bulldogs On Campus

The domineering Hinds Junior College tracksters took nine first places, five second's, and one tie to up root the visiting Perkinston lads, 64-56, on the Eagle home field yesterday.

It was the last regular scheduled meet before the all important State Champion to be held on the Perkinston campus this Saturday. Proving what they have done all during the season, the Eagle cindermen took top billings in the 440 yard relay, mile run, 440 yard dash, 880 yard relay, 880 yard run, discus throw, shot put, mile relay, and the broad jump.

The Hinds thinclads tallied a second place in the 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard dash, 220 yord low hurdles, pole vault, and racked up a first place tie in the high jump.

Big man for the Raymond team was Wilbur Williamson of Atlanta, Georgia, who placed first in the broad jump, 440 yard dash, and was a runner in the winning mile relay, 440 yard relay, and 880 yard relay tams.

440 Yard Relay—1. Hinds (Nall, Dewitt, Williamson, Kynerd); 2. Perkinston. Time—45.1.

Mile Run—1. Hinds, Mike Vinson; 2. Perkinston, Tommy Freeman. Time—5:05.

440 Yard Dash—1. Hinds, Williamson; 2. Perkinston, Brallend. Time—52.5.

Netters Edge Out Perk For Fourth Straight Victory

Winning their fourth match of the year, the Hinds Junior College tennis team, under the direction of Coach W. C. Oakes, edged out the visiting Perkinston netters 4-3 on the sun-blazing courts yesterday.

Collecting boys' wins for the home-standing Eagles were Rex Carson, with a 6-4, 1-6, 6-0 win over Anthony Peulas; and Robert Witty, with a 9-7, 6-2 victory over Sonny Walker.

Dot Gatlin scored an easy 6-3, 6-1 win over Perkinston's Daphne Ninton, while Martha Pharr and Orlan Huff won 6-0, 6-3.

Warren Lott, Roy Breeden, and Henry Swann all fell to superior forces in the boys' play of the Perk-Hinds matches.

Newly Formed Softball League Gets Record Enrollment With New Team

Now in full swing, the Men's Recreational Association has added a new team to the softball league and changed the names of all the old ones.

With an outstanding enrollment in the MRA, the league had to expand into four teams, which play every Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 3:30, and every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4:00.

Composing one of the newly formed clubs, known as the Red Sox, are Jim Sansing captain; Larry Kennedy, Mr. Claude R. Atkins, Charles Trest, Mr. Frank J. Stephenson, Mr. Wallace Wall, Tom Irby, Donald Harvey, Percy Payne, Ken Barlow, Rufus Searcy, and Alvin White.

The Red Sox are now leading the pack, as of Monday, but the Yankees are only ½ a game behind with a 1-0 record. Holding no wins are the Braves (0-1) and the Giants (0-2).

Next week's schedule will pit the Red Sox vs. Giants on Monday, Giants vs. Yankees on Tuesday, Braves vs. Red Sox on Wednesday, and Red Sox vs. Yankees on Thursday.

The week of May 16-19, will place the league in its final games. On Monday 16, the Braves will meet the Giants and on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, the All-Stars will play the league champions in a best two out of three series.

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

VOLUME 26—NUMBER 28 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1960

TO PRESENT RECITAL — Miss Dorothy Rae Brock of Raymond will be presented in a piano recital in the college auditorium Sunday afternoon, May 15, at 3 p.m. Dorothy is a sophomore piano major.

Administration Releases Faculty Committees For Commencement

Music Department To Present Dot Brock In Final Piano Recital Sunday

The Hinds Junior College department of music will present Miss Dorothy Rae Brock of Raymond in a piano recital Sunday afternoon, May 15, at 3 o'clock, in the college auditorium.

Her program will consist of 2 Sonatas, L. 286, L. 11 by Scarlatti; Sonata in F sharp Major, Opus 78, Beethoven; Intermezzo, Opus 119, No. 2, Intermezzo, Opus 118, No. 2, and Capriccio, Opus 116, No. 3, by Brahms; La Cathedrale engloutie, and La Puerto del Vino by Debussy.

Miss Brock is completing her 5th year at Hinds this month, having done three years in high school work, and two in the college division.

She has maintained an honor record and now holds membership in Phi Theta Kappa, national scholastic honorary for junior colleges. She has served as choir accompanist. She is now an officer in the campus Baptist Student Union.

Miss Brock has made reservations for senior work at Louisiana State University, where she will major in piano.

At Hinds she is a pupil of Miss Marjorie McCord of the music staff.

Gibbes Addresses Central Kiwanis Club In Jackson

Mr. Walter Gibbes, director of the vocational-technical school at Hinds Junior College, addressed the Central Kiwanis Club of Jackson last week on the general college program, and the specific emphasis now being given to the training program of the technical school.

Pointing to industry's approval of this training program as shown by continued requests for larger numbers of the locally trained technicians, Mr. Gibbes named some of the plants and businesses in Jackson and surrounding areas that are now employing increasingly large numbers of Hinds Junior College men.

Also appearing on the Kiwanis program from the college were Miss Jean Packard of the music staff with the girls' ensemble, who sang four numbers.

Bittick Presents Sophomore Piano Recital Thursday

Martin Bittick of Jackson, will present his sophomore piano recital tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium.

Martin will play the following numbers: Sonata in C Major, K. 545, by Mozart; Prelude and Fugue in B flat Major, w. t. c. Bk. I, Bach; Nocturne in F Major, Opus 15, No. 1, Chopin; Polonaise in E flat Minor, Opus 26, No. 2, Chopin; Prelude from Pour le Piano, by Debussy.

Martin is completing his second year at Hinds. He is a graduate of Murrah High School, Jackson. While at Hinds he has served as president of the college choir. He has studied under Miss Marjorie McCord, piano, and Mr. Leslie Reeves, choir director. He plans to continue his major in piano next year at L.S.U., where he recently auditioned in the music school.

Baptist Students Win 1st Magnitude To Mark History

Miss B. J. Frew, director of the Baptist Student Union, received word from Nashville this week, that for the first time in the history of Hinds Junior College, the Hinds Baptist Student Union is of the First Magnitude.

A First Magnitude or Standard Baptist Student Union must meet certain requirements of organization, enlistment, Christian witnessing, practical service, denominational activities, and leadership training.

They reached their goal of $75.00 which has been sent to state headquarters to help send five student missionaries.

Hi-Steppers Win Honors In Two Beauty Pageants

By JOAN WILLIAMS

A lovely Hinds Hi-Stepper, dainty Myra Andrews, was named Miss Pearl Saturday night in her home town beauty competition.

Miss Andrews charmed her audience and won the judges' approval with a Cha-Cha act, together with her winning personality and petite appearance. She stands five feet, three, and weighs 110 pounds. Her measurements are 35-23-35. She will compete in the Miss Mississippi pageant in Vicksburg, August 3-6.

Another Hinds Hi-Stepper took first alternate honors in the Miss Clinton pageant Friday night. Kay Sumrall's original Beatnik routine together with her attractive statistics — five feet, seven inches in height; 115 pounds, and 36-24-36 measurements won for her this spot.

Four other Hinds lovelies will be competing for the Miss Mississippi title in early contests.

Gail Rushing, a Forest Hill beauty and Hinds freshman, will be the Hinds Junior College representative, the first junior college entrant to participate in the Miss Mississippi event. Gail holds a number of beauty titles including first alternate in the 1958 Mississippi All Star Football Queen contest. She is a blue-eyed blonde, standing five feet, seven, weighing 125 pounds, and measuring 36-25-36½.

MYRA ANDREWS
Wins Beauty Pageant

Her talent act in the Miss Mississippi pageant will be a modern jazz routine.

Delores Robinson, another Hinds freshman will appear in the Miss Brandon contest, May 20. She will warm her audience with a dance performance of "Steam Heat."

Jo Peshon and Betty Land, sophomore roommates at Hinds, will compete in the Miss Jackson contest June 2-3. Miss Peshon will appear in a jazz dance, and Miss Land will give a combination dance routine.

Beemon, Benton, Davis, Herrin To Head Activities

With the naming of faculty committees, plans for Commencement were initiated this week. The groups were named by the administration.

The overall steering committee is composed of Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Mr. R. C. Benton, Miss Gertrude Davis, and Miss Mildred Herrin

Other committees announced for the annual event were the following: program committee, Mrs. Margaret Kimball; practice committee, Mrs. T. T. Beemon; usher committee, Mrs. J. R. Harrirs; publicity, Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes; flowers, Miss Christine Berry; campus, Mr. Jack Treloar;

Parking, Mr. Joe Renfroe; packing caps and gowns, Mr. Bill Oakes; hosts to Library building, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Riggs; stage arrangements, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooks; balcony, Mrs. Mary Alice Conlee; Administration building, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Denton; cafeteria, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKenzie; Grill and Recreation, Mr. M. F. Herring;

Music building, Music staff; Academic building, Mrs. Maybelle Furness; Home Economics building, Miss Fleta Whitaker; and Vocational building, Mr. Walter Gibbes.

Other members of the committee are Mr. Albert Rowan, Mr. John Adams, Miss Jean Packard, Miss Marjorie McCord, Mr. James ENTERTAIN VETERANS — It was worth a second look to wheel chair veteran George Fuller, Jackson, as he gazes fondly at a bevy of beauties from the Hinds Hi-Steppers at a recent VFW sponsored VA Hospital party. The parties are a monthly affair sponsored by the Robert C. Nail Post 687, chairmaned by John Lang. Mrs. Alon Bee brought 22 girls to the party and the Hinds Junior College Band. These four country-style lasses are (l. to r.) Misses Elizabeth Henry, Union; Lillian Lee, Forest; Ann Vinson and Lyn Pope, both of Jackson.

Chain Stores Segregate

Much unfavorable criticism has recently been focused on many of the southern cities because of sit-down strikes advanced by Negroes of the South and their white northern sympathizers.

" . . . a delegation of more than 1,000 participants in a picket line and rally in Harlem. The group included students from New York University.

"Many of those who participated in the picket line intermittently chanted: 'One—two—three—four; don't go into Woolworth's store. Five—six—seven—eight; southern Woolworth's segregate." (ACP)—The Ohio State Lantern.

"The tragedy is that the sit-down method the students are using is neither legal nor moral. There has been so much talk about the 'right' of the Negroes to be served that it should be made as clear as black and white that no such right exists. Private property remains private, and the owner of any private, non-monopoly establishment has every right in the world to deny service to anyone, Negro or white, that he chooses. It is a privilege, not a right, to obtain service at a restaurant.

"The error the Negroes have made is to employ the sit-down method — not a justifiable form of protest, because it stops legitimate business and opens the door to widespread violence and resentment." (ACP—by Griffin Smith of the Rice Institute, Tex., Thresher).

It may be further pointed out that if the store owners were to allow both Negroes and whites at their lunch counters, they would probably be loosing a bigger volume of business than they would gain because the whites would no longer patronize such stores.

The only way in which something worthwhile can be evolved from a situation is by mutual understanding and a working out of differences. As long as the segregation issue is forced, it will be doing more harm than good! When something does more harm than good, we would be better off without it.

Curtains Down On Sports

The final curtain has fallen, the last act completed, and the audience is ready to go home. Maybe they aren't all pleased but they have gotten more than their money's worth.

Such is the case at Hinds Junior College, where spring sports wound up their schedules last weekend with the state championship being held at Perkinston.

Both track and tennis teams have completed their respective seasons and have represented their school well, for Coach Ivan Rosamond's cindermen placed third in the state finals, falling within three points of the first place Trojans of Sunflower.

The Eagle netters, under the direction of Coach Bill Oakes, captured a first place in the girls' doubles, with Martha Pharr and Orlane Huff winning the title. These two girls and all of the tennis team are to be complimented for the fine job they have done in representing this institution..

Co-favored with the Trojans, the unbeaten Hinds trackmen were praised for their excellent showings they made during the season. When time came to show off their goods, the Eagles' crown fell and the title passed by Raymond and wound up in Moorhead.

But let's not cry over spilled milk, for Rosamond and his charges truly deserve more praise and support than they have received this year. These boys are on a non-scholarship plan and have worked hard to represent Hinds. School officials and the student body should commend members of the track and tennis teams for their efforts. Congratulations again to the track team, Coach Rosamond, the tennis team, and Coach Bill Oakes, and best of luck for next season.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Westminster Prexy, Basketball Whiz Share Top Sophomore Honor Spot

LINDA WILLIAMS
Westminster Head

ORLANE HUFF
Basketball Whiz

The spotlight is on Byram school today as two of her daughters—Orlane Huff and Linda Williams—take honors. Both girls graduated from Byram with quite a list of honors.

Orlane was on the All-Star basketball team during high school and sportwise was named most athletic girl at Byram.

This versatile girl, however, was also an honor student, being a member of Beta Club and being elected most intellectual girl and girl most likely to succeed. At graduation she was awarded the salutorian medal.

Between this interview and an exciting Rook game Orlane confessed that her hobby is any kind of sports. She participates in all intramural sports sponsored by the WAA, of which she is secretary, besides playing on the tennis team and the basketball team, which this year won second place in the city league. (Her roommate Betty Jean Robbins is also one of the stars of the basketball team.)

Orlane plans to attend Mississippi Southern College next year with a major in—you guessed it—Physical Education.

She, 'tis sure, will bounce her way from tennis courts and gymnasiums to the top of the success ladder.

Jolly, Jolly Linda was president of the Beta Club and the senior class, program chairman of FHA, and a member of the annual staff and the paper staff. Her fellow students named her most courteous girl for two years, and her teachers awarded her a citizenship medal at graduation. That wasn't too bad a record.

Here at Hinds Linda has her hand in quite a few things—Wesminister, of which she is president; Modern Language Club, of which she is vice president; and IRC, of which she is program chairman.

And to top that, Linda can cook too. Her specialty is fried chicken, at which point her roommate interrupts, "If there is chicken to be fried, let Linda do it."

Maybe Education major Linda, who plans to attend MSCW, gets her interest in cooking from the old statement, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Good luck anyway, Linda.

Hinds Class Of '40 Sets Plans For Saturday's Reunion On Local Campus

Festivities will begin at 1 p.m. with open house on the campus. A tour will be conducted through new buildings. At 5:30 class members and their families will be guests of the college at a picnic supper at the college lake and lodge.

Dr. Albert Gore, Jackson, will be master of ceremonies for the occasion. Mrs. Mary Ann Armstrong Biggs of Jackson is chairman of the planning committee.

President G. M. McLendon hopes that this class reunion will be the beginning of other Hinds Junior College class reunions. The 1940 class is President McLendon's first two-year class at the college. He came to Hinds in the fall of 1938. The '40 class members were freshmen at that time.

Other committee chairmen planning the occasion are Mrs. Joyce Cox Jordan and Orville Simmons, reception; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood, reservations; and Mrs. Doris Pruitt Kelly and Mrs. Elsie Clifton Strong, publicity.

Denton Announces Final Art Show For Student's Work

Mrs. A. L. Denton, art instructor at Hinds, announced this week that a final art exhibition of the college art students' work will be held May 23-27, the week of final exams.

Some of the works will be that of the advanced art students. Among these are Evelyn Halper, Vicksburg; Mary Tompkins, Vicksburg; David Etheridge, Vicksburg; LeRona Gay, Jackson; Sandy Wolfe, Jackson, and others.

The art room will be open to the public and the faculty during school hours.

Summer Session To Get Underway Here On June 13

Colorful bulletins of summer school recently off the press set forth announcements for summer study on the campus.

Ten weeks of summer school will begin Monday, June 13, when the nationally famous junior college begins its 42nd summer school session.

Featuring offerings in high school, as well as in college, and vocational-technical courses, the summer session will be divided into two five-week terms.

With regular session faculty members serving as instructors, students will attend classes in air-conditioned classrooms.

Total cost for the entire ten weeks will be $100., including room and board, matriculation and health fees, for Hinds, Rankin, and Warren County students; for non-dormitory students, $25.

College students may earn up to 12 semester hours of credit, and high school students, up to one and one-half units of new work or two units of review work. Standards of the Southern Association and the State Accrediting Commission are fully met so that summer school credit is recognized wherever transferred.

A full scale recreation program is maintained during the summer school with equipment for games such as soccer, tennis, volley ball, basketball, shuffleboard, archery, and badminton provided. The college property includes Raymond Lake, 36 acres in size, an ideal spot for picnics, swimming, boating, and parties. Life guards will be on duty during all swimming periods.

The college also provides transportation to Jackson for special events such as outstanding motion picture shows, programs in the city auditorium, musical programs, and shopping tours.

Work Proves Best For All

This month marks the end of another year, the 1959-60 school session. At the end of this month many of us will graduate, leave Hinds Junior College, and go our separate ways. Even so, this is not a milestone. It is simply another phase of the endless change and continual transition which we experience throughout life.

May it be hoped that we will not become stagnant with our own pride and self-accomplishment. It is easy to let up, inflate our ego, and finally buckle under the strain of life. Nor let us come to know the grasps of despair of life, deflation of our dreams and aspirations, and eventually face disaster.

"Work is the best narcotic," wrote Maurice Molnar more than 50 years ago. May it be our driving hope to accomplish, to further, to live and die, not in the respect and admiration of others, but with a full knowledge of our own self respect. Mr. Shakespeare phrased it this way, "To thine own self be true."

Why is it that when we think back over the years, our life, our years at Hinds, our family, we tend only to recount pleasant memories? We forget the misfortune and the trying times, we think only of the goodness of life and the hope and promise of a brighter tomorrow. This is as it should be.

The world is not always good, yet we want always to go on living in it. And when we are forced to face the challenge of leaving it, we accept life, good and bad, and cherish the fact that we are given the chance to live it.

In the confusion and rush that our way of living seems to impose upon us, we often do not stop to take time for a serious contemplation of the simple pleasures of life.

Perhaps it would do us good to take a look about us. Examine the people with whom we associate, look at the life we live, let our emotions run rampant. When we do so, let us ask ourselves, "What would we do should these things be taken away from us?" "What would we do should the things we know and love be replaced by things we are opposed to?"

When we have done this, when we have seen what we are and why we want to go on being what we are, we must bring ourselves back out of this contemplative state, once again, to the reality of life. Here we will regain a knowledge of these things and yet hold to the practicality of life. We will examine our shortcomings and realize our full potentialities. We will know our objectives. We will be preparing ourselves to live a full and joyous life. We will be assuring the worth of ourselves.

Paper Staff Receives Praise

Let me extend my personal appreciation to the sponsors, officers, and staff of the Hindsonian. The record made this year is most worthy and to be commended. The many hours of devoted service given by those in charge should be recognized by all. Hinds is a better college because of these efforts.

I wish each individual happiness and success.

MUSICAL LADDER

Writer Expresses Appreciation To Column Readers

By JOHNNY SUMRALL

Well, friends we're climbing this musical ladder for the last time this year with this issue. We hope to be back again next year to write this column and keep you informed of the happenings of the Choir, Band, Hi-Steppers, Lenden Players and music department. We'd like to say "Thanks a million" to all those kind souls, who chose to read this column.

JOHNNY

We realize that we may never win a prize for what we said, but we hope that at least we entertained you a little. We have tried to be accurate in the top song surveys by getting students to choose the songs rather than by relying on radio surveys or Billboard.

We hope that you have a wonderful and enjoyable summer. To the sophomores we wish the best of luck next year and success in life.

See you next year!

The following are the songs we pick to be in the Top Ten across the nation within the next two weeks.

Macmillan Tries To Save Angry Summit Meeting

By CORKIE LYLE

British Prime Minister Macmillan was striving desperately Tuesday to revive the collapsed summit conference in Paris.

CORKIE

The conference boiled to an angry end Monday over a blaze of Soviet-American recriminations.

The meeting held between Macmillan and Krushchev broke up 15 minutes before midnight without an agreement for the Big Four to come together again. Although maintaining contact, the British were gloomy and held out but slim hopes.

* * *

Governor Ross Barnett won almost certain control of the state Democratic Convention Monday as his forces took charge in most of the state's 82 county conventions.

While the Governor was relaxing on a brief fishing trip, his forces secured adoption of resolutions endorsing his proposals in many of the county conventions. In others which took no action on his proposed national convention strategy, key Barnett men were named delegates to the state convention.

* * *

Seven inmates overpowered four guards and escaped Monday night from the ward for the criminally insane at Missouri State Hospital No. 1 in Fulton.

Two of the inmates were captured shortly after the sudden break, but, unfortunately, five evaded county police and officers and are still at large.

Staff Endeavors To Do Best

(AN EDITORIAL)

This is the last issue of the Hindsonian for the 1959-60 school year at Hinds Junior College.

We feel that we've had a successful year. We've tried to be of service to the school: both students and faculty. But if we've had any measure of success in the newspaper business, it was chiefly due to the loyalty and cooperation of everyone who had a part in it.

The Hindsonian would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank you, one and all, for your help and understanding. Our thanks are especially due to the students and faculty of Hinds, our staff, our dedicated sponsors, and you, our loyal readers.

There is a copy mark used in journalism to signify the end. This mark is the 30. As we publish this week's edition of the Hindsonian, we are not only putting the 30 at the end to tell of the end of a story, for this week; it also lets you know that this is the final issue for this year. It is with a deep sadness that many of us do so, for it has been a worthwhile year and a profitable one which we hate to see come to a close.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

1960 Class Valedictorian Reigns As Final Sophomore Honoree Of Year

By CORKIE LYLE

"Last, but not least!"

These words apply to our sophomore of the week, Lenda Herrington of Raymond.

Lenda is one of the most well-known girls on the Hinds Junior College campus since she has attended this institution for some five years. While she attended Hinds High, Lenda was a member of the Beta Club, Y-Teens, Future Homemakers of America, 4-H Club, basketball team, and a member of the High-Steppers for one year.

LENDA HERRINGTON
Class Leader

In college, she has been a member of the Phi Theta Kappa, of which she is secretary this year. In the recent Who's Who, she was elected as Most Intellectual girl.

Lenda has received the very high honor of class representative of her graduation class, as she did in high school. Out of 145 graduates, it was the brown haired, brown eyed lass from Raymond to top the list.

With a hobby of reading, Lenda states as to her future, "I will either go to Mississippi College or to Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus. I plan to major in business aducation."

For being valedictorian of her graduation class here at Hinds, Lenda will deliver the address at graduation. She has chosen the topic "We Stand For Quality". Lenda has rightly deserved the honor of valedictorian and sophomore of the week. She has applied herself in every way to acquire knowledge.

The staff of the Hindsonian wish the very best of luck to Lenda and know that she will continue to set the pace for others to follow in coming years.

Plans Underway For Local School Council-McLain

Plans are underway for a student government on the Hinds Junior College campus for next year. A meeting of the presidents of each club is held each Thursday morning with the purpose of submitting ideas and motions for such a group.

According to Billy McLain, President's Council head, the purpose of the student government body will be to: 1) serve the students; 2) a depot for students to bring their problems and matters of interest to the student body; and 3) to represent the student body on the Hinds campus.

The council will simply be graduated to a more workable scale. Plans are underway for a constitution to be drawn up by the presidents of the various clubs on the campus.

President McLendon is the council advisor and overall chairman of the planning group.

Newest Building Nears Completion On Hinds Campus

The newest building now nearing completion on the Hinds Junior College campus is that being prepared for the new administrative assistant who will join the college staff on July 1.

The three-bedroom dwelling is on Faculty Circle in a setting of green shaded lawn. The exterior of asbestos shingles and brick wainscoting and brick steps has a built-up flat roof. Decorative white iron grillwork is used at the front entrance.

A family living room, a spacious den, a large kitchen and dining area finished with birch paneling have vinyl asbestos tile floors. Two full baths and one half bath of ceramic tile are included in the floor plan.

Baptist Students Hold Installation For New Officers

At their regular meeting last Monday night the Baptist Student Union of Hinds installed their officers who will serve during the 1960-61 session.

The officers are as follows: president—Rose Earnest, Slate Springs; vice-president—Jimmy Davis, Canton; enlistment chairman — Percy Payne, Tylertown; devotional chairman—Anne Spencer, Bruce; secretary — Shirley Hebron, Jackson; Christian citizenship chairman — Rebecca Legg, Jackson; publicity chairman—Jerl Watkins, Jackson; stewardship chairman—Janice Gibson, Utica; missions chairman — Carolyn Middleton, Memphis, Tenn.; music chairman — Linda Bratton, Bruce; YWA president — Ann Burnham, Brandon; Sunday school representative—Bruce Creel, Honea Path, South Carolina; training union representative — Tommy Davis, Honea Path, S. C.; social chairman — Larry Kennedy, Mendenhall; editor—Belinda Hill, Brandon; faculty advisor—Miss Sarah Taylor, Laurel.

The centerpiece was composed of the BSU letters with the chain links linking the school, the student, and the church.

Light refreshments were served after the ceremonies.

Earnest To Head Modern Language Club On Campus

Rose Earnest of Calhoun City is the new head of the Modern Language Club, as announced Wednesday by Miss Hilda Ree Davis, club sponsor. Miss Earnest succeeds Rita Anderson of Bolton.

The Modern Language Club is that organization on the Hinds Junior College campus composed of the French and Spanish students. The club has as its purpose to familiarize the students with the foreign countries and to compare standards and customs of France and Spain with those of the United States.

Other officers of the club for the coming year are the following: Tommy Nance of Jackson, vice-president; Anne Spencer of Bruce, secretary; Corkie Lyle of Belzoni, treasurer; and Phillip Doiron of Vicksburg, reporter.

DEAN WITH HEART OF GOLD

Miss Davis Deserves Highest Praise

By JOAN WILLIAMSON

A charming and gracious lady, who is one of the finest to ever pass through the portals of Hinds Junior College, and who has a genius for using her varied and versatile abilities to solve "all" the complex student problems, to strengthen her own leadership, and to improve Hinds Junior College's social and academic standing, is dean of women—Miss Gertrude Davis.

She has blessed the lives of many and has made many days full of sunshine and happiness for thousands of Hinds students. Her example to every individual has been a good one, inspiring and encouraging.

Miss Davis has done a tremendous amount of work to encourage the finer influences of mankind. She is understanding and friendly.

Bids Farewell

So it is with a touch of sadness, yet with a greater bit of love and admiration that Hinds Junior College bids farewell to one of the loviest and dearest women Hinds has ever known.

An inspiring leader, Miss Davis has graced the college campus for many years, years in which Hinds has made rapid progress in academic improvement and physical expansion. Prior to her joining the faculty, Miss Davis, a native of Brookhaven, received her A. B. degree from Whitworth College in Brookhaven.

A zest for learning and teaching led her into further study at the University of Chicago where she received her Ph. B. and M. A. degrees. She taught English and journalism in St. Petersburg, Fla., Whitworth College and Millsaps College.

Joins Staff In '34

In 1934 she joined the Hinds Junior College staff as dean of women and English teacher. Having remained dean of women since that time, she has also served in the publicity department part of the time, has sponsored the Young Women's Christian Association, Methodist Youth Fellowship, vesper program, freshman and sophomore classes, house cabinet, and Phi Theta Kappa, national honor fraternity of which she was made an honorary member, and has assisted with the campus newspaper, the Hindsonian. Without her dedicated help many of these organizations could not have continued.

MISS GERTRUDE DAVIS A True Friend

An outstanding member of the American Association of University Women, Miss Davis has also done exceptional work in the Women's Society for Christian Service. She was awarded a life-time service pin for 25 years of outstanding work in the latter organization. She is a loyal member of the Raymond Methodist Church.

She knows all the social graces and tastes of quality which give distinguished charm to her personality. She is probably the most versatile staff member on the campus.

Serves With Ability

Skilled in many fields, she has served with ability and distinction. Miss Davis' supreme faith has surmounted all obstacles.

She is a brilliant and capable lady with a "heart made of gold." Hinds Junior College owes a debt of gratitude to Miss Davis.

No dean of women has ever achieved more popularity and, at the same time, kept a firm command at all times. When Miss Davis leaves Hinds, She will leave behind a sincere, deep-seeded, revered memory.

Indeed Grateful

Hinds students are indeed grateful for her exemplary guidance, sincere encouragement, sound judgment, and strong spiritual faith. Miss Davis has always been courteous, kind, considerate, and thoughtful.

With tears in every heart, we watch her leave, knowing well that no other can ever take her place. But certainly her foundation will be a strong one for those who are to follow.

Hinds Junior College will always be looking for another Miss Davis.

Bittick To Direct College Choir In Service Sunday

The college choir, under the direction of student director, Martin Bittick, will sing ALLMIGHTY GOD OF OUR FATHERS by Will James at the Commencement Sunday service in the college auditorium. Martin is a graduating sophomore and president of the college choir. The service will take place at 11 a.m., May 22, in the college auditorium.

Miss Dot Brock, Piano major, will play at graduation exercises on Friday, the following selection, A major intermezzo, opus 118 No. 2, by Brahms. Miss Brock is a music major and graduating sophomore.

MRA Ends Initial Year

The Men's Recreational Association is winding up a very successful first year of existence. During the year, the club has enrolled over 100 members and has provided recreational facilities for these boys and other students on the college campus.

One of the major projects that the members have completed is the fixing up of a club room. Cleaning and painting the old high school dressing room below the boys' gym, the boys have equipped it with ping pong tables, bar bells, and other recreational facilities.

The MRA has also sponsored basketball, softball, ping pong, and tennis tournaments throughout the year. The softball season ended Monday, with the Red Sox capturing first place. The championship entitles the Jim Sansing team to meet the club all-stars in a best two of three series to be completed before the exams begin.

Members of the second place Yankees are Johnny Carter, captain, J. C. Purvis, Billy Denson, Billy Gray, Hayward Neely, Robert Williams, Butch Carruth, Larry Dowdy, Gene Harlow, Coach Eddie Rodgers, and Mr. Bill Oakes.

The club tennis tournament is nearing completion with Charles Hall and Roy Breeden entering the finals. Competition has been rough and observers are predicting a close match.

Under the direction of Mr. R. C. Benton and Coach Rodgers, the club elected the following officers who are completing their initial year, Skip Burnham, president; Johnny Carter, vice president; Percy Payne, secretary-treasurer; Bill Huffman, reporter; Butch Carruth, historian; and George Boone, sergeant-at-arms.

PRESS BOX VIEWS

Editor Reminiscences Sports

By TOMMY NANCE

During the past nine months, 29 editions of the HINDSONIAN have rolled off the press, each one containing interesting news, features, and sports. Beginning with the first edition, the sports department of this paper has tried to bring to you, the readers, an accurate account of past, present, and future sporting news. We hope that we have succeeded in informing and entertaining our readers and that each of you will bear with us through the many mistakes that have been made.

TOMMY

Now as the deadline for another year comes around, we can glance back into the past and see what has made sports news at Hinds Junior College during the 1959-60 school year.

First Edition

As we look at the first edition of the HINDSONIAN, we see that the Eagles are seeking their first gridiron win when they play Northeast the coming Saturday. Another story informs us that the Hinds footballers lost their third straight game to Perkinston by a 18-12 count.

As we turn the pages of the next five editions, we notice that in each one, the Eagles are still looking for their first win and that they have been on the short end of the score in games with Northwest, Jones, East Central, Copiah-Lincoln, Holmes, and Sunflower. As you can now tell, the Hinds eleven, though playing with honor and courage, did not win the championship this year.

Basketball Season

As the Christmas season starts ringing, a new sport takes the eyes of all Hinds students. Basketball, under the direction of Coach Troy Ricks, makes a big hit as the Eagles captured their first five games.

Fighting to uphold their previous records and praisings, the Mississippi State frosh dealt the Hinds aggregation their first seasonal loss with a score of 89-57. Coming back from their first defeat, the Raymond cagers looked like another club as they took wins over such clubs as Southwest, East Central, East Mississippi, and Sunflower.

Again the Hinds team was faced with the rugged State five before an overflow of spectators in the Eagle gym. But as before the baby Maroons were too tough for the junior college cagers and took a 101-69 decision.

After a number of wins over previously defeated conference teams, the Hinds crew traveled to Southwest to play in the annual South District Tourney. There, they were defeated by the home-standing Bears, 68-61 and were eliminated from the state tournament.

Closing the season with a 19-6 record, the basketeers marked another season into the history books and stated the familiar cry of "Wait until next year".

Schedule For Cindermen

With a new coach and plenty of new boys, the Hinds Junior College track team began their regular season play with a victory over Perkinston in an out-of-town meet. Next on the agenda for the local cindermen were meets with Sunflower, Co-Lin, Holmes, Southwest, and Jones, all coming out in the underdog's role.

Going into the finals, just as in basketball, with the favorites' crown high on their heads, the Eagle thinclads took a third place behind Sunflower and Co-Lin to end another major sporting season on the Raymond campus.

College Students Travel To MSCW For Tennis Games

Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education head, accompanied four Hinds Junior College coeds to Mississippi State College for Women this past weekend. The girls traveled to Columbus for practice tennis matches with students of MSCW.

Making the trip besides Mrs. Swett were Martha Pharr, Vicksburg; Orlane Huff, Byram; Dot Gatlin, Madison; and Bonnie Harding, Jackson. The girls played tennis Saturday afternoon and were shown about the campus that evening. After spending the night in the new junior dormitory at the "W," the delegation returned to Hinds Sunday evening.

WARRIORS FIRST

Renfroe Slates '60 Football Chart

Coach Joe Renfroe, head football coach and Hinds athletic director, has recently announced the 1960-61 gridiron schedule for the hard fighting Eagles and it extends the chart to ten games instead of the regular nine.

The perennially-strong Hinds Junior College Eagles will be rebuilding in the rugged Mississippi Junior College conference this fall, after completing their first season without a single win.

East Central of Decatur will provide the first opposition for the Raymond boys, as the Eagles fly out of town for their seasonal opener. This year, the Warriors toppled the birds by a score of 32-8, but junior college football is never the same from one season to the next.

Next on the agenda will be the Southwest Bears, who invade Eagle Stadium for the first showing before the Hinds home-standing fans. Itawamba's Indians come parading into town for the next game on the Eagle's chart.

Traveling out of town for the next two games, the Eagles meet Jones of Ellisville and Sunflower of Moorhead. East Mississippi's Lions try and take another hunk out of the Eagle's feathers when they move into the Hinds field.

With four games left, Renfroe's Eagles travel to Perkinston and Goodman for the final out-of-town games before returning to a home audience for the last two with Copiah-Lincoln and Pearl River.

1960-61 Schedule

Sept.	10—East Central—Decatur
	17—Southwest—Raymond
	24—Itawamba—Raymond
Oct.	1—Jones—Ellisville
	8—Sunflower—Moorhead
	22—East Miss.—Raymond
	29—Perkinston—Perkinston
Nov.	5—Holmes—Goodman
	12—Co-Lin—Raymond
	19—Pearl River—Poplarville
